New Mining Camp in Nevada Is a Marvel of Sudden and Rapid Growth.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROCHESTER (Nev.) Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is no boom town in the country, and in the history of mining camps, not with Rochester for sudden and rapid growth. Springing up in a night with the magic word of gold, Rochester is today a city of nearly 1000 souls, and day after day the influx continues with increasing volume. Scores of auto stages are making a race because meeting every train on the Southern Pacific at Oreana stage, a few miles away. Many have walked in on foot from the railway and gone further, but all who had the means have not grudged money in their haste to reach the new El Dorado.

The hotels have been overcrowded and have not been able to accommodate all. Lovelock is reported crowded with people coming in. Oreana, which was only a water tank a few weeks ago, is now the shipping point for Rochester ore, and is a boom town in itself, with the arriving people on the way to the camp. Work is being rushed upon buildings

PAINTER OF BOYS IS DEAD.

John George Brown, Popular Among Street Urchins and Famous as Artist, Is Victim of Pneumonia.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John George Brown, whose pictures of plump and ragged street urchins obtained remarkable vogue twenty-five years ago and are still to be found in reproduction in thousands of homes and cafes, died of pneumonia this morning at his home in New York.

He was president of the American Water Color Society from 1887 to 1904 and of the Artists' Fund Society for ten years. He was a member of the jury of awards at the Chicago exposition. He received honorary mention at Paris in 1889, medals from Boston and California, and a popular prize from Tennessee, and a silver medal at the Buffalo exposition. From 1899 to 1904, he was vice-president of the National Academy of Design.

Among Mr. Brown's best known pictures were "A Merry Air With a Sad Heart," "A Thrilling Moment," "The Stump Speech," "Training the Dog," "Heels Over Head," and "The Passing Show."

FOREIGN. Dr. Friedmann of Berlin announces that he will sail for the United States with his tuberculosis cure not later than February 15. He has not yet accepted the offer of a million dollars for his cure, and values it at several million dollars.

The full and complete News Summary is intended to serve as a practical aid to busy readers in the events of the day only, but necessarily cannot take the place of the columns of the paper. In order to get the full benefit of The Times, thorough and complete reading is necessary; there is a great volume of news and other matter in the issues of the week, cannot be summarized, epitomized or classified.

"Annus Mirabilis."

DR. FRIEDMANN COMING TO THE UNITED STATES.

Slips Away From the Kaiser's Spies Under Cover of Darkness.

All Arrangements Completed to Put His Elixir to the Severest Test in New York City in the Effort to Win One Million Dollars Offered by a Banker With Afflicted Friends and Relatives.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles E. Finlay, the New York multi-millionaire, who offered $1,000,000 to Dr. F. F. Friedmann, a German scientist, to come to the United States and establish a sanatorium for the cure of consumption, is in Kansas City today. He arrived here this morning to visit his brother, James Finlay, who is ill. Mr. Finlay is at the Hotel Baltimore.

Dr. Friedmann, the German scientist, is on his way to the United States today; he left Germany last night and will sail on the steamship Kron Prinzessin Cevelie, according to a cablegram received here by Mr. Finlay this morning.

"When Dr. Friedmann arrives," said Mr. Finlay, "he will use the polytechnic sanatorium in New York City and at my expense will experiment with his serum on 100 tuberculosis patients regarded as incurable."

GIVES KAISER THE SLIP.

Among the patients will be Rex Lee Paris of Indianapolis, a son-in-law of the New York banker.

Dr. Friedmann slipped out of Berlin, where he has been under espionage, under cover of darkness in order to meet the terms of the American millionaire and evade the German officials who were stationed to watch him.

As a result of his informal leave he may be compelled to remain in America.

"I am convinced Dr. Friedmann's method is entirely practical, and I have great hopes in it," said Mr. Finlay.

WILL ADMIT GERMS FREE OF DUTY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] What is the duty on live germs? That was the poser asked of Mr. Thackara, American Consul-General, on Thursday by Dr. Friedmann, discoverer of the alleged cure for tuberculosis, who was accompanied by Prof. Schleich. Dr. Friedmann seems to fear that Uncle Sam will want to collect a heavy duty on his live, non-virulent tuberculosis bacilli. The value of the world's rights of his serum as a remedial agent for tuberculosis, he said, has been placed at several million dollars.

NOT A TARIFF SCHEDULE.

Consul-General Thackara could not find germs, microbes or bacilli in American customs classifications. He assured Dr. Friedmann that Uncle Sam would not bar the introduction of the germs to the United States.

Dr. Friedmann informed Mr. Thackara that he is going to New York on invitation of several American physicians. He has apparently accepted the offer of Mr. Finlay of New York of $1,000,000 if he would cure ninety-five out of 100 patients. While he is away Prof. Schleich will take charge of Dr. Friedmann's American patients who are now here.

RIVAL BACILLI CULTURE.

Dr. Hans Karfunkel, who until a few weeks ago was associated with Dr. Friedmann, has started up as a rival of the latter. Dr. Kerfunkel is using the bacilli culture of Dr. Piorkowski, who was formerly Dr. Friedmann's bacteriologist. This culture is now also in the hands of the United States Marine Hospital service at Washington.

MRS. HEID IMPROVES UNDER SERUM CURE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Elated by the hope that the serum for tuberculosis which he brought from Berlin, will cire his wife, Dr. Austin B. Heid, a South Side physician, asserted today that he has no intention of enriching himself by the sale of the cure but will do what good he can by giving the treatment to whoever will apply for it. He declares that Mrs. Heid is improving.

"Money cannot buy the cure," he said this morning in his office, shortly after making a treatment with the serum. "I will give it to whoever will apply for it. If they cannot afford to pay for it, they may have it free. Those who have money will give me what they think it worth. The man who just left had no money with which to pay me for the treatment.

SIX EXPERIMENTERS.

"I deceived the serum which I brought with me from Dr. Piorkowski for the purpose of making detailed reports of its effects upon American cases. There are only five doctors in the world who are experimenting upon the Piorkowski serum, in addition to Dr. Piorkowski himself. Four of these are prominent German physicians. The other is myself. I have the only serum in America at the present time.

"Dr. Piorkowski gave me the serum with the understanding that no other physician was to have any of it. Within two months the full reports of all experiments will be placed before the Berlin Medical Association, if successful, and afterward the serum will be available to every physician who may demand it."

Dr. Heid is being deluged with requests by telegraph, telephone and mail from all parts of the country for the serum.

WONDERFUL CURES DESCRIBED BY CONSUL.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch.] So much interest has been expressed in this country in the reported new cure for consumption discovered by Dr. F. F. Friedmann of Berlin that the government is rushing into print a public document containing all the information available. It contains a supplementary report from Consul-General Thackara at Berlin.

The new treatment consists in the injection of a solution which the doctors says contains living non-virulent bacilli taken from the cold-blooded animals in contradistinction to the virulent organism contained in the Koch and other tuberculosis remedies. Up to November 13 Dr. Friedmann treated 1183 cases.

AGED NURSE SEES MISS WISE AT ALTAR.

Two Footmen Carry Into the Baltimore Cathedral a Relict of Slavery. Days to Witness the Nuptials of a French Noble—Cardinal Gibbons Officiates at a Brilliant Function.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Society folks of New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore filled the Baltimore Cathedral at the marriage this morning of Miss Elinor Douglas Wise to the Duc de Richelieu of France. The bride is related to the Mays, the Oelrichs and the Jays.

Frances Hamilton, a colored nurse who has been in the Wise family for years and is now 97 years old, was brought to the cathedral in a carriage and carried in by two footmen.

Cardinal Gibbons not only performed the ceremony but made a short address to the bride and groom.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, John Adams Wise of Chicago. Preceding her was her young niece, Miss Leslie Frick.

The bride wore a splendid white satin gown, draped with rose point lace. Her jewels were a family heirloom. The groom was attended by M. Etienne de Markowski of Warsaw.

The ushers were Ernesto Begile de la Tiata of Rome, Count Villa Franca Siossons of Paris, Henry Wise Miller and Josiah Macy of New York, John W. Frick and J. Sterrett Gittings, Jr., both of this city. Messrs. Macy and Frick are brothers-in-law of Miss Wise.

A breakfast at the Stafford followed and the Duchess cut a huge wedding cake. The Duke and Duchess left for the South this afternoon.

Later they will go to their apartments at the Ritz-Carlton in New York where they will make preparations for a trip to Mexico.

They will sail for Europe later in the spring and in May will visit Rome. They will maintain residences in New York and in Paris.

TAFT RECEIVES A GOLDEN KEY.

PRESIDENT UTTERS PROPHECY TO UNIVERSITY CLUB.

Predicts that American People Will Return to Old Democratic Standards After Receiving Punishment for Chasing After Progressive Gods.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Taft said in an address here tonight at the annual banquet of the University Club that the American people would return from the dangerous tendencies in government which they have been encouraging and that the present day agitation of progressivism would not ultimately be harmful.

"The American people, great as they are," he said, "have much to learn, and if this comes to them with some punishment attached, the lesson will be longer remembered. I have spoken in no spirit of pessimism or hopelessness in attempting to point out what I regard as dangerous tendencies; but if the people are led astray from the path of wisdom, they will more permanentlly remain in it after they come back. I am not speaking of party or of my personal experiences. What I refer to is the departure from the principles of sound democratic government."

CRACKS A JOKE.

He spoke in a humorous manner of his coming duties as professor of law at Yale, saying that he was going to try to show the seniors there that they have something yet to learn, but that he approached his task with humility.

With ringing cheers, tthe President was greeted by the 600 college men present, after John Temple Graves, toastmaster, had introduced him as a President who would be "cordially loved while he lived and graciously remembered after he was gone."

GIVEN GOLD KEY.

In recognition of his service as President of the University Club, President Taft was presented with a golden key to admit him at all times to the newly-opened clubhouse.

Just before Mr. Taft arose to accept the gift he heard himself criticised by Col. George Harvey of New York as the "worst licked, the least sore and the best-liked of all our Presidents."

Col. Harvey spoke on the relationship of the university to public service.

WOOED AND WON BY A LUNATIC.

CANADIAN HEIRESS IS FREED FROM MARITAL FETTERS.

Ernest Foster Slocum, Son of Famous New York Family, Jumped from Ferryboat Before Eyes of His Bride and Is Now in an Insane Asylum.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch.] How Maud Hamilton Baker, debutante daughter of and heiress to the millions of Walter R. Baker, secretary of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, realized a month after her magnificent society wedding in a Montreal cathedral that she had been courted and her heart won by a lunatic is revealed in a referee's report of a secret annulment suit concluded today.

The husband, Ernest Foster Slocum, son of Gen. "Jerry" Slocum of Civil War fame and vice-president of the Safety Car Heating and Lighting Company, jumped from the upper deck of a Staten Island ferry boat before the eyes of his bride. Two deck hands saved him. The identity of the would-be suicide had remained a mystery until Mrs. Slocum, who is described as beautiful, blonde-haired and young, unveiled the mystery before Magistrate Gen. John F. Oryan, the referee who took testimony.

Slocum since has been committed to an asylum, a victim of acute melancholy. Slocum, who is still in his twenties, is a member of the old Slocum family which resides at Grymes Hill, Staten Island.

French Confer Decoration on American Millionaire for His Success in Breeding Horses.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Among those decorated today with the Order of Merite Agricole was Frank Jay Gould. He received the decoration in recognition of his services in breeding horses.

This decoration, although generally laughed at and called the Order of the Leek, is much sought after. Others who received the decoration were M. Pams, former Minister of Agriculture, who was one of M. Poincare's opponents for the presidency and a number of army and navy officers whose agricultural connections seem to be meritorious.

Laura Fair Tries to End Her Life.

Mother of the Beautiful Lillian Loraine Essays Role of Suicide.

Grief Over the Fate of a Prize Winner Remains to Be Assuaged.

Romance Wooes Tragedy in the Closing Scene of an Eventful Career.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. L. D. Snyder, known in the early 70's as the beautiful Laura Fair, adventuress, slayer of Judge A. P. Crittenden, and principal in at least two other shooting affairs, and a beauty of her day, attempted, with a bread knife, to end her own life in Richmond after reading of the death of her daughter, Lillian Loraine Hollis.

The daughter, an actress, who, in 1892 was voted the most beautiful girl on the Pacific Coast, died in squalor in New York. For twelve years she had refused to communicate with her mother.

MOTIVE OF THE ACT.

The tragic death of the daughter and the attempted suicide of the mother on the opposite side of the continent mark one more tragic episode in the life of the woman, whose history few of the present generation recall, but whose life was marked with tragic events.

ROMANCE WAS TRAGEDY.

Of all the romance and tragedy that was woven into her life that morganatic romance which culminated the evening of Tuesday, November 4, 1870, when she shot down Judge A. P. Crittenden, eminent lawyer of his time, on board the ferry boat El Capitan at the Oakland Pier, was the most sensational. The murder was committed within sight of the wife of Judge Crittenden and while his sons and daughters stood near to witness it. Mrs. Fair could not bear to see the man she loved and with whom she had been on intimate terms for months, clasp his lawful wife in his arms when she returned from a visit in the East.

The adventuress who more than forty years ago shot down her lover, who twice before had attempted murder, is the woman who read the story of her own daughter's death this morning in a little cottage in Richmond and whose grief was so great that she tried to put an end to her existence.

Mrs. Snyder had been living in Richmond since 1906. For the greater part of the time she has been conducting a woman's exchange, but with indifferent success. Mrs. Snyder is remarkably preserved for her age, being in the neighborhood of 70. She has the appearance of a woman more than ten years younger than that.

She lived in Richmond in the home of Mrs. Howell at No. 437 Eleventh street. It was there this morning that she read in the morning newspapers of the death of Lillian Loraine Hollis, reported to be the foster daughter of Mrs. Synder but who she says is her legitimate child.

WITH A SCREAM.

Immediately after reading the newspaper account of the death of the actress in New York, Mrs. Snyder ran screaming from the room. She rushed into the kitchen followed by several members of the Howell family. Mrs. Snyder grabbed a bread knife from a shelf and cried that she would kill herself. Members of the family disarmed and held her in restraint until the arrival of officers who sent her to the Abbott Hospital. She remained there until last night when she was sent to her home. Later in the evening she boarded a train for Oakland, where she said she intended to visit friends.

LILLIAN'S PEDIGREE.

"Lillian Loraine Hollis was my daughter," said Mrs. Snyder as she was leaving Richmond tonight. "She was the daughter of Col. William B. Fair, to whom I was married in Treska in 1868. I have affidavits to prove that she was my daughter."

The maiden name of Mrs. Snyder, who attempted to end her remarkable career this morning, is supposed to have been Lane and she was a native of Mississippi. She first became known in California when she married Col. William B. Fair, former Sheriff of Sacramento county. When he had money he gratified her every whim, but when he met with reverses she cast him off. Fair was so deeply affected by the desertion of his wife that he committed suicide.

After the death of Col. Fair, Mrs. Fair was twice remarried. After a divorce from the third husband she was again brought in the public eye by a series of remarkable adventures and escapades in Mexico.

INFATUATION.

In 1861 she left Mexico and went to Virginia City, where she first met A. P. Crittenden, who became so infatuated with her that he forgot everything else for a time.

When the War of the Rebellion broke out, she was a strong Southern sympathizer, and when the entire Pacific Coast was in doubt as to which side to champion in that struggle, she created great excitement in Virginia City by appearing in the streets wrapped

The Charm of a Pleasant Smile Is In the Display of Good Teeth

Look into the mirror at those decayed, diseased, discolored teeth, and the cavernous spaces left by those you have lost—if to you the impression is distasteful, contemplate the impression the unsightly condition must create upon those whom you meet in your social and business life.

Bad teeth—missing teeth or the hollow, sunken cheeks, will lead you to social and financial failure—note that.

I can replace missing teeth, that for beauty and symmetry will be unsurpassed (even by Nature) in adding to your attractiveness. This work is without a plate, and every tooth (whether one or a dozen) I replace is perfect in appearance, strong, comfortable and useful. You cannot afford to cheat yourself out of a consultation; it's free.

Plate Work

My restoration plate removes the WRINKLES and returns the youthful appearance to your features.

If you are wearing a faulty plate I will, by practical demonstration, convince you that it is to your best interest to discard it. If you are making a CHEMICAL LABORATORY of your stomach, taking drugs for dyspepsia, it is because you are not masticating your food.

THICK DANDRUFF OR SMALL SCALES

Head Sore from Eruption. Very Painful. Began as Red Rash. Hair Came Out in Spots. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In a Month Head Well and Smooth.

Crosbie, N. M.—"When my little brother was six months old his head became sore from an eruption and instead of healing it turned to a mild scab and was very painful. The trouble began as a red rash which developed into a thick dandruff or small scale and then under this formed pus, and it soon spread all over the top of his head. He was very cross and fretful and did not sleep well. His hair came out in spots.

"Mother tried lots of home remedies but they did no good. Then a friend told mother about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and she tried them. She told the Cuticura Soap to wash and cleanse his head, then applied the Cuticura Ointment and in one month his head was entirely well and smooth.

"My own little boy developed a case similar to my brother's when he was a baby. We used Cuticura Soap and Ointment in time and he was cured in eight days." (Signed) Miss Lucy C. Stansfield, Aug. 20, 1912.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Women should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

Break the Fetters That Binds Men

Hundreds Here Know It.

"Break away from that ailment or complaint that unfits you for business or pleasure. You cannot expect the fullest enjoyment or pleasure in life fettered to a 'drag.'" says an eminent physician, writing to a prominent business man in this city. "Break the fetters that bind you! Throw them off. Begin a new life today—now. Regulate the hours of sleep. Choose carefully your food. Read cheerful, inspiring papers or books. Let the following prescription be used regularly for several weeks or months and all such symptoms as these will vanish: Dull, sunken eyes; cold extremities, backache, headache, sleeplessness, thinness (or over fat), weakness in the spine, twitching, spots before the eyes, pains in back of head, trembling, fatigue, despondency, impaired memory, loss of appetite, flabby muscles, shrinking skin, constipation, kidney disorders and a general restlessness and inability to do important duties when they should be done."

For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health and all the happiness accompanying it, the following home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

The treatment is simple, thorough and correct. Leading druggists supply the main tinctures, extracts and essences in one-ounce bottles, ready to mix. Get three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound, mix with one ounce compound fluid balmwort, and stand two hours. Add one ounce compound essence cardiol, and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom). Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime.—[Advertisement.

Talks on Teeth
Have You Nice Teeth?

If you cannot answer that question in the affirmative, read this article, and follow the advice given. Then you can say, yes.

The discovery of

for supplying missing teeth without plates, or ordinary bridge work, made it possible for every man and woman to have a beautiful set of teeth, provided they had two or more teeth left in either jaw.

Every one realizes that the teeth are of the greatest importance, not alone because nice teeth make for good looks, but that good, serviceable, strong teeth are necessary if one is to keep his stomach in good order.

Thousands are enjoying Alveolar teeth.

PLATES

There are a large number of people who through force of circumstances are compelled to wear plates. We have a department to take care of all patients who require that class of work. We have one of the most expert men on plate work on this Coast at the head of that department, which assures all of our patients better fitting, better looking and more serviceable plates than you have been able to procure elsewhere.

Lung Affection Yielded To This Remedy

Anyone interested in the treatment of Consumption should get one of the booklets telling of recoveries by the use of Eckman's Alterative. Coughs, Stubborn Colds and Pneumonia may be the beginning of more serious troubles—Eckman's Alterative is the effective remedy. Read Mr. Kanaly's statement:—

Saratoga, N. Y.

"Gentlemen: For five or six years I was troubled with cough and expectoration. I also had a high fever. My case was declared Consumption by my physician. I was given Cod Liver Oil, Creosote and other medicines, all without benefit.

"At Christmas time, 1906, I was not expected to live. Calling Dr. R. H. McCarthy, he advised the use of Eckman's Alterative, which I took with excellent results, and was entirely cured. I have gained in weight, I go out in all weather and have had no cough or cold whatever. I give these facts to encourage others to use Eckman's Alterative."

(Sworn Affidavit) JAS. W. KANALY.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by the Owl Drug Company and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

Finicky Appetites Put In Order

You Can Sit Right Down and Eat Anything Served If You Get Acquainted with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

With a most pathetic sigh the dyspeptic sits down and "views with alarm" his hungry companions. Now, the best doctrine for most people to hand out to suffering stomachs is to couple a square meal with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. To sit down to a good meal and eat whatever is served is getting back to the good old days when grand-dad carved the roast; when the family made a clean-up; and when good appetites with sound digestion produced the men and women that have made our nation what it is.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the dyspeptic's hope. They are a natural restorative of healthy action to the stomach and small intestines, because they supply the elements that the weak stomach lacks—pepsin, golden seal and other digestives.

If you are afflicted with any symptoms of stomach trouble, be assured that your digestive organs are losing power,—they need help and there is no more sensible help to be given them than to supply elements which will do the work of digestion for them.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been found by test to have digestive powers, one grain of the active principle of these tablets being sufficient to digest 3000 grains of ordinary food. It is plain that no matter what the condition of your stomach, or how far your disease has progressed, one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken at meal-time will do the work—give your stomach an opportunity to regain its lost powers, the muscles will be strengthened, the glands invigorated, and you will be a new man.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, at 50 cents a box.—[Advertisement.

Drink PURITAS Distilled Water

And Be Free from the Annoyance and Danger of Impure, Muddy, Germ-Laden City Water.

At this time of year, when the winter rains begin, there is greater danger than usual in drinking impure water.

For the rain washes into the watercourses all the vegetable and animal impurities which have for months been accumulating; these flow into the reservoirs and are transmitted to you in the natural course of water distribution.

You may notice that the city water you draw from faucets is muddy, or "foamy," this is due in large measure to the alkali which is present in quantity in the water hereabouts.

An unpleasant taste is the result—but the unpleasantness might be overlooked—what is really to be feared is the danger of taking into your system disease germs of various sorts; typhoid fever germs exist in great quantities in natural waters, as well as bacilli of lesser virulence.

The only way in which you can assure yourself of a pure and truly safe drinking water is to have in your home, your office or apartment, PURITAS Distilled Water.

For while PURITAS possesses no medicinal qualities, its constant use is a safeguard against kidney and rheumatic ailments, and a preventative of typhoid fever, because it is absolutely pure.

People who have changed from drinking ordinary water to the use of PURITAS are often amazed at the improvement in their health, due to the lessened work required of the kidneys in keeping the body pure and wholesome. There is nothing in PURITAS which cannot be used and assimilated by the most delicate constitution.

PURITAS Distilled Water, as its name implies, is pure, soft, distilled, aerated water—nothing more—scientifically produced and hygienically bottled for domestic use.

You can obtain a supply—five gallons cost but 40c—delivered to any point within the old city boundary lines, simply by telephoning or writing us.

And if you live out of town, where there is no regular PURITAS dealer, your request will receive our prompt attention.

Wanted to Be French President.

Mlle. Marie Denizard,

Who was a candidate for the French Presidency at the last election, so much in the hope of winning the honor, as to bring before the people the cause of equal suffrage. She advocates that all single women should have the franchise and married women only in so far as their husbands are unable or unwilling to vote.

CALIFORNIAN WON OVER BY FRENCH SUFFRAGETTE

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES]

PARIS, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mlle. Denizard, the woman candidate for the French Presidency at the recent election by the National Assembly, has made such headway in her advocacy of woman's suffrage in France, that she has sent an appeal to California for assistance in taking advantage of the present opportune moment.

Miss Scofy of San Francisco, aunt of Miss Rose Ambler Curran of New York and Paris, has been won over by Mlle. Denizard and will work the cause of woman's suffrage solely, first in France and then in the United States.

Mlle. Denizard would not only suffrage for women universal but advocates that every single woman should have the ballot. There are 4,000,000 unmarried women of voting age in France. Married women do not have the ballot only in case the husband is unwilling or unable to vote, her theory being that where the husband votes, he represents his wife in the ballot box.

ings of a rough character, and there will soon be roofs for all.

Joseph Nenzel, father of Rochester, announces the immediate beginning of an electric power plant at Oreana to supply that place and Rochester. The plant, in which San Francisco capital is interested, will be known as the Nenzel Electric Power Company.

There are to be four 200-horse-power units erected in quick succession. Lines will be strung to Rochester Canyon at once for conveying electric power to the machinery on the various properties in the camp and electricity for lighting.

With power available for motors that run compressors, machine drills and other mining machinery, it is expected that the development of the Rochester properties will go ahead much faster than at present.

RICH IN SILVER.

The Times correspondent has just returned from an inspection of the tunnel at Nenzel Peak, where the big strike was made last Monday, the first proof of the location of the ledge from which the first surface croppings were found. The big vein is widening out as the development proceeds. Values in silver are running high, while the gold values are uncertain. More than six tons of ore were taken out yesterday. The strike was not made, however, on the main ore body, but on a large vein running up to the ledge. This vein is widening at every foot.

George Wingfield, the millionaire mining man, was early in the camp, and his tunnel has run into big ore, values unknown, but reported very rich, on the east section of the big strike.

DRIVES FIRST STAKE.

T. J. Johnson, known as "Old Tom" Johnson, of Grays Harbor, Wash., has two claims on Independence Hill which he is developing. An assay of his surface rock just off the ledge showed $60 in gold and silver. Adjoining it the "Buck and Charley," which sold for $20,000, showed float valued at $800. Johnson, who is known from the Equator to Alaska among mining men, has been in this country nearly a year prospecting, and claims to have driven the first stake in this camp. He declares that it will prove a world beater. The famous "Fraction Jack" is superintending the Johnson property.

H. O. Snyder of Salt Lake, and his partners, have acquired large interests from the Farrelly brothers, and have struck a vein ten feet wide, running $50 to $400. The smelter returns on 24,460 pounds was $715. The returns so far have netted $75 a ton.

James Michel of Bakersfield, Cal., has croppings in Limerick Canyon. The dyke is sticking out 15 feet in places, mostly porphyry, and assays about $5 in gold and a little silver. He has two claims back of Limerick Hill.

On the Big Four lease, Block No. 1, a strike was made this week on a stringer which assayed $65. The shaft is down about twenty feet. They are also running a tunnel to catch the Nenzel lead. Striking this stringer shows that the ore body excavated on the Nenzel ground extends at least 600 feet further north as well as going down. To the east of this place, ore was struck on the Hunter lease assaying $60 and $70.

RUBY AND HORN SILVER.

Andy Riordan, the famous football star of Nevada University, and his partner, Joe Meyers, have leased the Abe Lincoln on Lincoln Hill, owned by Harley and Stott, and have been working the property for thirty days, with assays of $2300 the highest and $66 the lowest. The formation is rhyolite and porphyry similar to Nenzel Peak where the big strike was made. One vein runs east and west and the other north and south, the latter principally silver, carrying gold and horn silver. On the east and west vein free gold was found at about 100 feet.

On the Farrelly lease, they have a two-foot vein averaging $50. They have shipped seventeen tons to the north has encountered a vein from eight to ten inches wide, $10 in silver with small gold values. They are down only eight feet and the vein is widening out.

GOOD PANS OF GOLD.

The lease owned by Messrs. Dunn & Mulqueeny on the Abe Lincoln has shown some good pannings in gold, and they expect to strike the big vein.

Four feet of ore has been cut in a tunnel at thirty feet on the Big No. 2, of the Farrelly lease, owned by Charles Mattevich, and assays of the ton in gold and silver. On the same lease, Stott and Thomas, the sub-lessors, have a tunnel in 100 feet and expect to strike the vein ten feet more.

Rich high-grade float has been found on both sides of Lincoln Hill, and general indications point to a big float coming from the Nenzel.

At least 100 claims have been located on Lincoln Hill, on all of the ledges running in all directions, and indications that they will lead to some rich ore.

OLD PLACER CAMP.

Lincoln Hill parallels Independence Hill and both are cut off on the north by Nenzel Peak, at the mouth of the American Canyon. In the early days, according to Wells Fargo records, it is estimated that millions in placer gold was taken out and shipped. These diggings were worked by Chinamen, many of them being employed by the same company at the same time.

Limerick Canyon on the west side of Lincoln Hill and on the north side of Nenzel Peak has produced much gold in the past. Recently, however, to the north of Lincoln Hill one of the largest veins of gold ever found has been discovered, many millions in gold having been produced in early days, as did Placer Canyon adjoining Limerick and Rochester Canyons to the east. Both of these canyons lead into Antelope Valley, one of the richest farming districts in the state, and Lancaster, Palmdale and Star City.

Nenzel Peak is the old "Buck and Charley" and "Old Dick" Nash of Rosamond, which produced $5,000,000 in silver. The Big No. 2 and two other properties that produced $2,000,000 between them are in Star City there were five properties working and they produced about $60,000. These were in the form of a rough sketch of the valley, which through the country would be found that they came into existence in the east and west gold veins in Rochester Canyon.

OLD BONANZA.

Northeast of Rochester, about 20 miles in the old Red Rock district, more than $4,000,000 in gold was taken out in the early days, the majority of the ore being shipped across the ocean to Swansea to be treated. Those days the town of Unionville, near City and Star City, were abandoned at a time when there were 300 feet only, although it is said that then $1.28 an ounce, owing to the cost of modern methods of mining, would pay. New York capitalists have been representatives to the said that they are to opening up some of the old shafts. Humboldt mines are being and south for a distance of 20 miles and is likely to be a big camp. It has produced almost every kind of mineral and many millions.

HOUSE PASSES WEBB MEASU

Aims to Bar Intoxicants Dry States.

Sensational All-Day D Precedes Voting.

An Intimation that W Inspired Action.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE T

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The Webb bill, to prohibit the interstate shipment of liquor into dry States for purposes of sale "or in any manner" in violation of State laws, passed by the House late today by 246 to 65.

The vote was preceded by a heated debate, in which Representative Fitzgerald of New York, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, joined with Republican Leader Mann in denouncing the action of the Democratic leaders in allowing a measure to be presented, providing for the introduction of amendments and limiting debate to three hours.

Representatives Bulwell and Fitzgerald led the attack against the special rule, insisting that with the time left for consideration of seven appropriation bills, no legislation ought to be transacted under special rules.

CALLS IT MORAL SPASM.

"Why is it," demanded Mr. Dalzell, "that we have this moral spasm, this juncture? When the history of this Congress is written it will be a history of the most incompetent and most useless Congress that ever met under the dome of the Capitol."

Representative Fitzgerald attacked Democratic Leader Underwood and Chairman Henry of the Rules Committee for allowing the remainder of the session to be taken up with measures "which they know have no chance of being passed.

"Nobody expects this bill to become law; it is brought up so that some members may have an opportunity to fool the public," he declared.

INSPIRED EFFORT.

Representatives Pou of North Carolina and Clayton of Alabama defended the rule.

Republican Leader Mann denounced it as an effort to "fling dust in the public. Referring to Representative Henry as the Attorney-General of the next Cabinet" and personal representative of President-elect Wilson, he declared the Rules Committee chairman apparently was leading an inspired effort to prevent consideration of the appropriation bills so that they might go over to the special session of Congress.

STUBBORN CONTEST.

The passage of the bill ended one of the most stubbornly-fought all-night contests of this Congress. Senator Cummins of Iowa, author of a Senate measure of the same general purport, was in the House most of the night watching the fight. Representatives of organized anti-saloon advocates filled the members' galleries and were busy on the roll calls.

Former Speaker Cannon declared that the States should regulate the liquor traffic.

Representative Berger of Wisconsin, Socialist, contended that all great men, from Julius Caesar down to Grover Cleveland, were temperate drinkers.

Representative Shirley of Kentucky attacked the validity of the bill. Representative Rucker of Missouri said he represented numerous districts whose homes had been wrecked by liquor.

All amendments offered to the bill were rejected. One of these would have substituted the bill already passed by the Senate, and another would have added a penalyizing clause with fine and imprisonment provisions, which some of the members declared would have made the measure unconstitutional.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

"DAWN MIST" TO LEAD TROOP

INDIAN MAIDENS WILD RIDE SUFFRAGE PAGEANT.

First Time in History that Daughters of Redmen Are Taking Part in Nation-Wide Movement for Ex-Leading Franchise—Louis W. Hill Will Furnish Transportation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. — Dawn Mist, daughter of Chief Three Bears of the Glacier National Park Indians, will command a troop of mounted Indian maidens in the cavalry division of the Women's Suffrage pageant here on March 3. This is said to be the first time Indian women have taken part in nation-wide movement extending the franchise to women. Dawn Mist's troop will be ten maidens selected as being the most representative of their tribe. All will ride in their tribal ceremonial costumes and be mounted on Indian ponies richly caparisoned with elaborate Indian bead work.

HILL PAYS FOR TRIP.

Dawn Mist, who has given much time to the cause of the woman's suffrage movement, succeeded in obtaining the co-operation of Louis W. Hill, son of James J. Hill, who has offered to furnish transportation for the young women. While in Washington the Indian girls will live in Indian tepees on a camp ground provided for them.

MANY MOUNTED WOMEN.

The cavalry division of the pageant is taking large proportions. It is believed 200 mounted women will be in the line of march through the procession. The cavalry division will be commanded by Governor Wilmatt of Maryland. It is practically assured that one entire section will be composed of women wage earners. Several of the women's labor unions of Washington have signified their intention of marching.

Pure Reliable Drugs

Rochelle Salts 3 oz. A saline laxative very pleasant to take. It is especially suited to delicate or irritable stomachs. 10c

Precipitated Chalk 4 oz. Used extensively as a tooth powder. Combined with orris root you'll find it very pleasant to use—as well as most effective. 10c

Phosphate of Soda, Lb. A mild saline purgative. It acts directly on the liver. You'll find in Phosphate of Soda a very simple and effective liver stimulant—pleasant to take. 12c

Cascara The Best 4 Oz 10c The Extract, 3 Ounces

An excellent laxative for habitual constipation, producing a permanent beneficial effect. Cascara can be used in the form of an infusion, that is, by making a tea out of the bark—or you can secure the pure cascara bark. 25c

Linseed, Pound A useful remedy in the form of poultice in reducing inflammation or boils. Made into tea it is useful in catarrh, dyspepsia, or other inflammation of the mucous membranes. 10c

Sarsaparilla 2 Ounces The old time remedy for the blood. Useful in rheumatism, scrofula, and other skin diseases—acting beneficially upon them through the blood. 10c

Alum, Pound 10c Use in solution for sore throat, to stop bleeding in small cuts, and for astringent douches. Fine for use in lump form after shaving, because it toughens a tender skin.

Buchu Leaves, oz. A well known kidney remedy. Make an infusion of it and you'll find it helpful for catarrh of the bladder, and all inflamed conditions of the urinary organs. 10c

Borax, Pound 10c An excellent water softener and can be used also for wounds, abscesses and ulcers, either dry or in solution.

Sugar of Milk, Pound Highly recommended as a bland article of diet in tubercular and other wasting diseases, especially if the stomach is irritable. 25c

Bicarbonate of Soda Perhaps you know this better as "Baking Soda." Useful in cooking; also gives relief in heartburn and sour stomach. Make it into a lotion and it is most soothing for hives and insect stings. Full Pound 10c

Boric Acid—4 oz 10c An ideal antiseptic; useful for inflamed eyes, sore throat and as a dressing for wounds. An excellent dusting powder for baby. Pound 25c

Comp. Licorice Pwd'r 3 oz. 10c—8 oz. 25c Pound — A famous old time remedy; a vegetable laxative for children. Pleasant to take, and sure in results. Good also for adults. 40c

Cream of Tartar—½ lb. Excellent for use in case of hives or rashes of the skin. Used internally it cools the blood. Combined with sulphur and molasses, it's a reliable spring medicine. This is the regular Cream of Tartar used in cooking—but absolutely pure. 25c Pound 40c

Epsom Salts, Pound An active, safe cathartic, cooling the blood and very effective in obstinate constipation. Give with a little lemon in carbonated water. 10c

Sulphur—Pound The old time Spring medicine and blood purifier. Also an excellent local application in skin diseases. Sulphur also makes an excellent disinfectant, and is so inexpensive that you can afford to use it freely. 10c

Senna Leaves—2 Oz. A quick, safe purgative—best used when steeped as a tea. If combined with Epsom Salts or Cream of Tartar, you'll find it will not gripe. 10c

Camphor—Oz. Pure Gum Camphor dissolved in alcohol or oil you'll find an excellent remedy for headache, rheumatic pains or bruises. Apply externally. 5c in a Confederate flag and, with a cocked revolver in her hand, daring any person to raise the Stars and Stripes in her presence. One patriot was brave enough to defy her. She shot at him but missed. She then raised the Confederate flag over her home and dared anyone to pull it down. Patriotic citizens entered the house during the night, cut the halyards and the flag fluttered to the street. She was arrested and tried for the shooting affair, but was acquitted. Crittenden was her attorney at the trial.

25c Rubber "Beauty Brushes" Special Monday 14c

Keen Edge Her Balm.

Soon afterward her companion, a man named Hunt, killed a friend in a brawl after which he fled the State. Hampered by lack of funds, she did not follow him, but remained.

It was soon after that she came to San Francisco and appeared on the stage playing minor parts, both here and in Sacramento. She soon realized that she was not cut out for theatrical life. She became conspicuous at balls and at the theaters and was famed for her unusual beauty. Eventually, she met and married a Jesse Snyder. After six weeks of wedded bliss she discovered that her husband kept very close watch of his purse. She arranged for a divorce suit which she won. The decree was granted but four days previous to the shooting of Crittenden.

THE CRITTENDEN CASE.

Laura D. Fair shot Alexander P. Crittenden, an eminent San Francisco lawyer of his time, on board the ferryboat "El Capitan," in the presence of his wife and children, November 3, 1870, inflicting a wound from which Crittenden died the evening of November 5.

In September, 1870, he sent his wife and seven children East for a pleasure trip, and had just greeted them at the Oakland pier on their return at the time of the tragedy. As they boarded the ferry Crittenden's son, Parker, observed a woman attired in black and heavily veiled who appeared to be regarding his father's movements intently.

Crittenden was a native of Kentucky and a West Point graduate as a classmate of Gen. Sherman's. Remaining in the army only a year, he married and took up the law, coming to San Francisco in 1852.

When Crittenden and his family took seats on the boat the woman approached them and suddenly whipped a revolver from the folds of her clothing, shooting him in the chest.

Crittenden fell to the deck, unconscious, and the woman hastened to another part of the boat, where she seated herself. Capt. Kentzel of the Harbor Police was on the boat and placed her under arrest, depriving her of the revolver.

Immediately following her arrest she began acting peculiarly, apparently bordering on hysteria, and when a stimulant was administered she bit a section out of the glass.

It was not until after she was taken to the City Prison that her identity became known.

On the day of Crittenden's funeral the Federal, State and municipal courts adjourned.

The defense was that Crittenden's perfidy had wrought her mind to a blind, unreasoning frenzy. She was convicted April 26, 1871, and was sentenced to be hanged July 28. The Supreme Court granted a stay of execution July 11 and later accorded her a new trial, which resulted in her acquittal upon the plea of her counsel that she was a victim of emotional insanity.

TRAIL LEADS TO DISGRACE.

Faithless Husband Followed to His Tryst Here.

Frail Matron of Spokane in Tears at Parting.

Property Settlement Finish of Once Happy Home.

Trailed to this city by his wife, a prominent society matron and clubwoman of Spokane, F. W. Sheffield, a wealthy ranch owner, was arrested early yesterday morning in company with his alleged affinity, said to be Mrs. Anna Counts of Salt Lake, at their suite in the Albion Apartments, No. 2674 West Ninth street. No complaint having been filed against Mrs. Counts, she was permitted to go after having been held several hours at Central Police Station. Late last night Sheffield was released on his own recognizance. He will be arraigned Monday morning, according to the police.

Mrs. Sheffield arrived here Friday, having received information that her husband and his companion were here or in some of the near-by cities. With the assistance of A. N. Solisa, a lawyer from Ontario, who has been for some time at Long Beach, and who is a warm personal friend of the family, she succeeded in locating her recreant spouse at the Albion Apartments. Detectives Johnson and Pelts from Chief Sebastian's office were detailed on the case and arrested the couple after they had retired Friday night. Sheffield made no attempt to deny his identity, but sought to protect the woman.

The startling document came as the climax to a year of domestic infelicity, according to Mrs. Sheffield, although the fact that there was discord in the family was so carefully guarded that not even their closest friends suspected a breach. According to the wife her husband has been at his home very little during the past year, the impression being purposely created among friends that he was traveling in the South for his health.

ENDS IT ALL.

The disclosures made by the arrest of Sheffield in company with another woman are such as to preclude the possibility of an amicable agreement, hopes for which had been entertained by the wife up to the time of coming to Los Angeles, according to her attorney.

In her apartment at the Gates Hotel yesterday the wife talked of the disgrace which she felt had been brought upon her name by the actions of her husband. On the verge of a nervous collapse because of the unsought notoriety, the frail woman reluctantly went into details which portrayed the tribulations of a woman seeking to preserve before the public an appearance of contentment while her heart was being torn by the knowledge of a man's unfaithfulness.

"It was his wealth that was in a great measure responsible for it all," she said. "The old saying that 'Satan finds some mischief for idle hands to do,' certainly was true in this instance. Having done virtually nothing in a business way for more than a year, my husband's time has been taken up in doing those things he ought not to have done. I did not see the woman who was with him, but I know that he has been a great deal with a Salt Lake woman, and I am satisfied it is the same one. He has simply broken my heart by his actions and all the time I have tried so hard to avoid anyone knowing."

DIDN'T MEAN TO.

Questioned concerning her following her husband here and causing his arrest, Mrs. Sheffield said she did not cause his arrest except indirectly. "All I wanted to do was to see him and try to reason with him," she said. She then told of having employed attorneys in the North to institute a search attorneys that Sheffield was arrested, according to the wife.

"This is the most dreadful experience a woman has ever been called upon to go through," she said as she sank on the bed and covered her face with her hands. I came [illegible] registered as 'Mrs. Jones' [illegible] friends in the city would [illegible] am here. There are so many people in Los Angeles at present and it seems to me [illegible] have sacrificed everything [illegible] have had this terrible publicity. I would not have undertaken the trip or endeavored to [illegible] had I realized what it would [illegible] are so many people who will [illegible] now, I feel that I will [illegible] to go back to Spokane and [illegible] head up again."

Mrs. Sheffield also [illegible] into direct touch with her husband, it is asserted, because [illegible] sets are involved and [illegible] asked to account for certain [illegible] wife's property alleged to have been turned over to him.

"I would rather not discuss property matter," Mrs. Sheffield said, inasmuch as I expect to hold a conference with my husband relative to that matter. It is true that I signed certain deeds to certain property and he converted the property to cash. The last deeds I refused to sign I refused and still refuse to refuse until some sort of settlement is entered into. I have had all times since this estrangement an amicable agreement reached and to this end have striven, but apparently there is no such an ending now."

Late yesterday evening, it was taken in the custody of a detective to his wife's home, where a lengthy confession was signed, tacitly agreed between the husband and wife that married life with them in the future was impossible after considerable conference a property interests a basis of settlement was reached whereby [illegible] is to be provided for in a [illegible] way. Although refused to be known the approximate value of property owned by them was [illegible] cipals admitted that the [illegible] vast.

During the conference [illegible] their respective lawyers were present. Mrs. Sheffield maintained her composure with difficulty and was [illegible] nearly fainted. The [illegible] finally reached is said to be [illegible] all parties concerned.

Artificial teeth that fit well, look well, and wear well—that restore the natural contour of youth to the face, are the exception rather than the rule. They should duplicate the natural teeth in color, size, and shape, and make possible proper mastication of food, which is absolutely necessary for good digestion and perfect health. Artificial teeth-making is distinctly a specialist's work; as a great deal depends upon the skill with which they are designed and fitted. In my office this work is done by a dentist of twenty year's experience, and in consequence is abidingly satisfactory to my patients. Fine work can be done by an apprentice for less money than a skilled dentist who has spent years in study and practice. Cheap work is invariably worth just what you pay for it—no more.

I employ no boys or students, use only the best materials and guarantee every piece of work done in this office. Pay less—you will get less for your money. Pay more and you pay more than I charge. WAR MOVES STIR LATINS.

Diplomats Beat New Path to Secretary Knox's Office.

Central American Consuls Are All in Flutter.

"Precautionary" Is the Only Intelligence They Get.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Movements of United States warships to Central America which became fully known today, put the Central American legations here into a state of flutter and sent the Latin-American ministers hurrying to assure Secretary Knox that all was tranquil in their countries.

Before noon practically all the Ministers had communicated with the State Department to inquire the reason for the naval demonstration and whether existence of any conditions which initiated trouble.

"PRECAUTIONARY."

To all queries the same answer was returned—that the naval movements were merely precautionary and were in part inspired by information of activity of revolutionary plots in this country. At any rate, the State Department was unaffected by any of the representations as was shown by the fact that in addition to four warships either under way or about to be ordered to Central America the gunboat Tacoma at Boston was also added to the list and the commander was instructed to hold his ship in readiness to relieve the vessels on the Atlantic Coast of South America.

It was intimated in official quarters that the purpose of the naval movement was to maintain the status quo in Central America so far as that could be done by the retaining influence of warships, until the Incoming administration has had an opportunity to define its policies and announce its attitude toward the Central American republics.

Despatches reports of threatened uprisings coincident with the change of administration in this country, dispatched from the East to guard American interests by having a strong American force at strategic points. It was pointed out today that his action was not in any way commit the new administration, which, of course, may withdraw the warships even if that course is regarded as advisable.

POLICE GRAFT DEEP ROOTED.

OLD NEW YORK BEGINS TO SHOW SURPRISE.

Three Captains of the Metropolitan Force Accused in the Latest Revelations of Alleged Crookedness on the Part of Stalwarts Sworn to Enforce the Law.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The most drastic investigation of police graft that has been attempted since Police Lieutenant Charles Becker's hired gun men shot Herman Rosenthal to death last July, is said today to be under way as a result of the story told to the Aldermanic committee by James Purcell, who ran games of chance in many houses under police protection for nearly seventeen years, according to his testimony.

"Purcell's story will be investigated in all its ramifications," it was stated at police headquarters today, on behalf of Commissioner Waldo, who had before him the three precinct captains, still members of the force, who were accused by Purcell. They were questioned regarding the gambler's allegations that they took money in return for protection of Purcell. Each of the four denied in sworn statements, the truth of Purcell's charges. One of the quartette is Patrick J. Cray, brother-in-law of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall. The others are Thomas F. Maude, Patrick Corcoran and Fred W. Martens.

Dist.-Atty. Whitman plans to seek, first the indictment of Police Captain Thomas Walsh, under suspension since confessing he shared in graft collected by Patrolman Eugene Fox; second, the indictment of an official at headquarters, a man suspected as the source of a fund raised to keep George A. Sipp, a disorderly hotel keeper, from testifying before the grand jury against Walsh prior to the latter's confession.

SHOCK MAKES HIM SANE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GRAND FORKS (N. D.) Feb. 8.—An elaborate home and an annual income of $4000 from the German government was what Baron von Falkenstein, for eight years a section laborer on the Great Northern Railway, found when he reached his native country recently. This information was received by the local insanity board today from Thomas Monley of Everdo, who was delegated to accompany Falkenstein across the Atlantic Ocean, when the latter was adjudged insane a few weeks ago. Falkenstein, whom Mr. Monley found to be a member of a leading German family, came to this country on a visit many years ago. Becoming short of funds, he obtained employment as a railroad laborer, continuing the work until being taken into custody on an insanity charge. Monley says that Falkenstein, who is now in the custody of relatives, is recovering rapidly.

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save your hair! Danderine destroys dandruff and stops falling hair at once—Grows hair, we prove it.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25-cent bottle will truly amaze you.—[Advertisement.

GRAY HAIR TURNS ITS NATURAL COLOR AFTER APPLYING SAGE TEA.

Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens Beautifully and Takes Off Dandruff.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also cures dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own, but it's usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's," which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is the best remedy for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and to stop falling hair.

Folks like "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly, says a well-known downtown druggist. You dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This requires but a few moments. By morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two is restored to its natural color and looks even more beautiful and glossy than ever.

SEND NAME AND ADDRESS TODAY—YOU CAN HAVE IT FREE AND BE STRONG.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his health, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men.

I think I owe it to my fellow-men to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 3750 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $5.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey because of its great remedial qualities. These friends who have been made strong and vigorous by its use are glad to proclaim its tonic stimulating virtues and recommend it to their friends and neighbors.

At 69—Feels Like 50

"Eight years ago, when sick, I lost my appetite. I could not eat solid foods. My family physician advised taking Duffy's before meals. Now I feel more like 50 than 69. My appetite is splendid. Duffy's is very invigorating. A dealer tried to sell me a substitute, but the doctor told me to insist on the genuine."—Mrs. A. Campbell, 1111 West Ninth St., Spokane.

Hale and Hearty at 76

"For twenty years I have taken Duffy's and for the last four years I have never been without it. I have used it for malaria and dysentery and found it the best medicine I ever took, and I have been living 76 years. It puts new life in me, and I thank the company for so grand a tonic."—James S. Robinson, 620 Main St., Paterson, N. J.

Relieved Stomach Trouble

"My husband suffered with stomach trouble for 12 years. Three doctors gave him no relief, but after taking three bottles of Duffy's he was entirely cured. He now looks fine and weighs 180 pounds. We would never be without it."—Mrs. Fred F. Zink, 2228 Saratoga St., New Orleans, La.

Stopped My Cough

"I sincerely believe Duffy's is the grandest medicine ever made. It relieved me of a cough that my doctor could not stop. I had been in poor health 3 years, but nothing did me any good till I took 3 bottles of Duffy's. Now I tell all how it helped me."—Mrs. Ila Benjamin, Woodhull, N. Y.

IF YOU LIKE TO EAT HEAR THIS LECTURE.

Expert to Publicly Open "The Times" Great Cooking School Tuesday Afternoon—Comprehensive, Practical and Modern Institution, With a Kitchenette for Every Pupil and Every Line and Detail to Be Taught.

Mrs. Bertha Haffner-Ginger,

Who will conduct The Times Cooking School, which will open next Tuesday afternoon with a public lecture delivered by Mrs. Ginger in the auditorium arranged for the purpose in the Times Building.

A COOKING SCHOOL which will be the most comprehensive, practical and far-reaching of anything ever undertaken in this line is about to be inaugurated by The Times and will be open next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the instructor, Mrs. Bertha Haffner-Ginger, will give a public lecture in the auditorium arranged for this especial purpose on the second floor of the splendid new Times Building at First and Spring streets.

All women—and men—who are interested in eating are invited to come and listen to this lecture and inspect the quarters which have been equipped for the purpose. Mrs. Ginger will speak from a platform whereon is arranged a model kitchen—not a black spot in it—all done in pure white enamel and blue.

The cook-stove is a thing of beauty—all in dainty blue enamel and shining nickel. Reminds you of the famous Swiss stoves which are regarded in Switzerland as the choicest pieces of furniture in the house. Mark Twain said, when he was first confronted by one of these enameled beauties: "I thought I was facing a family heirloom."

This Times cooking stove will make you think of that. Then there is the dainty blue and white blocked linoleum on the floor of that model kitchen, and the pretty blue home-spun rugs—which are designed for a special very practical purpose which Mrs. Ginger will explain—and all the snow-white cupboards and shelving and—why, even the kitchen clock is blue and white with quaint Dutch figures on it! Really, just to see this immaculate kitchen will be a treat. It is surely a thing of beauty and designed to be a joy forever.

Kitchenette Cooking.

The kitchenette is the thing now. If you don't believe it, just go out and take a look at the most modern and down-to-date apartments. Every one has its well-equipped kitchenette. But what is a kitchenette good for if you don't know how to cook? That's the idea.

This Times cooking schol is going to be the most practical institution ever. Heretofore, cooking schools have been conducted on the plan that the instructor does the cooking and the pupils just watch every move she makes and take notes on everything she does.

Not so, this time. It will be far more practical than that, for in the cooking classes to be formed every individual pupil will have her own independent kitchenette, fitted up with every single thing she needs. On a great platform in front of these kitchenettes will stand the instructor, Mrs. Ginger, and each particular pupil will not only see with her eyes, and hear with her ears, but will actually do with her hands just what this cooking expert does, and will mix, and beat, and bake on her own particular table and in her own particular stove.

From Salads to Steaks.

Everything in the realm of cookery will be taught—from mixing a fine French salad to planking a steak, and from baking bread to beating biscuit, making "moonbeam cake" or any other kind.

Mrs. Ginger—differing from many professional cooks—makes economy a strong point and in these times of the high cost of living, this is a most important thing. She says succinctly:

"Some women throw out the back door and into the garbage can more than some men can bring into the front door," and she knows more ways of using up crums and scraps, and converting them into the most dainty and delicious eatables than any cooking apostle in the land. She also gives careful attention to food values and after a course of instruction under Mrs. Ginger cooking becomes about the most interesting thing in the house.

Table Service, Too.

Lots of things will be taught besides just the cooking. The proper arrangement of the dining table will be an important point. A table will be at all times set in model fashion and especial instruction in table serving will be given. This, as every housekeeper knows, is an art by itself. To sit at a well appointed table where the food is perfectly served doubles the enjoyment of a meal.

The Cooking Classes.

As many classes in cooking will be formed as are demanded and, to accommodate women who are too busy during the day to come, evening classes will be established, besides those of the morning and afternoon.

This will be a splendid opportunity for girls in domestic service to make themselves more valuable, and housekeepers will find it distinctly to their advantage to send their cooks and dining-room girls to these classes.

The classes will be conducted in the school kitchen which adjoins the auditorium where the cooking lectures will be given three times a week and which will be absolutely free to the public.

At the Tuesday lecture, Mrs. Ginger will explain in detail the methods of entering the classes.

STOMACH BAD? BELCHING GAS AND SOUR FOOD? WANT TO FEEL FINE?

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite food without fear.

"The Chinese residents of San Francisco have not been accorded the same rights as the American citizens and the rights of the most favored nation, as the United States is bound to extend to us."

BLOWN UP BY WINE FUMES.

Carbonic Acid Gas Explosion Wrecks Dwelling and Shatters Ear Drums of Woman.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. G. B. Borrasso, who resides several miles out on the lower Sacramento road, is in a serious condition as a result of injuries received yesterday when her home was wrecked by an explosion of carbonic acid gas. Her ear drums were shattered and she is suffering from internal hemorrhages.

Two small children who were burned about the face and arms are recovering. The explosion was caused by the flames of an oil lamp, which ignited gas arising from a carboy of wine directly beneath the home. The dwelling was reduced to kindling and it was with difficulty that neighbors released the inmates from the debris. A small dog was, it is believed, blown to atoms. A tongue was torn from a wagon thirty feet from the building and several small trees were uprooted. That the whole family was not killed is regarded as miraculous.

COURT AFTER A MILLIONAIRE.

Ordered to Pay Alimony or Divide Estate With Ex-Wife, Seattle Man Fails to Appear Before Judge.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Feb. 8.—Harry A. Jones, the millionaire who was divorced by Clara B. Jones last Wednesday and ordered to pay a judgment of $250,000 cash or convey half of his property, valued at $1,250,000, to Mrs. Jones, did not appear in court today as ordered.

Judge Humphreys, who granted the divorce, issued an attachment for Jones and increased the cash judgment against him to $300,000. Jones has appealed to the State Supreme Court from the divorce decree and judgment.

A REPORT ON GLAVIS.

Special Agent of the Land Office Forwards to Washington the Findings He Made in California.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—F. C. Dezendorff, special agent of the Government land office, forwarded to Washington today his confidential report of the investigation into the relations of Louis R. Glavis, with the lumber companies at the time he was secretary of two California State commissions. With the report went a copy of the testimony taken before Gov. Johnson, as a result of which Glavis resigned.

Gov. Johnson's findings were that Glavis made an efficient secretary and that his relations with the lumber companies had not prejudiced the public interest, but that, nevertheless, they constituted an impropriety not to be tolerated.

Dezendorff's report will go to the commissioner of the land office and to Secretary Fisher of the Department of the Interior. The Federal government came into the case because the interests Glavis was supposed to be conserving were Federal property, although a State commission was Glavis's employer.

ARRESTED, SEEKS DEATH.

Aged Seattle Man Accused in Honolulu in Opium Raid, Is Prevented From Making Away With Himself.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

HONOLULU, Feb. 8.—S. D. Hausman, a resident of Seattle, was arrested here today by customs inspectors, after opium valued at $6000 had been found in his room in a hotel. Hausman arrived here on the last trip of the Sierra, from San Francisco. He threatened to commit suicide when he was arrested, but was prevented from making any attempt. He is 70 years old.

DOCK BOOKS ARE SEIZED.

Federal Agents in San Francisco Take Possession of the Records of the Western Fuel Company.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—Agents of the Federal Treasury Department took possession today of the dock weight books and other records of the Western Fuel Company, which the government declares has been defrauding it of customs dues by weighing frauds. When officers of the company failed yesterday to produce the books in court, as ordered, they were informed that they could take their choice of doing so or going to jail for contempt of court.

Whatever the books shall disclose will be presented to the Federal grand jury next Tuesday.

TAXI LAW IGNORED.

Investigation in San Francisco Shows That Nobody in the Bay City Pays Any Attention to It at All.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—An audit of the city's books showed today that not one taxicab in San Francisco has ever been inspected, as required by ordinance. If a chauffeur wished to manipulate his taximeter to record fraudulent fares, there has been nothing to prevent him, in spite of numerous loud complaints. An ordinance provides that 50 cents should be charged for each taximeter inspected and sealed. The books show that nothing has ever been paid in and no inspections made.

SALOMON APPOINTED.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 8.—Gov. Johnson today appointed George R. Salomon of San Francisco, as California's delegate to the fiftieth annual celebration of the anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg at Gettysburg, Pa., July 1 to 4, next. Gen. Salomon is one of the few remaining survivors of the battle.

DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR A BAD LIVER OR SLUGGISH BOWELS

This Gentle, Effective Fruit Laxative Thoroughly Cleans Your Stomach, Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels of Sour Bile, Poisons, Gases and Clogged-up Waste.

A harmless cure for sick headache, for biliousness, for a sour, gassy, disordered stomach, for constipation, indigestion, coated tongue, sallowness, pimples—take delicious Syrup of Figs. For the cause of all these troubles lies in a torpid liver and sluggish condition of your thirty feet of bowels.

A teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs tonight means all poisonous waste matter, the undigested, fermenting food and sour bile, gently moved on and out of your system by morning, without griping, nausea or weakness. It means a cheery day tomorrow—many bright days thereafter.

Please don't think of gentle, effective Syrup of Figs as a physic. Don't think you are drugging yourself, for luscious figs, senna and aromatics can not injure anyone.

This remarkable fruit preparation is a wonderful stomach, liver and bowel cleanser, regulator and tonic, the safest and most positive ever devised.

The day of violent purgatives, such as calomel, pills, salts and castor oil is past. They were all wrong. You got relief, but at what a cost! They acted by flooding the bowels with fluids, but these fluids were digestive juices. Syrup of Figs embody only harmless laxatives, which act in a natural way. It does what right food would do—what eating lots of fruit and what plenty of exercise will do for the liver, stomach and bowels.

Be sure you get the old reliable and genuine. Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by The California Fig Syrup Company. Hand back, with scorn, any Fig Syrup imitation recommended as "just as good."

Here's the Man

That Cures Sick Headache, Sour, Bloated Stomach, Inactive Kidneys, Rheumatism and that Dreary, Languid, Despondent Feeling.

Dr. W. S. Burkhart As He Is Today. Owes His Robust Health and Gain of 90 Pounds to Taking His Own Medicine, As Needed, for the Past 25 Years.

It won't take thirty days, but any druggist in this vicinity will give you thirty days to prove, that Dr. Burkhart's Vegetable Compound will cure you for only 25 cents. Just think of Dr. Burkhart having carried out this policy for twenty-five years! Do you wonder that twelve million of his treatments are used every year?

Imagine if you can, the wonderful relief to such a host of people, who learned through the doctor's generosity, that his Vegetable Compound does all he claims and he guarantees the result.

Isn't it a fine thought that all the druggists agree with him and all you do is to deposit the small price, 25 cents, and if you are not cured or satisfied, you can get your 25 cents back, by merely asking for it. Get the treatment today. Be sure to ask for and see that you get Dr. Burkhart's Vegetable Compound.—[Advertisement.

Gray Hair Restored

This Simple Home Remedy Darkens It Beautifully.

There is no longer any reason why any person with gray hair should not remove this annoying sign of age and remain in the youthful-looking class; and the best part of it is that one does not have to depend upon the prepared dyes and stains to bring about the desired change. A simple preparation which gradually darkens gray hair, making it soft and glossy and perfectly natural in color and appearance, can be made from an ounce of bay rum, a quarter ounce of glycerine and a small box of Barbo Compound, procurable at any drug store. Dissolve the Barbo Compound in 7 ounces of water, then add the bay rum and glycerine and you will have a splendid hair darkener, as well as an excellent remedy for dandruff and other humors of the scalp. It also acts as a tonic to the hair follicles, is not sticky, does not rub off or color the scalp, and is both cheap and highly satisfactory in every way. Make sure you are getting Barbo Compound. If the druggist hasn't it in stock, ask him to get it for you.—[Advertisement.

Are Medicines Wholly Useless?
Can The Masses Get Along Without Them?

S. B. HARTMAN, M.D., Columbus, Ohio.

I give a portion of a letter lately received, which was to me very interesting. I also give a portion of my answer. The writer says:

"Dear Doctor Hartman: I am very much interested in your articles. I have no doubt they will do a great deal of good. Sometimes I am almost tempted to buy a bottle of Pe-ru-na and have it on hand, because of your convincing talk, but I belong to a health club. It is one rule of this club to have nothing to do with disease or medicine. Our whole talk is health and things that make for health. We are determined, all of us, to never use medicine in any form. Of course we do not attempt to deny the usefulness of medicine on some ocasions, but for ourselves we have decided that we will so live that we shall never need the services of a doctor or the assistance of a medicine. What would you do if you were in my place?"

My Dear Boy: Your letter interests me greatly. I am glad to know that you are reading my articles that are appearing now in the papers. You have perhaps noticed that a portion of each article is devoted to the subject of keeping well.

What would I advise you to do under the circumstances? I should advise you to go right on as you have been doing. Get along without medicine if you possibly can. Look toward Nature for assistance. Clean habits, frugal diet. Early to bed, in a well-ventilated room. Work every day at something you like to do. Keep up your enthusiasm. Have faith in Nature and Nature's God. The laws of Nature are inexorable, but the rewards of Nature are kind and beneficent beyond all expression. If you do these things you may during your whole life escape the necessity of using medicine, but even with all this you may occasionally need medicine.

But you must remember that you and your club are exceptional people, that the great masses of people go on thoughtlessly. Their diet is very illy fitted to sustain their bodies properly. Their exposure to cold and wet and heat and fatigue is very reckless. In short, they do not know how to take care of themselves. Consequently, a medicine is necessary often.

The medicine Pe-ru-na is a climatic medicine. It is intended to reach climatic troubles, troubles that arise as the direct result of exposure to climate.

It is also intended to meet those difficulties which arise from improper nourishment of the body and improper diet, producing indigestion and biliousness.

The principal climatic trouble in our country is catarrh, and a large number of people have catarrh. Perhaps one-half of our people. Such people not only need to take care of themselves as you boys are doing, but they need a medicine to render them a little assistance. Pe-ru-na is exactly what they need.

If we could have the world full of people that are living as you are, perhaps I should then not advocate the use of any drug, but you are only one in ten thousand. The rest are going on heedlessly and recklessly, and it is for them that I am recommending my Pe-ru-na.

The average household needs Pe-ru-na more than I can possibly describe. The small children, the father and mother, the grand children, are all stumbling along heedless of the laws of Nature. A sudden attack of cold, a chill, cough, hoarseness, tightness in the chest, biliousness, dyspepsia, any one of these things is liable to occur at any time in such a household.

Now, such people ought to have Pe-ru-na. At the first symptom that presents itself, or any disturbance of the body, a few doses of Pe-ru-na should be taken. If the disease is acute, Pe-ru-na had better be taken a teaspoonful every hour. If it is a disturbance that allows the patient to go about his usual business, taken according to the directions on the bottle is best. If this is done, it will save the people untold expense and suffering. Not one case in fifty that comes under the care of the doctor would occur if Pe-ru-na was kept in the house and taken at the very outset of the trouble. Yes, all this is true and more.

I have hoped all my life to live to see the day when obedience to the laws of Nature would be prevalent, when the people would live so they would not invite disease or provoke disturbance in the body. But I have not lived to see that day yet. I hardly think I shall. But I have lived to see the day when the people and even the medical profession are very much more interested in hygiene and sanitation than they used to be.

At one time, as a writer, I seemed to be all alone in trying to get the people to listen and become obedient to the laws governing their bodies. Now there are writers galore saying the same thing. I am profoundly grateful that this is so.

So long as there are disobedient ones, so long we must have medicine. Even those who are trying to be obedient to the laws of Nature, trying their very best, need medicine for unavoidable conditions that often bring on some derangement. If such little derangements were met promptly with Pe-ru-na the day would more quickly come when even Pe-ru-na would not be needed, the day when the drug doctor would absolutely go out of business. May that day hasten. I shall do all I can while I do live to hurry on the coming of that millennium when all drugs will be relegated to the rubbish heap and all doctor books laid aside as curiosities.

Pe-ru-na, Man-a-lin and La-cu-pia manufactured by the Pe-ru-na Company, Columbus, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores. No. 47.

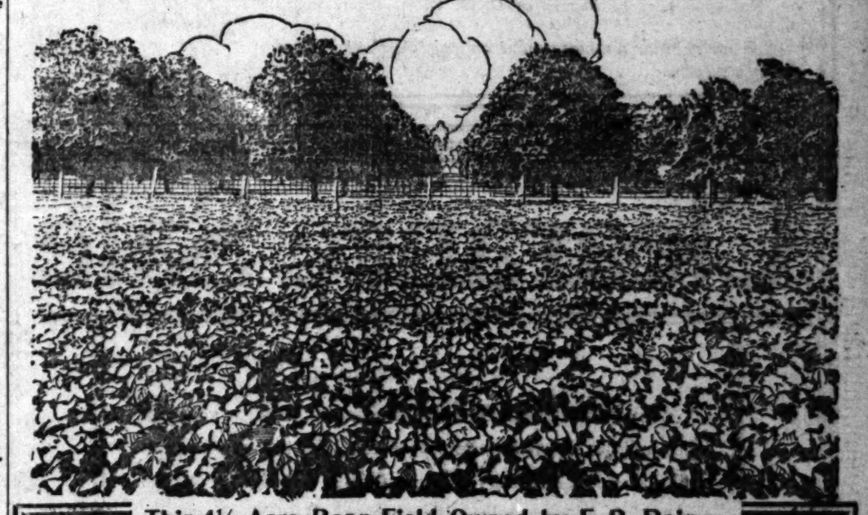
Catarrh is quickly ended by breathing Booth's Hyomei

The quickest and surest way to end Catarrh, Coughs and Colds is to breathe deep into the lungs the soothing, healing, germ destroying air of Hyomei.

It destroys germs, sooths the inflamed membrane; heals the sore spots and causes mucus to disappear.

Hyomei is made of Australian Eucalyptus and Listerian antiseptics, and is free from Cocaine or any injurious drug.

A complete Hyomei outfit with simple instructions for use at any pharmacist for $1.00. Single bottles of Hyomei, if required later, are but 50 cents. No stomach dosing; just breathe it. Trial treatment free from Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.



This 4½ Acre Bean Field Owned by F. B. Rainey, Wauchula, Florida, Produced $1450.00 or $322.22 Per Acre. Note Orange Trees in Background

Here's an instance of the way settlers in Wauchula are earning a living and paying for their citrus fruit land—just one example of many that we give in our literature, sent free on request.

Wauchula, Florida is famed for this Combination Soil that grows equally well vegetables and grapefruit and oranges.

From all over Florida experienced growers are turning to Wauchula as a region marvelously adapted to the growing of grape fruit and oranges on a big scale. Northerners who have long wished to own citrus fruit groves are investigating this region that gives them a chance to get started with only a small amount of ready cash.

Californians, too, who know grapefruit and oranges but who have been deterred from investment in their own neighborhood, because of excessive prices of land, say that Wauchula lands offer a real opportunity. Settlers come here with a little money, make the first payment on their ten acres. They set out their orange and grapefruit trees, and at once start vegetables between the rows—soon they are making a good living and enough to meet payments on the land, which amount to only a dollar a month per acre. Some men have paid for their tracts out of one season's vegetables. This, of course, is exceptional. However it shows something of the richness of the soil for truck gardens. And all the while you're growing vegetables the grapefruit and orange trees are coming into bearing, hastening the time when you'll be a grove owner with an income that's worth while. You know the value of a good bearing citrus grove—N O W—

If California Doesn't Offer An Easy Chance to Own An Orange and Grape Fruit Grove—COME TO

WAUCHULA, FLORIDA

Where Your Land Pays for Itself

You may PREFER to stay in California but can you AFFORD to? Can you afford to pay prices for land that are prohibitive? Can you afford to wait until you have accumulated a large amount of money before you can start? Come to Wauchula—get started now in this country where land prices are still low.

This region is an attractive place to live in. Wauchula, Florida, is a live little town of 1500. Four banks—two in Wauchula and two in neighboring towns—have deposits of $366,000. This indicates the prosperity of the grove owners. Churches, an up-to-date school system, lodges—well-equipped and modern stores, pleasant, hospitable people—all these make it possible to live easily, comfortably. Rapid, efficient railroad service brings Wauchula within three hours of Tampa—direct connections with New York and Chicago. A live cash market in Wauchula. Good water—good drainage—extremely healthful climate. No negroes in Wauchula.

Does a $5000 Income from Citrus Fruits Appeal to You? Then Write for Facts

Grove owners here are making from $3000 to $7000 to $8000 a year and more. This may not equal California incomes, but we believe will compare very favorably when you consider the amounts invested for land. Anyway, if such incomes look good to you let us tell you something about Wauchula. Our literature shows photographs of groves with vegetables growing on part of the tracts or between the rows of trees. You read the letters of settlers. You get details on altitude, drainage, frost—the FACTS, good, bad and indifferent, so you can judge for yourself just what this region holds for you. Write—read—then make up your mind. Remarkable Result of the New Tissue Builder, Protone, in Many Cases of Run-Down Men and Women.

Prove It Yourself by Sending Coupon Below for a 50c Package, Free.

"I Wouldn't Look Like That Again for All the World."

"By George, I never saw anything like the effects of that new treatment, Protone, for building up of weight and lost nerve force. It acted more like a miracle than a medicine," said a well-known gentleman, in speaking of the revolution that had taken place in his condition. "I began to think that there was nothing on earth that could make me fat. I tried tonics, digestives, heavy eating, diets, milk, beer, and almost everything else you could think of, but without result. I had been thin for years, and began to think it was natural for me to be that way. Finally, I read about the remarkable successes brought about by the use of Protone, so I decided to try it myself. Well, when I look at myself in the mirror now, I think it is somebody else. I have put on just 30 pounds during the last month and never felt stronger or more 'nervy' in my life."

Protone is a powerful inducer of nutrition, increases cell-growth, makes perfect the assimilation of food, increases the number of blood-corpuscles, and as a necessary result builds up muscles and solid, healthy flesh, and rounds out the figure.

For women who can never appear stylish in anything they wear because of their thinness, this remarkable treatment is a revelation. It is a beauty maker, as well as a form builder and nerve strengthener.

The regular $1.00 size of Protone is for sale by all druggists, or will be mailed direct, upon receipt of price, by The Protone Co., 4827 Protone Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

It will cost you nothing to prove the remarkable effects of this treatment. It is absolutely non-injurious to the most delicate system. The Protone Company will send to anyone who sends name and address, a free 50c package of Protone, with full instructions, to prove that it does the work. They will also send you their book on "Why You Are Thin," free of charge, giving facts which will probably astonish you. Send coupon below today with your name and address.

SARAH BERNHARDT DATES ANNOUNCED

GREAT FRENCH ACTRESS COMES IN MARCH.

Sarah Insists Upon Selecting All the Acts that Will Appear on the Same Bill With Her—Carries a Flock of Private Cars With Her. Sale of Seats.

Opening March 3, Monday matinee, for a stay of two weeks, Mme. Sarah Bernhardt will come to the Orpheum for her long-expected visit. The dates were finally settled by the Orpheum management yesterday, and the repertoire for the entire fortnight is given herewith:

FIRST WEEK.

Monday, matinee and night—"Lucrece Borgia."
Tuesday, matinee and night—"Lucrece Borgia."
Wednesday, matinee and night—"One Christmas Night."
Thursday, matinee and night—"One Christmas Night."
Friday, matinee and night—"Theodora."
Saturday, matinee and night—"Camille."
Sunday, matinee and night—"Camille."

SECOND WEEK.

Monday, matinee and night—"Phedre."
Tuesday, matinee and night—"Phedre."
Wednesday, matinee and night—"Camille."
Thursday, matinee and Night—"One Christmas Night."
Friday, matinee and night—"La Tosca."
Saturday, matinee and night—"Lucrece Borgia."
Sunday, matinee and night—"One Christmas Night."

Los Angeles, with San Francisco, shares the honor of a fortnight of the divine Sarah; all other cities were forced to be content with from three nights to a week. During her stay here Bernhardt will be seen in six plays, one, "A Christmas Night Under the Terror," being a complete play in itself, the author being her son, Maurice. In every case, she will play the same bill matinee and night on the same date. She will carry a complete outfit for each, including scenery, costumes, effects and properties. She has brought to America her own company from the Theater Sarah Bernhardt, Paris, and each play will be given in French. The organization travels by special train, and Mme. Bernhardt has her own private car, in which she lives during her stay in every city.

A specially selected vaudeville bill of six acts accompanies Mme. Bernhardt, each act submitted by Martin Beck, who presents her, and each act bearing the personal O. K. of the great actress, this being specified in her contract. These acts are so designed as to add to the effect of the star's presence in the bill, and not to detract from her dignity in any way, there being no animals or acrobats in the list.

In order to handle the rush for seats for the Bernhardt engagement, the Orpheum announces today that mail orders will now be accepted, to be filled in order of receipt. No cash sales will be made this week, but it will be given up entirely to the mail orders sent in. These must be accompanied by postoffice or express money orders, or bank draft, no personal checks being accepted. As fast as an order is received the seats will be assigned to it, in every case as near the desired location—if specified—as possible. Those writing for seats are asked to specify location, price, date, whether matinee or night, and the play, according to the repertoire given above. This will avoid mistakes, or the necessity of having to return orders for correction, thus delaying selections. For the full week mail orders only will be handled.

Beginning a week from Monday a special box office will be opened in the Orpheum lobby, where seats will go on sale (if any remain after mail orders are filled) for cash to all comers.

The prices for the Bernhardt engagement have been kept lower than ever before in her history. At nights, the lower floor will be $1, a raise of 25 cents. The balcony will be 75 and 50 cents, the family circle 50 and 25 cents, and the gallery (not reserved,) 10 cents—the first time in history that anyone could see Bernhardt for a dime. At the matinees, the lower floor will be divided between $1 and 75 cent seats, with the other prices the same. Boxes and loges will be $1.50 for all performances.

Mme. Bernhardt is expected to arrive from Oakland Sunday, March 2, and will live in her car while here. She has a retinue of servants, secretaries and the like, with her, besides her own company. The balance of the show will be in on the same train.

Meanwhile Orpheum patrons are eagerly looking forward to the coming a week from tomorrow of Mrs. Langtry, that other notable foreign artiste, who stays the fortnight preceding Bernhardt.

Zero.

ALMOST FROZEN; YELLS FOR HELP.

WANDERER GETS SOAKED, THEN ENTERS REFRIGERATOR.

Car Door Locked by Trainmen and Snoozer Wakes to Find Himself a Prisoner in Freezing Weather. Receiving Hospital Surgeons Thaw Kinks Out of His System.

Jack Frost almost claimed a victim in Los Angeles yesterday in the personage of Albert Roden. It happened almost in the heart of the city, and the thermometer at the weather bureau only registered in the neighborhood of 70 degrees.

It all came about by Roden climbing into a refrigerator car and going to sleep. When he awakened he was almost frozen. While recounting his unusual experience while reposing on an operating table at the Receiving Hospital, he said:

"I came mighty near being friz to death in your balmy climate. I know it sounds funny and makes you all laugh, but take it from me, fellows, it's no joke. For believe me, I ache and buzz and burn from top to bottom.

"But, as I was sayin'. I wandered into town this morning and got soaked through and through in the rain. Out near what you call Eastlake Park I crawled into a car to get warm and out of the rain.

"Before I discovered it was an ice box, some fellows came along and closed the door. It seemed warm in there, and I decided to stay a while, thinking of course, that I could open the door from the inside. I soon dropped off to sleep. When I woke up I was so cold and stiff I could hardly move. Every joint in my body, it seemed to me, was as stiff as a poker.

"I found I could not open the door. Then I began to yell for help. I was so cold I couldn't yell very loud, so I began pounding on the door with a stick, which I could not hold with one hand because I could not bend my fingers.

"Some boys playing along the tracks heard the noise I was making and told some railroad men. They unlocked the door and brought me here, and here I am, almost frozen to death in sunshiny Southern California. Can you beat it?"

To get the chill out of Roden's system, the hospital surgeons wrapped the man in blankets in which were placed hot-water bottles. The man's condition is serious, not so much because of the frost bite, but owing to the shock to his nervous system.

BRAWLEY.

BRAWLEY, Feb. 8.—More than three thousand acres of new land has been put under cultivation this winter, aside from the development along the Thistle canal. Nearly all the land adjacent to Brawley is in crop, and much is in alfalfa. When it is realized that this district was completely out of water and nearly deserted during the flood of 1905-6 and all development work was done over, the extent of the improvement can be easily realized.

W. F. Holt, president of the Holton Power Company and frequently termed the "father of Imperial Valley," paid the record price for acreage in Brawley, this week, when he acquired the three-acre tract of land north of the stockyards, as a site for an ice plant. The property just purchased has a frontage of 550 feet along the railroad and is 326 feet wide at the south. The price paid was $1500 or $500 per acre, and Philo Jones, president of the Imperial Investment Company, claims this to be the highest price paid for similar property within the city.

BLOCK SIGNALS FOR ALL ROADS.

Train Control Board Makes Final Report.

Insists on Automatic Train Stop Development.

Urges Compulsory Adoption of Safety Devices.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Compulsory adoption by all interstate railroads of the block signal system, the most important recommendation of the block signal and train control board today in its final report to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Special attention was paid to devices for the automatic stopping of trains.

"The development of the automatic train stops," says the report, "has proceeded far enough to warrant the belief that by its use greater efficiency can be secured in the operation of trains. Railroads should be given to understand that the automatic train stop must be developed by them as rapidly as possible."

TO ENCLOSE TRACKS.

The board also recommends that railroad tracks be properly enclosed and laws against trespassing be enforced. It also says there should be more complete co-operation of State and Federal governments on the one hand and railroads on the other, to bring about uniform conditions throughout the entire country; piecemeal legislation should be harmonized into one comprehensive in character and based on the best standards of practice, and that the enforcement of the general legislation be entrusted to a body having powers similar in character to those administered by the railway department of the Interstate Board of Trade.

Alaskan Railway Company Awards Contracts for Two Yukon Steamers to Prepare for Rate War.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Feb. 8.—The White Pass and Yukon Railway Company, which has $1,000,000 worth of Canadian steamers lying at anchor on the Yukon, relics of the Klondike days, but well preserved in the cold climate of the Yukon boats, awarded a contract today to a Seattle firm for construction of two Yukon River steamboats to ply between the Canadian Yukon and the American line. American boats only are permitted to operate between Fairbanks and Dawson.

The new steamers will be knocked down and shipped to Skagway by steamer as freight and then hauled by railway to White Horse where they will be put together. A rate war between the White Pass Company and the Northern Navigation Company for both passengers and freight is expected to begin as soon as the steamers open.

Government Is Investigating Why Vessel Failed to Have Two Wireless Men on Board.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—When the North Pacific Steamship Company's vessel F. A. Kilburn put to sea January 23 with but one wireless operator when the government requires that two shall be carried, R. B. Wolverton, Federal steamboat inspector, and W. S. Stratton, collector of the port, began today an investigation of this question.

Affidavits from Charles F. Nott, manager of the company, and Captain T. H. McClelland of the Kilburn will be forwarded to the Department of Commerce and Labor at Washington together with the recommendation made.

The extreme penalty that may be imposed is $5000 fine.

Judge Sargent of Monterey Rules in a Case in San Francisco Denies Habeas Corpus.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—Suit clubs, organized on the basis of monthly membership fees with the right of participating in a prize with wearing apparel as a prize, are lottery institutions according to a decision of Superior Judge Heath of Monterey, sitting here today. The opinion was given in the case following a writ of habeas corpus sued out by Michael Simons, who is under arrest for conducting a suit club in this city.

FLORIDA COURT UPHOLDS ITS.

Measure to Prevent the Shipment of Green Goods Out of State Is Found to Be Constitutional.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TAMPA (Fla.) Feb. 8.—The Supreme Court of Florida today held as constitutional the anti-green fruit shipments law of 1911, it was announced today.

The purpose of the law is to prevent the shipment out of the state of immature citrus fruits out of the season. Such shipments by growers attempting to get the early price have in recent years diminished the market for when the fruit was unfit to eat.

Train Control Board Makes Final Report.

Insists on Automatic Train Stop Development.

Urges Compulsory Adoption of Safety Devices.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Compulsory adoption by all interstate railroads of the block signal system is the most important recommendation of the block signal and train control board today in its final report to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Special attention was paid to devices for the automatic stopping of trains.

"The development of the automatic train stops," says the report, "has proceeded far enough to warrant the belief that by its use greater safety can be secured in the operation of trains. Railroads should be given to understand that the automatic train stop must be developed by them as rapidly as possible."

TO ENCLOSE TRACKS.

The board also recommends that railroad tracks be properly enclosed and laws against trespassing be enforced. It also says there should be more complete co-operation of the State and Federal governments on the one hand and railroad companies on the other, to bring about more stable conditions throughout the entire country; piecemeal legislation should be harmonized into enactments comprehensive in character and based on the best standards of practice, and that the enforcement of the general legislation be entrusted to a body having powers similar in character to those administered by the railway department of the British Board of Trade.

Alaskan Railway Company Awards Contracts for Two Yukon Steamers to Prepare for Rate War.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Feb. 8.—The White Pass and Yukon Railway Company, which has $1,000,000 worth of Canadian steamers lying at anchor on the Yukon, relics of the Klondike days, but well preserved in the dry climate of the Yukon basin, awarded a contract today to a Seattle firm for construction of two Yukon River steamboats to ply between the Canadian Yukon and the American Yukon. American boats only are permitted to operate between Fairbanks and Dawson.

The new steamers will be knocked down and shipped to Skagway by steamer as freight and then hauled by railway to White Horse where they will be put together. A rate war between the White Pass Company and the Northern Navigation Company on both passengers and freight is expected to begin as soon as the steamers are ready.

Government Is Investigating Why Vessel Failed to Have Two Wireless Men on Board.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—Why did the North Pacific Steamship Company's vessel F. A. Kilburn put to sea January 23 with but one wireless operator when the government requires that two shall be carried?

R. B. Wolverton, Federal wireless inspector, and W. S. Stratton, collector of the port, began today an investigation of this question.

Affidavits from Charles F. Dee, manager of the company, and Captain T. H. McClelland of the Kilburn will be forwarded to the Department of Commerce and Labor at Washington, together with the recommendations made.

The extreme penalty that can be imposed is $5000 fine.

The Discovery of Gold in '49

All the World afire with excitement. The tide of immigration toward California started as if in a night.

The Panama Canal's opening in 1913-14-15 has caused greater interest than all the gold discoveries. The searchlight of the nations of the world are today being focused on California.

The railroad shackles that bound and limited the State's products are being severed. The Canal's flood gates will soon be opened—a market will be made in a night for the State's unlimited resources. The people are coming—Countless numbers. Money follows the people. Los Angeles knows. She is compounding her resources faster than any other city in the Globe. Confidence and Co-operation is doing this great work. The opportunities are greater than ever before. If your money is not here and not working hard for it and join in this upbuilding.

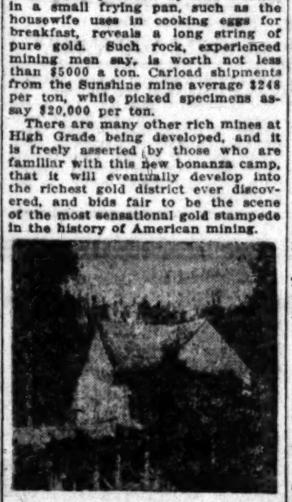
GOLD FROM HIGH GRADE

Great Interest Shown Here Over Rich Display. A Poor Workingman Makes $30,000 in a Few Weeks.

The exhibit of gold rock from High Grade, the new gold camp 120 miles east of Klamath Falls is attracting the attention of every resident here. The office of the company, which is opposite the American Bank and Trust company, is the busiest place in town, from early morning until late at night a stream of interested people pour in and out. Ordinary looking rock when pounded up and washed in a small frying pan, such as the housewife uses in cooking eggs for breakfast, reveals a long string of pure gold. Such rock, experienced mining men say, is worth not less than $5000 a ton. Carload shipments from the Sunshine mine average $248 per ton, while picked specimens assay $20,000 per ton.

There are many other rich mines at High Grade being developed, and it is freely asserted by those who are familiar with this new bonanza camp, that it will eventually develop into the richest gold district ever discovered, and bids fair to be the scene of the most sensational gold stampede in the history of American mining.



Third Stamp Mill for Extracting Gold From the Rocks of High Grade.

Gold mining makes fortunes over night. The poor prospector of today becomes the millionaire of tomorrow by the blasting of a round of shots down deep in the mine, or the accidental turning over of a piece of rock on the mountain side. It is new wealth freshly created, for every ounce of gold taken from the mines is worth $20, and adds just that much more wealth to the world's supply. No one is robbed and no one is cheated, but all are enriched.

Speaking of High Grade and its mines and the millions which may be taken out of the ground there, the writer recalls the story of a workingman who knew nothing at all about gold mining, and who was working on the streets of Goldfield before it was incorporated. He couldn't get any money for his work. Nobody had any ready money. Everybody had their money in Goldfield mines. Mohawk was the favorite. It seemed that there was plenty of Mohawk stock, and so the workingman took a couple of thousand shares of Mohawk for his wages. LATER HE SOLD HIS MOHAWK FOR MORE THAN $30,000 in spot cash. Others who had Mohawk stock saw the price climb from a dime a share to more than $20 a share. George Wingfield, formerly of Lakeview, Oregon, is now at the head of Goldfield Consolidated, which owns the Mohawk. Wingfield is a multi-millionaire, ranking as one of the richest men in the United States. He was a penniless boy in Lakeview.

At High Grade there are far greater showings than Mohawk had on the surface. In fact, in Goldfield, Nevada's greatest gold camp, did not begin to have as good indications, according to authorities who were pioneers in both camps. High Grade is one of the greatest assets ever given to a community or placed in any locality. Already prosperity is radiated in every direction from its development. Confidence in its resources is displayed by everybody who has investigated it.

Stock in the Sunshine mine, the richest gold mine at High Grade, is offered at 25 cents per share. The control and ownership of this mine is in the hands of successful business men and bankers of Lakeview, and is to be extensively developed at once.

Those who want to make money and make it fast and make a great deal of it from a small investment, should investigate High Grade and Sunshine stock. A dollar invested now may produce $10 in a few months. Business men here and at Merrill are arranging to buy Sunshine stock in large amounts, and you might profitably follow their lead.—[Daily Herald, Klamath Falls, Ore.

STOCK LETTER.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The news of the Balkan situation consisted principally today of a report to the effect that the British Admiralty has decided to send the Mediterranean fleet into Turkish waters and that the Turkish Council has taken the request to permit the warships to pass through the Dardanelles under consideration. Advices from Germany state that Berlin is planning for decisive developments, and it appears that the large European powers are preparing to assume such an attitude as will terminate hostilities and force a resumption of peace negotiations. The stock market was quiet but appears to possess considerable underlying strength. Pressure is relatively light and it is believed that advancing tendencies may become quite pronounced next week.

Local Stock Market Activities

BY JNO. O. KNIGHT.

Trading in General Petroleum Company stock has been the leading feature of the week's local market activities. Dealing in this issue has been on a large scale at steadily advancing prices. Closing sales a week ago were at $28.50 while yesterday's transactions were on a basis of $35. Both San Francisco and New York were large buyers, and the stock activity is ascribed to the completion of certain important financing accomplished in the East, which it is believed may result in a much earlier closing of the Union Oil-Union Provident deal than was originally anticipated. In sympathy with General Petroleum, both Union Oil and Union Provident also firmed during the week, Union making a net gain of four and a half points.

Renewed rumors of a probable telephone deal between the two local companies again came to surface as a result of the sudden demand that developed during the week for Home Telephone common. For a long while these shares have dragged around $7 or $8. In view of the fact that this stock has long been considered practically valueless except for voting purposes it is not surprising that bids of $10 and better for large blocks should excite comment.

Funding Company of California also came into the limelight by a sensational advance from 70 cents, at which figure the stock recently sold, to reported sales at as high as $6. The better form in which this stock is selling is ascribed to the amicable settlement which is understood to have been reached by the warring factions that were struggling with each other for control of the company. Producers Transportation stock sold steadily at from $83.50 to $84, with last transactions at the latter figure.

Cawston Ostrich Farm was in fair demand at from $32 to $33 per share, the inactivity in this issue being due to a reluctance of investors to make commitments in this issue until more information is at hand regarding the business done by the company's Chicago and New York stores. Los Angeles Investment Company was easier at from $4.10 to $4.15. Commonwealth sold around 26 cents and Conservative Investment dropped to sales at 23 cents. Great Republic Life sold around $13, and Los Angeles Fire around $8. Bids for Consolidated Realty ranged around $107.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Probably the most notable feature during the past week at the produce market was the steady improvement of the vegetable supply and the betterment of conditions should continue steadily henceforth owing to the rain. Cauliflower and lettuce are received in increasing quantities from local districts, and large shipments of cabbage came in from the north. Cabbage continues pretty high, but prices are expected to drop soon. Cauliflower is cheaper than a week ago. The potato market has been very weak, and good stock can be secured at low prices. The supply of sweet potatoes continues good despite the advanced season, and they can be obtained at a comparatively low rate. Dried beans remain firm, as do tomatoes. Shipments of egg plant and bell peppers were received from Mexico. They come pretty high, however.

Bananas are cheap and will probably continue to be until some time in March. Although apple prices hold up pretty well, despite the large supply, the fruit has been much cheaper than last year. Grapes command quite a high price, as the supply is rapidly diminishing.

Eggs and butter seem scheduled to decline as soon as the rain is over. The market was steady yesterday. Cheese was firmer in response to an advance of ½ cent in San Francisco. Business at the Produce Exchange was limited to the sale of ten cases of local ranch eggs at 26 cents.

Reported receipts were: Eggs, 220 cases; butter, 29,350 pounds; cheese, 677 pounds; potatoes, 2206 sacks; sweet potatoes, 87 sacks; apples, 5154 boxes.

FARMERS KNOW THAT NOTHING PRODUCES PROFANITY LIKE HALF A CROP---

Good crops promote good temper—and fat bank accounts.

If you send for my free illustrated booklet you will understand why so many practical farmers are settling on PERRIS IRRIGATED FARMS.

—These lands are near Perris, and only 18 miles from Riverside, in the heart of Riverside County.

They yield the real alfalfa cuttings because the soil is rich and very deep.

They produce fine fruit orchards because the climate combines with soil and water to produce large, well ripened fruits.

Dairy stock, hogs and poultry find a zone there where diseases are practically unknown. They are therefore, profitable. A climate good for beast is good for man.

These lands soon will be advanced nearer their actual value. Pesent price is only $150 an acre. Whether you wish to farm or invest, they are cheap.

Tracts any size, 20 to 80 acres. Four years time or cash discount.

Water rights free, under Water Plant No. 2, same as in the previous land opening under the original plant. NEITHER LAND NOR WATER STOCK SUBJECT TO ANY BOND ISSUE.

If you seek full crops, seek Perris Irrigated Farms and you will not be disappointed.

We are closing up now for parties next Wednesday and Sunday. Come and make your reservation. You can go and return the same day.

Maps sent free to any part of the world.

ANGELENO HURT.

OXNARD, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] C. D. Scott, son of J. Arthur Scott of the Grundy Motor Car Company of Los Angeles, narrowly escaped death today. He is employed by the California Eucalyptus Lumber Company of this city and while feeding a trimmer saw, kicked back a plank which he was korking upon. He was thrown about twenty-five feet against the side of the building. He received internal injuries. Dr. Avery was summoned and the young man was taken to the St. John's Hospital. Fortunately, Scott was standing close to the saw. If he had been two or three feet away the impact would have meant instant death to the young man.

Pasadena.

THREE WOMEN QUIT AT ONCE.

Pasadena Emergency League Has No Officials.

Retiring Heads Declare that No Friction Exists.

Thief Takes Children's Pennies; Leaves No Trace.

PASADENA, Feb. 9.—The Pasadena Emergency League, one of the chief charitable organizations of the city, which recently put on "The Campus Mouser" as a benefit for the Scripps Home for Aged Persons, yesterday suddenly found itself without either a president, vice-president or secretary. Mrs. W. F. Wright, who was its president; Mrs. J. D. Thompson, its vice-president; Mrs. Henry Vilas, its secretary, resigned simultaneously.

Though this action caused an air of mystery which resulted in such a buzzing as the telephones of Pasadena's society and clubwomen have never known before, Mrs. Knight last night declared that there is no hard feeling on the part of anyone and that the reason for the wholesale resigning is simply that the three women also hold like offices in the Scripps Home organization and feel that the dual duties would demand more time and attention than they are able to give.

"Of course it seems funny," said Mrs. Knight yesterday, "and I haven't the least idea who the new officers of the Emergecy League will be. We have only just resigned and there has been no opportunity even to talk of electing new ones yet. A special meeting has been called for next Wednesday.

"I am tired out with the work I have had to do recently and the putting on of 'The Campus Mouser' made an extra demand on my time and energy. I feel that I just cannot continue to do the work of the two offices. The case is the same with Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Vilas; and then we also feel that we should not continue to fill the offices of the organizations, now that the [illegible] conducted apart from the Home."

Mrs. Knight has also resigned as director of the Emergency League, though she declares she will continue to take an active interest in its work. Mrs. Vilas has also resigned as officer and director. Mrs. Thompson, however, will continue to remain a member of the directorate.

The Emergency League spends annually between $4000 and $5000 in charitable enterprises in the city and the conducting of the Home for Aged Women, which was opened two years ago, was only one phase of the work. When the new Scripps Home was established in Altadena the old institution was abandoned.

A SCHOOL FARM.

W. S. Kienholtz, who has charge of the agricultural and horticultural work of the Pasadena public school system, yesterday announced an outline of his plans for the work of a similar kind that will be carried on in the new Polytechnic High School when it is opened next fall. He expects to establish there what will practically amount to a model scientific farm, with dairy, to cover about two acres of ground, and he states that as soon as the children to take up the work are the children to take up the work that it will be difficult to provide room for them all.

His plans are extensive and embrace a number of [illegible] which work will soon be begun and will be completed during the summer, so that they will be ready for use by the beginning of the fall term of school. Even chickens and cows are to be included in the scheme.

There will be a greenhouse, [illegible] by twenty-four feet in dimensions, seventy-five cold frames, two propagating beds, fifty experimental plots, a nursery row plots, two poultry houses each eight by twenty-six feet in dimensions; a dairy barn and a milk building, where the girls of the school will make butter and cheese, which is used in turn in connection with the work by the domestic science classes; a chemical laboratory and a soil laboratory, besides many other adjuncts and appurtenances.

"A tremendous demand is being made on this department of the school system," said Kienholtz yesterday. "We have had to refuse many pupils. The children are not alone interested in the phase of the work that takes them out of doors, but they are taking even greater interest in the laboratory work, and the scientific features of the study. A dozen individual plots, sixteen by eighteen feet in dimensions, have been built in different parts of the city and many of these have been transplanted from the school gardens to home gardens, where it is grown under school inspection. Some of the children have even been selling products from their gardens. Several days ago one of the graded school gardens produced two large gunnysacks of radishes."

IMPROVEMENT IS PLANNED.

The bill of fare at the Raymond today will carry the announcement of an innovation which has been planned by Manager D. H. Hall for the enjoyment of the [illegible] guests who are now at the [illegible] caravansary.

It is Plumer's intention [illegible] day to place palm tables in the [illegible] manesque-room, as well as to increase the number of palms and [illegible] rations there, and use the [illegible] hall as a place where guests may drink their coffee and smoke after dinner. A special feature will be made of the music in this [illegible] scheme is something that will be [illegible] in the city.

The Green, which is one of the largest hotels in Southern California, is housing many prominent members, who have established a [illegible] able colony underneath its [illegible] roof. One of the most distinguished guests of the winter thus far is Cyrus K. Curtis, president of the Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia. His party is due to arrive the 23rd inst. in a private car.

BURGLAR LEAVES NO CLEW.

The most mysterious of all the recent burglaries in the city was reported to the police yesterday when the family was away from home at the house of George R. Garrison, No. 1 Summit avenue, was entered by day afternoon and what money could be found taken, with the exception of a few pennies in a child's bank. The Garrisons came home and found their house in disorder and the contents of drawers emptied on the floor. However, the front door, which has a Yale lock, was securely locked and the key was in the lock of the back door. How the man entered and made his exit they cannot explain. There is no clew.

Nothing was taken but the money which amounted to $27.15. The pennies were emptied out of a child's bank, but after he had done so the burglar either had a change of heart or did not think they were worth bothering with, for they were left on the table where they had been.

BURGLAR LEAVES NO TRACE.

The most mysterious of all the recent burglaries in the city was reported to the police yesterday. While the family was away from home, the house of George H. Garrison, No. 1[illegible] Summit avenue, was entered last Friday afternoon and what money could be found taken, with the exception of a few pennies in a child's bank. The Garrisons came home and found their house in disorder and the contents of drawers emptied on the floor. However, the front door, which has a Yale lock, was securely fastened and the key was in the lock of the back door. How the man entered and made his exit they cannot imagine. There is no clew.

Nothing was taken but the money which amounted to $27.50. The pennies were emptied out of a child's bank, but after he had done this the burglar either had a change of heart or did not think they were worth bothering with, for they were left on the table where they had fallen.

VINES AND MOTHER LOVE AT DEDICATION.

Mary Andrews Clark Memorial Home for Girls Formally Opened Yesterday—Ex-Senator Clark, the Donor, Speaks Tender Words About His Parent—A Handsome Structure for a Good Cause.

[illegible] the planting of two ivy vines from a parent stem brought thirty years ago from [illegible] Isle, an address by Senator William A. Clark, in which he spoke tenderly of his mother, and the formal programme, the Mary Andrews Clark Memorial Home for Girls, [illegible] street and Loma drive [illegible] yesterday afternoon. The [illegible] building of pleasing [illegible] type will be ready for occupancy about the 20th inst.

Senator Clark said he erected the building as a memorial not only to his mother but as a shrine where hundreds of young women in the years may worship the memory of their good mothers. The other gifts joined with Clark in making [illegible] were tributes of motherly love supreme.

At the conclusion of his address Clark presented the deed to the property to the board of governors of the Young Women's Christian Association, which will manage the home along lines planned by the philanthropist. William J. Hole, president of the association, received the document on behalf of the board. The dedicatory remarks were read by Rev. Dr. J. M. Boyle and Rev. Herbert H. Fisher made the dedicatory prayer.

PLANTING IVY.

After the programme in the auditorium was completed the several hundred guests followed Bishop Johnson through the halls of the building, where the dedicatory service was conducted by the Bishop. In conclusion there was a ceremony former Senator Clark planted a vine near the steps on the south side of the building. The vines were from a plant that William A. Clark brought from Ireland thirty years ago and presented to his mother. At this part of the service Miss [illegible] Miller read a poem written by Mrs. [illegible] Newell, her brother-in-law, with the lines:

"There was in the Emerald Isle
[illegible] by Vine,
[illegible] palace walls were seen
[illegible] peasant cot with green
[illegible] by Vine."

Mrs. Belle C. Johnson, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A., said at present that 100 girls had applied for admission to the home and that applications were that in a few days it would be filled to its full capacity of 100. The price of board has not been determined but it will probably be $4 and $5 a week. The latter will be determined later when the cost of operating the institution is ascertained.

MARY'S PRESENTATION.

Senator Clark said in part in his speech of presentation:

"It is not the dear woman whose memory will be perpetuated through untold centuries to [illegible] example which we have [illegible] to dedicate to philanthropy for the benefit of women, devoted so many years of her beautiful life almost exclusively to untold deeds of Christian charity. It is hardly probable that a more delightful event as this would [illegible] our attention today.

"It is now more than a quarter of a century ago that our mother with [illegible] of her family came to [illegible]. Relieved largely of the cares of life she found a wide field for the active play of her [illegible] motives, which she [illegible] to the end of her life. [illegible] years ago, some eight [illegible]. Many now living will always remember her tenderness, her [illegible] advice and financial help. [illegible] her but to love her, none named her but to praise. I therefore again repeat that to the enthusiasm inspired by the zealous and tireless work and the noble deeds of Mary Andrews Clark are we now indebted for this substantial tribute to her memory."

"I cannot express to you the joy and exultation that fill my heart in having thus been permitted, at least in some small degree, to discharge a filial duty and at the same time to have provided an opportunity, through the instrumentality of the generous Christian women who are to assume the responsibility of the management of this institution, to accomplish much good. To my mind this does not seem to be a small undertaking on their part.

"I trust that their unselfish efforts may touch a sympathetic chord in the hearts of all the good people of this community that have honored us with their presence on this occasion, that will insure their encouragement and co-operation for the complete success of the undertaking. It is not to be the work of a year or a generation. It is intended to be an integral part of the noble charitable organization, the Young Women's Christian Association, of which the Los Angeles branch is reputed to be the largest and most active in the entire country.

"The perpetuity of this organization is reasonably assured through the centuries to come, or at least until the advent of that hoped-for millennial period when want and care and sorrow may no longer exist.

"Prior to the adoption of any plans as to the character of the memorial I had in view, I had considerable difficulty and much doubt and hesitation as to an appropriate scheme that would be most satisfactory and productive of the best possible results. Several projects had been considered and laid aside. Mere monuments of marble and bronze, however artistic and beautiful, in course of time crumble and decay and yield no practical or beneficial results; educational institutions, so essential and indispensable to the advancement and enjoyment of the people, are established everywhere and our systems of common and high schools places the opportunity for the acquirement of education within the reach of every person in the land; hospitals and sanitariums are accessible and available in every community.

"I pondered over many different matters like these for quite a while and finally a happy solution was suggested to me by my sisters, who knew our mother's wishes and hopes better than I did, and they proposed a home for working girls. This seemed to me a beautiful scheme and in every way appropriate and in unison with our mother's wishes. What sweet and tender emotions are aroused by and cluster around the mention of that dear word home, and I was pleased to have it adopted in the title.

"In further consideration of the matter I found some difficulties in the way of such an organization as could be made permanent and perpetual if possible. The same thoughtful friends came to my rescue and suggested that the management be placed in the hands of the Young Women's Christian Association, and this plan was satisfactorily concluded with the executive officers of that association, and a conveyance of the property will be placed in their hands today.

"In a short time every part of the equipment will soon be installed and whatever, if anything, may be lacking in the way of embellishment or adornment, will be promptly supplied. It is my purpose that there shall be no discordant notes to mar the harmony of the premises so that the occupants thereof and all others who may enter its portals may be impressed with the feeling and the charm that is suggestive of the ideal and model home."

The hill where the Americans took their stand, with the determination of resisting further attacks by the Mexicans, has since been known as "Starvation Peak," for the reason that it is supposed to have been the plan of the Mexican forces to compel the surrender of the Americans by the starvation programme, all avenues of escape from the mountain having been, as they thought, cut off. It is proposed to place one of the monuments at the spot where the battle was fought, and the other near the point where the rescue of the besieged camp was effected.

UTAH WOMAN HURT.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 8.—By A. P. Night Wire.] Miss Edith Reed of Ogden, Utah, is confined to her room in a local hotel and under a physician's care as a result of being knocked down and run over by an automobile driven by Charles Quayle, a wealthy architect, last night. Miss Reed is a member of a party of excursionists from Utah and Idaho. She was with her cousin, Miss Emily Aland and her uncle, W. S. Reed of Ogden, at the time of the accident. The physician says Miss Reed was badly but not fatally hurt.

THOUSANDS WANTED FOR INCH OF LEG.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because one of her legs is one inch shorter than it really ought to be is the basis of a suit filed today by Jenny Lind, a Los Angeles telephone operator, against John B. Gentry for damages in the sum of $35,000 and $2775 additional for hospital and medical bills.

Miss Lind was struck and badly hurt in December by an automobile driven by Gentry. Her right leg was broken and as a result she claims it is one inch shorter than it should be, thus crippling her for life. The suit was filed here as the defendant is a resident of this county.

Care of the Teeth

It is not unusual for people to call on the YALE DENTISTS with the intention of having all their teeth extracted just because a few are giving trouble, not knowing these may be saved, by treating, or, when too bad, extracted and replaced without a plate by bridge work, or by a very small plate; besides, they can have this work at once, while, if all the teeth are extracted and a full set required, it is not practical to get them so soon. Remember, a few good natural teeth are better than none at all, so don't delay longer.

An Automobile Tire Factory For The Pacific Coast

This is the formal announcement of the launching of the PANAMA RUBBER COMPANY, incorporated under the laws of the State of California, for the purpose of erecting a modern automobile tire factory and making the highest grade tire possible to make.

The final steps for the incorporation of this company were taken only after a careful study of the many conditions to be considered before going ahead with so important an enterprise.

After a thorough investigation covering more than two years, the men back of this project decided it was possible to place the finished article on the Pacific Coast market as cheaply as do the Eastern manufacturers, that the subjects of labor and raw material could be handled as economically as in Ohio and the New England States, and that it was only a question of expert rubber talent and proper business management.

To provide for this, one of the best known and most expert rubber men in the country was secured at Akron, Ohio, for Superintendent of the factory, a man who has started two of the most successful plants in the East. He will come accompanied by a staff of experienced tire makers and rubber men who are now being engaged. Plans have been completed for the erection of a thoroughly modern rubber factory with a capacity of 400 tires daily output, and the necessary machinery and equipment is being contracted for.

The Management

W. D. Newerf, the President of the Company, is the head of the W. D. Newerf Rubber Company, the largest independent tire jobber in the world. For his business and financial standing you are referred to any bank in Los Angeles, or to Dunn & Bradstreet. He will give his active personal attention to the operation of the Company.

W. H. McCune, the Vice-President is an Eastern rubber man of fifteen year's experience.

J. S. Benner, the Secretary was formerly Secretary of the Central Savings & Trust Company of Akron, Ohio. He for many years was actively associted with the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company as financial man and advisor.

The Possibilities

Over one million tires are used annually on the Pacific Coast. This means thirty million dollars a year that goes to Eastern manufacturers. There is absolutely no question but what the Panama Rubber Company can manufacture just as good a tire as the best on the market. If so, will the Western people buy this tire? It is said they are loyal to home products. Then why will they not buy tires from their own factory?

In order to insure the success of this project, Mr. Newerf, whose Company has five branch offices, eight stores and forty sub-agencies, entered into a contract with the Panama Rubber Company to take its entire output, not less than 100 tires daily, for a period of five years, on the same terms offered by other tire manufacturers. This not only eliminates the necessity of establishing branch agencies and a market for the tire, which ordinarily would mean a cost of at least $200,000, and several years time, but with the Newerf Rubber Company taking only 100 tires a day it immediately enables the Panama Rubber Company to start out on a dividend-paying basis, as the profit on that much of an output would be sufficient to pay the 7% dividend on the preferred stock and leave a handsome surplus.

In conclusion we wish to call attention to the fact that the market price of the stock of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company is $358 per share after paying an 800% stock dividend three years ago, the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company $460, after several 100% stock dividends, the Miller Rubber Company $185 per share, a younger company but already having paid some large stock dividends, while the recent consolidation of the B. F. Goodrich and Diamond Rubber Companies, the oldest and most successful of all, and exceeding any of the above in returns to their stockholders, has made hundreds of people independent for life. If such can be done in Akron, Ohio, there is no reason why these successes cannot be duplicated on the Pacific Coast.

The Public Invited to Participate

The opportunity is hereby extended to every automobile owner and dealer as well as every investor in the West to become a stockholder in this Company. It is not desired to sell this stock in large amounts, but to distribute it among as many small holders as possible. With the assistance thus gained, the Panama Tire can soon be made the best known tire on the Coast. The financial support of one thousand stockholders means the moral support of one thousand boosters.

This is a legitimate business proposition and is in no way a promotion or speculative scheme. Its operations will be an open book.

Call or write for particulars.

DRS. SHORES, Specialists

Drs. Shores & Shores have spent many years in the study and treatment of Chronic and Nervous Diseases of Men, Women and Children. They have treated over 100,000 cases in the past twenty years—an experience rarely ever granted any specialists—and have gleaned therefrom information that is invaluable to sick people. They would not attempt to treat Scarlet Fever or Diphtheria at any price, not because they don't know how, but because they have not given it the thought and constant study that other doctors have, and, in short, it is not in their line of specialties. Every moment is given to studying CATARRH, CONSUMPTION, CHRONIC and NERVOUS DISEASES. There is where they excel and there is where they can serve you better than most any one else. Don't be a permanent invalid. Get Doctors Shores' advice free.

They know what causes Catarrh. They know how to cure it. They know what causes Stomach Trouble. They know how to CURE it, instead of merely relieving it. They have studied the Liver, the Kidneys, the Ears, the Throat and the Lungs, and they know what to do for these troubles.

Asthma

No one but an Asthmatic can appreciate the terrible distress of this disease. Gasping, smothering, panting for breath, suffocating feeling, sitting up in bed all night, are but a few of the terrible torments of an Asthmatic sufferer. NOTED ATHLETE EXPIRES.

Heart Affection Superinduced By Overexertion Causes Death of Record-Holder.

Winfield Metcalf, one of the greatest athletes ever developed at Pomona College, died at the California Hospital yesterday evening as the result of a strange disease of the heart, brought on and aggravated by the strain of heavy athletic work, it is asserted.

The youth was 18 years of age. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth T. Metcalf of Claremont; a sister and a brother, Lester Metcalf, who arrived from Minnesota late yesterday afternoon.

While a student at Pomona College, Metcalf was prominent in literary circles, as well as athletics, and was one of the most popular men of that institution. Two years ago, while but a boy of 16, he broke the Southern California intercollegiate record with the sixteen-pound hammer, and won this event for his college in the intercollegiate conference meet.

Last season illness prevented his taking part in athletics and caused him to carry a light schedule. During the summer months he worked hard on the courses which he had been compelled to drop during the college year and began the fall semester with his class.

Soon after the opening of college his health began to fail and it was deemed advisable for him to discontinue his work on the college publications. Shortly before the holidays the young man was sent to the California Hospital in this city to take a special treatment prescribed by physicians. Every effort was made to restore the broken athlete to health and his many friends entertained hope until the end came suddenly yesterday.

Specialists assert that the heavy strain of throwing the hammer while but a mere boy weakened the heart action and wrecked the young man's constitution.

While Lester Metcalf, the brother of the deceased, was in college, he was considered Pomona's premier athlete. He starred on the track, gridiron and baseball diamond and was graduated with high honors. Winfield Metcalf gave promise of eclipsing his brother's record as an athlete in his freshman year, and fulfilled the predictions of his friends by defeating the seasoned veterans of the other colleges in competition.

Young Metcalf's death was a great blow to the Pomona College community of Claremont, where he was so popular, not only with his fellow-students, but the faculty as well.

At a late hour last night no funeral arrangements had been made, but it is expected that the announcement of the services will be given today.

ECZEMA

Also called Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pruritus, Milk-Crust, Weeping Skin, etc.

ECZEMA CAN BE CURED TO STAY, and when I say cured I mean just what I say—C-U-R-E-D, and not merely patched up for a while, to return worse than before. Remember I make this broad statement after putting twelve years of my time on this one disease and handling in the meantime nearly half of a million cases of this dreadful disease. Now, I do not care what all you have used, nor how many doctors have told you that you could not be cured—all I ask is just a chance to show you that I know what I am talking about. If you will write me TODAY I will send you a FREE TRIAL of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will convince you more in a day than I or anyone else could in a month's time. If you are disgusted and discouraged just give me a chance to prove my claims. By writing me today I believe you will enjoy more real comfort than you have ever thought this world holds for you. Just try it and you will see I am telling you the truth.

Family Cough Syrup

Cures Any Cough in Five Hours.
NEW PRESCRIPTION HERE.

Here is given the most effective cough prescription known to the medical world. It is a mild laxative, too, and this is what a body needs when suffering with cough and cold on the lungs. A cough or cold indicates poisons in the system, causing inflammation and congestion. Nearly all cough syrups relieve, but make the trouble worse by their constipating effects. This prescription not only relieves quickly, but it cures any cough that is curable. Get one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Mix in a bottle. Take for acute cough or bronchitis twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. A few hours' treatment will cure and heal the throat and lungs of all but consumptives. Cut this out and give it to some friend who may need it to be saved from an early death by consumption.—[Advertisement.

STEINWAY

"—As Good as the Steinway" —WHY?

STEINWAY must be the Standard by which all Pianos are measured. If it is "as good as the Steinway" you know it must be good indeed—but is it as good—and by what judgment or trial can anyone say it is as good—until he has given the Piano years of trial under all climates and all conditions?

So let your decision be a Steinway, if you would have the best—and the standard Piano of the World.

Uprights priced from $575 up, purchasable on terms of $15 and up monthly.

Grands $800 and up, on terms of $25 and up monthly.

Exclusive Steinway Representatives

We are Exclusive Representatives for the Artistic Steinway Piano for Southern California and Arizona. New Steinway Pianos can be purchased nowhere else. Our prices are the same Steinway prices—the same you would be asked in New York City, plus a small additional charge to cover the cost of freight and handling. We carry large, complete assortments of all styles of the beautiful Steinway, including many instruments in rich art cases. We invite you to visit our Steinway Room.

SECOND MIGHTIEST OF DAMS TO HOLD CITY'S BIG LAKE.

Wonderful Work Rising in the San Fernando Valley, Where Aqueduct Water Already Trickles From the Tunnel's Mouth.

A FEW itinerant drops of water speculatively oozed their way under the barrier erected at the mouth of the aqueduct tunnel five miles above the town of San Fernando yesterday, and huddled in a tiny pool just where the shadows from the mysterious recesses of the grim portal were dispelled by an inquisitive ray of sunshine. Not more than a cupful altogether, but those few drops of sparkling water are the forerunner, the picket line, the advance guard of the mighty flood harnessed away up yonder in the Owens River country and held in leash against the momentous day, now only a fortnight distant, when man-made barriers are lifted and the torrent pours into an aqueduct representing years of labor, the overcoming of almost unbelievable obstacles and the expenditure of millions of money.

The Los Angeles aqueduct is virtually done. A few last touches here and there along the subdued right of way; a final "O. K." from the "father of waters," William Mulholland, and the great job; one of the most magnificent engineering feats in the history of the world, will be turned out to the people of Los Angeles, a completed reality, and the waters of a mighty river will be at our outer door, soon obedient to the will of the irrigationist, the man at the switch in the great power-house, and the imperious turn of the spigot by the housewife.

This, however, does not mean that the Owens River water is immediately available for actual use. The aqueduct is completed, but the distributing system is not, and it will be many months—six, Mulholland says—before the giant pipe line is built across the fair face of the San Fernando Valley to connect with the city water mains.

A WONDER WORK.

In the meantime a subsidiary work is going on a little way up the valley from the tumbled-down ruins of the old San Fernando Mission, where the spirit of the padres seems to hover in wonderment and benediction over the marvelous blossoming of the waste places of a century ago.

This work and its importance has been partially lost sight of in the overshadowing accomplishment of the aqueduct itself, yet, the San Fernando reservoir and dam standing by itself, is one of the wonders of a wonder-filled chapter, for here, in a site offering few natural advantages, the largest earth dam in the world, with the single exception of one in the Panama Canal zone, is being built. A dam which will impound in an artificial lake a mile and a half long and from a quarter of a mile to a mile wide, 36,000 acre feet of water held in reserve against the needs of the city, and equalizing the requirements of power manufacture.

This dam is 720 feet thick at its base, the massive cores gripping the very foundation of nature forty feet below that. The highest elevation of the tallest building in Los Angeles is 180 feet; thus, if the Story building, the Union Oil building, the Security building, and the Hibernian building, were piled, end on end, they would approximately represent the initial width of the San Fernando dam.

In height, the dam will be 140 feet, taller than the average building, and into its construction will go 2,700,000 cubic yards of material. This work is going forward, and has been in progress for more than a year under the direct supervision of the water department, and is being paid for out of the revenues of that department. The quiet, resourceful men in charge of the wo : are not making much wriggling water lines aimed at a small mountain which literally dissolves from view as the onlookers gaze.

There is no withstanding this mighty force of water and 3500 cubic yards of earth is sluiced daily into the eager clutches of a pair of twelve-inch centribugal pumps, each operated by a 150-horse-power motor which sucks the mud into a big pipe and deposits it in the constantly-growing fill between the two dam sides.

The sides themselves are of dry fill and this dirt is hauled by wagons from a noisy steam shovel not far away, but the real backbone of this mighty dam is the heavy impenetrable deposit shrinking from the nozzles of hill destroyers as the seventy-pound per square inch pressure tears into the yielding scenery in the distance and transfers it from verdant hillock into a solid barrier behind which a great inland sea will protest but mildly against imprisonment.

One side of the dam is now at an elevation of fifty feet and the other side at thirty-five. Every foot added to height narrows the gulf between them five feet so that when the apex is reached the intervening space will be but twenty feet as against the yawning chasm of 720 feet at the bottom. Small likelihood of that dam ever "going out."

THE FUTURE GLIMPSED.

It is the purpose eventually to create a beautiful park about this lake that is to be, and to make it one of the show spots of city and Here Comes the First Aqueduct Water!

Los Angeles' Perpetual Insurance Policy Against a Dry Day.

The large photograph is a panorama of the San Fernando dam and reservoir site, a part of the aqueduct distributing system. The dam is the second largest in the world, 720 feet at the base and 140 feet high, and behind it will be impounded 36,000 acre feet of Owens River water in a lake a mile and a half long. The dotted lines indicate the height and contour of the dam on completion, a year and a half hence. The cross indicates the "fill" of the dam, where 500 cubic yards of earth is sluiced every twenty-four hours. Two and three-quarter million yards will be required. In the foreground, which is a considerable elevation, will be the conduit carrying the water to the proposed Franklin and Chatsworth reservoirs. The upper picture is this end of the aqueduct and the arrow points to history, because there is the first actual aqueduct water to have come through—the remnant of the seepage which has survived the long trip through hill, desert, conduit and tunnel. Dr. Archer of Glendale, standing in the tunnel's mouth, affords a comparative basis for its size. Below is shown how seventy pounds water pressure to the square inch eats out material for the dam. Watching it are the men responsible for the work. Left to right: Stanley Dunham, superintendent in charge; Fred J. Fischer, chief mechanical engineer, and Chief Engineer Mulholland, who turned the whole trick.

NOISE ABOUT IT AND FEW PERSONS HAVE VISITED THE SCENE WHERE THREE SHIFTS OF LABORERS WORK THE CLOCK AROUND SIX DAYS A WEEK, THE SEVENTH BEING GIVEN OVER TO NECESSARY MACHINERY REPAIRS AND PIPE CHANGES.

NATURE YIELDS TO MAN.

Aside from the magnitude of the dam and reservoir the construction itself is intensely interesting for the fill between the two "sides" is being made by hydraulic power at a cost of about 8 cents per cubic yard, and Superintendent Dunham, in charge of the work, declares that much of it will come even under this figure, which is about one-sixth the cost of the old steam-shovel-and-wagon method.

About half a mile from the dam site the horizon is spray-filled and a group of rubber-clad men direct the nozzles of from five to eight great valley. It will take, perhaps, a year and a half to finish the construction, and make possible the turning of surplus Owens River water into the reservoir.

Around the rim of this giant cache, this massive water savings bank, is blazed the trail of the conduit which will carry the aqueduct water through the Franklin Canyon, and the Santa Monica Mountains to the proposed Franklin and Chatsworth reservoirs, the building of which depends upon the voting of additional funds at the coming election. These reservoirs are needed if the aqueduct is to realize its fullest mission, and it is the hope of those in charge of the work that their construction may not be interrupted.

REBEL HEADQUARTERS FOR LOS ANGELES?

Supposed Emissaries of Heads of Mexican Revolution Take Over Old Orphans' Home to House Present El Paso Junta — Money Appears Pouring In—Army May Be Drilled Here—Convicts Directing?

THAT the headquarters of the Mexican revolutionary army are about to be removed from El Paso to Los Angeles and established in the building for many years occupied by the Los Angeles Orphans' home at Yale and Alpine streets; that money is pouring in for the financing of the revolution; that troops are to be enlisted in, and drilled and shipped from this city; that men high in the affairs of the anti-Madero movement are in town, and that the Magons, anarchists, are actually directing the course of the revolution from prison cells on McNeil's Island, constitute a few of the allegations which came to light yesterday in connection with an option on the orphans' home taken over by J. F. Moncaleona, who is understood to have arrived a few weeks ago from Barcelona.

It is further stated that the local Junta, comprising 5000 men of fighting age, is back of the deal, and that ere long the tread of martial feet will resound through the ancient and ample halls of the old structure, and the subdued but insistent voice of the drill master will be heard whipping into trim a part of a new army to be organized to take up the march to Mexico City.

A part of the plan included in the regeneration of the building is the removal to it of the official organ of the Junta, La Regeneracion, a militant publication which, it is alleged, Madero and his administration would give much to suppress. William C. Owen, an Americano newspaper man, so report runs, is to be English editor of the sheet, and also jointly concerned with Moncaleona in the administration of the building.

Pasqual Orozco is expected to reach Los Angeles in a few days with a definite plan of action, and as soon as the remodeling of the orphans' home building is completed, the recruiting and the preparations for filibustering expeditions will be undertaken, it is stated by those who profess to know whereof they speak.

The revolutionary army at the present time is emulating the example of Br'er Rabbit and "laying low," but according to the anti-Madero spokesman this is merely the calm before the further storm which they aver is soon to break over the head of the administration.

Another figure who looms large in the affairs of the disturbed republic is Quinio Lamon, a Yaqui, who sabee little English, but who may know a lot about the inside workings of what may eventually turn out to be a plot of gigantic international proportions.

WHENCE THE MONEY?

There appears to be plenty of money, but where it comes from is a riddle. Wall street? An intangible, foolish sort of a question met with a shrug of Castilian shoulders and a "quien sabe." Emma Goldman, leader of the red-daggers of the Nth degree? Just a suggestion of surprise; of being caught unawares and then passivity again and another non-committal shrug.

Not the least thrilling bit of information which sifts through subterreanean news channels is a touch which would do credit to a Belasco. "Yaquis," comes the whisper, "are employed as runners to and from the Los Angeles headquarters and McNeil's Island, where in some mysterious manner they are in communication with the Magons, from whom they receive instructions and to whom they impart their news.

Mystery, dark and impenetrable, surrounds the transaction by which the old orphans' home passes into Mexican or Spanish hands. Those who are supposed to know what it is all about are reticent to the vanishing point, but still dark-eyed senors come and go, and conferences in which names of well-known rebels are bruited are frequently held. There is an air of finality over the place; something which apparently indicates the casting of a die, let what will be the result.

The structure is large and beside three big rooms, which under the rule of the child were used for dormitories, may now be turned into barracks, there are a large number of small apartments where returning messengers from over the border may meet the runner from the North with fresh word from the two Magons, fom Figueroa, or from Rivera, the quartette now serving their sentences of one year and eleven months each on McNeil's Island for having violated the neutrality laws against the Mexican government.

Here there is ample opportunity for the development of future plans, and the passing of the low-spoken word of command which is expected to find its way through mysterious channels wherever friends of the revolution are to be found.

NOT ON THE SURFACE.

Of course none of this appears upon the surface, and the secret of the

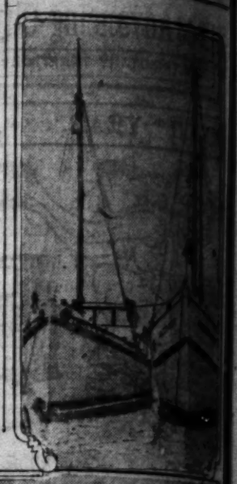
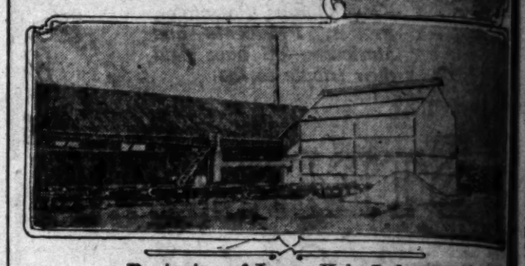
POTASH PLANT EATS UP KELP.

Product of Sea to Be Mowed Under the Waves.

Company Buys Ten-Acre Tract Near Long Beach.

Supply for Fertilizer May Be Furnished Here.





Beginning of Large Kelp Industry.

Above are two of the fleet of boats of American Potash, Inc., which cuts kelp north of Point Firmin. Below is a plant formerly located near San Francisco and dismantled by the company because of its plan for a factory at Long Beach.

Ten acres opposite the municipal wharf at Long Beach has been purchased by American Potash, Inc., and a plant for converting kelp into potash and numerous by-products will soon be in operation. Smaller factories near San Diego and San Francisco have been dismantled and their machinery is now at Long Beach waiting installation.

When the concern gets fully under way 2000 tons of green kelp will be used daily, it is stated by the management. To provide this large mass of seaweed a fleet of steamers has been purchased and equipped with the necessary apparatus. Strange to say the kelp which floats up on the beaches is not available because of the sand which adheres. Attempts to utilize this have proved that the sand makes clinkers in the furnaces.

There are a number of kelp-beds up and down the coast from Long Beach. There is also an almost inexhaustible supply around the Channel Islands. Removal of the kelp will be beneficial as the weed is not only a menace to small craft but must be cleared away from the entrances to the harbors. Members of the company declare that the supply will last for many years, there being millions of tons along the Pacific Coast.

SUCCESSFUL TESTS.

While there have been attempts to utilize the kelp only two experimental factories have been built on this coast. The owners have joined hands with the new concern, which is known as the American Potash, Inc., with offices in the Los Angeles Investment building.

To one accustomed to seeing kelp floating among the rocks at any of the beaches, it appears a pretty but useless sea plant. But the government chemists have discovered that kelp can produce many chemicals needed in every-day use. The number of by-products is astonishing.

Among the substances derived by a system of evaporation, heating and distillation are sulphate of calcium, sodium, magnesium and potassium, all used in making commercial fertilizers.

From the base potassium chloride are obtained potassium cyanide, potassium chlorate, potassium nitrate, and potassium chloride. The cyanides are used in metallurgy, mining and electro-plating. The chlorates are used in making explosives, soaps, fireworks and bleaching powders.

BY-PRODUCT USES.

The nitrates are converted into explosives, acids and fertilizers. The chlorides are made into medicines, iodides, and are extensively used in chemical laboratories.

Sodium chloride, also extracted from the kelp, is used in refrigerating plants and packing-houses. Calcium carbonate is one of the ingredients of fertilizers; organic carbon is used in manufacturing electrical fixtures. Iodine and bromine are used in making important medical compounds.

In the treatment of the dry kelp a certain part of the constituents become volatile. From these gaseous products—ivory black, varnish gum, creosote, alcohol, acetone and fuel gas—are derived.

"One can hardly appreciate the commercial importance of kelp," said H. Wilson, president of the company, yesterday. "But the reports of government chemists as well as our own experiments have shown us beyond doubt that kelp is one of the most valuable articles that nature gives us.

"The fact that Germany has heretofore controlled the available commercial potash of the world and the uncertainty of the supply owing to mine-flooding has caused great anxiety.

POTASSIUM SALTS.

"All vegetable and animal life depends upon potassium and its different combinations for existence. The supply in the cultivated regions of Europe has already become scant and artificial feeding of the plant life has become imperative. We are fast approaching a similar condition in our own country where land has been farmed for many years.

"Seaweed or kelp is known to contain potassium and other valuable products. The Pacific kelp is especially favored, having more than three times as much of the potash as the kelp of other lands. This determined the Federal government to make special researches.

"As will be seen in Senate Document No. 190, qualified chemical and mechanical engineers were told to work out processes and invent machine devices for harvesting, drying and distilling this vast supply of potash into commercial form. The rest is theory and speculation is past."

Wilson stated that his company has no stock for sale and that none had been issued in the first instance to pay for the purchase of land, plant and equipment have been taken up by the incorporators. He said no attempt at publicity was made until patents were secured at Washington.

SUPPLY INEXHAUSTIBLE.

A few days ago the directors met in one of the company's steamers to examine some of the kelp beds north of Point Firmin. They found almost inexhaustible supplies. In future years it may become necessary to cut kelp around the Channel Islands. This cutting is done by means of immense scythes which operate under water. As the seaweed is mowed it is drawn into the boats and stacked in bins.

This is dumped into receiving vats and dried. By subjecting the kelp to various degrees of heat the various products are extracted and carried away in pipes. The heavier substances are obtained by passing the kelp through other vats and separators. Only an expert chemist can understand the devices by which the various bases are secured. The machinery is almost automatic. The kelp is practically all consumed by the time the final process is reached.

Gas is produced during the cooking, which is led back to the furnaces and there burned, thus providing part of the fuel. Nothing is wasted. The factory will manufacture the various products and sell to manufacturing chemists, fertilizer companies and other concerns which use large amounts of the substances to be extracted from the kelp.

Of interest to chemists is the following formula of the results of treating 500 tons of wet kelp, which yields 100 tons of dry kelp: 14,000 pounds potassium chloride (basis 61.5 per cent); 28,400 fertilizer salts (basis 30 per cent); 10,200 organic carbon; 1000 sodium carbonate; 400 iodine; 1000 pounds ivory black; 550 varnish gum; 500 pounds creosote; 300 denatured alcohol; 300 pounds acetone.

In the center of the packed lot of fruit there will be placed five boxes of navels, five boxes of grapefruit, ten of Valencias, five of Mediterranean bloods, five of Satsumas, five of Tangerine seeds and five of the new Persian seedless fruit. All of the fruit has been picked subsequent to the recent freeze and its quality, flavor and keeping qualities such that the Lindsay Board is confident it will capture first premiums in all classes.

To Have Smooth, White, Soft Skin All Winter

(From The Woman Beautiful.)

Does your skin chap or roughen easily in this weather, or become unduly red or blotchy? Let me tell you a quick, easy way to overcome the trouble and keep your complexion beautifully white, smooth and soft the winter long. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at the nearest drug store and use a little before retiring, as you would cold cream. Upon arising, remove the coating with sudsy water. The wax, through some peculiar attribute, flecks off the rough, discolored or blemished skin. The worn-out cuticle comes off just like dandruff on a diseased scalp, only in almost invisible particles. Mercolized wax simply hastens Nature's work. Used as required, it keeps the face constantly free from devitalized scarf skin and only the healthy, young-looking skin is in evidence. It's the best treatment known for weather-beaten, aged, muddy, freckled, pimpled and all unbeautiful complexions.

Some skins wrinkle easily in winter. There's an excellent remedy in a harmless wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel. This will quickly eradicate every line.—[Advertisement.

No provision is made in the old anti-saloon ordinance against the use of pocket flasks, as a result detection of boot-leggers was difficult, and a large crop of indiscriminate drinking has been reported in dark corners and alleys.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL.

LINDSAY, Feb. 8.—One of the largest boxes of choice Creole grapefruit and early navel oranges, grown in the Valencias, have been packed for shipment tomorrow to the Panama-Pacific exposition, where the Lindsay Board of Trade will maintain an exhibit of the International Orange Show. In the center of the packed lot of fruit there will be placed five boxes of navels, five boxes of grapefruit, ten of Valencias, five of Mediterranean bloods, five of Satsumas, five of Tangerine seeds and five of the new Persian seedless fruit. All of the fruit has been picked subsequent to the recent freeze and its quality, flavor and keeping qualities such that the Lindsay Board is confident it will capture first premiums in all classes.

POTASSIUM SALTS.

"All vegetable and animal life depends upon potassium and its allied combinations for existence. Nature's supply in the cultivated regions of Europe has already become exhausted and artificial feeding of the plant life has become imperative. We are fast approaching a similar condition in our own country where land has been farmed for many years.

"Seaweed or kelp is known to contain potassium and other valuable products. The Pacific kelp is especially favored, having more than three times as much of the products as the kelp of other lands. This fact determined the Federal government to make special researches.

"As will be seen in Senate Document No. 190, qualified chemical and mechanical engineers were told to work out processes and invent mechanical devices for harvesting, drying and distilling this vast supply of seaweed into commercial form. The day of theory and speculation is past."

Wilson stated that his corporation has no stock for sale and that none is issued in the first instance to provide for the purchase of land, plant and equipment have been taken up by the incorporators. He said no attempt at publicity was made until patents were secured at Washington.

SUPPLY INEXHAUSTIBLE.

A few days ago the directors went in one of the company's steamers to examine some of the kelp beds lying north of Point Firmin. They found almost inexhaustible supplies. In future years it may become necessary to cut kelp around the channel islands. This cutting is done by means of immense scythes which operate under water. As the seaweed is mowed it is drawn into the boat and stacked in bins.

This is dumped into receiving vats and dried. By subjecting the kelp to various degrees of heat the valuable products are extracted and carried away in pipes. The heavier substances are obtained by passing the kelp through other vats and coolers. Only an expert chemist can understand the devices by which the various bases are secured. The machinery is almost automatic. The kelp is practically all consumed by the time the final process is reached.

Gas is produced during the process, which is led back to the furnaces and there burned, thus providing much of the fuel. Nothing is wasted. The factory will manufacture the crude products and sell to manufacturing chemists, fertilizer companies and other concerns which use the various amounts of the substances to be extracted from the kelp.

Of interest to chemists is the following formula of the result of treating 500 tons of wet kelp, which means 100 tons of dry kelp: 56,000 pounds potassium chloride (basis 61.5 KHO); 28,400 fertilizer salts (basis 36 KHO); 10,200 organic carbon; 2000 carbonate; 400 iodine; 1420 [illegible] black; 580 varnish gum; 900 [illegible] creosote; 200 denatured alcohol; 270 acetone.

BANISH THE FLASK.

VISALIA, Feb. 8.—No more will the bibulous Visalian carry a flask of his favorite beverage on his hip, an amendment to the present city liquor law being introduced at the City Council meeting last evening. Alderman Kyle in which it is made a misdemeanor to have liquor in one's possession. An exception is made, however, and the hospitality of residents may stock up their homes as they choose, and may serve liquor to guests. No provision is made in the old anti-saloon law against the use of pocket flasks, and as a result detection of boot leggers was difficult, and a large amount of indiscriminate drinking has been done in dark corners and shady alleys.

Helping Hand.

STRANGERS' AID THEIR BUSINESS.

The Y.W.C.A. Workers Extend Welcome to City.

Five Thousand Are Assisted in Past Year.

Some Advantages Offered by Institution.

Miss Elizabeth Jane Conway of Williamsburg, O., stood on the station platform and looked wistfully around. She had been in Los Angeles five minutes. Of the 450,000 inhabitants, she was acquainted with not one. In fact, she didn't know a soul west of the Mississippi River. She didn't know the name of a hotel or apartment-house in the city. She wasn't a bit sure which way is south. She knew she is Miss Elizabeth Jane Conway of Williamsburg, O., one of Presidents, and that she had come here to find employment with the purpose of bringing her mother to live. That was the extent of her knowledge about the local situation.

At this moment of perplexity a young woman in a dark habit and wearing a badge with four letters came up to Miss Conway, took her hand, smiled and spoke in a friendly and encouraging manner. The two women talked earnestly for a few minutes and then went to a building at No. 255 South Hill street, where a stranger met several other young women who seemed to have a genuine interest in her affairs.

GETTING ACQUAINTED.

The of Miss Conway's new-found friends went with her in the afternoon for a car ride and a visit to a [illegible]. Then she was directed to a decent boarding-house. The next day Miss Conway obtained a position through the efforts of her acquaintances. On the following Sunday afternoon she went back to the building and attended a vesper service and spent two young women who had befriended her on the car ride. A few days later the young woman from Williamsburg was present at a party at the House of Young Women. Here Miss Conway knows several of the most interesting and charming young women in Los Angeles and several of these acquaintanceships are rapidly developing into those friendships that make life worth while.

The young woman who stepped up to Miss Conway the day she stood on the station platform, a shrinking stranger in a big city, was a representative of the travelers' aid department of the Y.W.C.A. and the place where she found friends and assistance was the association headquarters.

More than 3000 Miss Elizabeth Jane Conways have been assisted in like manner in the past year, and aid was extended to several thousand more women who did not happen to need it. Representatives of the travelers' aid department are at the three principal depots in Los Angeles every day in the year.

The Y.W.C.A. doesn't stop when it has given a young woman a friendly welcome to the city and found employment for her. The organization offers advantages in mental culture, physical development, social advancement and religious training to its 3000 members.

ALWAYS BUSY.

About 2500 women go in and out of the Hill-street building every day. A thousand take lunch there every week day, including 200 cash girls from the department stores. Meals are served at an average cost of 11 cents. Positions were obtained for girls the past year by the employment department. Desirable boarding places are found for an average of 300 each month. About 3000 are enrolled in the educational department.

But the Y.W.C.A. is not especially strong about figures. It doesn't want to be a machine.

The organization endeavors to be a friend, a kindly, helpful person to every woman who needs assistance in any way," Miss Amelia C. Johnson, the general secretary, explained yesterday. "We take time to be motherly, to do the little personal things that are appreciated by girls.

Miss Johnson is a Jane Addams of a person who thinks deeply and has the minimum amount of time for her culture. She is rapid in thought and movement, as must needs be her position, as the executive of 3000 women. Her way of saying "yes" or "no" is emphatic; she has time for explanations. Her heart is in her work.

PERSONALS.

One of the happiest young men at the Alexandria at present is H. L. Hoover, in the Southern Pacific service, who arrived yesterday from Redlands with Mrs. Gallagher on a honeymoon trip. The wedding took place on Tuesday morning in the same city and the couple will remain in Southern California several weeks before returning north.

Among the guests at the Van Nuys are Dr. Physicians, one of whom, Dr. McCauley, is accompanied by his wife, and is registered from Portland, the other is Dr. Jessie B. Hall of Berkeley, where she is connected with the staff of the University of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Clymer of Yuma is the guest at the head of the Southern Pacific at Yuma and is also a surgeon of the government medical corps at Yuma, on the Indian reservation. Another guest at the same hotel is Fred Tegler, owner of the Hotel at Bakersfield.

Rev. J. Coon, a missionary of the Methodist denomination, who has been in Persia a number of years, is visiting with the city yesterday. He will be for a few hours at the Westminster, where he is registered from Persia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gilligan of Adelaide, Australia, are guests at the hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason Dean are registered from Alexandria from Kansas City. He is a manufacturer of coke and one of the youngest business men in the metropolis. His father is a lawyer attorney of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Howard and his son, D. H. Howard are guests at the same hotel from Pasadena.

The dance was the center of a merry group yesterday. For the various western representatives and officials have been arriving at the hotel and to the list were added H. J. Gray, general western agent of the Perre-Marquette Route, with headquarters in San Francisco; F. L. Wood, California superintendent of Pullman car service of San Francisco, and A. G. Lane, general inspector of the Pullman Car Company of Chicago.

A. J. Plogsted and wife are at the Lankershim, registered from Rochester. Plogsted is special representative of the General Railway Signal Company and is now on his way to Australia to install a system such as is in vogue on all American lines. George B. Stone, special representative of the Anheuser-Busch Company of Milwaukee, with his wife, is staying at the same hotel.

EVERYTHING MOVABLE.

A transformation, one scene staged in the lounging-room of a fashionable apartment-house, the properties including a large clock, fancy pillows, a couple of rugs and several musical instruments, was brought to the attention of the police Friday by Henry Dick of the Dick Apartments, No. 632 Bixel street, who reported his establishment was burglarized Thursday night. When Mrs. Lottie A. Healey, the manager, entered the lounging-room yesterday morning she found it had been stripped of almost every adornment that could be moved.

BODY IS UNIDENTIFIED.

The body of the man found Friday floating in the water of Westlake Park lake is still unidentified at the Mortuary of Peck & Chase. It has been viewed by scores of men and women in quest of a missing friend or relative. The body is in such a condition it will be possible to keep it in the morgue but a few hours longer. When discovered by a patrolman, the body looked as though it had been in the lake several days.

W. Blair; song, "America," by audience; address of welcome, by Mayor R. H. Dow of Santa Monica; response, Mayor Alexander of Los Angeles; address, "Incoln," Maj. Robert Mann Woods; reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address; song, "Illinois," audience with band accompaniment, and an afternoon programme of selected music by Donatelli's Santa Monica band.

NOTABLE WOMAN'S LECTURE.

Prof. Maria L. Sanford of the University of Minnesota, whose lectures are attracting much interest among the women's clubs of Southern California, has been invited to repeat her lecture on "Literature for Everybody," given last week before the Hollywood Women's Club, at the Hollywood High School Tuesday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. This will give the teachers and students and the general public an opportunity to hear this remarkable woman of 75 years who has devoted half a century of her life to teaching and who was the first woman in the United States to win the degree of "Professor."

WOULD FREE A BIGAMIST.

Selma Woman Asks the Officials Who Convicted Her Son to Aid in Effecting His Release.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Alleging that she needs the support of her imprisoned son, Mrs. E. H. Tucker of Selma today circulated a petition among the county officers here asking that her boy, Clay H. Tucker, who is serving one year in San Quentin for bigamy, be paroled. The majority of the officers here signed the petition.

With credits for good behavior Tucker will complete his sentence next fall. Tucker was arrested August 28, after he had evaded the authorities from Los Angeles to Canada. Last May, Tucker was secretly married to Miss Mary J. Wilson, daughter of M. H. Wilson of San Francisco. When Wilson learned of his daughter's marriage he objected and started divorce proceedings. Then a Mrs. Tucker No. 1 showed up in Oakland and a warrant was issued for Tucker for bigamy.

Wife No. 1 was formerly Miss Frances Forsting, adopted daughter of Dr. Lester Forsting of Fruitvale. Tucker claimed that his first wife had secured a divorce. Tucker is a graduate of Stanford and was a football hero during his college days.

DINUBA.

DINUBA, Feb. 8.—First steps for co-operative control of the cured fruit market of Tulare county were taken at a meeting of the deciduous fruit men held here last evening. Committees have been appointed to draw up a form of contract for pooling crops and it is hoped that after the local field is covered the organization in this district may be affiliated with similar concerns in other portions of California. J. W. Jeffrey, former State Horticultural Commissioner, who has been instrumental in the organization of selling leagues in Northern California, addressed the growers on the necessity for concerted action.

Torrance
The Modern Industrial City

Hundreds of people are taking advantage of our special 25-cent round-trip excursions to Torrance.

The first glance at the tremendous industrial, business and residential development already established, invariably brings expressions of surprise from every visitor.

Probably not one-tenth of the people of Los Angeles and vicinity are fully alive to what is actually taking place at Torrance. True, Torrance is being advertised extensively—both locally and nationally. But so are less meritorious propositions. It really requires an actual visit to Torrance to fully appreciate its magnitude and importance.

We realize that the public is being deluged with invitations to attend excursions to various other attractive real estate propositions — but we can say without a single trace of egotism that none of them approach in importance the dimensions of Torrance.

Torrance is being advertised carefully and conservatively. The advertising department has been instructed to eliminate extravagant talk and stick to plain facts.

Go down any day this week and see millions of dollars' worth of established improvements. See an industrial city with real industries—enough of them located to support a population of 10,000 to 15,000.

Go down and see the city that Dana Bartlett says will make both steel and men. Terms of sale on business and residence property, 10% cash, balance in 60 monthly installments.

BIG CONCERN NOVEL PROJECT.

MAY PROVE BOON TO NUMBER OF PROSPECTIVE BUYERS.

Funding Company Proposes to Purchase Cars for Those Who Have Hard Time to Secure Enough Cash to Make First Payment. Strong Men Back of the Plan.

Intended as a boon to the man of small means who expects to purchase an automobile, is the announcement of the Automobile Funding Company of America. The proposition outlined by Charles A. Bradley, president and general manager, is that the big concern will purchase cars for you, providing you have sufficient funds to make the first payment, and then will carry you along until you become the proud possessor of your own machine.

"There are many business houses and individuals in this territory," says Bradley, "who need cars but cannot afford to buy them on the cash basis that now obtains. Right in Los Angeles there are business houses, with capital tied up, for whom one or more trucks would prove a boon. There are professional men, salesmen and others who could use a motor car to advantage. We expect to reach these.

"Realizing that there is a large field which we can enter we have organized the Automobile Funding Company. The purpose of this concern is to extend financial aid to motor car buyers. The plan we advocate is based on sound financial principles. We are not tied up to any particular make of car or truck. Our proposition is open for the benefit of any reliable dealer. This plan has not been worked out in a week; it has taken months to perfect it and we are now ready for business."

CATS AND DOGS.

TULARE, Feb. 8.—"Cats are an abomination and dogs are a relic of barbarism," said Mrs. J. H. Johnson, wife of a San Luis Obispo cattleman yesterday, as she completed the purchase of a mammoth Black Langshan rooster which she is preparing to take to her home in the south for a pet.

Mrs. Johnson was here with her husband to look after local property interests and while passing a local poultry store saw the big bird in a crate on the sidewalk. She was interested at once. She became enthusiastic when she learned that the big gentleman hen weighs fifteen pounds. When the rooster ate out of Mrs. Johnson's hand, with every evidence of great affection, the conquest was complete.

Dr. Albert Weidemann, one of the German delegates to the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce, found one of the most agreeable features of American towns to be "the universal garden about the American dwelling and the absence of fences or hedges."

Public Service; City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Mayor stated yesterday that since the Chamber of Commerce has turned down his request for suggestion of names for vacant places on important city commissions, the places may have to remain vacant.

Commissioner Handley yesterday presented to the Board of Public Works the subject of revising the ordinance fixing charges of the City Engineer's department for work on street proceedings. Handley believes the costs should be lessened and that the city should stand some of the charges now imposed upon property owners.

A contract for paving Dorchester avenue was awarded yesterday. The cost is to be $43,018. A $27,200 contract was also awarded for work on Hoover and other streets.

REFUSES TO OFFER NAMES.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TURNS DOWN MAYOR'S REQUEST.

Chief Executive Is on Verge of Disgust Over Efforts to Fill Vacancies in Commissions and May Let Incomplete Boards Struggle Along as Now.

Two of the most important municipal bodies, the Harbor Commision and the Board of Public Service, are lacking one member each. From present indications they will have to go along short-handed until the Mayor's term of office ends. He admitted yesterday that there is slight prospect of the vacant places being filled.

The Chamber of Commerce has turned down the Mayor's request that it suggest names of qualified businessmen for positions on these boards. The Chamber of Commerce doesn't meddle in politics, and it decided it could not consistently comply with the Mayor's request.

"I could get plenty of well qualified men for these places if there were salaries provided," said the Mayor yesterday, "but the men whom I would like to place on these commissions can not afford to donate their services to the city.

"What will I do about filling the vacancies? Well, I guess they will have to struggle along as they are unless the right men turn up who are willing to work for the city for nothing. My letter to the Chamber of Commerce was a business request to a business organization, but it has seen fit to refuse to suggest names."

The City Hall directory issued only a few months ago is now completely out of date, because of the constant changes of personnel in the Mayor's commissions and boards. No Mayor in the history of Los Angeles has been subjected to such vicissitudes in the unstability of the formation of his boards, and the constant inquiry of callers at the Mayor's office is "What have you done about appointments to the commissions?" The subject has become a veritable nightmare to His Honor.

In addition to these sources of worry, the long controversy of the appointment of a chief engineer of the Bureau of Fire Alarm and Police Telegraph has settled down for the time being in the placing of a subordinate in charge of the bureau—the Council refusing to confirm the Mayor's appointee and the Civil Service Commission having refused to call another examination for candidates as long as this appointee is on its certified lists.

An ordinance which will doubtless be adopted by the City Council at its next session, provides for the appointment of two more members to the Board of Censors, and this is likely to add to the Mayor's trials.

President Hubbard of the Board of Public Works has announced that his ambition is to remain on the board until the aqueduct is completed. As this is not far off Hubbard may soon resign and another problem will confront the Mayor in selecting a man.

STREET PROCEEDINGS.
CALL FOR LARGE OUTLAYS.

The assessment clerk of the Bureau of Street Assessments has made a computation of street improvements under the Hammon and Vrooman Acts which will have to be completed and paid for before the close of the present fiscal year, and estimates that the outlay in these cases will reach $38,850. The City Council is to make appropriations for these payments from time to time as the occasion demands.

Under the Hammon Act the largest outlay is for Alhambra avenue, from Mission road to the northerly city boundary, the amount being $15,000. Next comes Alvarado street, from First to Miramar, $2100, and First street, from Evergreen avenue to Indiana avenue, the easterly city boundary, follows with $1700.

Under the Vrooman Act proceedings outlays are to be made as follows: Alley South of Burlington street, from Orange to Seventh street, $200; Eighth street, from San Pedro street to Central avenue, $150; Fifth street, from Broadway to Olive street, $980; Fremont avenue, from Third street to Sixth street, $1050; Mission road, from North Broadway to the easterly city boundary, $2500; Johnston street, from Agate to Altura streets, $560; Macy street, from the Los Angeles River to Main street, $400; Menlo avenue, from Thirty-ninth street to Leighton avenue, $2900; Monte Vista street, from Avenue 61 to 585 feet west of Avenue 50, $650; Santee street, from Eighth to Washington streets, $260; Stephenson avenue, from Boyle avenue to Indiana avenue, $1200; Vince street, from Fountain avenue to Melrose avenue, $700; North Broadway from Ord street to the Buena Vista bridge, $8500. This total of $38,850 is to be paid for damages on the streets named.

May Revise Charges.

Commissioner Handley of the Board of Public Works presented to the board yesterday the demand for a modification in the charges made by the City Engineer's office on street improvements. Handley believes that the ordinance regulating charges for such work should be remodeled so as to make the expense on the property owner less onerous and that the city itself should pay some of the expenses that are now taxed to the property owners. It is probable that an amended ordinance will be prepared for presentation to the City Council.

Two Important Contracts.

Two important paving contracts were awarded by the Board of Public Works yesterday. The paving of Dorchester avenue, between Western avenue and Wilton place, was awarded to the Fairchild-Gilmore-Wilton Company, for $42,018, and John Radich got the contract for Hoover street, between Slauson avenue and Fifty-second street, and other streets included in this assessment district. The price of this work is to be $27,200.

City Hall Brevities.

The ordinance of intention has been prepared for the repaving of Broadway from Sixth to Seventh streets and the construction of granite block gutters. Seventy days is to be the time limit.

A picnic permit has been issued for the holding of the McHenry county (Illinois) annual reunion, at Sycamore Grove on February 14.

H. C. Berry, president of the Rapid Transit Navigation Company, informed the Harbor Commission yesterday that he wishes to obtain for his company a ferry franchise for the purpose of operating a new style of ferry between San Pedro and Terminal Island. The San Pedro Transportation Company now holds a ferry franchise there and the State law does not allow the issuance of another within one mile of the original grant during its tenure.

The Council of Presidents of the Los Angeles Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations yesterday filed an appeal to the Council for an ordinance prohibiting the sale, giving out or loaning of firearms or ammunition to any person under 18 years of age.

The Pacific Electric Company was granted an additional sixty days by the Board of Public Works yesterday within which to complete laying girder rails on Central avenue. The delay is occasioned by inability to get material from eastern mills.

Applications for franchises for twenty-four spur tracks are held under consideration by the Board of Public Utilities, pending the settlement of questions concerning applications of the Santa Fe Railroad for similar franchises. Eighteen of these are applications made by the Southern Pacific.

The final demands for payment for work on the Figueroa-street fire house were made upon the Board of Public Works yesterday, and the Chief Inspector of Buildings was called upon to furnish a certificate of completion.

When bids for street improvements were awarded by the Board of Public Works yesterday, comment arose on the names of the contractors represented. The list read: Sam Kruly, J. Mohan, C. J. Wkojevich, George Prcovich, J. J. Veselich and J. Radich.

WANT CHARITY TO THEMSELVES.

HEIRS OF PHILANTHROPIST IN COMPLAINT JOINED.

Another Chapter in Bitter and Hard-Fought Litigation Growing Out of Woman's Bequests—It Is Alleged Her Disposition of Estate Is Contrary to Code.

Heirs of the late Mrs. Mary E. Purcell, who provided by her will that $265,000 of her $450,000 estate shall be distributed to charitable organizations, filed a complaint yesterday asking the Superior Court to declare Charles A. Purcell, the executor, holds the property in trust for the benefit of the plaintiffs. The latter allege the agreement between Mrs. Purcell and the executor is in violation of Section 1313 of the Civil Code which prohibits giving more than one-third of an estate to charity.

The heirs are James F., Conrad W. and Charles Garner; Maria E. Bryan, Blanche Shira and Anna H. Kallmeyer, administratrix of the estate of Emily Gardner, represented by Attorney Ball, and John M. and Lean Garner; Leon and Creede Pratt, who have retained Murphey & Poplin. James F. Garner is a brother of Mrs. Purcell. He is 83 years old and lives in Illinois. Other plaintiffs are nephews and nieces of Mrs. Purcell.

Litigation growing out of the filing of Mrs. Purcell's will has been bitter and hard fought. An attempt was made to break the will on the ground that Mrs. Purcell was incompetent and had been influenced by Charles A. Purcell. Judge Finlayson decided against the contestants, representing the collateral heirs. The will was recently probated. Under its provisions Purcell can use his judgment in disposing of the large sum. The plaintiffs in the case filed yesterday received bequests aggregating $17,000.

TIES UP PROPERTY.
WIFE'S MOVE IN SUIT.

Real estate and cash aggregating $28,000 may be tied up tomorrow when Gracie Held and her husband, Henry, relatives of Harrie Leslie White, a former police sergeant, appear in Judge Monroe's court tomorrow to show cause why they should not be restrained from disposing of White's property. The order was obtained by Attorney Frank S. Hutton yesterday, and is a preliminary move in divorce proceedings brought by Mrs. White. White is said to be absent from the city.

Mrs. White charges White with cruelty. Among other acts alleged is a blow in the eye. She alleges he deeded over the property, part of which Mrs. White claims, to Mrs. Held, his sister-in-law.

COURT'S TEST.
CARTRIDGE FIGURES.

Edward Gill testified yesterday in the trial of his divorce suit in Judge Wilbur's court that his wife attempted to poison him and also shot him in the head with a revolver. It was alleged Gill tried to take his own life, but he showed there were no powder marks on his head.

The court had a cartridge taken from the revolver analysed, and it was learned smokeless powder had been used. Mrs. Gill denies all her husband's allegations of cruelty. They were married in St. Louis in 1890 and have a boy 19 years old. The case will be concluded Tuesday.

LIGHTING ISSUE.
INJUNCTION IS ASKED.

A suit which brings Robert H. Gaylord, No. 96 North Los Robles avenue, Pasadena, in conflict with the authorities of that city, was filed by Gaylord yesterday. The trouble arises over the wiring in Gaylord's house. Alterations were made and approved by City Electrician Reeves, he alleges.

Reeves has notified him, he states, that he must cease using the electric current and he is threatened with disconnection of the service. Gaylord alleges the alterations were made according to the specifications and that the wiring is in good condition. The suit is directed against [illegible] Pasadena, Reeves and C. W. [illegible]. An injunction is asked.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

REDUCES HIS ROLL. [illegible] Russell, a contractor, peeled $[illegible] from a fat roll in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday and satisfied an order made previously to pay $20 a month for the support of his 6-year-old daughter. Russell, who went to San Francisco on business, gave bonds [illegible] for his appearance in this city. He came at once with the cash. The child was given to the custody of Mrs. Mary E. Mathews in 1908. Russell apparently became delinquent for [illegible] support and he was cited for contempt.

ANOTHER CHANCE. Former Patrolman Fred E. Walker was placed on probation for two years by Judge Finlayson yesterday instead of being punished for having shot at a superior officer while intoxicated. His previous good record proved valuable and commendatory words were spoken by the Mayor, Chief Sebastian, Captains Murray and Lehnhausen and acting City Prosecutor Nimmo.

WEBER ESTATE. The will of the late Henry Frederick Weber, a pioneer cracker manufacturer who died on the 3rd inst. leaving an estate valued at $75,000, bequeathes his property to his wife, Frederica. In the event of her death it shall go to the children, Louisa Ponzo and Flora Von Der Kuhler. Among other items of the estate are fifty shares of the German-American Trust and Savings Bank and $4000 life insurance.

REMEMBERS KINDNESS. Under the will of the late William Kelley filed for probate yesterday, the Sisters of the Convent of Mercy of this city are sole beneficiaries. This is in consideration, the will states, of the expense the Sisters were put to in maintaining Kelley. The property, worth $10,000, is in Orange county.

NOT READY. Mrs. Minta Jordan, who is alleged to have collected insurance policies aggregating $[illegible] by falsely identifying a body as her husband's, was not ready to plead yesterday and was given until Tuesday by Judge Finlayson.

"Stolen Child" Must Explain Part of Her Testimony to Judge—Further Continuance.

A severe cross-examination apparently awaits Miss Reatha Watson in the hands of Police Judge Fredericksen next Tuesday afternoon.

Some of her testimony at the preliminary examination of Mrs. Violet Ake, her sister, and C. C. Bridges, a real estate operator, charged with having taken Miss Watson on a prolonged auto ride, is not clear to the court. Judge Fredericksen said yesterday "it is a bit too cloudy in some of its details." The court is skeptical of having the young woman, now among certain local artists for her symmetrical figure, more clearly explain some of her sworn statements.

The case was continued yesterday for the fourth time. When it was called Mrs. Ake and Bexley were present. It was expected the court would either dismiss the complaint or hold the couple to answer to the Superior Court.

Gives Bail; Appeals.

A. H. Calkins, president of the Standard Construction Supply Company, was fined $100 or 100 days in the City Jail yesterday by Police Judge Chambers for having paid his laborers with pay checks not negotiable at their face value.

Calkins said he will never repeat the offense because his firm is going out of business. He declared he is not intentionally violating the payday law.

The court said this method of paying laborers has caused considerable trouble and annoyance. The court asserted that by the issuance of such checks redeemable only at certain stores contractors and business men could form an agreement whereby laborers would be forced to make purchases of which they had no use or need, in order to secure the face value of their checks.

Calkins gave notice of appeal and produced $100 bail. Counter to the court charges against him, he will be tried by Judge Chambers Tuesday. He is charged Calkins passed no bail secretary.

Grand Larceny Charged.

Miss Anna Calvin and J. D. Harrington, known to have almost a score of aliases, were yesterday held to answer to the Superior Court on grand larceny charges by Judge Wilbur. Under the University Police Court. The bonds were fixed at $5000, in each of which they were remanded to jail. Mrs. Margaret Mansfield of Pasadena is the complaining witness. She alleges Miss Calvin and Harrington secured $1000 worth of diamonds from her. The police say they have received 1000 letters from men and women in answer to advertisements by the couple, indicating that Harrington and Miss Calvin have worked the same game in many large cities.

Expensive Forgeries.

Leon Greenberg, an East Fifth street second-hand dealer, was fined $100 or 100 days in jail by Judge Chambers Friday for failing to report to the police the purchase of about $50 worth of property from the Ware brothers, which later proved to have been stolen. Greenberg told the court it was an oversight that he did not report the purchase. Greenberg is a wife and little daughter to support in his behalf.

"Stolen Child" Must Explain Part of Her Testimony to Judge—Fourth Continuance.

A severe cross-examination apparently awaits Miss Reatha Watson at the hands of Police Judge Frederickson next Tuesday afternoon.

Some of her testimony at the preliminary examination of Mrs. Violet Ake, her sister, and C. C. Boxley, a real estate operator, charged with having taken Miss Watson on a prolonged auto ride, is not clear to the court. Judge Frederickson said yesterday "it is a bit too cloudy in some of its details." The court is desirous of having the young woman, noted among certain local artists for her symmetrical figure, more clearly explain some of her sworn statements.

The court said this method of paying laborers has caused considerable trouble and annoyance. Calkins gave notice of appeal and produced $100 bail. Contempt of court charges against him will be tried by Judge Chambers Tuesday. It is charged Calkins posed as his secretary.

Grand Larceny Charged.

Miss Anna Calvin and J. D. Huntington, known to have almost a score of aliases, were yesterday held to answer to the Superior Court on grand larceny charges by Judge Williams in the University Police Court. She alleges Miss Calvin and Huntington secured $1000 worth of diamonds from her. The police say they have about 1000 letters from men and women in answer to advertisements of the couple, indicating that Huntington and Miss Calvin have worked the same game in many large cities.

THAT'S ABOUT AWL.

The boot and shoe last trust has been dissolved by the Federal courts. We are waiting in anguish for the paragraphers of the country to lament that this is the last straw.

A GRAND ROAD.

Meetings are being held looking to the construction of a coast boulevard. If anybody doubts the value of such a road let him make the trip any Sunday over the foothill boulevard from the Mt. Wilson trail to Tropico.

A MYSTERY.

Senator Paynter of Kentucky has made a speech opposing a bill to prevent the shipment of liquors into dry territory on the grounds that it is unconstitutional. What puzzles us is how a dry territory can have anything to do with the constitution of a Kentuckian.

A STIRRING SOCIETY.

Mayor Gaynor, Andrew Carnegie, and others have organized a walking club, and, being financiers, they have incorporated it. It takes a club to make some men move. Sometimes when they use a very big stick it is turned against them, and then what a roar there is!

SMILES.

The town was full of San Fernando Valley farmers Saturday, and all of them wore a smile which the showers could not wash off. There was just rain enough to excuse them for not working, and they simply had to celebrate the blessing from the skies. Their barley is four inches high and growing by the hour.

SMOKE IN THE SENATE.

Pitchfork Tillman objects to smoke in the Senate, possibly on general principles, but chiefly, we suspect, because the odor of burning tobacco is personally obnoxious to him. Yet an anti-tobacco crusade should have been championed by a representative of some non-tobacco-producing territory. A real heroic man will stand up for his home industries, even if he himself must suffer in consequence. Then too, Senator Tillman has always posed as a glowing firebrand—and where there's fire there's smoke.

PROVING AN ALIBI.

A fine old colonel, whose press agent insists has an irreproachable character, has arrived in the bosom of his own family in one of our neighboring cities with the wrong suit case containing elongated hosiery, one perfectly good switch of hair and a few other articles vital but hardly to be mentioned in an article about an irreproachable colonel and certainly having no place in such a gentleman's suit case. Publicly he is offering a large reward for the owner. We would not like to play poker with this man.

MISSING HUSBANDS.

We are sorry to note a disposition on the part of many husbands to start out to the bank or to another town to buy land and to then disappear. It is rather curious that most mysteriously disappearing husbands have large sums of money with them at the vanishing point. Their wives always believe there has been foul play, and it never occurs to them to suspect that they themselves, and not their husbands, are the victims of the crooked deal. When husbands who have no money with them begin to be missed we shall feel more like encouraging the officers to take up the trail.

SELF-SACRIFICING.

A lady who was living upon the earth in the city of San Francisco ate something which disagreed with her and her mortal mind, as well as the members of her family, suggested that she had ptomaine poisoning. She sent for a doctor in the neighborhood, but he was also a human being badly afflicted with a mortal mind which had already suggested to him that he was sick. The physician did not answer the call and the lady died. Now her people are suing him for big damages. We know nothing whatever of the merits of this particular case, but on general principles we do not think that a physician who is himself seriously ill, or even painfully so, should feel obligated to make calls. Probably no class of men in the world give their services so unselfishly as do the doctors.

TOO GAY.

No one, except the young women themselves, know how many silly men there are in this world. Every girl who works in a public position has an opportunity to judge masculine folly at first hand. It breaks out in so many unexpected places and in such perfectly absurd ways that if the young woman at all possesses a sense of humor she must be continually amused. The average public stenographer gets invited to about a dozen swell lunches a day, refuses them all and goes to the nearest drug store for a 10-cent milk shake while she has $10 worth of fun with the girl on the stool next to her about the fresh guys who tried to butt in. It would be a good lesson to the masher if he could once overhear himself discussed by two girls who are both on the job and onto him. It would even be a better lesson to him if his wife could sometimes overhear what the girls have to say about him.

A BROTHER'S LOVE.

The President-elect made haste some weeks ago to check the advance march toward him of the Democratic ants, who, from the pine-clad hills of Maine to the palmetto groves of Florida, from the sands of Chesapeake Bay to "where rolls the Oregon," were gathering to pursue postmasterships, and collectorships, and consulships, and marshalships, and clerkships and judgeships and attorneyships. It mattered little whether the ship was a feed ship or a salary ship. A berth in her was "as desired as Daphne by the eager day-god."

One hundred thousand or more Republicans will have to go out of office on March 4 next or as soon thereafter as possible, and 100,000 Democrats will be called upon to take their places. One million Democrats are willing—oh, so willing—to take the places of the outgoing patriots. It is just such a situation as existed twenty years ago after Grover Cleveland's second election. Grover was sleek-headed and fat and enjoyed the luxury of receiving and passing upon applications for office. Gov. Wilson is Cassius-built and hungry, and shrinks from the ordeal. To avoid it he issued an official ukase to the effect that anyone applying to him for an office would commit a sin for which the door of official preferment would be forever slammed in his face. The effect of this is to transfer the pressure to the nearest available Democratic Senators. They will be the buffers between the applicants and the President.

There is one exception to this rule. It is the brother of the President. "Nice customs courtesy to great kings." The brother of Woodrow wants an office. Naturally. Is not his name Wilson? To solicit and receive an appointment from his brother would not only be a brazen defiance of the Wilsonian ukase, but would be such an utter disregard of the exterior decencies of political usage as would make Brother Woodrow the subject of many cartoons.

There is one way out of it. It is for the brother to be elected secretary of the Senate. When Senators call at the White House it will be suggested to them that they can endear themselves to the President by voting for his brother for secretary. The brother will have not only a fat office, but will have access to the Senate in executive sessions, and can report to Woodrow any unkindly suggestions concerning him that may have been made during such session.

VAST WEALTH ACCUMULATION.

During the year just past the world output of gold amounted to $465,000,000, and adding the gold value of silver the outturn of the precious metals must have been something over half a billion dollars. If this were an isolated fact it would not amount to much, but if we go back ten or twelve years we shall find that the addition to the world's stock of gold during the current century falls but very little short of $5,000,000,000. This last figure takes no account whatever of the addition to the money stock of the world made by the silver mines.

A natural result of this is a vast increase in the money wealth of the world as shown by bank deposits and all the other statistics connected with these financial institutions. Taking the United States alone, we find from a report by the Comptroller of the Currency founded on responses to a call made November 26 for a statement by the national banks, that the deposits in these institutions alone on that date fell but a very little short of $6,000,000,000 and showed a gain of more than $408,000,000 in a year. The report showed loans made by these national banks amounting to considerably over $6,000,000,000, an increase in a year of almost $380,000,000. The cash on hand reported amounted to $859,000,000, a decrease of nearly $3,600,000 in the year. These figures show a wonderful accumulation of money wealth in the country, and great as it is, the demand for money to carry on the industries of the country more than kept pace with the money supply. It is a remarkable record.

We would make one reflection upon these facts at this time, and call attention to the full answer the figures give to the illogical cry that the poor grow poorer. It is a fact that the rich grow richer year by year. How could it be otherwise with such vast accumulation of money wealth? But while there are more millionaires in the country, there are fewer who lack the means of living, unless from some fault of their own, and the condition of the wage-earning part of the population will make a greater showing than the increase of money in the hands of the wealthy.

That wealth is not equally distributed is a fact which has been a fact since the beginning of the world, and it will remain a fact as long as the world remains. This fact depends directly upon other facts quite as universal and persistent. The Declaration of Independence is correct in saying: "All men are born equal" in the eyes of the just laws of our country, but no fool would claim that all men are born to equal natural opportunities, to equal natural abilities, to equal habits of industry, of temperance or thrift, or any of the various endowments of human nature on which the earning of money and the saving of money hinge.

But while it is the part of true philosophy to recognize the right of every toiler and investor to the fruits of his labor and investment, and recognizing the fact that natural ability, practised industry, habits of thrift and moderation in all things, must always result in some obtaining more than others of this added wealth—yet we would not say that there is not a demand for some change in industrial custom by which the share of the average toiler may be larger than it is, compared with that of the man of brains and that the man of capital, those who plan and manage our industries and finance the plants in which they are carried on.

GETTING IT BACK.

New York purchased $4,000,000 worth of gems in January. It is not for her own adornment that Gotham has done this. Her merchants will use the stones to line their own purses with gold.

Atty.-Gen. Wickersham will make a tour of the world after the close of his term, but none of the trust magnates have chipped in on the bill of expenses.

The High Blue Sky Line.

OUR PUBLIC LIBRARY.

On the third floor of the Hamburger building, in the corner overlooking Eighth and Broadway, is a quiet, unassuming but effective municipal means and method for the entertainment, education and uplift of Angelenos. From 9 in the morning until half past 9 at night this great, light, airy room is open to the public, but even a large percentage of the regular patrons of the Los Angeles Public Library is unaware of the work which is done and the possibilities which await in the room set apart for the periodical publications.

Of the 513 different magazines that come regularly to the desk of the magazine room, only fourteen are distinctly fiction. The other 499 cover every topic of interest from aeronautics to archeology. Here may be found the best and the latest about bees and banking, fun and fiction, law and lumber, plumbing and politics, and every other subject under the sun.

Nor are the magazines restricted to those printed in the English language, for here are received regularly nine French publications, twelve German, one Italian and two Spanish. Of these the most frequently called for in the reading-room is "Die Woche."

Of the technical magazines, the Scientific American, Popular Mechanics and the Engineering and Electrical Magazine are called for most often, while the Saturday Evening Post is read more than any other literary publication.

All of the magazines are for use in the reading-room, while forty-five different ones (and there are several duplicates of each of these) may be taken away from the library on cards—the current numbers for four days only, and older copies for seven days. The magazines most frequently taken out on cards are Harper's Monthly, Popular Mechanics, Cosmopolitan and Current Literature.

Around the walls of the reading-room are newspaper racks, above each of which is posted a card stating that no one must monopolize a paper for more than fifteen minutes at any one time.

All the local papers are found on the desks, but, besides these, there are fifty-one dailies and sixty weeklies from all over the world.

Among those who frequent the reading room the men far outnumber the women and unpleasant weather increases the attendance fully one-third.

From an hour before noon until 8 in the evening there are few vacant chairs and many, both men and women, remain until closing time.

The general honesty of the reading public is shown by the fact that not more than one out of every 200 magazines turns up missing, and it is interesting to note that that one is generally a story magazine.

While the "uplift" screech is shrilling so loudly that the ears of the people are deafened, the public library quietly keeps on "doing business at the old stand," though the stand is only on rented territory, and one thing is worthy of comment, the fiction given out over the desk of the magazine room is usually more fit for the perusal of the young person than much of the stuff which is put between cloth and board covers by publishers who confuse the words "strong" and "putrid."

MEDDLE AND MUDDLE.

The legislators of today have opportunities not enjoyed by those of former generations of making laws based upon accurate statistical information. In the making of tariff schedules the census of 1910 will prove of the greatest advantage. Take the item of boots and shoes for instance. The output of the boot and shoe manufactories ranks ninth among the industries of the United States and has an annual value of $512,000,000. It has its center in New England, but extends into the Middle West. It employs 200,000 operatives and 11,000 clerks. Its products outrival in excellence those made in Europe and the prices of the goods are only slightly in excess of those asked in London, Paris, or Berlin.

This industry has been developed to these proportions in part by improvements in machinery, in part by increased skill of operatives, in part by a reduction in interest, and in part by tariff protection. Under the Dingley law of 1897 the duty on boots and shoes was fixed at 25 per cent. ad valorem. Under the Payne-Aldrich bill the duties on boots and shoes range from 10 to 15 per cent. It is reported that the Democrats in pursuit of their plan of raising a tariff for revenue only by abolishing a tariff altogether, propose to place boots and shoes on the free list. Indeed, if the tariff on boots and shoes is reduced at all it would be difficult to determine at what point between 10 per cent. ad valorem and nothing the rate should be fixed.

A manufacturer was asked whether a reduction of the tariff on boots and shoes from 10 per cent. to 5 per cent. would stimulate importation so as to bring in large quantities of European-made goods, and lower prices to American consumers. He replied that a difference of 5 per cent. was so slight that it would be met by reducing the wages of American operatives, and that it was doubtful if with only 5 per cent. tariff reduction European manufacturers would undertake to compete with the superior goods made in the United States.

The tariff is a license tax which the United States imposes upon a foreign manufacturer for the privilege of selling his goods in this country. Sometimes this tax is paid by the foreign manufacturer, sometimes it is paid by the American consumer. Sometimes it is divided between them.

Conditions as they exist are favorable to the public revenues, favorable to the protection of American industry and not unjust to the consumer. After the Democrats shall have meddled and muddled with the tariff to their supreme satisfaction it is probable that conditions will not be so favorable as now.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

Just a year ago McCarty, that huge pugilistic party, was so badly up against it that he had no place to sleep; with his mentor, Bill McCarney, he relied on bounce and blarney for a share of soup and sinkers, but he didn't mope or weep. "Fortune doubtless is a smarty," argued empty Luth McCarty, "and she hands around her favors in a dippy, dizzy way, but she's bound at last to notice any man who not a goat is, who pursues her still, untiring, chasing her day after day. Though my countenance she's soaking, when she sees I take it joking, she'll relent and hand me posies, where she hands me brickbats now; and some day you'll see me splurging, from obscurity emerging, with a bundle in my breeches and a wreath upon my brow." Thus, with optimism hearty spake the great and good McCarty, and we've seen him leave the gutter for a high and rich estate; in his need he learned to hustle; now he ranks with Pastor Russell, Laura Libbey, J. G. Cannon, and the others truly great. Thus we see, O gentle reader, that the man who's no seceder, when he hears the call of Duty, or of Fortune, seldom fails; like so many earnest thinkers he'll forsake the soup and sinkers, for a diet rich and gorgeous, princely pies and toasted quails.

WALT MASON.

His Happy Thought.

[Kansas City Star:] The small son of the family had climbed to the top of a forbidden telephone pole, but on looking down from the giddy height lost his nerve and came sliding down at break-neck speed, running an ugly sliver into his little body and inflicting a serious wound. The family physician came, administered an anaesthetic and performed the necessary operation.

At the first sign of returning consciousness the white lips twitched as in an effort to speak. The anxious mother bent over the limp little form, anxious to catch what might be her darling's last words. This is what she heard:

"Gee! I'm glad I didn't have my Sunday pants on."

THE COLONEL AND THE FEVER DOCTOR.

Burdette at Panama—All Busy, Preparing the System for Work.

When the French engineers, contractors and light opera companies came over to the Isthmus to plant the most successful cemetery ever established in Panama on scientific principles and under the management of modern civilization they did not know that the smallest thing in Panama would be the one insuperable obstacle to the construction of the canal. More terrible than an army with banners, Stegomyia calopus, the common "skeeter" of commerce, a creature so utterly useless that the most orthodox question the wisdom of his creation was making ready with bloody sucker to welcome the invader to hospitable graves.

"One trouble with the French," comments one of Col. Gorgas's "skeeter shooters," "was that they didn't know a mosquito from a bumblebee."

War and Pestilence.

Mosquitoes have slain more people in one campaign of yellow fever than the tigers and venomous serpents of the jungles have slain in a year. One can avoid the tigers by keeping out of the jungle. But the mosquito comes where you are. All the world is his hunting ground.

Fame has photographed in lurid colors the mighty Nimrods who have trailed the tiger in his lair, and have shot elephants, rhinoceri and hippopotami with hand artillery. They merit all that fame, with far-reaching megaphone, has shouted about them.

But the real hunters of big game are the medicine men. The soldiers who fight death to save life, oftimes in the face of peril as great as that which confronts the forlorn hope charging the terrible embrasures. To the physician the mosquito is the elephant. He is big. You can see him and shoot him down in the open. But the deadliest foes of man are the fierce wild beasts so microscopic in size that the lay mind very imperfectly conceives of their existence.

That is the reason why the bacteriologist gives the smallest malignant microbe the loudest-sounding polysyllabic name, so that he can be heard, although unseen. At least, that is my reason.

Enough to Go 'Round.

There are fifty-two varieties of mosquitoes in the canal zone. They are crowding Heinze pretty close. Eleven varieties are disseminators of malaria. The most dangerous of all is the "white-handed—anopheles albimanus. The male is as harmless as the man whose wife keeps a boarding-house. The female of the species is deadlier than the male. Only the lady bites. And she is quiet. Her husband sings while she toils. She will bite anything. But if allowed to name her choice, the lady prefers white meat.

These are the tiny pests that bucked the construction market and crowded two great companies of intelligent and able men onto the reefs of utter bankruptcy, scattered fortunes and filled graveyards. Great engineers had the French. And the medical colleges of France attract students from all the world. But they went to Panama without a Napoleon. They went into battle in reverse order. They sent in the engineers and then followed with the medical corps.

The Right Way to Fight.

But in this kind of fighting the ambulance corps should precede the field guns.

The United States sent the medicine men in ahead of the disease. Had the isthmus been held by savage tribes of warriors the bayonets would have cleared the jungle, and the surgeons would have ministered to the wounded. But you can't bayonet a "white-handed" lady mosquito. You can't stand off and pump lead into a little anopheles pseudonunctipennis no bigger than the sight on the gun.

So the doctors deploying as skirmishers went in ahead the line and fought for health and life. Army surgeons they were, for all the canal is army work. The greatest duty of the American army is to keep the peace, promote prosperity, maintain the general health and to preserve life. The general-in-chief of the United States army is a doctor. The army has won immortal renown on many a battlefield. It has even greener laurels in the splendid wars of peace.

Both Sides of the Ledger.

We know how many men it killed all the way from Concord to Yorktown. We can never know how many lives it saved under the leadership of the Army Yellow Fever Commission and in the bloodless warfare waged against pestilence in the canal zone. Cuba, the Philippines, the Isthmus—what fields of glory. It is safe to say that for every life the enemy has taken in war it has saved ten thousand in times of peace.

Whether the plague of yellow fever could have been swept out of Cuba by a Congressional Commission or any other body save by the compact, disciplined, efficient organization of the army I will not undertake to say. I only know that it never had been done.

Before and After.

In 1897 40,000 of the inhabitants of those islands died from smallpox. Then they became American possessions, thanks to Dewey. The government enforced compulsory vaccination. The soldier who uses the lancet instead of the bayonet supervised the vaccination of 3,769,187 Filipinos. The deaths from smallpox in 1907, just ten years later than the scourge of 1897, amounted to 304 in all the islands. "Vaccination is worse than useless," say the anti-everything cranks. "Post hoc, propter hoc," replies the Old Doctor. Thirty-nine thousand lives saved by the army in one battle.

The Doctor's Bill.

In glorifying the great work of canal construction, and we can't praise it too highly, we are apt to forget the two years of pioneer work by the medical corps. The army and the nation has neglected to honor the surgeon. But all the world does that. The doctor is the first man sent for. And the last man paid. The devil himself, one time sicker than himself, solemnly vowed he got well he cheated the doctor, lied to him and was seven times more of a devil than ever. And the world and the flesh have followed his example ever since. The saints are all right, but there aren't enough of them to count.

DEATH VALLEY'S FINDER'S ALIVE.

MIRROR OF THE DESERT TONIC TO THIS PIONEER.

Pathfinder of More Than Half a Century Ago Is One of Four Jayhawkers to Celebrate Memorable Journey—Recalls Fearful Hardships on the Mormon Trail.

One of the last men of the famous "Jayhawker" party which came across the plains in 1849 arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from Santa Cruz, where he attended a meeting of the four survivors of the expedition

John B. Colton.

[illegible] member of "Jayhawker" party of forty-niners, which discovered Death Valley and arrived in Southern California after fearful hardships. He has been attending a reunion of the four survivors at Santa Cruz, and is visiting Los Angeles friends.

[illegible] discovered Death Valley and suffered untold hardships in the making of the trail through an absolutely unknown and uncharted region of deserts and mountains. John B. Colton, tall and rather spare, although far heavier than he can be reached Southern California as his first trip, with eyes that sparkle, is here to visit old friends. During his stay in the central part of the State the hostess was Miss Juliet W. Brier, who will this month celebrate her 101st birthday anniversary and who was the only woman on the trip, having joined the "Jayhawkers" at the Little Salt Lake.

"The gold craze struck us in the year of 1849, back in Illinois and we hastily mustered a company of thirty young men," said Colton yesterday. "We started at Galesburg and traveled to what is now Omaha, but was then only an Indian village. From there we followed the Mormon trail along the north side of the Platte River to Salt Lake and on the journey we encountered many buffaloes from the big buffalo herds which caused our own cattle to stampede.

"On arrival in Salt Lake we heard the fearful story of the Donner Lake party, where white men had turned cannibals with hunger and eaten each other, and we were told that it would be impossible to get across before the winter set in and would probably suffer the same dire fate as that which befell the other travelers. In this fear followed we found that it was chiefly because the Mormons had a wagon trail to Southern California that they prevailed on us to take the southern route.

"We left Salt Lake and traveled [illegible] to what was known as the Great Salt Lake, a body of water [illegible] a hundred yards long and half [illegible] wide, but known to the hunters and trappers of that time as well as the New York City is to the cosmopolitan [illegible] of today. It was here that the old Santa Fe trail joined, and we decided to get directly to the Los Angeles and not to Los Angeles [illegible] started due west, having been joined by several other large parties [illegible] the lake. After days of hardship [illegible] the arid plains, we suddenly came to the dropping-off place, where the plateau stopped abruptly [illegible] precipice of more than 1000 feet.

"The other parties that had followed us, on the advice of Scout Alexander Hunt, turned back, but we pressed north and finally found a pass where, with the aid of ropes, we managed to let our wagons down, one by one. From there on the trip became simply a nightmare. For a [illegible] dream, of days without water, without food and shelter. Four of our party died on the trip and we were [illegible] more dead than alive. We were poisoned by alkali and arsenic; we killed our cattle for food and used their hides for moccasins; we were [illegible] for three and four days without water, with parched, burning throats, and finally struck the mountains.

"It was impossible to go straight [illegible] and we were forced to [illegible] end of each ridge, the spur of the mountains which took us farther [illegible] all the time. One day we [illegible] from a plateau at the end of which was a large spring and this [illegible] and, going through deep canyons, on the fourth day after [illegible] this direction we saw [illegible] the trees a streak of red. [illegible] turned out to be a tile roof. Four months later we stumbled [illegible] four vaqueroes who were [illegible] at our strange, haggard, [illegible] appearance. After much explanation we took them of our plight [illegible] and they took us to the rancho of Senor [illegible] grandfather of the present [illegible] del Valle. He owned an [illegible] of land, seven leagues square, [illegible] and there we were fed and dined royally [illegible] for days while we regained [illegible] our strength. I weighed only [illegible] pounds on the day we arrived, [illegible] 180 on the trip."

Mrs. Colton was called [illegible] years of mining and [illegible] to the illness of his [illegible] of the illness of his [illegible] and returned to Galesburg in [illegible] where he has visited many [illegible] of the world, has acquired [illegible] holdings in Kansas, Nebraska, Illinois, and in 1873 he [illegible] the society of "Jayhawkers" [illegible] had a very exclusive [illegible] only those who bore

MEETING OF RANGERS.

Forest Guardians to Talk Over in Convention Here the Conservation of Reserves.

Along the line of increased efficiency in the management and care of the Santa Barbara, Angeles, Monterey and Cleveland national forests, an interesting meeting of the rangers of these various jurisdictions, supplemented by the presence of a number of the officials from the central office in San Francisco, will open tomorrow morning in the Walker Theater building, and continue four days, closing with a banquet at the Hollenbeck Hotel Thursday night.

District Forester Dubois, Dr. Meinecke, one of the forest experts, chief of Silviculture Woodbury, Chief of Land Barrett, expert C. S. Smith, and Chief of Grazing Hatton, all from San Francisco, will be among the speakers, with R. H. Charlton, supervisor of Angeles national forest as the host and local entertainer.

The subjects to be discussed will be general efficiency and protection, forest pathology, silviculture, timber sales, administration, marking, utilization, scaling, brush piling, free use, trespass, forest measurements, planting, forest investigation, dendrology, lands and products, claims, settlements, stations, uses, water power and products, grazing, range improvement and development, history and development of the national forests, grazing policy, etc.

With the coming of the early spring rains and the consequent disappearance of any present danger from forest fires, it is expected that there will be a large attendance of forest rangers, and not less than 100 whose jobs from one year's end to the other are to ride through the woods and conserve the national policy of protection for our great timber plants, will be present. It is the first meeting of the kind that has been held for three years, indicating a new interest in the care of the big woods.

The beginning of the work of classifying the national forests, with a view to setting aside for homestead entry, land that is calculated to serve for agricultural purposes, has had the effect of adding interest to the work of the forestry department, and many prospective settlers on the government land will be on hand to learn what is being done and what it is proposed to do in the future for the benefit of those who expect to undertake the contract of carving homes out of the woods.

FAREWELL TO THE BOSS.

The Muse, Faris, Walker Company gave its annual ball to the employees of the Fifth-street Store at Kramer's last night. It was in a way a farewell reception to Messrs. Walker and Faris, president and secretary of the company, who are about to sail on a trip to Honolulu. The lighting effects gave expression to this idea in a miniature ship, sailing on an imaginary trip from San Francisco to Honolulu. The music by Laistsky's orchestra included many Hawaiian airs. The grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Walker and the entertainment was one of the best ever given by the firm.

TOUR OF THE ORIENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. James Watson, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lenfestey, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Williamson, Mrs. Maud G. Jackson, Mrs. Irvine R. Millard, Mrs. W. Hallett and Miss M. C. Hallett will leave the 25th inst. for a two months' tour of Hawaii, Japan, China and the Philippines. The party will sail from San Francisco on the Tenyo Maru and expect to be in Japan for the cherry blossom festivals.

FEW ORANGES CONDEMNED.

Loss Percentage So Small As to Be Negligible Quantity When Total Crop Is Considered.

Thirty carloads of oranges have been condemned to date by health boards in the East and Northwest. As shipments since the frost have averaged around seventy-five cars a day, the percentage loss through condemnation is so small that local shippers now see no reason to fear a serious curtailment in marketing through health boards' actions.

Portland and Seattle have taken the lead in condemnations, with Memphis also attracting attention on this score. In nearly every case condemnation has not been on the score of unwholesomeness, but on account of dryness. In fact, the Department of Agriculture made a ruling some years ago that dryness, not unwholesomeness, was the only observable effect that frost had on oranges.

FOR MINORITY RULE.

The City Club was addressed yesterday by Fred C. Wheeler in the interest of the eight charter amendments prepared by the People's Charter Conference. He passed over all lightly but came in strong on the last, which proposes proportional representation. He denounced the proposed ward plan as a deliberate attempt to defeat the plan for which he contended. R. H. Norton spoke in opposition to proportional representation, declaring that it would place at least three antagonistic elements in the City Council, the result being nothing but "politics and then more politics." The proportional plan, he said, was simply devised to provide places for men who do not receive a majority vote at an election. The club took no action.

INDUSTRIAL BUREAU GROWS.

Fifteen firms have already sent checks for $100 as an enrollment fee in the Chamber of Commerce's new Industrial Bureau, a campaign for the creation of which was launched Saturday. Some 200 firms directly benefited by the creation of the bureau are to be seen during the course of the campaign. It is estimated that it will cost between $50,000 and $60,000 a year to operate the bureau in the aggressive manner intended by the Chamber of Commerce directorate.

Lo, the Figures!

GREATEST FOR EDUCATION.

LOS ANGELES FAR OUTSTRIPS NORTH'S METROPOLIS.

San Francisco Frantically Seeks Verification of Figures that Make Her School Appropriations Seem Insignificant—Odious Comparison by Western Journal of Education.

Educational interests in San Francisco have been stirred to their vitals by a cold-blooded comparison between the amounts spent for education in Los Angeles and in that city. The excitement was occasioned by a publication in the Western Journal of Education, published in San Francisco, and brought more or less frantic appeals to several sources in this city for a verification of the figures.

The Journal of Education, published by Harr Wagner, and to which State Superintendent of Public Instruction Hyatt is a contributor, printed the following on its editorial page on December 12:

"Here you may see at a glance how Los Angeles compares with San Francisco in spending money for education: Los Angeles, elementary schools, $3,920,856; San Francisco, elementary, $2,907,913. Los Angeles, high schools, $2,301,445; San Francisco, high schools, $836,248. Los Angeles, kindgartens, $156,972; San Francisco, kindergartens, $858.

"Los Angeles spent a million more on its grammar schools, nearly a million more on its high schools and so much more for kindergartens as to make San Francisco's appropriaton seem insignificant. The total expended for education by Los Angeles is $6,379,273, or over two and a half millions more than San Francisco.

"Besides that, Los Angeles set a new record for construction of school buildings, paying out seven-eighths of a million, ($876,000) for such extensions."

Is it any wonder they squeal at such an odious comparison?

The receipts of the Los Angeles city school district for the year ending June 30, 1912, are as follows: Received from taxation levied within the district, $1,932,886.54; received from the State, $613,003.25; from sale of bonds, $1,720,000; paid for principal and interest on bonds, not included in the above figures, $212,726; grand total for the year, $4,478,614.79.

This is $733,595.79 more than San Francisco spent in the entire county during the same year—city and county being one. Taking the city and county of Los Angeles, the actual amount spent for education in that year is $1,634,254 in excess of the amount expended by San Francisco city and county during the same period.

Electrical Engineer of Aqueduct Addresses Teachers' City Club and Assures Vast Earnings.

The Los Angeles City Teachers' Club met yesterday at noon in Coulter's cafe. The speaker of the day was E. F. Scattergood, chief electrical engineer for the aqueduct, who urged the necessity of voting the $6,500,000 bonds to complete the generating works and install a complete electrical distributing system. He asserted that within six months after the money becomes available, the city could begin realizing earnings, and within two years could market all the power being developed and realize profits not less than $1,200,000 annually, above expenses and interest on power bonds. He opposed the proposition to sell energy to the corporations and resented the charge that there is any attempt to destroy existing property.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL CHAIN FORGED.

WITNESSES WILL TESTIFY TO ALLEGED CONSPIRACY.

Prosecution Follows Line of Attack Similar to that Used in First Trial Because Defense Opens Way Through Its Cross-Examination. No More Lawyers for Darrow.

Subpoenas for numerous witnesses were sent out by Asst. Dist.-Atty. Ford yesterday, because of the enlarged aspect of the Darrow trial. The cross-examination of George N. Lockwood, a prospective McNamara juror, by the defense, Friday, makes it possible for the State to bring in testimony tending to show the entire range of alleged criminal acts on the part of the defendant.

While none of the attorneys for the prosecution will make any statement on the subject, court attaches believe the prosecution "put one over" on the defense, when no objection was made to the exhaustive cross-examination for Lockwood.

The State merely asked him about conversations with Franklin and Capt. Fredericks. Rogers then interrogated the witness as to all the events leading up to Franklin's arrest. Now that the defense has introduced on its own initiative testimony that the State experienced some difficulty in developing at the previous trial, the doors are opened wide.

Franklin has already testified that Darrow gave him a $1000 check, part of which was to be an advance payment to Juror Bain. He has also stated that Darrow gave him $4000 for the bribery of Lockwood.

John R. Harrington of Chicago will swear that Darrow told him he would have to "reach" several jurors, as the evidence against J. B. McNamara was over-wheiming; that on the day of Franklin's arrest, Darrow made several ejaculations which indicated a guilty state of mind; and that Darrow made numerous admissions to him in a conversation held at the Hayward.

Ford said yesterday that the trial will be concluded in a much shorter time than the first, but that the new development makes it certain that several weeks more will be consumed.

With Rogers out of the case, Poers will undoubtedly take leading role in the interrogation of witnesses for the defense.

WIFE ON HIS TRAIL.

Undertakes Personally to Find Her Husband, Who She Believes Is Angling Somewhere.

Mrs. William F. Scholle has personally undertaken the task of finding her husband, who mysteriously disappeared Thursday afternoon, presumably with several thousand dollars in his possession. In an auto, the wife started up the coast to visit all the seaside cities and resorts in the hope that she will get trace of him.

Scholle was a fishing enthusiast. The wife thinks that after he left her at Sixth and Hill streets, he was stricken with temporary aberration of mind, attacks of which he was subject to, and that he will be found in some seaside resort amusing himself angling.

Scholle was a wealthy retired Iowa farmer who came to Los Angeles about twelve years ago. Recently he and his wife lived at the Hotel Arthur. Several years ago he fell, sustaining a fracture of the skull. Since then, so Mrs. Scholle said, he has been periodically stricken with brain affections, which rendered him irresponsible for his actions.

Making Valuable By-Products From Worthless Fruit.

Inspector Bailey, above, and Inspector Wilson, at work in the local laboratory of the Bureau of Chemistry, U. S. Department of Agriculture. They are practically and experimentally manufacturing citric acid, lime citrate and lemon oil out of frozen and culled lemons and oranges. Bailey is handling the oil and juice separator, and Wilson is working over a broth of crushed frozen lemons to determine the concentration of oil.

TO TAKE BITE OUT OF FROST

Government Experts Plan to Utilize Fruits.

Useful By-Product's Likely to Be Formulated.

Success Means Millions to Southern Ranchmen.

In a small frame building at 143 South Anderson street, the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, is now in a commercial demonstration of the utilization of lemon culls and other citrus fruits in the making of citric acid, lime citrate and citric oil.

As it is this bureau that under the regime of Dr. Wiley became known as the "pure food department," it is interesting to contemplate what happens should "cheap honey" with a wrong label on one of the bureau's products. In this case the bureau would be both violator and prosecutor, for citric acid is the most important ingredient in most of the "phoney" lemon extracts of commerce, while the lemon flavor is so familiar to the housewife that the addition of alcohol into which a little lemon oil has been introduced.

When this bureau agents recently held up sundry citrus shipments on the ground that the fruit was in bad condition and therefore unfit for consumption, the citrus growers protested. It was this protest that led the bureau to establish a laboratory for the investigation of citrus by-products. In other words, the bureau said that, having decided that certain fruit was unmarketable it would show the growers how to utilize this fruit.

HOPPER YAWN.

The past year the lemon harvest, the fruit under investigation, tons of oranges were received every day and they will go into the mill at once. Some months ago a lot of oranges was crushed and the juice went into cold storage to demonstrate the keeping qualities. Immediately following the frosts frozen oranges were also crushed and tried out, with the result that investigators believe that the oil of frozen oranges for use in orange oil and juice may be used in cheap perfumes and flavors practicable.

C. P. Wilson and H. S. Bailey are in charge of the experiments. They have not yet entirely satisfied themselves of the commercial value of their experiments. They can say, however, that four pounds of lemon oil, worth $1 a pound, and 100 pounds of lime citrate, worth 10 cents a pound, can be made from a ton of lemons, making a total of $9.65 from a ton of fruit that in the ordinary course of events has no commercial value.

Two dollars would produce, it is the cost of extraction for a ton, but is the expectation of the investigators, however, that eventually the cost of extraction of lemon oil and lime citrate from a ton will be doubled. If this can be done there is very little room to doubt that citrus by-products will be commercially practicable.

LENGTHY PROCESS.

This is the third and the most important of the bureau's commercial plants, having been in existence but a year. It is estimated that it will take two or three years to finish the experiments. The other two commercial plants, the winery at Stanford University and the cannery in San Jose, have been in existence for two or three years.

Since the local experiments have become generally known, Wilson and Bailey have been the hosts to an ever-increasing throng, largely composed of those who see a chance to get rich quick. The idly curious are not encouraged in evidence, but few can visit the experimental plant without passing a word with the workers.

Lemons, many of them badly bruised, showing unmistakable evidences of frost, go into a hopper and are conveyed by an endless chain of buckets to the crusher. Here they are reduced to a pulp, then run through a machine into a cream separator, which is designed to skim the oil from the pulp. The oil is subjected to a refining process, while the juice goes through a simple liming process from which emerges as a flaky substance known as lime citrate. Sulphuric acid is then mixed with the lime citrate to produce citric acid, whose principal use is as the main ingredient in citrus soft drinks.

The arrival of a vinegar expert this week will add a new chapter to the experiments and California may soon have orange vinegar may come to be a commercial product to be reckoned with.

It is the hope of the bureau that a simple and economical method of making citrus by-products may be evolved. At present the only profit from frozen fruit has an oil that foretells many long days of destructive experiments to accomplish anything. If this can be done the future profits will be more or less certain.

At the present time it is estimated that 10 per cent. of California's annual crop never reaches the consumer, but is dead waste. In other words, the loss of 10 per cent. can be made into a valuable commercial products the returns would be heavy.

FASHION SHOW POSTERS.

Exhibit This Year Better Than Ever—Many Artists of Distinction Contributing Specimens.

The entries in the coming fashion show poster exhibit promise to exceed in number those of last autumn, and more than 100 posters were received at the office of the Association of Retail Dry Goods Merchants, No. 813 Broadway Central building, yesterday afternoon. A few more posters will probably arrive this morning and the Committee on Awards will meet early next week, reserving their decision, however, until after the public has seen the posters.

The general exhibition will be held in Blanchard Art Gallery February 17, 18 and 19, and the opening day, a private view will be held, from 2 until 5 o'clock, only for the exhibitors, the members of the association and their friends, and newspaper art critics.

Many artists of distinction will show their work in connection with this competition and the work of the jury of awards will not be light, since there are already on hand a number of posters of superior worth.

A noticeable fact in connection with the contest this year is that it has aroused general interest among the art schools and the drawing classes of the public and private schools of the city and a group of gifted young pupils of Cumnock Hall, under the instruction of Miss Leta Horlocker, submitted about a half-dozen color designs of genuine interest, while from the public schools have come many others. Miss Ruth Asher, one of the youngest of the contestants, is but 12 years old and had waited at school only long enough to be promoted from the B class of the eighth grade to the A class, before coming down to submit her poster, which is a dainty study in blue and white.

Among other novelties which were submitted yesterday in this contest were two photographic studies made by Miss Bess Buehrmann, a member of the photo-secession school, who is introducing the camera into poster work with signal success. Miss Buehrmann is but recently from Paris, where her pictures have won enviable recognition in the famous salons.

Many of the illustrators from the daily papers and designers from commercial art shops have also contributed to the show, which promises to be one of the most interesting events in the art history of the city.

THREE STATE PICNICS.

The North Dakota Association of Southern California will hold a picnic at Sycamore Grove on next Saturday, and will serve coffee free to all wearers of the association badge between the hours of 12 and 1:30 o'clock. The Nebraska Society will meet at the same time and place and announces that a good programme has been prepared. The Wisconsin Association will hold its picnic in Sycamore Grove on Wednesday, at which officers will be elected and a permanent organization formed.

MAKES NO DEFENSE.

The case against Billy Gerald, the alleged smuggler on trial in the United States District Court, closed unexpectedly Friday without evidence for the defense. The afternoon was occupied with the argument, and the jury will be charged Monday morning. The technical defense was presented by Gerald that it had not been shown that the Chinese caught at San Clemente Island were being brought illegally into the country. It was expected that Gerald would go on the stand in his own behalf, but he did not.

WOMEN'S NEW ORGANIZATION.

A new organization has been formed to be known as the Women's Legislative Council of California. It held its first executive meeting in San Francisco on February 3. It is mothered by the California Federation of Women's Clubs which also opened the other day at the State capital in Hotel Sacramento, a women's legislative headquarters which will be, during the Legislative session, the center of all the work done by women from all organizations.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Representation in the Council.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I desire to register my approval of the effort being made to submit a charter amendment, if an election is to be held, providing for a representative government in the Council.

I have had occasion recently to meet a large number of people in North Wilshire and East Hollywood district and know they are vigorously opposed to present representation at large and certainly are not in favor of a little more of it in the way of a commission form of city government.

R. J. GOEPPINGER.

Mexico not Ready for Democracy.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] For temperament and education, President Madero is a liberal ruler, a man of broad mind and high ideals.

His political creed is love, equality and liberty for all his fellow men.

But some of the Mexicans do not seem to appreciate this fact, or in other words, are not yet ready for the blessings of a pure democracy.

In his platform, President Madero assured freedom of speech and press alike, up to the present he has fulfilled his promise.

And yet the Mexican newspapers have been abusive in this liberty with insolent editorials against the First Magistrate of the nation, with the publication of sensational and malevolent news.

Congress, deaf and dumb, under Porfirio Diaz's dictatorial regime, today raises its head in uproarious vociferation, clogging with puerile transitations the machinery of the government.

For the first time in Mexican history, Madero has brought to life the dead constitution of 1857. Yes dead and buried for fifty years or more. Has this resurrection opened the eyes of the people to the light of reason and peace?

We earnestly hope so; otherwise Mexico runs the danger of disappearing as a nation off the map of the American continent.

Repeatedly has the question been put to me by the people of this city and tourists alike, what is the matter with the Mexican people, they did not want Diaz, they put up their choice of man for election, he is in power. What do they want now?

American Styles for American Women

Perhaps more than the styles of any other nation, American styles partake of an international character. True, the basic features of the attire of all women who aspire to be fashionable must be the same, whether the wearer be French, English, German, Italian or American. Repeated means of communication and frequent intercourse between nations have made this essential. But in the development of dress American dealers have taken the lead. In France the woman of moderate means cannot be well dressed. In England the same is true. In every foreign country you will find these conditions existing. In America alone, the woman of moderate means, even if she pays but $15 for her suit, finds in it the same style features that characterize the suit of her sister who pays $75 to $150. The material may not be as rich, the trimmings may be less elaborate, the finish may be less excellent, but the style features remain indelibly impressed upon the garment. And it is garments of this sort, moderately priced, embodying every desired style feature, in which the New York Store specializes.

New Suits—Two Spring Special Values, $19.50, $25

The chief characteristic of the new spring suit styles is, perhaps, the fact that they are, beyond all, fancy. It is almost imperative that they have some draped effects. It is almost equally imperative that their color combinations be vivid, sharply contrasting, prominent. The new Turkish and Bulgarian shades are being seen not only in the trimmings on the suits, but in the materials themselves. Such colors as sulphur, cerise, Persian red and the brighter blues are being used extensively. The coats, for the most part, remain on the cutaway order, slightly shorter, cut on straighter lines, many of them slashed at the hips. The new Norfolk designs are popular. The skirts carry the draped effect to such an extent that in many instances they appear to be almost wrapped around the figure.

In Cloth $25 Up

In the dresses the draped effects are taking even more prominence. They are giving to the entire figure line the natural or Oriental grace, they are shown with greater fullness evident between the hip and the knee, they are rather simple, although decidedly rich, and the richness of the material will invariably make up for the simplicity of the design. The sleeves are full length for the early part of the season and will be three-quarter for summer.

In street dresses the popular fabrics will be Crepe de Chine, Meteor, Cotton Crepe, Ottoman Silk, Moire, Faille, Brocade, Messaline, Eponge and Serge. The colors refined, with dashes of brilliancy in the trimmings and with buttons and girdles showing high colors. For dressier affairs, of course, the lingeries and fine silks remain the leaders.

Coats That Accurately Mirror France's New Fancies

Priced $15 to $55

The Spring vogue in France of dark grays, seal browns, shades of tan, and strongly contrasting stripes, is being repeated in this country, and is evidenced in the stock of new coats that we are showing. High novelty colors, too,—yellows, greens, purples, first developed abroad, are reflected in the new merchandise on display. Modified cutaway effects are popular, seven-eighths lengths seem to be the rule. Odd cut seams, belting effects in the backs, and brilliantly colored collars and cuffs, are strongly in evidence, and will mark the well-dressed, up-to-date woman. In no season have the coat styles shown more originality, or greater beauty. Draped effects in coats and wraps will be the leading style feature.

New Tailored Hats $10 to $20; Dressier Models to $40

A combination of simplicity and richness rules the hat styles as well as the coat and suit creations. Ribbons are being used for trimmings, in the brilliant Oriental colorings, so popular this season, and turbans seem to be the chosen hat shape. They are made small, with upturned brims, or may be had in the longer shapes. Hemp and Milan straws figure most prominently in the exclusive styles, and the soft draped crowns of satin, crepe de chine or maline, especially maline, will win you with the grace of their lines and the general adaptability of the styles in which they are used. Upright trimmings hold sway again, posed so as to spring out from the top of the crown, or posed directly in the front or in the back.

Monday! Lingerie Waists $3.75; Marquisette, $7.50

These new waists embody all of the style features which can be found in the Eastern fashion centers. In the lingerie waists, those with white lace are strongly favored, with a suggestion of color in the trimmings. Semi-tailored styles and shirt styles are also meeting with wide appreciation. In the two waist specials that we offer for tomorrow the sleeves are either three-quarter or full length, as you prefer. The models the very latest that have been evolved, showing the long shoulder line Spring has brought forth.

"Peace" is so carefully guarded that no one may say positively that anything untoward is afoot. For public consumption it is announced that the building is acquired from Angelo R. Viagliano, a wealthy Italian, with offices at No. 222 North Spring street, at a monthly rental of $100 with option to buy within a year, the rental paid to apply upon the purchase price. Viagliano asked $60,000 for the property, it is said, but finally placed the option at $10,000 less. The ostensible responsible party of the second part is the recently-arrived man from Spain, J. F. Moncaleona, with whom the name of one Carmona of Los Angeles, and the alleged father-in-law of Enrique Magon, is associated as a possible principal.

Andrew Francisco of the Pacific Coast Casualty Company wrote a $20,000 fire insurance policy on the building, which is to be used, he says, as a sort of a community house by Mexican residents. Several classes will be taught according to the plan outlined by him, and the plant will serve to bring the members of the race into closer touch and relationship, and to carry on a campaign of education. "It may be the civil end of the revolutionary propaganda," said Francisco, "but I do not think there is to be any militarism practiced."

This is practically the expression of all the local men concerned who could be reached yesterday, but who are unanimous in a desire to avoid publicity.

Mexican Consul Baz is detained at his home by illness. It was stated at the consulate in the Lankershim building that the accredited Mexican representatives know nothing of the contemplated change of revolutionary headquarters to this city.

One at Yale and Alpine streets where formerly children romped in blissful ignorance of their dependency now saw and hammer and scrubbing brushes are in evidence, and there is much coming and going, and much whispering and mystery, and for all else but a shrug and a "quien sabe."

This is the old Los Angeles Orphans' Home at Yale and Alpine streets, which has recently changed hands and is being remodeled, according to apparently authoritative information, as headquarters for the Mexican revolutionists. like a lighthouse, and visible for many miles will be the gate tower controlling the waters as they swirl along so that they may be diverted to the San Fernando reservoir or carried by to the other storage places, there to be held against any possibility of a lean year.

The water used for the hydraulic work comes through a 15,000-foot fourteen-inch pipe line laid from the aqueduct proper. It originates in the Soledad Canyon and about 800 inches are used daily for the pumps and the thorough soaking of the earth being moved. First the dirt is loosened by charges of powder, a carload of which is used every month and the "back fire" of water is then permitted to run into the disintegrated particles of sandy loam. Then when the hydraulic streams are turned on from in front there is not much left for that particular hill to do but move out. It is a marvel of modern engineering achievement.

Chief Engineer Mulholland reiterated his statement made before the Ad Club a few days ago that the aqueduct will be ready for a test within a few weeks. When the chief returns from a final tour of inspection over the entire course he will be in a position to announce the exact date. He proposes to turn 20,000 inches of water into the big concrete ditch, or about its full carrying capacity. The water will be run into the upper reservoirs and then there is nothing to do but await the completion of the connecting link between the tunnel which pokes its way out of the Saugus hills and marks the end of the aqueduct proper, and the city mains. Standing at this point the water sprite emerging after his journey from mountain fastness over desert and through long tunnels carved from solid rock may well wave his wand in the face of nature and proclaim himself monarch of all he surveys, for from the tunnel eminence one of the loveliest views in all Southern California is unveiled through the sun-kissed mist of a midwinter day.

Like a panorama tinted to the admiration of the most captious artist the San Fernando Valley with its orchards, its ranches and its charming homes and busy towns is spread out before the enchanted gaze, only awaiting the magic touch of the life-giving aqua pura to bring it into still greater life and beauty; to make two blades grow where before but one sprouted.

Off yonder through a crotch in the hills is a glint as though nature in her prodigality had dropped a precious stone in the way. It is the site of the Fernando reservoir where a valley is being converted into a lake, and still farther away stretches a vista of miles merging finally into a horizon beyond which one realizes a great metropolis pulsates with life and eagerly awaits the coming of that which is to enable it to go to greater and better achievement.

At the point where the aqueduct ends there is a sheer drop of about 100 feet and it is here it is proposed to locate one of the largest power houses turning the falling waters into energy wherewith to move the wheels of commerce and industry.

It is the plan of the adherents of the Graham high line to grab the city's water as it comes from this tunnel, twenty-five miles beyond the jurisdiction of the courageous people who have built the wonderful monument to civic possibilities, and against the advice of these who can foresee the future. These schemers would divert the water in a conduit to cost from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000,

INSANE STRANGER.

VISALIA, Feb. 8.—G. W. Neal, of whom nothing is known but his name, was today committed to the Stockton Hospital for the Insane after he had been adjudged mentally incompetent by county alienists. Neal was arrested by Sheriff Collins after he had entered the home of J. W. Spaulding in the Goshen district about midnight and drove Spaulding and his son out into the chill winds of a Goshen evening. Neal is a strapping fellow and when the Spauldings awoke to find the intruder in their home the visitor stood in a careless position with one hand on his hip and he invited the owners to leave. They left, and in abbreviated costumes visited the home of a neighbor where they sent a hurry call for the Sheriff. When the officers arrived Neal was found peacefully snoring in the bed which the elder Spaulding had just vacated.

LECTURE ON ADVERTISING.

A lecture, the seventeenth of a course of twenty-six, was delivered Friday night at the Y.M.C.A. by O. W. Leonard to the members of the Y.M. C.A. Advertising Club. Leonard took as his subject "The Advertising Manager of the Exclusive Retail Store." He was well received, being recognized as one of the expert advertising managers in the city. He is connected with one of the large retail shoe houses.

built by the people of Los Angeles, far beyond the ken of the city, to the use and benefit of communities east of the San Gabriel River and which are unlikely to ever become a part of the metropolis.

An accompanying picture illustrates what this would mean. The water will be taken at the tunnel's mouth before it can be used in the generation of power and the city thus sustain a double loss; first, in the alienation of the water itself and, second, in the loss of thousands of horse power which the city will be able to develop at this point so close to the base of demand that it will mean cheap electrical energy for every citizen.

It is a great thing Los Angeles and William Mulholland have done and are doing, and now on the eve of its fruition, and in tribute to those few drops of sparkling "first-water diamonds" in that little pool where valley grips the hand of mountain far from the strife and bustle of city streets, send up the message by sunbeam express that the pioneer atoms from Owens River may call back through tunnel, and conduit, and desert to their billions of fellows awaiting the word:

HORRID BURGLARS.

Burglars who forced an entrance Friday night into the millinery establishment of Mrs. Mildred Williams, No. 115 East Twelfth street, evidently did not like the way she trims hats, for six of her creations were found yesterday morning in the alley in the rear of her shop, torn to shreds. Bits of lace and trimmings and fancy feathers were scattered about. The frames were bent and twisted. Mrs. Williams's loss is about $100, she says.

"SPITE BRIDE" IN TOILS.

Is Arrested As "Delinquent Person." Companion Also Is Jailed—Has Wayward Career.

Mrs. Helen Thayer, 19 years old, known as "the spite bride" because she married Thayer on the spur of the moment three years ago "to get even" with her father, L. B. Shelton, No. 778 East Thirty-eighth street, is under arrest at the Central Police Station, booked as a "delinquent person." Benjamin Hess, who was arrested with Mrs. Thayer, occupies another cell.

The couple were arrested at No. 218 South Main street, where Mrs. Thayer has been living since she returned to Los Angeles from Denver about two months ago. The arrest was made at the instigation of Humane Officer McLaughlin.

Formal charges may be preferred against Mrs. Thayer and Hess tomorrow or Tuesday.

Mrs. Thayer was only 15 years old when she was married. She lived with her husband about a week, then went to Denver and other cities, where she worked in stores.

About four weeks ago Mrs. Thayer tried to commit suicide by swallowing bichloride tablets. She said she was despondent because she had failed to secure assistance from her father.

Hess was with Mrs. Thayer a few minutes before she swallowed the poison. She had waited all day for a telephone message from her father. Hess said she sent him to a drug-store to get some cough medicine. When he returned she was semi-conscious.

The girl said yesterday she and Hess would have left the city several weeks ago had not Hess lost all his money in a business venture.

BANANAS ARE CHEAP.

Consumption Is Large in City but Supply Good Because of Lighter Eastern Demand.

About 1,300,000 bananas are consumed some weeks in Los Angeles and vicinity judging by receipts, dealers say. Twenty or thirty cars are brought in almost every week, and the competition between two large shipping concerns is rather keen. Consequently prices are very low.

At this season of the year the demand in the East is at its minimum, and the fruit does not bring a good price. As a consequence a larger quantity is shipped to the Pacific Coast. A dealer who visited New Orleans recently said that bananas sold as low as two bunches for 5 cents there.

The market will not advance locally until the advent of warmer weather in the East, which will probably not be until some time next month.

FINDS REAL BONANZA.

Sneak Thief Steals Quantity of Gold Nuggets and Jewelry From Woman's Apartment.

No prospector of the days of the Yukon gold craze panned more nuggets in less time than did the sneak thief who ransacked the apartment of Mrs. M. L. Ferguson, No. 2419 Ocean View avenue, Friday night.

When he left, his pockets must have bulged with nuggets and small bottles filled with virgin gold, and diamond-studded jewelry, for he took with him, Mrs. Ferguson yesterday reported to the police, a set of diamond earrings, a large diamond ring, a diamond crescent locket, three solid gold neck chains, a bracelet made of gold nuggets, a gold-nugget brooch, a box containing forty large and small nuggets and four bottles filled with virgin Alaskan gold.

The thief gained an entrance into the apartment with a pass key during the absence of Mrs. Ferguson.

MAYBE SHE'S GOING YET.

Young Woman Escapes From City Jail by Rope and Quickly Outdistances Pursuers.

Amelia Gonzales, 20 years old, escaped from the matron's quarters at the Central Police Station yesterday by lowering herself, hand over hand, down thirty-five feet of half-inch rope from the roof. She landed on the roof of a one-story building, climbed on a porch, ran down a short flight of stairs, quickly divested herself of a blue skirt, ran across the street and disappeared in the Pacific Electric Hill-street tunnel. Although followed by several patrolmen, the young woman escaped.

A month ago she was arrested on a vagrancy charge. About two weeks ago she assaulted Patrolwoman Nellie Tarball. The girl's vagrancy sentence expired Friday, when she was returned for ninety days by Police Judge Chambers for having struck Mrs. Tarball. The young woman was sent to the roof with a trusty to get some laundry. In the attic she found a coil of rope left there by painters. She sent the trusty to the matron's quarters on a subterfuge, tied one end of the rope around a vent pipe, and escaped.

STOPS TOBACCO HABIT.

Elders's Sanitarium, located at 978 Main st., St. Joseph, Mo., has published a book showing the deadly effect of the tobacco habit, and how it can be stopped in three to five days.

As they are distributing this book free, anyone wanting a copy should send their name and address at once. —[Advertisement.

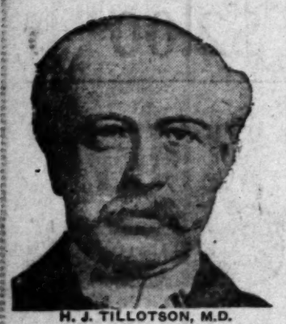
Piles, Fistula, Fissures and Hernia



H. J. TILLOTSON, M.D.
(Established 31 Years.)

I publish my photograph, personally conduct my office. I am the longest established, most successful and reliable, as medical credentials and press records prove. I possess skill and experience acquired in such a way that no other can share. Experience is the safe standard by which judgment should be valued.

NO MONEY REQUIRED TO COMMENCE TREATMENT. Many patients have no confidence in their doctor because he demands pay before a cure has been effected, and there are many who have been misinformed about their condition, or through unsuccessful treatment have become skeptical and think there is no cure for them. I want an opportunity to treat such cases. It makes no difference about the financial part, as I accept pay for my services as benefits are derived, when I am satisfied the patient is reliable. I will prove my ability to cure you before asking pay for my services.

Most Time Saving, Most Natural, Most Safe, No Detention from Occupation, Family or Home. A Radical and Permanent Cure.

I invite you to come to my office. I will explain my treatment for Hernia, Piles, Fistula, Varicose Veins, Pelvic, Nervous, Blood, Kidney, Bladder and Rectal Diseases.

Piles, Fistula, Rectal Diseases.

These diseases are very common; most frequently found in persons of middle or advanced age; are exceedingly annoying, often very painful, and sometimes very dangerous, and frequently unfit one for pleasure or occupation. My treatment and successes are the result of years of experience; my treatment is kindly applied. I cure Piles without cutting. If I do not cure your Piles, Fistula and other Rectal Diseases, my treatment does not cost you anything. Gentleness in treatment comes from treating many cases. I guarantee a cure of Piles, Fistula, Ulcers and all curable Rectal Diseases.

Trusses Seldom Cure Rupture.

Disregard for existing Hernias has cost many lives. The smallest hernias are the most dangerous, because of the increased liability to strangulation. I am aware that a great deal of fraud has been practiced in connection with the alleged cure of rupture. I say positively that I cure rupture, to stay cured. I cure with perfect safety, and entail no suffering, and do not detain you from occupation.

Written Guarantee

Dr. Tillotson's written guarantee means a cure or no pay for services. I guarantee to cure certain diseases or refund every dollar you have paid me. My services cost you nothing unless I cure your Varicose Veins, Hernia, Piles, Fissures, Fistula or any disease I guarantee to cure. My terms are reasonable and no more than you are willing and able to pay.

SAYS DISBARMENT FINAL.

Superior Court Judge Can't "Reinstate" Attorney Ousted From Profession by Official Process.

In the judgment of Dist.-Atty. Fredericks, when an attorney is once disbarred, he cannot be restored to practice by any motion of a judge, but must apply for admission as do attorneys coming from other States.

"When the Supreme Court affirmed the disbarment of W. J. Danford, that definitely removed the attorney from the list of lawyers practicing in this State,' said Capt. Fredericks. "To gain admission once more, it seems to me that Danford must present credentials of good moral character and either take a bar examination or else be admitted on motion. With the criminal record back of the man, I do not believe he will be allowed to practice in this State, at least where he is known."

There is a mass of evidence concerning Danford's career in Chicago in possession of the District Attorney. After being disbarred for accepting fees from a woman when by no possibility he could appear for her in the Federal Court, he was convicted and sentenced to three years in San Quentin for forging a telegram. He is now out on parole.

THE FARMER PAINTER.

A. Montgomery, the farmer painter, who is sometimes called the "Evangelist of Art," is about to retire to his 100-acre farm in the northern part of the State, and prior to leaving the city is giving an illustration of how he works with the brush. He appeared in one of the large windows at Barker Bros., on Broadway, yesterday afternoon, painting for the pleasure of the crowd standing outside, and also showing a number of his pictures. He will be there every day next week.

RHEUMATISM

Syracuse Manufacturer Will Send Free Treatment to Any Man or Woman Who Suffers from Rheumatism.

Scores Claim This Free Treatment Has Cured Them.

Give me a chance to see if I cannot cure your rheumatism without massage, vapor baths, severe diet restrictions or other harsh and ineffective treatment.

Don't shut your eyes and say "Impossible," but put me to the test.

You may have tried everything you ever heard of and spent your good money right and left without effect just as I did. For thirty-six years I suffered with Rheumatism and spent over twenty thousand dollars in vain attempts to be cured. Finally I discovered my Rheumatic Conqueror which I know cured my rheumatism and made it possible for me to be at my desk day in and day out, while before that I was confined to my bed and suffered the terrible tortures of this dread disease.

Now that my rheumatism has vanished, I say, "Let me prove my claims without expense to you."

Let me send you, without charge, a trial treatment of my Rheumatic Conqueror. I am willing to take the chance and surely the test will tell.

So send me your name and the trial treatment will be sent you at once sealed in a plain envelope.

When I send you this I will write you fully and show that my Rheumatism Conqueror should not only banish the poison of rheumatism from the system, but be beneficial to your general health in other ways.

The number of trial treatments which I shall send to readers of this paper is limited and it will be necessary for you to cut off the coupon and pin it to your letter. Give your name and address plainly. This special offer will not be held open indefinitely. It will be necessary for you to make your application immediately. As soon as my discovery becomes better known in Los Angeles and vicinity I shall cease sending free treatments and shall then charge a price for my Rheumatism Conqueror which will be in proportion to its good value.

So take advantage of this offer before it is too late. Remember the test will cost you absolutely nothing. S. T. Delano, 1611 Delano Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y.

Suspicious.

YOUTH'S DEATH LOOKS QUEER.

IMPORTANT FEDERAD WITNESS WILL NEVER TESTIFY.

Stepson of Munsey, Convicted and Sentenced Structural Ironworker, Killed in Salt Lake City—Alleged "Accident" Stirs Government Detectives to Investigate.

Alfred Goodrich, 16-year-old stepson of J. E. Munsey, now in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, awaiting the result of his appeal and that of about thirty other high labor-union officers, will never testify in any of the conspiracy cases now pending in the United States District Court in Los Angeles.

He was killed sometime ago in Salt Lake City, being struck on the head by a brick, which fell or was thrown from a building. The boy was held as a witness in this city during the Fedral grand jury investigation which resulted in the indictment of Tveitmoe, Johannsen, Munsey and Clancy for alleged criminal conspiracy to illegally transport dynamite.

The boy knew that J. B. McNamara stopped with his father for several weeks under the name of James Brice and that his step-father was deep in the unlawful conspiracies that were partially brought to light in the recent trial at Indianapolis.

Even though the city authorities at Salt Lake have not made any extended investigation, it is intimated that the Federal officers will inquire into the circumstances of the lad's death.

The facts are that he was struck by a brick as he passed a building on which labor-union men were working and that he was about fifteen feet from the building at the time.

Experiments with heavy objects let fall from buildings show, say government secret service men, that the fall is almost directly down and that under no circumstances would a brick alight on a person walking fourteen or fifteen feet away from the walls, if the brick fell accidentally.

The mysterious death seals the lips of the boy, who was regarded as a dangerous witness from the labor-union point of view. Munsey is trying to get out of jail on bonds and his criminal career in Salt Lake is being looked up by secret service agents. They have discovered among other things that he led a double life and was known in some circles as "Jack Bright."

Federal officers here regard Munsey as one of the most dangerous of the labor union leaders who were sentenced by Federal Judge Anderson to a term of years in the government penitentiary.

THEY'RE ALL MASONS.

Smuggler and Smugglees Appear to Have Good Understanding. Problem for Jury.

"Are you a Mason?"

The query apparently stood William Gerald, smuggler, in good stead during his trial before United States District Judge Wellborn.

Gerald is a Chinese Mason, as were the three contrabands captured on San Clemente Island July 4 last, where they had been landed by Gerald, after being chased by the Three C's, a fast Federal launch under command of Inspector Conklin.

When the Chinese were brought before Inspector Miller the day following, they recognized a photograph of Gerald as the man who had taken them ashore.

Gerald was captured and made a "trusty" at the County Jail, where he had many opportunities to talk to the Chinese. When they appeared as witnesses against him, they appeared to have forgotten all about the occurrence so far as Gerald was concerned. They recalled that Harry Lloyd had participated in the trip from Ensenada, but could not recollect having ever seen Gerald.

Miller says most of the smugglers are Chinese Masons. Many of the men smuggled are also allied with the organization, and it is one of their first articles of faith to look after the interests of a friend.

A jury will decide Gerald's fate Tuesday.

CHEAP RUBBER NOT OF TREES.

Chemist Discovers Formula for Artificial Kind.

May Revolutionize Industry Long Since Strained.

Wonderful Possibilities in Local Man's Work.

BY MARSHALL D. TAYLOR.

Synthetic rubber, elastic, durable, non-poisonous and cheap—that is what the world appears destined soon to use. Prof. G. A. Bobrick in his laboratory on Garey street, this city, has discovered a secret process whereby rubber can be manufactured artificially at small cost.

The new commodity promises to be cheaper and in every way as satisfactory as the natural product now being tapped from Ceara, Heva, and castilloa trees.

Prof. Bobrick has been diligently at work for two years in experimenting with certain vegetable substances, that can be procurred in any market, and at last is ready to announce success.

Having analyzed the component parts of natural rubber, he set himself the gigantic task of discovering the chemicals which would come nearest to the compositions found in natural latex.

It was just like trying to open a safe, the combination of which was a mystery. Chemicals had to be found that would come nearest to the conditions of natural rubber in its elements. Having found these chemicals which could serve as a base, it was necessary to select certain other chemicals, having a greater and lesser affinity for the excess elements in the chemical base which comes nearest to natural rubber, so as to extract or deduct the excess of deficiency in certain elements.

MEETS WITH SUCCESS.

This Prof. Bobrick has done and has perfected his wonderful discovery, according to his statement [illegible].

Synthetic rubber will cost from 20 to 25 cents a pound, or less than one-quarter the price now asked for the most highly-inflated article.

The chemical properties of natural rubber are entirely dependent upon climatic conditions. Synthetic rubber, being of a chemical composition, is in no way be affected by weather conditions.

The chemical analysis of pure, unvulcanized rubber is carbon, 87.27 per cent; hydrogen, 12.73 per cent. Exposed for any length of time to sun, heat or rain, it deteriorates and will show the following analysis: Carbon, 78.35; hydrogen, 10.34; oxygen, 11.31. Synthetic rubber cannot deteriorate, because it is not dependent upon climatic conditions.

The machinery and apparatus necessary for the manufacture of Prof. Bobrick's article is exceedingly simple and inexpensive. The only outlay will have to be borne by manufacturers of rubber tires, shoes, raincoats and all mackintosh goods, which require delicate and elaborate machinery.

Prof. Bobrick believes the time is not far away when automobile manufacturers will have to use synthetic rubber as a base for their tires and other articles in which rubber is used, as the supply of the natural article will not meet the demand.

FEW HOURS' WORK.

Trees of the natural order (Ficus elastica) require at least four or five years from date of planting before they attain any great commercial value. Synthetic rubber can be manufactured in a few hours. No large drying sheds are required. The services of an adequate labor force to plant, cultivate and tap the rubber trees does not affect the artificial article. There will be no need of destroying vast tracts of virgin forest in tropical regions. Rubber in sufficient quantities to meet the requirements of the whole world will soon be manufactured here in Los Angeles.

A new discovery seems bound to revolutionize the rubber industry. It is said only moderate means will be required to purchase an automobile tire, without having recourse to mortgaging their house and lot. There is also a way of crumbling to dust or getting punctured on the road. Strain or inequality in the road will be a thing of the past.

Synthetic rubber is more durable, more elastic, cheaper, is odorless, and in every way more satisfactory, than the natural latex which forms the basis of our present rubber supply.

Prof. Bobrick's discovery is past the experimental stage. Already patents have been applied for covering every article. Samples have been sent out to manufacturers in the East who are showing terms of the new Synthetic Rubber sponges, suitable for baths and for private use, have been made from his synthetic rubber; clothing has been strengthened with it, balls and erasers have been made resilient and waterproof; rubber tires and are said to be of excellent quality.

GREAT POSSIBILITIES.

Synthetic rubber blends well with the natural product, the future possibilities of this new find are legion. Crude rubber, unless vulcanized, becomes sticky and deteriorate when subjected to an appreciably high temperature. Synthetic rubber will withstand a greater percentage of heat without cracking or becoming sticky.

The present output of rubber is approximately 340,000 tons a year. Of this Brazil produces nearly one-half. Cultivation has extended to India, Ceylon, Java, Hawaii, Mexico and the Straits Settlements. Prof. Bobrick's synthetic rubber will affect the future industry to the extent of companies engaged in the rubber trade throughout the world.

To extract it requires one coolie to every three acres under cultivation to [illegible] the latex. The latex is first [illegible] set out in pans, as milk [illegible] takes from three to four [illegible] biscuits are then [illegible] and spread on cocoa-[illegible] the drying sheds for [illegible] until they are fit to be [illegible] commercial purposes.

Prof. Bobrick was born at Kieff, [illegible] and graduated from the Institute of Technology, St. Petersburg. For years he has devoted [illegible] chemistry. He is the inventor of the Idiabatic process for

CHEAP RUBBER NOT OF TREES.

Chemist Discovers Formula for Artificial Kind.

May Revolutionize Industry Long Since Strained.

Wonderful Possibilities in Local Man's Work.

BY MARSHALL D. TAYLOR.

Synthetic rubber, elastic, durable, waterproof and cheap—that is what the world appears destined soon to get, Prof. G. A. Bobrick in his laboratory on Garey street, this city, has discovered a secret process whereby rubber can be manufactured readily at small cost.

The new commodity promises to be welcomed and in every way as satisfactory as the natural product now being imported from Ceara, Heva, and other trees.

Prof. Bobrick has been diligently at work for two years in experimenting with certain vegetable substances, which can be procurred in any market, and he is ready to announce success.

After having analyzed the component parts of natural rubber, he set himself the gigantic task of discovering the chemicals which would come nearest to the compositions found in the rubber tree.

"It was just like trying to open a safe to which the combination of which was lost," he said. "Chemicals had to be found that would come nearest to the elements of natural rubber in its purest form. Having found these chemicals which could serve as a base, it was necessary to select certain other chemicals, having a greater and lesser affinity for the excess elements of the chemical base which comes nearest to natural rubber, so as to neutralize or deduct the excess of definite certain elements.

EXPERIMENTS WITH SUCCESS.

"Prof. Bobrick has done and has perfected his wonderful discovery according to his statement

"Synthetic rubber will cost from 20 cents a pound, or less than one-fourth the price now asked for the highly-inflated article.

"The chemical properties of natural rubber are entirely dependent upon climatic conditions. Synthetic rubber, being of a chemical composition, is in no way be affected by weather conditions.

"The chemical analysis of pure, uncontaminated rubber is carbon, 87.27 per cent; hydrogen, 12.73 per cent. Exposed to the ordinary length of time to sun, rain, etc., it deteriorates and will show the following analysis: Carbon, 88.13; hydrogen, 10.34; oxygen, 1.53. Synthetic rubber cannot deteriorate, because it is not dependent upon climatic conditions.

"The machinery and apparatus necessary for the manufacture of Professor Bobrick's article is exceedingly simple and inexpensive. The only charge that will have to be borne by consumers of rubber tires, shoes, hose and all mackintosh goods, will be the more delicate and elaborate process.

"Professor Bobrick believes the time is not far away when automobile manufacturers will have to use synthetic rubber as a base for their tires and other articles in which rubber is used, as the supply of the natural article will not meet the demand.

TEN HOURS' WORK.

"Members of the natural order (Ficus elastica) require at least four or five years from date of planting before they attain any great commercial size. Synthetic rubber can be produced in a few hours. No large tracts of land are required. The plant needs adequate labor force to cultivate and tap the rubber trees. This does not affect the artificial article. There will be no need to destroy vast tracts of virgin forest in tropical regions. Rubber in sufficient quantities to meet the requirements of the whole world will soon be manufactured here in Los Angeles.

"The discovery seems bound to revolutionize the rubber industry. Under only moderate means will be able to purchase an automobile without having recourse to mortgaging home and lot. Tires that will be a way of crumbling to pieces, punctured on the road, or inequality in the roads a thing of the past.

"Synthetic rubber is more durable, cheaper, is odorless, and in every more satisfactory, than the latex which forms the basis of our present rubber supply. Professor Bobrick's discovery is past the experimental stage. Already patents have been applied for covering every country of importance have been sent out to capitalists in the East who have written for terms of the new rubber sponges, suitable for automobiles and for private use, have been made from his synthetic rubber; the latter has been strengthened so that it is almost and waterproof; and erasers have been made and are said to be of excellent quality.

FUTURE POSSIBILITIES.

"Synthetic rubber blends well with the natural product, the future possibilities of this new find are legion. Once vulcanized, it will not deteriorate when subjected to unusually high temperature. Synthetic rubber will withstand high percentages of heat without cracking or becoming brittle.

"The output of rubber is approximately 50,000 tons a year. Of this Brazil produces nearly one-half. Cultivation has extended to Java, Hawaii, Ceylon and the Straits Settlements. Professor Bobrick's synthetic rubber will be the future industry of companies engaged in trade throughout the world.

"Rubber requires one coolie to cultivate and gather the cups and scrape out the latex. The latex is first poured out in pans, as milk is, until it coagulates. Then it is rolled from three to four times, and the biscuits are then hung and spread on cocoanut matting sheds for drying. When they are fit to be used for commercial purposes.

"Professor Bobrick was born at Kieff, Russia, graduated from the Institute of Technology at St. Petersburg, Russia, where he has devoted his time to chemistry. He is the inventor of a new electrolytic process for making and distilling liquid air into oxygen and nitrogen.

Modest and pleasing in manner, this noted chemist has worked out the details of his latest discovery alone and unaided. One of his most treasured exhibits is the original crucible in which he first found "color" and ultimately solved the riddle of manufacturing synthetic rubber.

POLITICAL TIPS.

The determination of the Democrats in the Senate to prevent the confirmation of any appointments President Taft may make before the expiration of his term, may return to plague the incoming administration if the Republicans choose to act in the similar manner on the passage of some distinctively Democratic measures. The Constitution fixes the term of a President, and Mr. Taft will therefore be President until March 4, and the refusal to confirm his appointments is therefore an attempt to defeat the Constitution, which they are by their oath of office bound to uphold. Senatorial courtesy seems to have been entirely laid aside in the attempt to satisfy the tremendous demand for patronage.

The New York Sun holds Senator O'Gorman up to the light, and shows how different was his position and decision as a jurist compared with his present opinion as a politician. The occasion was Senator O'Gorman's reply to Senator Root's argument for arbitration of the question of Panama Canal tolls. The Democratic position as enunciated by Senator O'Gorman is that those members of the party "who favor a repeal of the toll free provision must wait for the solemn declaration of another Democratic convention." "Did more extraordinary language ever proceed from the mouth of a statesman, a lawyer, a judge with eighteen years experience on the bench?" asks the Sun.

Vice-President Marshall and his family will live simply during their residence in Washington, because he is not financially able to do otherwise. They have moreover no taste for the social whirl and were they able would under no circumstances care for following the social pace set by Vice-President Fairbanks or by the late Vice-President Sherman. Either doubtless spent $50,000 or more a year maintaining an expensive establishment in Washington.

[New York Journal of Commerce:] "Mr. Wilson's most recent magazine article hardly betters the feeling that already prevailed with reference to his position toward existing institutions. His vague denunciations and generalizations are alarming, especially when unaccompanied by constructive suggestions regarding the changes thought to be needful in national government. This is the same defect already noted in recent speeches by the President-elect. The time for it passed with the closing of the campaign. In justice to Mr. Wilson it must be added that this series of magazine articles was probably written some time ago and may have been deferred until now, owing to the exigencies of publication or to a desire to 'feature' the work of the incoming President."

Senators La Follette, Poindexter and Bristow, though training under the Progressive banner, are practically Democrats. The other day when an attempt was made to secure an executive session of the Senate for the consideration of some of President Taft's appointments, these three men voted with the Democrats and therefore prevented any confirmations. La Follette, in particular, may be expecting something from the incoming administration as Gov. Wilson frequently complimented him during the campaign, and also in a recent speech to the members of the New Jersey Senate.

With the Democratic inaugural parade headed by a donkey, a pack of hounds accompanying a mounted brass band from Virginia, and a large delegation of suffragettes, the inauguration of President-elect Wilson will certainly be without a parallel for distinctive features.

The Washington Post in commenting upon the election of Dr. Harry Lane of Portland, Or., to the Senate, says maybe the Oregon voters wrought better than they knew when they choose a doctor for their representative in the United States Senate. In the rush that will be made upon the Senate for patronage the professional services of Dr. Lane may be needed, is evidently the unexpressed belief of the Post.

The Progressive party in Essex county, New Jersey, left $5000 of unpaid campaign bills, and the creditors propose to bring suit to determine who is responsible for them.

Senator Francis E. Warren, who has just been re-elected to the United States Senate after a hard and protracted fight, is perhaps the richest man in Wyoming. Because of his capacity for business he has been kept at the head of the Committee on Appropriations. He will, however, lose his chairmanship in the next Congress, as the Democrats will demand the position for a man of their own political faith.

Until the recent election of Willard Saulsbury as United States Senator from Delaware Democratic control of the Senate was rather precarious. Now the Wilson administration will have a majority of two. Contests will exist in the Legislatures of New Hampshire, West Virginia, Illinois, with a total of four Senators to be elected about whose political affiliations doubt now exists. A victory in any one of these States would so materially strengthen the Democratic party that the Senate would be completely removed from the element of uncertainty.

A dispatch from Miami, Fla., Mr. Bryan's winter home, says Mr. Bryan has given positive assurance that he will accept the portfolio of Secretary of State in the Wilson Cabinet. Mr. Bryan has always been positive about accepting things coming his way, but has sometimes failed of election. Nevertheless, his statement may be followed by success this time.

The President-elect's brother is in evidence at the present time. He has been trying to get elected secretary of the Senate, but Senator Tillman of South Carolina has been marshaling forces against him and believes he has accomplished his defeat.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the suffragette, had the experience of her life while addressing a meeting at Danielson, Ct., last week. "Just a minute," said John Frisbie, a respectable farmer, when Dr. Shaw was in the midst of one of her best oratorical efforts. "I have been a widower eighteen years. Will you marry me and make me happy?"

Dr. Shaw for a moment was rendered speechless, but she soon regained her composure. She looked at the stranger full in the face, and with all the determination she could command, said sternly:

"I don't want a wedding ring. What I want is votes."

The incident broke up the meeting, as well as Dr. Shaw's temper.

Senator John N. Heiskell of Arkansas, who succeeded the late Senator Jeff Davis on January 9, has now been succeeded by a man regularly elected by the Legislature. During his twenty-two days of service Mr. Heiskell says he has been spending his time in "learning what rights, privileges, prerogatives and immunities a man has who has been a member of the Senate. After this service of twenty-two days, I am going home to spend the rest of my life writing my reminiscences." He believes there is Senatorial glory enough to go around if you keep it moving fast enough.

William L. Saunders, who has just been elected president of the new $70,000,000 International Harvester Corporation, formed under the laws of New Jersey to take over all the foreign properties of the International Harvester Company, says Gov. Wilson's seven trust bills would have his heartiest support. He called them the seven business commandments rather than the "seven sisters" as Gov. Wilson has referred to them.

Some people would be ungenerous enough to regard with suspicion any fulsome praise of legislation for the control of such trusts as the International Harvester.

HE SEEMS ECCENTRIC.

Man Who Promised to Take "Gold Cure" Says He's Restrained from Keeping His Word.

The petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Effingham Lawrence, in the County Jail on the charge that he impersonated a Federal official, apparently will have hard sledding when it comes up for hearing before Judge Wellborn tomorrow.

The petition recites that Lawrence is illegally restrained by the Federal authorities, making it impossible for him to carry out his agreement with Superior Judge Willis, who, after sentencing Lawrence to San Quentin for five years, suspended judgment on condition that he be at once taken to a sanatorium for the cure of inebriates.

An examination of the records shows that Judge Willis did not sentence Lawrence to San Quentin or any prison, but he did suspend any sentence for five years on condition that Lawrence behave himself; and it was agreed that Lawrence would be taken to some cure for drunkenness.

Lawrence pretended to be a deputy United States Marshal, and contracted a large automobile bill with a Hill-street garage. Joy rides were his favorite diversion. He would stop the machine in front of the Federal Building, alight and make quick tour of the halls, rejoin the chauffeur, and hurry away. Occasionally he would discharge a revolver and nearly scare his companion to death, excusing his action by saying that as a United States Marshal it was necessary for him to be able to handle his gun quickly, and he was merely practicing.

CONCERNING KITCHENETTE.

Woman Carries Fight Against Burnett Tenement House Act to Court of Appeal—Illegal?

The Chief of Police was served with a writ of habeas corpus yesterday directing him to produce Mrs. Emma W. Stoltenburg before the District Court of Appeal at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in proceedings instituted by her several months ago, in which she attacks the validity and constitutionality of the Burnett Tenement House Act. The woman contends that that section of the act which regulates the area and size of the windows and doors of a kitchenette is illegal.

Mrs. Stoltenberg is prosecuted by the Board of Health. She was arrested almost a year ago during the construction by her of a large apartment-house on Flower street. In the Police Court the city showed that the kitchenettes were not in conformity with the provisions of the Burnett act. Mrs. Stoltenberg was found guilty, whereupon she applied for a writ of habeas corpus in appeal to the Superior Court. In refusing the writ that court upheld the constitutionality of the act. The case was remanded to the Police Court.

In appealing to the District Court of Appeals, Mrs. Stoltenberg resorted to a writ of habeas corpus a second time, on this occasion it being directed toward the Chief.

AGAINST TUFTS.

The District Court of Appeal has affirmed the judgment of Judge Cabaniss of the Superior Court in the suit against Gorham Tufts, Jr., found guilty of having secured money under false pretenses. Tufts asked a new trial.

SUBMIT CHARTER AMENDMENTS

When the subject of proposed charter amendments goes before the City Council next Tuesday it is probably that a majority of the Council will vote to submit to the people at the earliest possible date the amendments proposed by the Municipal Charter Conference and the Charter Committee. The amendments proposed by Capt. A. N. Millner will be presented at this session of the Council, but some of the Councilmen will take the stand that only such amendments presented with the indorsement of some organization created for the purpose of promoting such amendments should be considered. They declare that the presentation of proposed amendments by individuals would open the way to confusion and that such should have been presented before one or other of the committees that have been working on this line.

PLAYGROUND CONGRESS.

Directors of the public playgrounds of Los Angeles are to be given leaves of absence to attend the Pacific Coast Playground and Recreation Congress to be held in San Francisco, February 25 to 28 inclusive. It is probable that an attempt will be made to bring the next session of the congress to Los Angeles. The principal speakers at the San Francisco congress will be E. B. DeGroot, secretary of the Chicago Playground and Recreation League; Edward W. Stitt, district superintendent of schools of New York City and superintendent of evening recreation centers; Miss Elisabeth Burchenel, expert in physical training for girls in the schools of New York City, and Joseph H. Manns, noted Irish story teller and writer. There will be a demonstration of organized play by children in San Francisco and Oakland playgrounds, etc.

Pertinent Question.

[New York Tribune:] Lord Charles Beresford, the English aristocrat, Craig Biddle, the Philadelphian, holds that the blood of a great family is better than that of a great family—that one life is worth more than five hundred. Mr. Biddle, in the smoking room of the Adriatic, was expounding his views to a young Englishman.

"I," the young Englishman said complacently, "I can trace my descent back in an unbroken line to William the Conqueror."

"And what else can you do?" asked Mr. Biddle.

GLIMPSES OF SAN FRANCISCO.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—A reverend gentleman from the East said that this was a pagan city. It took him twenty-four hours to find it out. If he stays here a year there is no telling what he would call us. It might hurt the feelings of the divine if he heard what the town called him.

The last word has not been said about tunnels. Judge Seawell decided that J. A. Cooper, a property owner, must pay an assessment for the Stockton-street bore. The victim is going to appeal and as he happens to be a smart lawyer it will not cost him much to fight the case to a finish. We do not need tunnels as there is plenty of vacant land easy of access. Time and money ought to be devoted to giving the suburbs water and street railways.

The Mardi Gras ball was a social success. Society men and women got their pictures in the newspapers. There was dignified dancing before midnight and ragging in the early hours. It was all for sweet charity, but there are plenty of queer things done under the mantle that covers a multitude of sins.

It is the solemn period of Lent and there is a semi-reverential hue over matters mundane. Officially society is resting but unofficially there is plenty doing. The dance halls and theaters are doing a splendid business. None of our 3000 saloons have closed up from lack of patronage.

Anent saloons it may be that we will have to bid them a sad farewell if Senator Butler of Los Angeels has his way. He has drafted a law to put them out of business. He will allow hotels and restaurants to serve drinks, men, or women either, can drink in their own homes and they can give away all they please to their friends, but they must not sell the stuff. The Barbary Coast does not think highly of Mr. Butler.

Our grand jury will not have a woman on it. Seventeen women have been named for the inquisitorial body in an adjoining county. Men who beat their wives or refuse to be good providers had better walk a chalk line if they would avoid punishment.

It is not with unmixed pleasure that taxpayers learn how expensive our police force is. It is next to Chicago and New York as the most expensive in the country. The cost is $3.48 per capita. The average citizen fully approves the [illegible] Civil Service Commission that police men must do police duty and not clerical, mechanical or janitorial work. It might be a good thing for them to occasionally catch a criminal.

The ladies of the California Club have started a class in dancing. The stately steps alone will be taught. The members are no longer young and frisky, so ragging is strictly prohibited. This rule might lose the attraction a few of the younger set, but it will gain prestige in other directions.

FLUTE.

BABY BACQ TO MAMA.

Judge Wilbur Finds the Mother of Little Josefa Was Victim of Brutality and Returns the Child.

Baby Josefa Martinez, whose attractive picture appeared in The Times on Wednesday morning as she had been transformed by five cups of milk, is now happy with her mother in the Truelove Home. The mother, as she lay in the County Jail, constantly pleaded for her "baby" and the child, at the home of the woman who had kindly given her temporary shelter, cried constantly for her mama. It was found, to the satisfaction of Judge Wilbur, that the mother was not a drunkard but had probably been beaten to insensibility by the man with whom she was living, though she could not be induced to utter a word against him. Her body was found to be covered with horrible bruises, evidently made by the toe of a boot.

On Friday the judge ordered the baby returned to her and both [illegible] in the Truelove Home. The meeting is described as one of the most pathetic ever witnessed by those who come in contact with them [illegible] every day. The baby at first sight of its mother opened its arms and lisped her name; the mother fell upon her knees and the baby toddled to her and clasped her about the neck.

MUTE FROM BURNS?

Children Terribly Injured by Explosion of Gasoline Stove Will Recover but May Not Speak.

Norma and Norman Kennard, the 12-year-old daughter and 10-year-old son of Mrs. Helen M. Kennard, [illegible] 800 West One Hundred and Eighth street, who were terribly burned Thursday afternoon by the explosion of a gasoline stove, and who were without medical attention for two hours because a neighbor refused to permit the mother to use her telephone to summon a doctor, may become mutes as a result of having inhaled the flames that blistered their faces, heads and hands.

At the County Hospital it was announced yesterday that the little girl have entirely lost the use of her vocal chords. The general physical condition of the children is reported to be much improved. The operation of the boy is especially successful. Norma, who was burned [illegible] more severely, has not shown as much recuperative ability as Norman. Unless unforeseen complications arise the hospital surgeons believe both children will recover rapidly, but may never speak again.

HER SERVICE ENDED.

Miss Mina Crawford, a clerk in the Reclamation Service at the Post Building, died after one month's illness at her home at Ninth street and Westlake avenue, Friday night. Miss Crawford was in the Reclamation Service in Washington for several years and was transferred here at her request about six months ago.

To Cure Corns, Callouses Bunions and Aching Feet

The following is absolutely the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for fully fifteen minutes gently rubbing the sore parts." The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly, the feet feel delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smelly and aching feet. Especially effective for frost-bites and chilblains. A twenty-five cent box of Calocide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calocide compound in stock or he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. Published by Medical Formula Laboratories of Chicago.—[Advertisement.

—Conditions Resolve This Sale Into the Simple Question of Selling the Goods and Getting the Money Absolutely Without Regard to or Consideration of Former Cost or Selling Prices—A Carnival of Bargains

The Most Astounding, Most Amazing Event of Its Kind Ever Chronicled or Put in Print—One of the Greatest Coat Stocks in America SACRIFICED

For the first time since being in business in Los Angeles the "Goodyear Coat Store" has been up against a backward season to such an extent that the store is literally crammed to the doors with practically the entire stock of this winter season's coats for men, women and children. This state of affairs demands immediate and drastic action. These coats must be sold, no matter the price we get for them. The fact that the coats involved comprise the styles and materials most needed at the present time, makes not the slightest difference, the prices have been cut and slashed unmercifully, and with the single idea in mind, of getting rid of the largest number of coats with the least possible delay. There are "Priestley" cravenettes for men and women, also waterproof Gabardines and slipons, finest novelty fabric coats of every description for women, and a selection of auto coats in every style second to none in the country. Misses', Juniors', Girls' and Boys' coats of every kind included. If you had the run of the best known coat factories in the country and the privilege of their lowest prices, you could not, in any single instance purchase coats for anything like the little money you will have to pay during this unprecedented forced sale of fine "Goodyear" coats.

And his dream of wealth[illegible] came true.

When Stearns arrived on these [illegible] shores in 1829, he found prevalent the [illegible] indolence that marked the famed land [illegible] of the Lotus Eaters. With the excep[illegible] tion of a few enterprising rancheros, [illegible] the Mexican inhabitants were pos[illegible] sessed with the spirit of "manana." [illegible] Only about half a dozen American [illegible] pioneers had preceded Stearns Joseph [illegible] Chapman, John Temple and a few [illegible] other brave spirits had made their [illegible] homes here.

Founds Famous Baker Estate in Litigation Here.

Back of the $7,000,000 De Baker estate, now in litigation, is a man standing on a street corner in Los Angeles selling molasses from a barrel. It was this humble way that Abel Stearns, Mrs. Baker's first husband and founder of the fortune, began a remarkable business career.

Beginning with the purchase of the Alamitos rancho for $6000 Stearns, in the next twenty-five years became the owner of about 200,000 acres, and was rated as the wealthiest man in Southern California. He had money invested in a score of enterprises.

In his later years, various honors came to Stearns. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1849 and later of the State Legislature.

Always shrewd, Stearns was tricky in the petty transactions of his youth as a trader, but honorable in the large operations of later years. He was quick-tempered, hospitable, a good friend and a kind husband. His lavish gifts to his wife were the talk of California.

Stearns died in San Francisco in 1872, at the age of 71 years, without children and leaving his immense fortune to his wife, who a few years later married Col. R. S. Baker. Mrs. Baker outlived her second husband and died intestate, September 15, 1912. There are now about thirty-five claimants for the estate, valued at $7,000,000. LIQUOR FLOWING THE WRONG WAY.

POLICE SMASH SPIGOTS WITH LEGAL BUNG-STARTER.

So-Called "Wineries" Raided and Arrests Made at Half Dozen Places. Other Suspected Establishments Get the Tip and Are Closed When Officers Call.

The tip that members of the Metropolitan Squad are making raids upon illicit wineries flourishing in the city spread with such rapidity throughout the east side yesterday that when the officers visited a dozen suspected places, they found them closed and the proprietors nowhere to be found.

Meanwhile, however, six alleged wineries were raided, large quantities of liquors confiscated and the proprietors haled into court on complaints charging them with conducting wineries in buildings in which there is no wine-making machinery. That is a violation of the city liquor law, and punishable by a fine or imprisonment, or both.

J. Castex, who conducted such an establishment at No. 1767 North Main street, when arraigned before Police Judge Chambers pleaded guilty and was fined $100 or one hundred days in jail. He paid his fine.

The following men, alleged proprietors, when arraigned before the justice, pleaded not guilty and demanded a court trial, which was set for the 14th inst: Louis De Georre, No. 2202 East Ninth street; M. Salvator, No. 1364 Channing street; F. Moreno, No. 1520 East Ninth street; Leonard Bonano, No. 1546 East Twelfth street; and Louis Posti, No. 433 South Handcock street.

Under a provision of the local liquor ordinance, breweries and wineries are permitted to dispense liquors in the same buildings where manufactured without securing a retail or wholesale liquor license. It is alleged by the prosecution that the proprietors of the establishments raided were conducting veritable blind pigs. The assertion is made that the proprietors purchased their liquors from wholesalers, and under an alluring sign, "winery," dispensed the same in bulk and in retail without licenses.

STAPLES ON DOWN GRADE.

Butter and Eggs Are Expected to Decline Henceforth—Rain Improves Conditions.

Solace is afforded to the housewife for the unusually high butter prices of the past week or so, by the prospect of a gradual decline henceforth. A big decline in eggs is also expected as soon as the weather clears; the downward movement will probably be much more rapid than in the case of the butter market. There may of course be occasional reactions but the general tendency is downward.

Butter prices reached the high level which prevailed mainly because of the shortage of green feed in the dairying sections, and the new growth which will commence as soon as the weather clears will make for an increasing supply. Butter touched the highest point in six years owing to the unusual conditions.

The price of butter to the trade still hovers around 40 cents a pound, although a decline of 3 cents occurred during the past week. Last year the price remained at 40 cents until February 15, and was down to 37½ cents by March 1. It seems likely that there will be a further falling off this year before the fifteenth, however.

The supply of fresh eggs has increased remarkably during the past few weeks, and dealers are anticipating receipts of about 1000 cases a day in the near future, which would be just about sufficient to supply the needs of the city. It is predicted that the spring buying price will probably go as lo was 18 cents a dozen, which means a rate to the trade of about 22 cents a dozen.

COMING TO ASSIST.

United States District Judge Rudkin of Spokane will be here the first week in March to assist Judge Wellborn. This will make necessary postponement of the hearing of Ambrosio Apapas, charged with the murder of Indian Superintendent William H. Stanley, set for the 19th inst. The Washington judge will remain on the bench here for thirty days at least. Among the cases he will hear will be one against the Cleveland Oil Company, whose officers are charged with having used the mails in a scheme to defraud.

LOW SUGAR PRICES.

Sweet Stuff Is Cheaper Than in Six Years—Market Has Steadied Considerably.

Although meat continues to advance and butter is selling high, sugar prices to the retail trade have reached the lowest level since 1907, there having been a decline of about 30 cents a hundred during the last few weeks. The market seems temporarily to have steadied, and according to advices from one of the leading brokerage firms, late reports from the East give the market a rather upward tendency.

Material changes in the condition of the market are not expected until the exact nature of the changes to be made in the tariff are known. The decline is due principally to the large crops in all sections of the world.

POPULAR NIGHT SCHOOL.

The night school being conducted at the Los Angeles High School will begin its second term tomorrow. Though it began after the other schools had opened, the enrollment reached over 700 during the first term. Instructions are given in practically all branches, the men's gymnasium is available to students three nights a week and the women's gymnasium two nights a week. The library is open every evening. Pupils may enroll any night at the office of the principal in the Science building, the Science building.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS.

Caspar Whitney's book of South American travels is one of the important books of the year. It not only describes the country along the great rivers of South America, but the narrative of the advehtures of these almost explorers is most absorbing. There is a new volume of essays by William Butler Yeats. An important book for financiers and those interested in business, is Cleveland's "Railroad Finance," just published. It is a most thorough treatment of the subject. Mining men will be especially interested in a new book on prospecting. There is also a valuable handbook for housekeepers on cleaning and renovating at home.

The library has just made a new rule by which anyone who calls for a book of notification and finds it our may have it reserved free, and notice wil be sent him when the previous reader has returned it. Those who so desire, may send in by mail a list of books they would like to borrow and the library will be glad to reserve the books, sending notice when each is ready. Received last week:

Cleveland—Railroad Finance.
Earp—Social Engineer.
Devine—Social Forces.
Yeats—Cutting of an Agate.
Cox—Prospecting for Minerals.
Herbert—Abolition Crusade and Its Consequences.
Osman—Cleaning and Renovating at Home; a Household Manual.
Whitney—The Flowing Road; Adventuring on the Great Rivers of South America.
Cullimer—Elevator Shaft Construction; or, Practical Suggestions for the Installation of Electric Elevators in Buildings.
St. Ledger—Australian Socialism; an Historical Sketch of Its Origin and Developments.

500% On Your Money

SENSATIONAL as this figure seems, it is not only a possible percentage of interest to be yielded by the stock of this corporation, bought now—it is a positive probability.

Two machines whose utility is combined and exceeded in the Addograph, (the Typewriter and Adding Machine,) have for some time, and are now, each producing approximately this rate of interest on the stock purchased by original shareholders.

The Addograph takes the place of these machines,—does all and more than both of them can do—by electric power, automatically, in an absolutely new unrivaled way, more speedily, simply, easily—costs less than any other machine or device for the purpose—last longer and is more efficient and economical in every way.

It is, therefore, bound to at least EQUAL in sales one of the two machines whose utility it EXCEEDS. This is conservative. By every reasoning, it should outstrip them for its greater efficiency and lower price are bound to place it in preference over the less efficient and more exclusive machines.

A very limited number of shares of the capital stock of this concern are now offered to the public at $1.50 a share. The price is scheduled to advance to $1.75 at a very near date, and probably without notice.

A big, strong corporation, composed of prominent California citizens, is behind this business and the Addograph promises soon to become one of the foremost nationally-sold office machines.

Now, while the price is rock-bottom is the time to buy. It is going up rapidly and promises to carry all investors along to wealth.

The Addograph—

—writes 50 per cent. faster than any typewriter; relieves operator of most of work.

—does everything but touching keys—electrically, automatically; no shifting of carriage or escapement trouble.

—stroke of keys is regulated by automatic action—hard or light, for one copy or ten carbons; every letter clean and uniform.

—any number of keys may be pressed down at the same time without confliction.

—makes decimal tabulations anywhere on sheet going backward or forward, skipping as many columns as desired, and stopping only at points set for writing.

—subtracts or adds figures tabulated anywhere on page; any number of columns.

Display and Sale of the Famous Whittall Rugs

The Real Aristocrats of the Rug World—the Very Best

It is with a pardonable amount of pride that we announce having secured the agency for the celebrated Whittall rugs. Unquestionably the best domestic rug that money will buy. Rich and exclusive in design. Made from the very best materials, and finished in a most superior manner, and when quality is considered, the prices are most reasonable. We have a splendid range of sizes and patterns ready for your inspection.

Hale's
GOOD GOODS
341-343-345 S. BROADWAY
IN THE HEART OF THE SHOPPING DISTRICT.

In purchasing a Whittall rug you do not have to contend with the vexatious problems of harmony in color. Each rug is in itself the ground work of the color scheme that may be safely carried out in the complete furnishing of the room the rug is intended for. These rugs are developed to a point of excellency, rivalling the imported rug in fineness of weave, superiority of design, lasting color, and wearing qualities.

Anglo-Persian Rugs

The rival of the imported Orientals and the cynosure of all domestic rugs. A genuine three shoot Wilton made from carefully selected worsteds. These rugs are hand sewed, and we have them in the following sizes: 9x12, 8¼x10½, 9x9, 36x63 inches and 27x54 inches. Many of the designs in all the various sizes to match.

Royal Worcester Rugs

A worsted Wilton rug made from selected, lustrous, worsted yarns. In design, colorings, and sizes, to please the most fastidious, as well as the most practical. Unquestionably the best money value on the market. This is a three shot weave and we are showing these Royal Worcester in 9x12, 8¼x10½ feet, and 27x54 inches. Some in patterns to match.

Whittall Teprac Wilton Rugs

This is a moderate price Wilton rug in rich colorings and beautiful designs. A rug which is high class in every sense, but extremely moderate in price. They are up to the Whittall standard in point of beauty, finish and service. We are showing them in about a dozen different designs in the 9x12 and the 6x9-foot sizes.

Whittall Peerless Brussels Rugs

The Whittall Peerless Brussels rugs come in the choice selection of designs and a wide range of colorings. Soft, subdued tones that are so much in demand in Southern California. One of the most serviceable Brussels rugs that we know. Nearly a dozen different patterns in the 9x12, 8¼x10½, 9x9, 6x9, 6x7½ feet, and 27x54 inches. Many of them in all sizes to match.

S. Behrend Retires

High Rents the Cause

Mr. S. Behrend, who has been identified with the retail cloak and suit business in Los Angeles for the last seven or eight years, conducting in a very successful manner a garment shop at 719 South Broadway, was unable to renew his lease, which expired February 1st. He was unable to secure a Broadway location at anything like a reasonable figure, so decided to retire. We bought his stock at a mere fraction of its worth and will feature the Behrend stock in a special sale, offering the women of Los Angeles and vicinity some of the greatest values in coats, suits, dresses and waists ever given publicity by this or any other store in the South. The major portion of this stock is right up to the minute in point of style, the materials high-class and the workmanship far above the average. Mr. Behrend catered to an exclusive trade and carried a particularly fine line. Any garments that are out of date will be slaughtered most ruthlessly, as some of the prices quoted in this advertisement bear testimony.

Biggest Garment Bargain in Years

Behrend's $10 to $20 Lingerie Dresses $5

Lingerie dresses from the Behrend's stock—dainty styles in appropriate materials, such as mull, batiste and marquisette. Some richly trimmed in Bulgarian embroidery; others set off with macrame bands, Venice and Cluny laces, and many trimmed with medallions. Included in the collection are some of cream-colored serge. All good styles and an assortment of sizes in the lot. Dresses priced by Behrend at $10.00, $15.00 and $20.00. On sale at $5.00 each.

$25.00 to $30.00 Dresses and Costumes $10.00

Dresses, gowns and demi-costumes—messaline silks in cream, pink and light blue; some cut en traine. Low neck and draped shoulder. Others have high neck and handsome lace yoke. Charmeuse satin gowns in black and a variety of popular colors. Some with draped skirt. A few gowns of allover lace net and some of cream chiffon made over colored silk foundation. These are all recent styles. Behrend prices $20, $25 and $30. On sale at $10 each.

Fine $5.00 Silk Waists $2.95

Fine silk waists of good quality messaline in brown, navy blue, rose and black. Taffeta silk waists in black, light gray and navy. Some have vest of satin trimmed in crystal buttons, and Robespierre collar of colored satin. Others with round collar trimmed with lace and set off with lace jabot. Full length sleeves. A few brocaded satin waists in the lot. Good $5.00 values. On sale at $2.95.

$3.50 Wh. Waists $1.50

Some Large Sizes . . . .

Fine lingerie waists of mull or batiste; high neck and long sleeves; prettily trimmed with Valenciennes or Cluny lace. Some set off with embroidery medallions. All sizes in the lot, including extra large sizes up to 48. Values up to $3.50. Sale price, $1.50.

Tailored Waists Values $1 to $1.25 . . . 89c

Tailored Waists of soisette in tan, cream or white. Also white corded pique, white linene, figured Madras and white linen. Some of colored striped shirting. A variety of good styles. Most of them with soft collars, watch pockets and tailored cuffs. All sizes. $1 and $1.25 values. Monday, 89c.

Up to $3.50 Net and Lace Waists for $1.23

Dressy Waists of point de esprit, round mesh, and other fancy nets. Some allover laces in beautiful designs. Some have satin collar and satin buttons. A few chiffon and messaline waists in the lot. Up-to-date styles. Values up to $3.50. On sale at $1.23.

ROUND-UP OF THE PLAYWRIGHTS.

BUNCH OF THEM NOW WORKING IN LOS ANGELES.

Some of Them Are Famous and Some Are Near-Famous—Louis Gottschalk and Frank Baum Are Big Leaguers; Others Are Venturing Out on the Difficult Road.

Of course no one would attempt to give a list of the dramatists in Los Angeles. The city directory is only an incomplete list of those writing plays. So many new ones are coming in that an appendix would have to be added to get them all in.

Those to be mentioned here include only those actually working at the job. They were rounded up to see the benefit to "Little Alma" and this remarkable photograph was taken in Mr. Eyton's office.

Paul Armstrong has since deserted the company and is now on his way East, to superintend the rehearsals of his play, "The Escape," in Chicago.

Mr. Armstrong is the strongest exponent of the "gun play drama" in America. With "Jimmy Valentine" and "Deep Purple," he may be said to have launched the real New York underworld into society. "The Escape" and "The Love Story of the Ages" are exploring a new vein for him.

He says that "The Love Story" is his favorite play.

"That," he says, "is the one I worked on longest. Its appeal has surprised me. The other night I came out of the theater behind two cowboys. One of them said to the other, 'I have had them feelings about having lived before when I have been riding the ranges at night when it was still and the cattle was milling around. This play kind of hits me.'"

Zella Covington is a Los Angeles boy who became an actor of small parts in one of the Morosco companies. He finally went to New York in search of broader opportunities and there the idea of the "Elixir of Life" hit him. He is giving up a number of vaudeville dates for the satisfaction of coming back home to act a part in his own play. The part he has chosen for himself is that of a man of 70 years. It will be seen for the first time at the Burbank a week from today.

Frank Baum and Louis Gottschalk, collaborators in the work of writing the "Tik Tok Man of Oz," are what the baseball fans call big leaguers. They are both men of established reputation and are stars of all the astronomical works of the theater.

Mr. Baum's "Wizard of Oz" was an epoch-making theatrical achievement. Both Mr. Gottschalk and Mr. Baum have purchased homes in Los Angeles and will probably do a great deal of their future work here. Like all men of real attainment, they are charming, simple and unassuming.

Hayden Talbot was formerly a newspaper man—a yellow journalist who reformed. He is one of the few men who deliberately quit a good job with the cold determination of becoming a dramatist and made good. His "Truth Wagon" was successful in New York. He has been living on Nat Goodwin's famous ranch in San Jacinto writing a play to be named "O Jee," the central character of which is said to be an old humorist—like Mark Twain. With Louis Gottschalk, he is collaborating on a musical play for Louise Gunning and Dick Bennett.

CRANE'S FIFTY YEARS OF STAGE.

DR. FREDERICK COOK LECTURES AT PANTAGES.

Karno's Wow Wows at the Empress—The Orpheum's New Show. "Mother" and the "Love Story" Will Go Over Each for Another Week.

William H. Crane will appear at the Mason Operahouse tomorrow night for the opening of a week of promise in that house, which will cover seven night performances and matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. The mid-week matinee will be at popular prices.

Mr. Crane comes West this season with his latest success, "The Senator Keeps House," a comedy of today in four acts, which was written especially for his usage by Martha Morton, who has five of the biggest hits in Mr. Crane's extensive repertoire to her credit.

The action of the comedy takes place in Washington, D. C., at the present, and reveals Mr. Crane once more in the role of a United States Senator, a part which he made the first distinct dramatic-political success in the history of the American stage about twenty years ago. In this instance Mr. Crane is coming back to his own, and at a happy period of his career, for the current tour marks the fiftieth year of consecutive service that this distinguished comedian has contributed to the American stage.

The new Crane comedy possesses those elements which you expect of this famous player. The theme is just tinged with politics, but in its broader reach is domestic in tone. Senator Larkin is having trouble with his servants and undertakes to run his own household. Of course, he fails. A woman is introduced to show him, as a mere man, what feminine knowledge of domestic science really amounts to. Her presence there is to further a land bill which Senator Larkin is opposed to. She succeeds in one direction and fails in another, and at the expense of her reputation, for it looks, on the face of it, as if she had tried to trick the Senator, but it is all straightened out satisfactorily and makes a clean-cut, wholesome performance, which has that charm and appeal that makes it entertaining.

Mr. Crane will be seen here in the same production and supported by the same clever company that appeared with him during his memorable run of four months at the Garrick Theater, New York City. In the cast will be found Mabel Burt, Zeffie Tilbury, Lorraine Frost, Marion Kerby, Jack Devereaux, Harry Harwood, Raymond Walburn, Charles Riegel and Bud Woodthorpe.

Manger to the Cross.

W. H. Clune will present at the Auditorimum Theater beginning Monday matinee, the famous biblical production, "From the Manger to the Cross," which, at its premier presentation before members of the clergy, the press and public officials, was declared to be one of the most sublimely inspiring and intensely gripping motion picture productions of the age. The engagement is for six days only, with daily matinees at 2:15 p.m., and evening performances at 8:15 o'clock. Ray Hastings, local organist, will furnish the incidental music and the singing numbers will be rendered by a local church choir.

The picture, containing over 5000 feet of film, represents all the principal events in the life of Christ, from the nativity to the crucifixion, and was produced entirely in the Holy Land, at the exact locations in Palestine and Egypt where Christ Himself appeared when the world's Christianity was in the making.

Months of endeavor and thousands of dollars were expended in securing an authentic picture.

Because the dress and manners of the present-day natives of the Holy Land differ very little from those of the Savior's age, and because much of the country is topographically the same today as it was 2000 years ago, the picture is a travelogue on Palestine and Egypt as well.

Orpheum.

Minnie Dupree, whose performances in "The Road to Yesterday" proclaimed her one of America's foremost actresses, will top the Orpheum bill opening Monday afternoon, February 10. Her second venture into vaudeville, she has been particularly fortunate in her vehicle—"The Man in Front," a comedy by Alfred Sutro, whose "The Walls of Jericho" was not needed to put him in the front rank of English dramatists. "The Man in Front" is the critic—hitherto escaped as a dramatic factor.

Broad comedy is provided in the new bill by Joe Morris and Charles Allen, known generally as "the comedians with the pipes." These two, in Hebraic make-up, sing, mostly parodies on late ditties.

The Chadwick trio returns after a long absence, in that funny act "For Sale—Wiggins Farm." Ida May, known as "the Hee-Haw girl," and the champion female buck and wing dancer, is one of the trio. With the eccentric rural comedy of the act for a set, and her own odd make-up, the girl is quite an oddity in stage history.

Wilson's comedy circus is notable for the fun its animals make, and for the unridable mule "Obey." The new bill also contains "The Eternal Waltz" in its final week. The Harvey family on the wire, and Merrill and Otto, "After the Shower." The music for the week is exceptionally fine, and the motion views complete the bill. Lily Langtry (Lady de Bathe) comes a week later in "The Test."

David Warfield.

There are many popular actors who grace the American stage, but there is scarcely another who combines more popularity with the charm of personality and the perfection of the acting as does David Warfield. He is the one great stage artist whom everybody sees and knows and loves. We are to have him at the Mason Operahouse beginning February 17, in "The Return of Peter Grimm," the new Belasco play which has created such a sensation among the critics for its extreme daring, its tremendous power, and the exquisite beauty and tenderness of its central character. As Peter Grimm, we have heard that David Warfield has accomplished the most artistic and impressive work of his career. His followers here—and that means all who love fine acting—are keen with expectancy.

Mr. Belasco is sending here the original company and production, unchanged. It will be the same as was seen all the year at the Belasco Theater. There will be many well-known names in the cast, including Janet Dunbar, the beautiful new actress whom Mr. Belasco discovered; Mrs. Marie Bates, who has been with Mr. Warfield for a long term of years; Marie Reichardt, a German actress whom Mr. Belasco also discovered; Thomas Meighan, Joseph Brennan, William Boag, John F. Webber, Tony Bevan and the wonderful boy actor, Percy Helton. Altogether, Mr. Warfield's company is looked upon as the strongest Mr. Belasco has ever sent on tour.

"One Hundred Years of Mormonism."

Hundreds of horses, oxen, Indians, "prairie schooners," mobs, and militia were used to tell these 100 years of history. Anyone seeing the wonderful film will realize that the cost was tremendous. Fifty thousand dollars were expended in the making. This is the only authentic story of Mormonism ever filmed, and shows Joseph Smith, the Mormon prophet, at the age of 6 months in his father's home at Sharon, in the State of Vermont, and from then on the story shows the early struggles of the Mormon faith, the effort of suppression by the neighbors and people of other religious beliefs, the driving of the Mormons from place to place, the burning of their villages and temples, the hardships endured on their pilgrimage West, the assassination of Joseph Smith in the jail at Carthage, Mo., the mobs made up as Indians to further terrorize the pilgrims, the recorded order of Gen. Lucas, who ordered the Mormons to be taken out and shot, and their final landing in the Great Salt Lake Valley after terrible winter hardships and practical starvation, and, the City of Salt Lake, as it stands today.

The pictures will be shown every afternoon and every night this week at the Majestic Theater, a popular scale of prices prevailing.

Dr. Cook at Pantages.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook at Pantages for one week, starting with Monday's matinee, will tell the story of his fifteen-months' wanderings over the Polar ice, in the course of which he reached the North Pole.

Whatever one's individual opinion regarding the Cook-Peary controversy, the doctor must be admitted a top-notcher in his class. If he reached the pole on the twenty-first of April, 1908, he is the hero of the most wonderful voyage since Columbus. If he did not, he stands unrivaled as the Colossus of liars. In

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY SYDNEY FORD.

THE leading soical event of the week in clubdom was the reception at the handsome new clubhouse which graces Avenue Fifty-seven, just off Pasadena avenue, and which is to be the future home of the Highland Park Ebell.

Literally all Highland Park—men and women—turned out en masse, the women in their loveliest gowns and the men in stunning evening dress, to do honor to the occasion. Many prominent clubs were represented and a large contingent representing college and church circles were present. The club officers, headed by the president, Miss Elizabeth Packard, insisted on giving the place of honor in the receiving line to the women who constituted the Building Committee: Mmes. Mary G. Osmond, Charles A. Hayward, A. A. Phillips, E. Y. Van Meter, C. I. Ritchey, Misses Martha Winans and Belle Beatty.

A delightful stringed orchestra of a dozen boys and girls from the Avenue Fifty-four school discoursed delightful music from the platform of the spacious auditorium throughout the evening as the throng came and xwent. Staid college professors, charming co-eds and students from the near-by college mingled with the happy crowd and congratulations, hearty and sincere, were paid by all the visitors to the club members and officials for the consummation of their efforts in the beautiful clubhouse which is an ornament to that end of town and a distinct addition to the many handsome public buildings in Los Angeles.

The capacious parlor, made cozy by a big, open fireplace in which the logs were blazing hospitably, is separated from the auditorium beyond by wide-opening accordion doors which permit of its being thrown into the auditorium and thereby greatly increasing its seating capacity of 500, or can be shut off by itself to cosily accommodate a smaller gathering.

On the second floor, where refreshments were served, is the dining-room which overlooks, by means of an open balcony, the auditorium below, and adjoining it is the kitchen—which is the pride of the club. It is simply immaculate—all done in white enamel—and a handsome gas range—a gift to the club, is already installed and ready to do its work.

The entertainment, "Just California," scheduled for Monday evening will benefit the clubhouse fund, for an indebtedness rests upon the building which the women are anxious to liquidate as soon as possible. The clubhouse will be formally turned over to its owners at the reciprocity meeting on the afternoon of February 25.

Memoirs of Great Writers.

In the absence of Mrs. W. S. Bartlett, who has gone on a journey to the Panama Canal zone, Mrs. Thomas B. Stowell, general curator of Ebell, presided over the books and conversation section last Thursday morning. The section met in the large class-room on the second floor of the clubhouse, but this proved so inadequate to accommodate the members of this popular department that, by popular vote, it was decided to hereafter meet in the large auditorium on the first floor.

The critical study of French memoirs—of Voltaire, of Victor Hugo and Alexandre Dumas, together with the secret memoires of the Princess Lamballe during her confidential relations with Marie Antoinette, formed the subjects under consideration—and very interesting they were as presented by Miss Mattie Wilson, secretary of Ebell; by Mrs. C. S. Ward, who dealt with Voltaire, who for sixty years dominated the world of French thought on practically every subject; by Miss Rockwell, who gave an interesting sketch of Dumas and his writings, and by Mmes. Holder and Millard, who touched briefly upon the wonderful work of Victor Hugo, in his great book, "Les Miserables."

Mrs. W. R. Mail was detailed to review the new books of the month, and, in harmony with the subject of the morning, she devoted herself mostly to French fiction, essays and plays, with a word for Chesterton's latest.

Mrs. Stowell, in the place of leader, interlarded these reviews with bright comments and remarks which added to the interest of the morning. At the close of the session the members adjourned to the dining-rooms below where luncheon was served from tables gay with red hearts synonymous with the approach of St. Valentine's Day. At the suggestion of Mrs. Holder, special recognition was given to the good taste and efficient work of Mrs. W. S. Cross, who had charge of the luncheon arrangements.

Ruskins Delve Into French History.

At the Wednesday meeting of the Ruskin Art Club, the thread of French history was resumed—the programme being in charge of Mrs. James Koyer. Mrs. G. L. Hutchinson told of the reign of Louis VI, of his education, his friendship with Suger and his long struggle with the Barons.

Miss Rose Smith gave a study of St. Bernard of Clairvaux, his character and career, and told also of Suger, Abbot of St. Denis, a noteworthy figure in the history of his time. Mrs. C. J. Beers dealt with the career of Louis VII, his marriage to Eleanor of Aquitaine and his connection with the futile and disastrous second crusade.

The Mellow Age of Maturity.

My dear young friend, if you are nearing—or have already passed—the sixtieth milestone of life, take courage, for you have just reached the period of greatest interest. According to the words of Dr. Rosalie Slaughter Morton, who recently addressed a gathering of advanced women, we just begin to really enjoy life at 50 and are happiest at 60.

"The time has passed," said this advocate of a mellow maturity, "when we think that a woman's life has ended at 35, and there is nothing more for her but to sit at the fire and dream. The older we grow, the stronger we are mentally and physically, and the woman of 60 is happier far than she was in the heyday of her youth. She has suffrage to interest her and to work for, clubs and trips to Europe, and cunning grandchildren to play with. In fact, she is just beginning to enjoy life when she is fifty, and at 60 she should be a walking smile."

Successful Suppers Served.

One of the interesting and successful features of women's work in the First Congregational Church, which was undertaken as an experiment and has proven highly satisfactory, is the serving of cafeteria suppers on prayermeeting night at 6 o'clock. Men as direct from their business offices to the parish house, where they are met by the members of their household and all enjoy a hot supper served under the auspices of the Women's Work Society of the church.

It has been found that this system works out splendidly in that it leaves no excuse for the business man to remain away from the mid-week service on the grounds that he is "too tired to go out again" after he has dined at home and sunk into his easy-chair for the evening. These church family suppers have grown very popular. There is time after supper for informal chat before the formal prayer service opens, which affords excellent opportunity for strangers to get acquainted.

Mrs. Florence McDowell, more than any other one woman, has contributed to the success of the scheme. She it is who plans and markets for the table and superintends the supper, being assisted each week by other members of the society. A considerable sum has been raised over and above expenses, to swell the funds of the women's society, beside offering a delightful social feature to the family life of the church.

Mrs. Florence McDowell,

Who superintends a most successful work ih the First Congregational Church.

Women in Christian Work.

Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of President-elect Wilson, presided at one of the meetings at the convention of the Y.W.C.A. national board held in New York recently, and did it in such a dignified manner and with such witty comment as to greatly please the audience.

Mrs. John S. Kennedy of New York has promised to give the Bible Society of that city $22,000 as soon as it raises $66,000. Of this sum Mrs. D. Willis James has already given $10,000, and a man has contributed $5000, so it will probably not be difficult to raise the entire amount.

Prof. Sanford Changes Subject.

Prof. Maria L. Sanford, who will be heard at the Friday Morning Club this week, has changed her subject from "Paris and the Louvre" to "Greek Art," which she considers her rarest subject—and this means a good deal, for every one of her addresses are certainly of rare goodness—therefore a genuine treat may be anticipated.

D. A. R. Choose Delegates.

Delegates and alternates to the Continental Congress to be held in Washington in April were elected at the meeting of the chapter last Tuesday, and include Mrs. F. P. Young, Vice-Regent; Mmes. Harrison Purdon, Stephen A. Rendall, E. T. Sheerer, Asa Stedman, Ira W. Phelps and Cullen E. Stanley.

The programme of Tuesday included a delightful reading of Clyde Fitch's play, "Barbara Freitchie, the Frederick Girl," by Mrs. Theodore Finley, whose interpretation was natural and winning. Mrs. Eugene E. Davis sang Lassen's "Red, Red Rose" and responded to an encore. Mrs. Richard W. Edwards, a visiting daughter from Iowa, addressed the chapter in behalf of Mrs. John Miller Horton for President-General of D.A.R. and heartily indorsed Mrs. Purdon for the State office for which she is a candidate.

Local Artists to Appear.

Two of Los Angeles' gifted native-born artists will appear at the Ebell Club tomorrow afternoon when Miss Gertrude Cohen, a pianist of rare temperamental charm, and Jaime Overton, a young violinist, just returned from a long course of study in Europe, will be heard. This programme has been arranged to show to the Ebell Club women something of the high degree of ability which lies in the artists of this immediate vicinity.

Mrs. E. W. Martindale, upon whom falls the burden of the programmes at the club this winter, is herself an accomplished musician and is quick to appreciate the development of native art.

Laurel Canyon Club.

The Laurel Canyon Woman's Club met Thursday with Mrs. D. M. Small as leader, the subject being the Panama Canal. Mrs. Jack Treher of Los Angeles added much to the programme by her singing. Mrs. F. M. Price and Mrs. C. S. Mann were elected delegates to attend the reciprocity meeting at Sierra Madre tomorrow.

Cosmos Club Programme.

Vernon Spencer will lecture before the Cosmos Club next Wednesday on "The Art of Music and Its Basic Limitations." On February 26 Mrs. Willoughby Rodman will give an address on "The Call of the City," and Frank L. Baum will tell the club how to write and produce plays at its first March meeting.

Seattle Club Women Guests.

Among the guests at the Friday Morning Club luncheon last week were four Seattle women representing the Seattle Federation of Women's Clubs, of which one of them, Mrs. William F. Fish, is the retiring president. The others were Mrs. C. C. Filson, Mrs. A. T. McCargar and Mrs. H. P. Fish.

In behalf of the North Coast clubs which these women represent, Mrs. William Fish, through the president of the Friday Morning Club, Mrs. McCan, expressed greetings and congratulations on the splendid achievements of the hostess club and extended a cordial invitation to its members to visit Seattle and its City Federation of Women's Clubs.

College Women's Club Busy.

At the February luncheon of the College Women's Club plans for a permanent clubhouse fund were discussed and it was voted to join the National Federation of College Women's Clubs, an organization effected in Chicago last July. An interesting civic programme on "Conditions in the Juvenile Court" was presented by Mrs. T. P. McCrea, Miss Evelyn Stoddart and Mrs. E. K. Foster.

On Friday the dramatic section, of which Miss Sybil Jones is chairman, met at the Y.W.C.A. when the short story in its relation to the drama was the topic of consideration with a discussion of the American short story and the college woman as she appears in the magazine. The following committee will receive one-act plays to consider for club presentation: Miss Margaret Phillipson, Mrs. Roger Sterrett, Miss Edith Everett and Miss Nina T. Updyke.

Next Friday afternoon the Home section, of which Mrs. [illegible] Ball is chairman, will meet at the Y.W.C.A. and a study of French [illegible] life will be made and "Le Barbier de Seville" will be read.

Next Saturday afternoon, at the same place, the music section, of which Miss Updyke is chairman, will meet. The programme will include studies of the operas to be given by the Chicago Grand Opera Company and will be illustrated by [illegible] records. "Natoma" and "Pelleas and Isolde" will be rendered by [illegible] Phillipson and Elsa Wagner, a song cycle will constitute [illegible] programme.

Harmonia Club's Work.

The Extension Committee of the Harmonia Club, of which [illegible] liam Duffield is chairman, has planned to give two concerts per week—one on Thursday morning at the County Hospital and the other at the Maternity Hospital. Those taking part will include Mrs. [illegible] mezzo-soprano; Miss Hazel [illegible] pianist; Miss Pauline Bas[illegible] Sadie Stanton, violinistes and Mrs. [illegible] J. Abramson, soprano. The [illegible] meeting of the club will be on Thursday afternoon and the study [illegible] stein'

Business Women's Civic Club.

The first social and musical [illegible] ing of the Business Women's Civic Club was held last Thursday evening at the Albermarle Apartments. The programme was in charge of Miss [illegible] Edith Wetherby, commissioner of recreation, assisted by Miss Frank Hugo, commissioner of [illegible] and included music, both vocal and instrumental, and games. Those participating were Misses [illegible] Wetherby, Mmes. [illegible] Evans, H. A. Beach, and Wetherby.

Next Thursday evening Miss Vesta Galpin will address the club at No. 533 Security building.

Club Woman Ill.

The friends of Mrs. Katherine Winter Nettleship, whose delightful lectures on Japanese art have pleased so many club women, will regret to learn that she is seriously ill at her home in Whittier and will be [illegible] her work for a two-months' rest.

The Club Woman on Religion.

The fact that the board of managers of the largest woman's club in the world, voluntarily selected from a large number of entertaining talent offered by an exceptionally talented lecturer, one on "The Beauties of the Bible," speaks emphatically for the religious attitude of that particular board of managers. The further fact that the entire audience—one of the largest yet assembled this season in any woman's club in Los Angeles—sat entranced throughout the remarkable delineation of the [illegible] the gifted woman who presented it, speaks volumes for the Los Angeles club woman who is popularly supposed to be thoroughly engrossed in civics, philanthropy, politics, [illegible] and fashion.

Said one of the members of the board to me, "We aim to give at least one programme every year of a religious nature and we thought the rare opportunity of listening to a gifted a speaker as Prof. Mark Hanford on this subject too great to be lost."

Can Compel Affection.

[New York Tribune:] Can a woman make a man love her? Yes, often she can if she lays herself out to do it. The most important point is that she must not know it.

The world's history gives us many instances of the love-compelling power of even unattractive women.

To compel love a woman must sympathize with a man.

She must not often contradict him.

She must flatter him and let him think that his opinion is the only one that matters.

She must put him into good humor with himself.

She must exert her powers of charm and never bore him.

She must be bright and amusing in his presence.

She must see a good deal of him, for absence generally makes the heart grow fonder—of some one else.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Pantages

Amy Minister, Empress.

Wm. H. Crane and Noble [illegible]

Fifty Years of Stage.

either case his unique attainments must be admitted.

Dr. Cook's claim that he never had an impartial hearing in America is as far as the general public is concerned. The verdict of the University of Copenhagen, "unproven," is exactly the same as the admission made to Congress a year ago by members of the Geographical Society regarding their Peary verdict. It is in place his argument directly before the grand jury of the people that Dr. Cook is now lecturing at the vaudeville theaters.

There are sensational features in the Cook lecture so startling that the newspapers are restrained by the libel laws from reporting them. Dr. Cook avows his intention of forcing a reply from his opponents, if he has to go before a judge and jury to get it.

"Mission Play."

Juanito, a Mexican boy, in the third act of the "Mission Play," San Gabriel, to whom Ubaldo, the mission speaker, addresses his narrative of the despoiling of the Franciscan edifices, invariably elicits much comment among the spectators. Without consulting the programme they immediately credit the clever impersonation to some youthful actor of small stature and are not disillusioned until they review their programme on the way home. Then they learn that the role is taken by a petite young woman whose surname is Crockett and whose given name is Corinne.

The "Mission Play" enters upon its fifteenth week with Tuesday's matinee. On Tuesday of last week the "Mission Play" celebrated its 200th performance, and the auditorium and the many friends of the play observed the occasion by attending one of the performances that day.

Vaudeville.

Five feature acts, as widely different from one another as the broad realm of vaudeville could furnish, make up the new bill which will open at the Orpheum Theater Monday afternoon. Rhodes and McFarland will present a novelty musical act that is decidedly out of the ordinary. Snee-

Beatrice Nichols, Burbank.

George Relph and Francis Ring, Morosco.

Minnie Dupree, Orpheum.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Pantages

Boston Vov and company style themselves "The Komedy Kut-Ups." Two bright comedians and a remarkably pretty woman are in the cast and the offering comes with the stamp of "big time" approval.

The Raymonds present a railway comedy from Lew Fields's "The Midnight Sons." The skit is all zip and melody, and is liable to capture the headline honors.

"Mrs. Pendleton's Pearls," in which the Great Fitzgerald plays all the six parts; John McNally, the man with the funny hats, and Trevitt's dogs complete the bill.

"A Love Story of the Ages."

"A Love Story of the Ages," Paul Armstrong's newest success, has scored such a genuine success and the demand for seats continues to be so great that the piece will be continued for a third week beginning with the performance tomorrow night.

Nothing that has ever been given on the local stock stages has revealed such an elaborate or spectacular series of stage settings, while the costuming of the first two acts is quite remarkable in itself. George Relph, Frances Ring, Harrison Hunter and in fact every member of the Morosco organization, have shown themselves to exceptional advantage in the Armstrong play, which provides excellent chances for every member of the cast.

The tremendous demand for seats and the great popularity of the play assures a third week of crowded audiences. Following "A Love Story of the Ages," Nat C. Goodwin will make his appearance on the Morosco stage in a big production of "Oliver Twist."

Mozart Pictures.

"The Girl From Maxim's," a three-part photoplay adapted from one of the greatest musical comedy successes, will be featured all this week at the Mozart Grand-avenue Theater.

The romance deals with the experience of an old French general and his beautiful daughter, who, after being away from Paris for several years, returns to the city and its gay life. The general decides it is time for his daughter to marry and he forthwith picks out for her future husband a young lieutenant. It so happens a pretty dancer from Maxim's is also in love with the lieutenant. Many startling situations follow, but finally the little dancer ceases her flirting with a duke and accepts the love of the lieutenant. The general's daughter falls in love with the duke and all ends happily.

There are other unusual features in the programme, among them the English pony ballet. This is another Ned Wayburn act, with a sextette of wonderfully trained ballet dancers, giving an act along the lines of the classic French ballet, and introducing modern vaudeville specialties.

Murry K. Hill, monologist, is well known through his gramaphone productions. Janet Loudon and company, in "A Fourth Ward Romance," have a sentimental comedy woven around a millionaire father-in-law, a daughter of the East Side and a baby.

The Seranada Trio of high-class instrumentalists and Rice, Bell and Baldwin, comedy acrobats, are also listed. The animated weekly news pictures and the Pantages ragtime concerts complete the bill.

Burbank Theater, "Mother."

Jules Eckert Goodman's great play of mother love, "Mother," as given by the Burbank Stock Company, has scored one of the most substantial hits the Burbank stage has ever known and the instantaneous popularity the play has achieved and the uncommonly big demand for seats has made it necessary to delay the first presentation of "The Elixir of Youth" and continue "Mother" for just one more week.

In this piece Mr. Goodman tells of a story of mother love—a story full of comedy and pathos, with a genuine human interest that gives it a universal appeal, and he tells his story in a simple direct manner that makes it all the more interesting and attractive to the theatergoer.

Lillian Elliott in the title role has achieved the biggest individual hit of her career, her performance of the role being one of the finest bits of acting the local stage has ever known, while Donald Bowles, Grace Travers, Beatrice Nichols, Forrest Stanley, Grace Valentine and several others have distinguished themselves in the supporting roles.

Empress Theater.

One of the biggest and unquestionably most attractive Sullivan and Considine vaudeville bills that has ever occupied the stage of the Empress Theater, will open with the usual matinee tomorrow, headed by Fred Karno's splendid company of London comedians, including the famous "souse" Charles Chapman in Karno's latest London music hall success "The Wow-Wows."

"The Wow-Wows" is built solely for funmaking purposes and as usual is written about the "souse" and the incidents that befall him while he is being initiated into a London secret society. "The Wow-Wows" comes with the reputation of containing more laughs than did Mr. Karno's "Night in an English Music Hall," and has succeeded in breaking attendance records wherever it has appeared. Mr. Chapman appears as Archibold, and what this particular secret society hands to "Archie" should furnish enough fun to measure up to all of the specifications of a laughing riot.

The second feature of the new bill will be the screamingly funny farce, "I Died." The farce is just as odd as the title. It will be presented by James Rennie and a capable supporting company of four.

Third in importance on the programme will be the genteel singing comedian Harry Sauber, who recently left the musical comedy stage to enter the field of vaudeville and who has found an excellent market for his clever Hebrew, Italian and Irish songs and stories.

The musical portion of the bill will be provided by Inez Lawson, a young woman of fascinating appearance and uncommon talent as a trumpet soloist, while the acrobatic portion will be furnished by the Three Alex in their daring and truly unique gymnastic act. Completing the new bill will be Bielle and Girard, "The Yankee and the Swede" with fifteen minutes of bright patter talk and dialogue, and the new comedy and news pictures.

Clune's Broadway.

"A Drama in the Air," a thrilling two-reel picture, will be the big feature attraction at Clune's Broadway theater next week, beginning Monday. It is a Pathe Freres drama and is one of the most stupendous productions ever turned out by that well-known firm of film makers. All the scenes with one or two exceptions take place in the air, high above the earth.

Clune's Main.

At Clune's Fifth and Main-street house "The Last Blockhouse," a film showing a vivid portrayal of western frontier days, based upon historical incidents, will be the featured attraction. It is a Kalem two-reel film, and one of the best. A party of western pioneers, while constructing a blockhouse, are guarded by a troop of cavalry. A renegade halfbreed tries to make advances to the wife of one of the pioneers. He is repulsed and in his rage incites the Indians to attack the settlers. The blockhouse is destroyed and the halfbreed carries off the woman who had repulsed him. The sole survivor of the massacre manages to reach the husband and along with the captain of the troop his wife is recaptured and in a hand-to-hand struggle with the halfbreed the fate of the pioneers is avenged. Several other films worthy of note will be on the bill.

Lyceum—"The Resurrection."

The wonderful photo-play production of Count Leo Tolstoy's immortal drama, "The Resurrection," with Blanche Walsh in her famous role of Katusha Meslova, has attracted so much interest and such large patronage during the current week's exhibitions at the Lyceum Theater, with the demand for seats constantly increasing that the management has arranged to retain this remarkable film for one more week, beginning this afternoon.

Century.

The Century Musical Comedy Company, with Jules Mendel and his associated players, will be seen next week, commencing with Monday evening's performance, in another big hit entitled "Heinz and the Two Thieves."

Of special interest to Century patrons will be the first appearance with the Century company of Miss Violet Fisher, who will join the company in the capacity of ingenue. Miss Fisher comes well recommended from the East as a capable singer and dancer.

The Quickest, Simplest Cough Cure

Easily and Cheaply Made at Home. Saves You $5.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup—enough to last a family a long time. You couldn't buy as much or as good cough syrup for $2.50.

Simple as it is, it gives almost instant relief and usually stops the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. This is partly due to the fact that it is slightly laxative, stimulates the appetite and has an excellent tonic effect. It is pleasant to take—children like it. An excellent remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, sore lungs, asthma, throat troubles, etc.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

Pine is one of the oldest and best known remedial agents for the throat membranes. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the other natural healing elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this recipe have endeared it to thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

No Patience With Critics.

[Pittsburgh Christian Advocate:] It was Bishop Stubbs who had an utter intolerance of the complaints which squires and churchwardens were prone to bring him from time to time, regarding the hard-working clergy whose varying practices, interpreted as ritualistic, were liable to give most severe offense. On one occasion a layman took this opportunity of describing to the bishop certain pernicious observances of his vicar, closing with: "Why, my lord, before he begins his sermon he actually kissed his stole." "Well, well," rejoined the bishop, with suppressed impatience, "don't you think that better than if he stole his kiss?"

ARMY AND NAVY MEN.

Col. Carroll A. Devol has been nominated as a brigadier general in the Quartermaster Corps, United States army, to take effect February 15, Vice-Gen. George R. Smith, formerly paymaster-general, who will retire on that date on his own application, after more than forty-two years' service. Col. Devol stands number 12 in the list of colonels in the Quartermaster Corps and number 114 in relative rank in his grade.

Rear-Admiral Austin M. Knight, commanding the squadron patroling the coast of Asia Minor to protect Americans, has been ordered to return to Philadelphia, and command the Atlantic reserve fleet. Capt. W. B. Fletcher will take command of the squadron in Asia.

A. H. Lyon, a plumber at Ft. George Wright, claims that his father, John P. Lynch, who enlisted five days before his eleventh birthday, was the youngest soldier in the Civil War.

Col. Charles W. Taylor of the cavalry recently was ordered to be placed on the retired list of the army, to take effect February 24, next. That action was taken by the President on the application of Col. Taylor, who had been ordered to duty in the Philippines, and did not then wish to go so far away from the United States because of the serious illness of his wife. Since then Mrs. Taylor has died, and the officer has asked that the order for his retirement be rescinded in order that he may resume active duty. The President has approved his request, and Col. Taylor will be assigned to duty.

THE HELPING HAND.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Thirty-four years ago Prof. Elipha-let Parsons of Baltimore did a kindness to a noble woman. Last week her sons sent Prof. Parsons their check for $250 in payment of the same. Prof. Parsons at that time had a private school, seventeen miles from Baltimore, and when a woman who had two children in his school became a widow she found herself unable to meet the expense longer, but the genial instructor no sooner heard of her predicament than he offered to let the little boys attend his school free. The mother was profuse in her thanks, but promised to pay the benevolent instructor when she became able to do so. And while the children continued making their daily visits to class they were ignorant of the fact that their teacher was not receiving money for their tuition. When they left the school the mother was not yet in a position to pay Prof. Parsons, but the latter did not worry over the matter, for his motives for letting the boys continue their education were not mercenary.

Two years ago, on her death bed, the widowed mother told her sons that they owed their education to Prof. Parsons. She told them of the act of kindness on the part of the schoolmaster and of her promise, up to that time unfulfilled, to pay him for their tuition.

The check received by Prof. Parsons proved the faithfulness of the sons to the mother's request.

By years of saving and self-sacrifice Julia Collon, servant in the family of Harvey Bauldwin of Hudson, O., who recently died, was enabled to turn over to St. Mary's Catholic Church of that town the sum of $18,000 for a new church. The church authorities will tear down the present building and build a new one with the bequest. By her self-denial Miss Collon was able to put seven of her yearly wages in the bank and it grew with the added interest, that amount reached a total of more than $18,000. During all this period she was a devout attendant at the church and has made the beneficiary of her self-denial.

By force of will refusing to succumb to the fumes of gas that almost overpowered her, 11-year-old Helen Long of Philadelphia carried her 3-year-old brother from their gas-filled home, and then gave the alarm which resulted in the rescue of her father. The gas had escaped through an open vent in the father's room and as there were no windows or doors open it would have been but a little longer before all would have been overcome had not Helen recognized the danger and acted promptly. Since the death of her mother Helen has been a "little mother" to her baby brother as well as the greater part of the house work.

George Eastman, head of the Eastman Kodak Company, recently handed over to the trustees of the University of Rochester (N. Y.) the sum of $50,000, which is to be applied to the establishment of a co-educational college for women, and for an endowment for the university.

The total amount given by Mr. Eastman is $578,000. The additional sum represents the cost of the Eastman building, as the women's college on the campus is called.

It is expected that fifty women will be enrolled in the new college so soon as it is opened. The building and accessories will cost $300,000.

The Young Women's Hebrew Association of New York is planning the erection of a new home by the recent gift of $1,500,000 by Mrs. Jacob Schiff. This gift completes a building fund of $350,000, the balance, $70,000 having been contributed by more than 2100 members of the association. The new building will be used as a clubhouse for girls. It will be eight stories high, with gymnasium and swimming pool and will have sleeping accommodations for 100 girls.

A big heap of kindling wood and about half a ton of coal piled on the Santa Fe Railway right of way in front of the passenger station at Hutchinson, Kan., one morning in December, bore this placard:

"This fuel was not stole, it was picked up here and there over the Santa Fe yards. But the Lord condemned me for it, and so I had to take it back. N. B. DALTON."

Mr. Dalton is a track laborer, whose duty it is to sweep the railway track and shovel up cinders and trash. He is a poor man, and last summer in the autumn, whenever he found a piece of coal, or stick of wood, instead of hauling it with the other cinders he would carry it home and gradually accumulated a little fuel supply for winter.

"I got to thinking it over last night," he said, "and while I knew I didn't steal it, that verse about 'Thou shalt' in every appearance of evil' was coming to me, I said, 'Lord, if this don't looks like evil, I'll take it back,' and so here it is."

All night long the trackman, with a wheelbarrow, hauled his winter supply of fuel so carefully gathered during the summer, and piled it in front of his cabin on the right of way.

"I'd rather have my stove go cold than to lose my soul," declared the old trackman.

The wife of a shipyard laborer at Dunston-on-Tyne, Mrs. Longcon, has inherited a fortune of £35,700 left by a man whom she befriended some ten years ago.

Mrs. Longcon, who at the time was living at South Shields, Eng., sympathized on a seafaring youth of 17 who was stranded, and for some time provided him with food and lodging. When he obtained work and left the house he vowed never to forget the kindness she had shown him.

He went to Australia, and by investing on a large scale made a fortune. His father, mother, brother, and sister died and he was again friendless.

He died in June last from an injury caused by a fall of stone, and was found that he had remembered his former benefactress. By his will he left all his personal estate, lands, cattle, and jewelry to Mrs. Longcon. The whole is estimated at £35,700.

A curious story is told as to the origin of the Rothschilds supported Cherubini, composer. The latter was then very poor and rich. His principal income was derived from a snuff box, and this was the way of it. The snuff box was given to the author of La Vestale d'Edimbourg about thirty years ago by Baron James de Rothschild, as a token of esteem.

Carafa sold it twenty-four hours later for 75 napoleons to the famous jeweler from whom it had been bought. This became known to Rothschild, who gave it again to the musician in the following year. The next day it returned to the jeweler's, and traffic continued till the death of the illustrious man, after three years, when it was kept up the tradition, to the great satisfaction of Carafa.

God's Benediction

Talk all you please about the joys of Beauty shown no regard for those And lovely roses bloom as sweet Along some grimy pauper's street As on the rich man's lawn.
And smiling dawn
Breaks in full day o'er lowly hut As bright as on the palace roof
Such gorgeous beauty of the sun Of this grass hut!
No blossoms open wide
Their precious store
For private seeing
No petals hide
Their tints from any human foot
No grace is shut
Out from the joyance of the poor
Weak, palsied hands may sow the seed
And ragged children weed it
Which, as it springs, will bear a head.
But prove as beautiful a flower As opens in the prince's bower
With fragrance just as free and rare
As gold or silver could prepare
Thank God for that, all men
In the confusion of human
On social wrongs and God's glories come alike to all
On rich and poor, as great and small
His tender benedictions fall.

Newest Neckwear

We might fill a page on the subject of Spring Neckwear and then not say half the complimentary things that might be said of it. Prominent among the late novelties are the EPAULETTE COLLARS of chiffon, crepe, lawn, marquisette, crepe de chine. Some have jabots, others front frills, still others have entire fronts of dainty shadow lace and otherwise finished with pretty little buttons.

Variety is all but endless and every style is new and positively unique.

Prices range from 50c to $5.00.

—Main Floor—

Children's Spring Coats

$6.00 to $12.50

Little girls from 6 to 12 years will be delighted with the Coat styles for Spring, and those who pay the bills will be as much pleased with the prices.

New model Coats of pretty black-and-white shepherd checks. Some have collars of black velvet or white pique, others are severely plain. All sizes.

—Third Floor—

Children's Millinery

Latest Creations--$3.50 to $9

Dainty Lingerie Hats, trimmed with ribbons and flowers and lace.

And Straws in endless variety and color effect; those close fitting, strictly tailored models, pictured in all late fashion publications.

If you have a youngster to provide for, don't fail to see this just-arrived collection.

—Third Floor—

Suits for SPRING

While our showing of Spring Suits is in nowise complete to the last detail, it is now sufficently broad and varied to give the onlooker a most comprehensive idea of the Spring Fashions.

And each day marks the arrival of others, which go to make Suit choosing at Blackstone's an easy matter, even at this early date.

The most admired of the new Suits are those of wool bengaline and poplin, plain serge and diagonal; they are shown in nearly every wanted color. Then the ever popular Shepherd Check is another prime favorite. Both the plain tailored and the demi-tailored models promise much in popularity.

Spring Suits of the smartest types are buyable at, $22.50, $25.00, $30.00, $35.00 and $37.50.

You are invited to visit our show-rooms.

The New Wool Dresses

The new Wool Dresses touch every degree of fashion. They are likable and wearable for street or business. The designs, the trimmings and the general effect are most pleasing.

Pretty one-piece styles are here of white, navy or black serge, and of brown or gray hair lines; collar and cuffs of fancy silk and crush belt of black messaline.

Prices range from $12.50 to $27.50.

—Second Floor—

Spring Millinery

Beginning to Arrive

Just to SEE the new Spring Millinery is a treat. While the showing as yet is more or less limited, it's none the less interesting. You will be charmed with these pretty little, close-fitting Milan, Hemp and Maline shapes. Nubidia, Ostrich, Paradise and Flowers are the fashionable trimming ideas.

—Second Floor—

A big heap of kindling wood and bout half a ton of coal piled on the anta Fe Railway right of way in ront of the passenger station at utchinson, Kan., one morning in De-mber, bore this placard.
"This fuel was not stolen, but icked up here and there over the anta Fe yards. But the Lord con-emned me for it, and so I had to ake it back. N. R. DALTON."
Mr. Dalton is a track laborer, whose uty it is to sweep the railway tracks nd shovel up cinders and trash. He s a poor man, and last summer and utumn, whenever he found a little iece of coal, or stick of wood, instead f hauling it with the other trash e would carry it home and gradually ccumulated a little fuel supply for winter.
"I got to thinking 't over last night," e said, "and while I know I didn't steal it, that verse about 'Shun the very appearance of evil,' kept com-ng to me, I said, 'Lord, if this wood looks like evil, I'll take it back,' and so here it is."
All night long the trackman, with a wheelbarrow, hauled his winter's supply of fuel so carefully gathered during the summer, and piled it in a bee on the right of way.
"I'd rather have my stove stay

The wife of a shipyard laborer at Dunston-on-Tyne, Mrs. Longcon, has inherited a fortune of £25,700 left her by a man whom she befriended some ten years ago.
Mrs. Longcon, who at that time was living at South Shields, Eng., took pity on a seafaring youth of 17 who was stranded, and for some time provided him with food and shelter.
When he obtained work and left her house he vowed never to forget the kindness she had shown him.
He went to Australia, and by dealing on a large scale made a fortune.
His father, mother, brother, and sister died and he was again friendless.
He died in June last from an injury caused by a fall of stone, and it was found that he had remembered his former benefactress. By his will he left all his personal estate, free lands, cattle, and jewelry, to Mrs.
Longcon. The whole is estimated at £25,700.

A curious story is told as to how the Rothschilds supported Carah the composer. The latter was far from rich. His principal income was derived from a snuff box. And the way of it. The snuff box was given to the author of La Prise d'Edimbourg about thirty years ago by Baron James de Rothschild as a token of esteem.
Carafa sold it twenty-four hours later for 75 napoleons to the same jeweler from whom it had been bought. This became known to Rothschild, who gave it again to the musician in the following year. The next day it returned to the jeweler's. The traffic continued till the death of the donor, and Carafa kept up the tradition, to the great satisfaction of Carafa.

God's Benedictions.

Talk all you please about the money
Beauty shows no regard for dross,
And lovely roses bloom as sweet
Along some grimy pauper's street
As on the rich man's lawn;
And smiling dawn
Breaks in full day o'er lowly hovel
As bright as on the palace-bowl
Of this great world;
No blossoms open wide
Their precious store
For private seeing
No petals hide
Their tints from any human being
No grace is shut
Out from the entrance of the poor Weak, palsied hands may sow the seed
And ragged children water it,
Which, as it springs, will take no heed,
But prove as beautiful a flower
As opens in the prince's bower,
With fragrance just as deep and pure
As gold or silver could procure.
Thank God for that, at any rate,
In the confusion of debate
On social wrongs and helplessness,
God's glories come alike to all,
On rich and poor, on great and small
His tender benedictions fall.

CHICAGO OPERA COMPANY'S WONDERFUL ORGANIZATION

Advance Sale Shows that Southern California Appreciates This Wonderful Musical Opportunity. Mischa Elman, Lillian Nordica and Other Great Stars to Be Heard in Concert Here—Other Musical News.

The Chicago Grand Opera Company, that magnificent organization which is to present a limited season of operas at the Auditorium, from March 4 to 11, developed out of the dissolution of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York to extend the radius of its artistic influence.

This idea soon materialized so successfully that it outgrew the dependence of its progenitor and the question was accorded absolution to work out its own salvation upon the broad and progressive plan that the new turn of affairs warranted.

A delicate scheme had been proposed for the exchange of artistic courtesies in "guest artists" but the unique enterprise early developed sufficient strength to navigate successfully with its independent artistic equipment and was able to stand on its own merits. The prefatory and closing seasons of the Chicago Grand Opera Company at the beautiful Metropolitan Opera-house in Philadelphia have continued, and the same situation holds good with New York as well, so that now the Chicago Grand Opera Company is an integral part of any grand opera organization in the world.

The great, primal, practical advantage of forming the Chicago Opera Company as a new artistic organization lies in its securing outright of the entire working plant and paraphernalia of the Manhattan Opera-house in New York, comprising contracts with many great artists together with the producing rights of the most standard operatic works—the novelties from France and Italy, including the scores and stage-en-scene of most elaborate and attractive character, and many of the most desirable products of the modern Italian school. This has been a strong link in the chain of success with the Metropolitan Opera-house, as it gave the Chicago company opportunity to give a series of performances at the Metropolitan Opera-house in New York, which immediately turned out to be permanent successes, and many artists have been heard there where only one or two parts were sung by them, but whose work increased the prestige of the company.

The seventeen weeks of the season this year was filled by performances of thirty different operas. Aristodemo Giorgini, the Italian tenor, made his debut here, and especially engaged to sing many of the tenor parts of Mme. Melba's repertoire. Messrs. Guilbert and Giovanni Polese, members of the Boston Opera Company, joined the ranks of the artists for the transcontinental tour.

Another worthy of particular mention as a signal success of the season is the wonderful organization developed under the direction of Cleofonte Campanini, that indefatigable with the weight of responsibility that has never for a moment lessened and given productions and performances of surpassing brilliancy and poignancy that elicited the admiring comment of all composers, whose works have had production under his direction.

The season has been under the direction of Fernani Almanzo Dinsmore, showing perfect judgment about by fourteen years' experience as stage directorship at the Royal Opera at Covent Garden. A school was established at the Auditorium, wherein a training class for the chorus, this latter department particularly praiseworthy, as it has given many excellent female contingents composed of native talent, with consistency in appearance, deportment, and musical intelligence, forming new and excellent operatic ensemble.

The latest enlistment is a list of foreign stars headed by Luisa Tetrazzini, the most distinguished coloratura singer of the age; Julia Claussen, Francesco Daddi, Charles Dalmores, Edmond Warnery, Emilio Venturini, Alfredo Costa, Armand Crabbe, Hector Dufranne, Nicola Fossetta, Mario Sammarco, Giovanni Polese, Gustav Huberdeau, Constantin Nicolay, Piero Orsatti and other capable foreign singers.

The list of operas selected for the Los Angeles engagement comprises Massenet's "Thais," Redding and Herbert's "Natoma," Verdi's "Rigoletto," Wagner's "Tristan und Isolde," and the famous "Die Walkuere," Donizetti's "Lucia," Humperdinck's "Hansel und Gretel," "The Love Tales of Hoffman," and a great ballet divertissement led by Rosina Galli, a series of most compelling spectacles, augmented by an orchestra of seventy pieces, a chorus of sixty, and all that goes toward making a most perfect ensemble.

The season-ticket sale is now on at the Auditorium box office and all Southern California is responding in a most marvelous manner. Special parties are being formed, entire trains chartered, the suburban citizens feel that Los Angeles has at last united in a commercial sense with artistry to give them an opportunity to find within the environments of the southern metropolis the operatic opportunity which they heretofore have been compelled to travel across the continent to secure.

Stars

Of the Chicago Opera Company, which will appear in Los Angeles in March.

To Interpret the Operas.

Miss Anna Shaw Faulkner, the well-known musical critic, writer, lecturer and authority of Chicago, is now on the Pacific Coast and will be heard in a series of preliminary operatic lectures and recitals in advance of the Chicago grand-opera organization. Miss Faulkner is an authority unquestioned in regard to operatic literature, and arrangements are being made for two afternoon and two evening events for the popular education of those who expect to attend the Chicago grand-opera series. Two morning events have been arranged so that the school children may have the opportunity of having a special series for themselves.

Miss Faulkner has for many years been the interpretative lecturer for the Thomas Orchestra concerts in Chicago. She was engaged by Henry W. Savage to deliver lectures in the various cities in which his "The Girl of the Golden West" was presented, and has delivered a series of Wagnerian lectures for Columbia University in New York, the Chicago University and other well-known educational institutions. Manager Behymer has arranged for a series of interpretative lectures on "Die Walkuere," "Tristan und Isolde," "Hansel und Gretel," "Lucia," "Rigoletto," "Natoma," "Salome" and other operas to be given by the Chicago Grand Opera Company in this city in March.

Mischa Elman.

Mischa Elman, whose reputation extends to every place where music is known, will be heard in recital at the Auditorium in the Philharmonic course on Tuesday evening, February 18, and Saturday matinee, February 22.

Elman, according to the music critics of Europe, was a matured player when he was 13; since then—he is barely of legal age—his artistic growth has fully conformed to the expectations of Leopold Auer, the St. Petersburg teacher, who is conceded to be the most successful developer of violin virtuosity and who was Elman's teacher. Those who recall the bigness and the sensuous warmth of Elman's violin tone cannot conceive anything more beautiful; so faithful is he to his daily musical exercises that when he travels arrangements are always made for him to have a private apartment where he may spend several hours in those endeavors which have helped make him the talented virtuoso of his country.

Elman's programmes are of exceptional interest, as the compositions will appeal to all classes of musical taste.

Nordica in Pasadena.

Arrangements were yesterday completed whereby Mme. Lillian Nordica, one of the world's greatest singers, will appear in concert February 28 in the ballroom of the Hotel Maryland, Pasadena.

Mme. Nordica had promised to sing in but seven concerts throughout the United States this season and her plans called for a direct jump from New Orleans to San Francisco without appearing in Los Angeles.

With the intention of adding to the rapidly-growing fund for the Children's Training School in Pasadena, the management of the Maryland entered into negotiations with Fredric Shipman, who is in charge of the present Nordica tour, with the result that the great singer agreed to stop over in Pasadena and be heard in a programme of her own selection.

Mme. Nordica is accompanied on her present tour by William Morse Rummell, violinist, and Romayne Simmons, pianist.

Anderson Recital.

Misses Lena Meyer, Ethel Higgins, Mrs. G. M. Meising, Miss Jessica Reed, Mrs. Elizabeth Green Wilkes, Mrs. W. B. Elms, Mrs. Nina B. Moss, Miss Ethel F. Coleman, Vesta Cornell, Melba Meising, and Messrs. Harry Armbrust, Roy Gangestad and Edward Rivinius, all pupils of George Anderson, will give a recital at Blanchard Hall Wednesday evening, next. The programme will include selections from Meyerbeer, Dvorak, Leocavallo, Saint-Saens, Massenet and Miss Magda Albeck will be the accompanist.

First Congregational Orchestra.

Under the direction of its founder, W. H. Mead, the first concert of the season of the First Congregational orchestra will be given Friday, February 14. It will be the occasion of the initial appearance of Miss Florence Mead, daughter of the conductor.

Estelle Heartt Dreyfus in Paris.

The Orchestra Colonne is giving in Paris, this season, weekly recitals of ancient music with lectures on the various epochs by eminent specialists; like D'Annunzio, for the Italian school of 1600, Saint-Saens, for Haydon and Mozart.

Selections are interpreted by the artists of the Opera and the Opera Comique: Mmes. Litvinne, Martyll, Vauthrin, Messrs. Atschewsky, Dubois, Fabert, Francell, Coulomb.

It has been the good fortune of Mme. Estelle Heartt Dreyfus, of this city, to have been invited as soloist to illustrate Bernard Shaw's lecture

THERE are new things arriving each day,—new things of spring.

Fresh, dainty—crisp! They're not just fashions—they're spring—with all of the flower colors—the crispness—the newness—of spring!

Won't you come in to see these—fashions of spring? Not necessarily to buy—but to enjoy,—just as you enjoy any gathering of pretty things!

The New Hats—

New mostly because of their flower colorings. Lilac, Dahlia, Wistaria, Rose, Violet, Golden Rod—all these lovely flower shades—put into close-fitting, wonderfully becoming-hempen hats.

They're veiled—

Usually, in white "shadow"—or a blending of white and black. Filmy, soft, silky, patterned in flower design—they are first of all—becoming.

And an all black veil is good—especially when it is entirely of chenile. Or a veil in the hat tone!

In Spring Suits—

There's a new Norfolk. Without all the plaits and pockets of the old Norfolk. Just a wide belt of the material, set rather high, slipped through material loops and completed with a buckle. Then bone buttons, caught with threads of another color,—(scarlet on a black and white check). These at $25.

Neckwear Newness—

To give a touch of springness to the new suit—frillings of chiffon, batiste or shadow lace,—especially if these have the pretty Vandyke Points.

Very new—the chiffon frillings—in white, edged with an embroidery of black,—in black and in cream.

The* Corset—

It's first of all—pliable. Then to give the long, svelte, uncorseted look. There are several new models in the Gossard—and the Bon Ton—that give this pliable, uncorseted look that's so essential to the spring figure.

Flower Ribbons—

the cretonne colorings on a soft, splendid quality Dresden ribbon. White, flowered in violet, and banded by a stripe of black satin. French blue, the center satin striped, and the border of pink rose buds. And lavender moire, with a border of white sprinkled in rose pinks. And these at a special price of only 35 cents the yard.

English Gloves—

The very newest of walking gloves.—They're in white, with a heavy stitching of black and a narrow black binding.—At $2 and $1.50—these are excellent glove values.—

French Underwear—

The daintiest of imported, hand embroidered Undermuslins, French embroidered or finished with the Madeira embroidery. There are gowns, combinations, petticoats and corset covers—in new cuts—of sheerest nainsook—and priced at

One-Third Less!

Silk Stockings—

Boot Silk Style—either in black, tan or white. These with heavy lisle feet and of good silk. And one hundred dozen of them—on sale Monday

At 45 Cents!

Furs Are Less—

A half less!—These are reductions on a splendid $360 Ermine set—a $275 Ermine scarf, two and one-half yards long—a $250 Gray Fox set—a Mink Sable set that was $400—a Hudson Seal set at $150—a Mole set at $360—and Mink and Lynx muffs at $65 and $100.—They're half!

The J. W. Robinson Co.
Broadway and Third

New Wash Stuffs—

Especially new they are. For here are homespun, tweed and mixture weaves. A new development of the ratine idea—is of white—striped, Shepherd checked or "mixed" with black. A linen tweed—is of old blue or lavender threaded with white or a black and white combination. And a homespun weave—is developed in all the new pongee shades—in white and in gray. These at 75 cents and to $1.50 the yard.

And New Silks—

There's a basket-weave Barathea that's splendid suiting stuff. Enough "body"—and yet soft for draping. In green and black, blue and black and red and black combinations.

And there's Gros de Londres—a French "Fantasie" design on the softest and most supple of taffetas. A rose patterning—the petals of the predominant tone—the centers of the second tone. These in blue on a blue-green, and in brown on a bronze-green.

In Girlish Wear—

College dresses of linens. Peter Thompson style—in tan with the collar of old blue and in blue with a touch of scarlet in the emblems. And good style, splendidly serviceable dresses of a dull blue, heavy linen—buckled and pocketed. Or with a vest of white eponge—and trimmed with big ball buttons of ivory.

And New Coats—

Wonderfully girlish — with their cutaway effects — bright colored linings, pretty buttons and fancy collars. In Dutch Blue, a deep Rose, Amber and Sand color—there are the smartest little unlined slip-ons.—Deep collars of corded silk—a wide belt across the back set off by buttons of the material—Good looking matinee and afternoon affair coats.—

And in blue storm serge—lined with American Beauty or bright green—the best style coat for young girls,—a $25 special.—

New Boy Things—

Blouses—crispy new—unusually washable stuffs—in tiny stripes of blue, lavender and gray on white.—

They're made Puritan style—without the bothersome tape.—Just adjusted by a side button and loop.—

And new Ruff-neck sweaters (at only $2.50)—in either blue, gray or Cardinal.—

Spring Leathers—

Bags of Pin Seal and Morocco—in gray, blue, brown and black.—These with mirror and coin purse fittings and mounted on either gunmetal, gold or silver.—And priced at $5.—

At $1.35 and up—flat, oblong pocket books—strapped. And snapped with a gold button.—In black, gray, tan and blue.—

The New Lamps—

In squares—Pyramid shapes—and very much like a Japanese umbrella.—The shades of tinted art glass—mounted on Bronze-like metals or hand-sawed brass.—

A few lamps at very unusual prices.—In fact, at reductions of one-fourth and one-third!—

Different Cretonnes—

In place of the scattering of a flower design—There's a massing of flowers on a solid leafy background.—Sometimes this ground is black and the result is wonderfully Frenchy.—

Then there are different Cretonnes in Venetian Tapestry effects.—Watteau designs—in dull greens and browns for living-room and library draping.—

Dainty "Flower" Rugs—

Woven from stripes of fresh, new gingham.—These are in all the Violet, Rose, Water Lily and Corn Flower colorings.—Many of these with the smaller and larger matching rugs—to fit out a bedroom in a harmonizing color scheme.—And very inexpensively priced!—

POSING under the various designations of common parlance as "Davenport," "Divan," "Settee," or "Sofa," this generous, luxurious, convenient article of furniture, which none of us can do without, is the "Piece de Resistance" of home-furnishing.

Every living-room, every library, and often the hall or some other room, requires one.

Modeled for the first consideration of comfort, this essential detail has been cleverly combined with artistic merit; prodducing an attractive variety of shapes, styles, sizes and finishes.

The piece may be plain or tufted "over-stuffed," with no wood showing; or it may be upholstered in the same manner and still exhibit more or less of a pleasing wood frame, finished to harmonize with the wood work of the room.

Like a certain well-known distillate, "they are all good, only some are better than others;" and one has an infinity of choice, restricted only by the exigencies of special requirements.

We are not only the exclusive agents for the distinctive and beautiful English line of William Birch, London, but carry the best examples of domestic reproductions of Colonial and Period styles; and the last word in modern creations of "comfort-pieces," making many of them in our own well-equipped shops, at reasonable prices.

ACTIVE WOMEN.

Miss Lena Goodrich of Plymouth, Vt., collected 500 Lincoln pennies in eighteen months and started a bank account with them on January 1.

Miss Ina L. Morgan, said to be the youngest woman minister in this country, has just given up the pastorate of two churches in Maine and entered the Boston University School of Theology for a three-year course. Though Miss Morgan is still in her early twenties, she has already had charge of four Methodist Episcopal churches.

Princess Anna of Lowenstein-Wertheim, who is the daughter of an earl, has invented a cot that she thinks will prevent seasickness. It rests on springs and permits the sleeper to be continually in a level position. She has just come to this country and although she was seasick, she says she was not nearly so ill as she would have been without the cot.

From the humble position of stenographer to secretary of a $2,000,000 corporation is the jump that Miss Martha A. Parsons of New Britain, Ct., has taken in a quarter of a century. The woman has been elected secretary of Landers, Frary & Clark, and succeeds George M. Landers, president pro tem. of the Connecticut Senate. It is believed that she holds a more responsible place than any other woman in Connecticut manufacturing industries.

The youngest newspaper editor in Kansas is a girl. She is Miss Leah Kettle and she gets out the Austin Journal, a weekly paper. She is 17 years old and has been managing editor, editorial writer and city editor since March.

THE UNCHLOROFORMED.

A man of 104 years has enrolled as one of the students at the North Dakota Corn and Clover Convention, to be held in Grand Forks. The aged student is William Huggins, one of the pioneers who during his residence in the Northwest has been interested in diversified farming and has decided, as he puts it, that "young men should always keep up to the times."

Mrs. Amy D. Winship, now in the junior class of Wisconsin University, is 81 years old and is believed to be the oldest regularly enrolled student in the world. She never misses a lecture, is always present at recitations and the record she makes in her examinations is among the first.

Dr. Kate Stanton, one of the most eminent women physicians in Rhode Island, who has just passed her 80th birthday, surprised her friends at Newport by walking around the ocean drive, a distance of ten miles, in three hours and fifty minutes. Dr. Stanton is a familiar figure in the social life of Newport, where she has lived for many years. It is her custom to make the walk each year.

Charles A. Shafer of Branchville, N. J., 100 years old, is active about his home and insists on taking the responsibility for the chores. He has all his faculties and believes in the moderate use of pure whisky.

CHURCHMEN.

Rabbi Samuel Schulman of New York told his congregation recently that the great need of that city is a clearinghouse of thought—a common forum where all creeds might be heard and out of them would come the good which New York stands so much in need of. It is the greatest misfortune to New York that it has no great moral leader.

Father J. F. Jully, a Roman Catholic priest at Ft. Morgan, Colo., has deposited $100 in a local bank as a wager that the Rev. A. H. Ballard, pastor of the Baptist Church, cannot answer five questions concerning the Roman Catholic faith that he will put to him.

Rev. Dr. Robert Stuart McArthur has resigned his pastorate at the Atlanta Baptist Tabernacle, which has been stormy for months through differences between himself and the congregation, and will return to New York to resume his duties as president of the World's Baptist Alliance.

Rev. Henry B. Tierney, pastor of the Catholic Church in Trenton, Mo., is publicity man for the Trenton Commercial Club.

Dr. Gerson B. Levi, in his talk to the members of the People's Synagogue Associaties at Ziegfeld Theater, Chicago, stated that the Ten Commandments do not reach the height of Jewish teaching. In his opinion that section of the Bible which says "that man shall love his neighbor as himself" is higher than the Ten Commandments.

EDUCATORS.

Prof. Alfred M. Tozzer of Harvard University after an examination of all the available Mexican manuscripts believes that Mexico and the countries of Central America enjoyed a civilization when all the remainder of the Western Hemisphere was sunk in darkness. The people had their own methods of counting time by means of crude calendars.

Heward Anderson, the only male teacher in the grade schools of Minneapolis, has resigned after teaching only four months. As to why he resigned he said it was not exactly because of the women, but he found it was no place for a man.

Prof. Eugene Harms has been elected president of Walther College to succeed Prof. William Sachs, who recently resigned. Mr. Harms has been a professor in Walther College since 1907 and for some time has been in charge of the institution.

George Ade, playwright and humorist, is to become "some" farmer, and he is now a full-fledged student at Purdue University. He has registered in the short course, enrolled in the corn and live stock sections, and takes part with others in the work. He has a large farm located at Brooks, Ind., and expects to pick up some valuable pointers on scientific farming.

The Far Country.

There was no shining street of gold,
But just a trail of green
Where grasses ran across the mold
Beside a brook serene.

There were no amaranths of light,
Nor fadeless asphodels,
But just wee daisies shy and white
And violets in the fells.

There were no choiring cherubim,
But just a raptured lark
Made music on a near-by limb
Prdom morning until dark.

There were no pearly gates ajar
Nor throne from glory spun
But just the quiet evening star,
And just the morning sun!

SLAVS INVADE MUSICAL WORLD

RUSSIAN SINGERS AND DANCERS THE MODERN FAD.

Grand Operas from Moscow With Russian Casts Coming to New York—Orchestras, Singers and Dancers from St. Petersburg Touring the United States.

BY HECTOR ALLAN.

Few people realize to what extent our culture in the fine arts is being deeply influenced by Russian ideas.

In philosophy, literature, music and painting the performances of the Muscovite men of letters and artists are too well established to need more than a reminding reference.

In the drama, music, singing and dancing the latest importations come to us from Russia and they are not merely novelties because they are new and are financially the most successful productions of this season.

It matters little what field of art one is the most interested in, he is sure to find one or more Russians represented as the leading exponents of it.

Some are inclined to believe that the Balkan War has attracted attention to the Slavs and that the search for new sensations has directed impresarios to search the empire of the Czar for talent.

Nothing could be more erroneous. Russia is only now coming into her own. Italy, France, Spain, the Netherlands, England and Germany have had the full glory of their own national renascense. For 400 years the southern part of Europe has been in the spring from which has flowed the artistic expression of the world in letters, fine arts and music.

Meanwhile Russia, the cradle of the marvelous culture of the ancient Byzantium, has remained visionary at the gates of the Orient and of the Occident.

After centuries of sleep and indifference the art of Russia has awakened. For twenty-five years the long-dormant flower has been blossoming, unknown to the outside world.

But, because its hour of opening has been retarded longer than that of any other European nation, it is stronger, more virile, often more exotic and sad, frequently more barbarian and primitive.

It is natural that we, who have been so long circumscribed by the accepted canons of classicism, should delight in the free and unrestrained expression of simple people given free rein to their natural and unspoiled emotions.

To the novelty of Russian art must be added the genuineness of it and for us the fascination of the exotic—a voice that long ago was as familiar to our ears as it is to the ears of the modern Slav.

This argument would seem to be more than a statement of personal opinion if it could not be verified by facts.

On January 16 the Russian Symphony Orchestra played in its second subscription concert at Aeolian Hall in New York. "Sing Not, Fair Heaven," of Rachmaninoff, was given its first hearing. Earlier in the season Mme. Namara-Toye had won renown recalls with Alabieff's "Song of the Nightingale." Sibelius's "Finlandia" and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Scheherazade" also given that evening, shone in the light of a large audience.

In joint recital with Yaw, the celebrated St. Petersburg contralto, Rosa Olitzka, is now touring the South.

Albert Janpolski, the eminent Russian barritone, has just left us after a season in the Northwest.

A week ago Mme. Theodora Sturkow-Ryder appeared with Miss Charlotte White; this very capable pianist presented a programme of Russian music that pleased.

Josef Lhevinne, the distinguished Russian pianist, is on his way.

In St. Petersburg this winter the appearance of Felia Litvinne, the Russian soprano, is considered a great musical event. Miss Litvinne was discovered by the Paris Opera and is now its leading soprano. Apropos, by the way, one of its most popular tenors is also a Russian—Dalmorès.

Last Wednesday the famous Russian Balalaika Orchestra began its second engagement in New York under the direction of Vladimir Dubinoff, with Nina Dimitrieff, soprano, as soloist.

Moiseiwitsch, the Russian violin prodigy, is about to descend upon us in London.

From the intense advance publicity of this young man one would fear that this attempt of exploiting the notorious weaknesses of Englishmen for musical prodigies would fear that this attempt of exploiting the public into excitement may be overdone. To quote P. T. Barnum's celebrated maxim:

"Launch forth a genius, no matter where,
The world will rush to see and hear.
But it may be otherwise."

Stravinsky, the composer of the "Fire Bird Ballet," is responsible for a new one for production in London, "The Sacred Springtime."

We all knew Anna Pavlowa and her admirable troupe of Russian dancers, who conquered every city they visited on her first American tour, and who, assisted by Mr. Pavley, ballet master of the Imperial Theatre of St. Petersburg, is about to visit us again. Unfortunately the prima ballerina will not, Nijinsky for partner, be with us, as he has realized that he is as big an artist as the world has an opponent of the butterfly dancer. Pavlowa, playing with his own moods, Nijinsky, however, though not with her, will come here with Pavley.

Unless one is deeply versed in the mysteries of the art of the ballet, a study of the classical "tutu," the ballet garment of meadames de Pompadour, is not possible to fully appreciate the Russian revolution brought about by Pavlowa in the long-established eighteenth-century canons of costuming, that essential part of the production of grand opera.

Ludomir Rozycki has just produced his new three-act grand opera, "Medusa," which has been received in critically-musical Warsaw with favor.

In April, Theodore Komisarjevsky, the Russian impresario, will bring to New York, for a six weeks' season, Russian opera and ballet, with many stars from the St. Petersburg and Kiev opera-houses.

Outside of the Theatre of the Opera let in Paris the opera is to be heard, have never been heard outside of Russia.

"Chovanchuna," "Sadko," "Boris Godounov," "Shaubat," "Ivan the Terrible" and "Rosland and Ludmilla" are known to us.

So are other composers, such as Moussorgsky, Rimsky-Korsakoff and Glinka.

The Muscovite invasion is not confined to alien operas, ballets and musicians. Positions are entering our theatres. The singers, musicians, conductors, dancers, even impresarios, are Russians.

There is no longer any doubt that our musical ideas are being greatly influenced by the art of Russia, and Russia, just awakening to a

BRITISH FOSTER OPIUM TRAFFIC.

Chinese Officials Resist Parsee Traders.

World Metropolis Ridding Itself of Vice.

"Divorce Is a Habit," Says Lord Haldane.

BY PAUD LAMBETH.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Public resentment has been aroused by the exposure of astounding methods resorted to by certain Bombay Parsees and Anglo-Indian commercial interests to force a resumption of the opium habit in China. It is charged that, to aid those interested in this nefarious traffic, which has been repudiated as "utterly indefensible" by the House of Commons in a formal resolution, the British Consul-General at Shanghai proceeded to Anking on a British cruiser and behind the guns of the warship demanded "reparation" for the destruction of Indian opium seized by the tutuh, or governor of Anhui. The tutuh had presided over the burning of the opium in the public square of Anking, his capital.

It is noteworthy as manifesting the new spirit of assertion shown by the Chinese officials, that the tutuh told the British official to take his warship and his appeal to Peking or London. "Reparation" in any manner, shape or form, was refused point-blank.

It is estimated that the stocks of opium, amounting to the value of $30,000,000—about 40,000 chests of the drug—are now accumulated at Shanghai and Hongkong. The purely British houses have withdrawn from this trade, which is almost entirely in the hands of Bagdad Jews and Bombay Parsees.

The opium merchants, gambling on the possibility that China might fail in her prohibition campaign, have continued to import the maximum number of chests permitted to leave India under the 1911 opium agreement. Faced with the prospect of unprecedented losses, they are now striving might and main to force the Chinese to relieve them of their stocks, and in this uncongenial task they are receiving considerable support from the British Legation.

CLEANING UP LONDON.

"Outward decency," a phrase attributed to the Mayor of New York, is no longer to be recognized in dealing with the vice problem of London.

"If the annual toll taken in New York, is, as reported, $57,000,000, it cannot be much less here," says Lord Hugh Cecil, who is interesting himself on this question at the request of prominent London women who do not desire to appear openly in the crusade.

There is a sudden exodus from St. John's Wood and other well-known haunts. Landlords who have been warned that they are in danger of prosecution have notified tenants of doubtful character that they must reform or go.

"These people never reform," Sir Edward Henry, Commissioner of Police, says, "and that explains why they are leaving here in such numbers to avoid arrest."

Not all are crossing the channel to Paris and Ostende, where raids are unknown. Many of the most dangerous, disorderly characters have booked for the United States. London and England generally is greatly interested in the United States crusade against those who live by shame. Here, it must be said, the methods adopted have been drastic and certain in their execution and results.

DIVORCE A HABIT.

Is divorce a habit? Lord Haldane, the Lord Chancellor, says it is.

"The more license we give to ourselves, the more we seem to need," said his Lordship recently, in speaking of divorce.

"This is especially true of women. Some women get the divorce habit because they are unwilling to suffer the least restraint. Such women should not be allowed to marry."

His Lordship is not opposed to divorce as a general principle, and he is in favor of the equalization of the British divorce laws. "But," he says, "while it is certain that provision should be made to unmake marriages which prove abominations rather than the ideal union of man and woman, the law and society should be protected against the marriage of the unfit. This can be done and it will be done—some day."

SAMSON AND DELILAH.

Charles Parrot, who helped place the great guns on the new Agamemnon, who was a valued enlisted aide of the admiral commanding the Home fleet, after thirty years in the navy is now picking oakum at Dartmouth. A beautiful Berlin woman is the author of his fall.

One night he was in London on leave. He decided to pass away an hour or two in a vaudeville house. There a young blonde woman made herself very agreeable to him. They met several times later and she induced him to secure long leave and accompany her to Ostende. After he returned, for eight months the British sailor acted as her spy in the British navy. She supplied him with funds. She also slipped through the hands of the English detectives when they tried to arrest her, following the interception of several cables.

"She is the most dangerous diplomat alive," said Sir John Simon, Solicitor-General, who prosecuted. "This woman is utterly unscrupulous. She serves the German nation with all that a woman possesses, without pay or other reward."

The sleuths whom she eluded have all been separated from the service. It is thought that they could not resist her charms.

ONLY BULLET IN VITALS FATAL IN MODERN WAR.

Investigations in Recent Balkan Battles Have Developed Fact That Few Wounds in Intestines and Elsewhere, Except Heart, Brain or Arteries, Bring Death, on Account of Improved Asceptic Surgery.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Nothing less than a bullet through the heart, the head or an important artery is sure to bring death in the wars of today. Abdominal wounds, involving even manifold penetrations of the intestines, show a surprising percentage of recovery, and little is to be feared from thoracic wounds that do not molest big arteries or the heart. What used to be known as gangrene has virtually disappeared, and only in rare instances does pus form at all. When it does it is primarily due to neglect or to unskillful handling by surgeons.

PROF. COLMERS'S FINDING.

These conclusions are set forth in an article by Prof. Frank Colmers of Coburg, who took charge of the hospitals in Sofia at the request of King Ferdinand upon the breaking out of the war in the Balkans. Two things have brought about the improvement over the days when any wound of the limbs meant amputation and penetration of the abdomen was nearly always fatal. One is, of course, the great advance of aseptic surgery. The other is the form, constitution and velocity of the modern projectile. Except at extremely close range—within 100 yards, where the bullet of the armies of today tears a hole bigger than a man's hand at the point of exit—the projectile ordinarily bores a neat hole through its victim. Furthermore, it is rendered aseptic by the heat generated by its high velocity, and it carries no particles of clothing into the canal of the wound. The wound is therefore absolutely germ-free, and if properly bandaged with sterilized bandages it develops no pus. Dr. Colmers, who served in the Japanese hospitals during the Russo-Japanese War, warns against tamponing wounds to check hemorrhage. Wherever this course was followed—and a great many Bulgarian surgeons followed it—infection resulted.

LET WOUNDS ALONE.

It is interesting to note that the proper treatment for gunshot wounds puncturing the intestines appears to be no treatment at all. The most favorable recoveries, says Dr. Colmers, were recorded in the cases of men who, shot through the abdomen, had been missed and allowed to lie on the field for two or three days, with nothing to eat and without being moved. He recommends that arrangements should be made hereafter to care for these men where they lie and leave them there until the punctured intestines have had a chance to start healing naturally.

A point of especial interest to Germany lies in the fact that the war in the Balkans is the first time the projectiles now used in the German army rifle have been used in actual combat. The Turks are employing these bullets. They consist of a steel jacket loaded with lead. They vary, however, from those used in most other armies in that instead of having an oval nose, they are decidedly pointed. The center of gravity of the round-nosed projectile is nearly in the middle, but that of the pointed bullet is nearer the base. As a result it has a tendency, only overcome by the twist imparted by the rifling and by its great velocity, to change ends in flight, to "keyhole," as it is expressed.

TURNS IN WOUND.

The instant the nose meets resistance this potentiality is converted into effective action, the bullet turns in the wound's channel, and the result is both a more extensive implication of tissues and the frequent lodging of the bullet in the body, making later operative interference necessary. Another noteworthy effect is that the bullet, in thus turning, very regularly is stripped, the jacket separating explosively from the core and minute particles of both jacket and lead invading the entire region of the wound. This naturally leads to infection and sepsis. The pointed bullet appears also to penetrate arteries more often than the round-nosed projectile, which often pushes them aside with little damage. In all these respects, therefore, it may be considered a less humane projectile than the other.

Shrapnel wounds remain the most dangerous, although fortunately the least frequent. The projectiles rarely have enough velocity to penetrate the body, and therefore generally remain in the wound. Moreover, they regularly convey pieces of clothing or hair into the body, and the result is frequently tetanus and death.

Five Postmen in England Badly Injured by Chemicals Placed in the Mails.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

DUNDEE (Scotland) Feb. 8.—Five postmen were burned Wednesday, several of them quite seriously, by the combustion of chemicals contained in letters. One of the postmen on returning from his evening collection of mail from the public letter boxes emptied his bag on the sorting table at the postoffice. The contents instantly burst into flames. A large number of the envelopes contained tubes of phosphorus and other highly inflammable chemicals. They were addressed to Premier Asquith and the sheets of paper within were inscribed: "Justice for women."

Chancellor of Exchequer Resigned from Reform Club When Friend of His Was Blackballed.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Chancellor of the Exchequer, David Lloyd George, and the First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Spencer Churchill, who resigned from the Reform Club last week, did so, according to the Express, because the club blackballed Baron Maurice Arnold de Forest, whose candidacy was seconded by Mr. Churchill.

The Express adds that Sir Edward Grey and Lewis Harcourt also threaten to resign unless a general meeting of the members is called to rescind this action.

Baron de Forest is hereditary Baron of the Austrian Empire and authorized to use his title in the United Kingdom by royal authority. In 1909 he offered a prize of $20,000 to the first British aviator to cross the English Channel in a British - built aeroplane.

Stefansson Asks Canadian Government to Assist Him in Three Years' Expedition Into New Country.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Feb. 8.—With the object of having the Canadian government assist him in a three-year expedition through the "last unknown territory," to the north of Canada, Vilhjalmar Stefansson, discoverer of the "white Eskimos" of Coronation Bay, is in Ottawa to see members of the Cabinet. The explorer, as a Canadian, wished to go under the aegis of the Dominion government, so that the right of Canada to whatever land he may discover will be unquestioned.

Stefansson has made his official report to the Geological Survey and urged the government to protect the Eskimos from the troublesome results of partial civilization, including the spread of disease. He asked also that something be done to save the great Caribou herds of the barren lands.

ADVOCATES LIMITED SUFFRAGE.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward Accused of Trailing a Red Herring Across Pathway of Militants.

BY LADW MARY MAINWARING.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—English suffragettes twit Mrs. Humphrey Ward, the authoress, with attempting to drag a red herring across the trail of full suffrage. Mrs. Ward was recently appointed on the platform and spoke at the London demonstration against the suffrage amendments to the since-withdrawn franchise bill. She now proposes a sort of "local women's limited franchise." The authoress says:

"Let the government, before any new woman suffrage bill appears in the House, bring forward a bill embodying large concessions with regard to local government franchise for women, as to which there is widespread agreement in both parties.

"Then, having secured thereby a registered municipal electorate for women amounting probably to between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000, let the provision be made, first, for an advisory referendum on women on the subject of woman suffrage taken on this new municipal register; second, for a subsequent referendum of male parliamentary electors."

WIDOW CHARMS BOY HUSBAND.

Mrs. Cornwallis West Asks for Separation.

Prince of Wales to Receive Grand Cross.

Chief of Clan MacFarland Now in Georgia.

BY LADY MANWARING.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Those who spoke of the certainty of Mrs. George Cornwallis-West asking the courts to untie the knot which binds her to the young society guards' captain cannot have known the inward truth in this unfortunate domestic misunderstanding. Not in the spirit of a "gossip," but in order to set some absurd rumors in a permanent resting-place, I may as well lift the veil on a part of the story—"the" part.

The "boy husband" of the former Lady Randolph Churchill is said to be interested in an American widow whose fortune is considerable. I dare not say more—although the facts are no secret in society's inner circles—for the reason that there is not likely to be afforded legal proof of any of the allegations being made.

Mrs. Cornwallis-West is not going to give her husband his freedom. He is very anxious that she should do so—and, goodness knows, he is giving her reasons in plenty for seeking relief—for the young guardsman believes he has "the running" with the wealthy American widow. I think that is true, but that is as far as I would care to go. The widow is now back in the United States, but she is expected shortly in London. She will probably be surprised to learn that Mrs. Cornwallis-West is instructing her lawyers to arrange a "separation"—not suing for a divorce decree.

DEBUTANTE PRESENTED.

Among the debutantes presented at yesterday's court was Lady Iris Capell, one of the very loveliest of this year's "buds." Lady Iris, who will be 18 in June, made an informal entrance into society at Lady Desbrough's ball at Taplow Court. Lady Essex was Miss Adele Grant of New York, a sister of the Marquis de Breteuil, and quite one of the most attractive of the American peeresses, being tall and graceful, and extremely pretty, with soft eyes, dark hair and beautiful complexion, and always remarkably well dressed. She was married in the early 90's to the seventh Earl of Essex, whose seat is historic Cassiobury, Herts, the ancestral home of the Capells since the days of Charles I.

GRAND CROSS OF BATH.

A good deal of interest is being manifested in the forthcoming ceremonial dedication of the Henry VII Chapel in the Abbey, for the service of the Order of the Bath. The Duke of Connaught, as Great Master and Principal Knight Grand Cross, could not be ignored in connection with such a pageant. Accordingly His Royal Highness is arranging to come over from Canada next June for the express purpose of taking part in this impressive ceremony. There is an expectation in the court environment that the Prince of Wales will be invested with the Grand Cross of the Bath beforehand, in order to enable His Royal Highness to join the procession. In that event he will walk immediately behind the Great Master, and his banner will be installed in the Bath chapel in due time.

The Duke of Connaught will be in town for less than a fortnight, and will return immediately to Ottawa. He will be accompanied on the journey to England by the Duchess of Connaught (if, indeed, the Duchess's health does not necessitate her return before them,) and Princess "Pat;" but the royal ladies will stay on to the end of the London season and will take part in the final evening court and state balls at Buckingham Palace.

M'FARLANE CHIEF LOST.

The Clan MacFarlane has lost its chieftain. He has been lost for over a century and a quarter, as a matter of fact, but the Society of the Clan MacFarlane has just decided to find him, following a clew received from the American Southland. A young Georgian farmer is thought to be the rightful owner of the dignities appertaining to the office. There are no other visible assets—the Campbells and the Colquhouns attended to that long ago.

The last chief of whom anything is definitely known was William XXIII, who ran into heavy gambling debts, and disposed of the estate in 1784. He left the country, and since then the family has become scattered, but it is believed that there are still living descendants of the twentieth chief; one is supposed to be the young Georgian. If this branch fails there is a grocer in Glasgow who can trace his genealogy back to the sixteenth chief.

The MacFarlanes lived in the northwest of Dumbartonshire and became famous as cattle raiders, often visiting their enemies, the Campbells and the Colquhouns. So well known did they become that the moon was called in Scottish legend, "The MacFarlane lantern."

REDUCE DOMINICAN DEBT.

Revenues of Republic Continue to Climb According to Report of Receiver-Gen. Pulliam.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Dominican revenues continue to climb and reductions of the national debt occur with gratifying rapidity, according to a report from Receiver-Gen. Pulliam, for the month of December last, supplemental to his annual report recently published. The gross collections for that month were $391,720 or $26,247 in excess of those of December, 1911, while the amount of money applied to the redemption of government bonds during the last calendar year exceeded by $32,000 the sum applied in 1911.

Hamlet.

NORWAY LIKES ITS KING BUT DISLIKES ROYALTY.

Radical Majority Is Storthing Is Depriving Monarch of One Prerogative After Another—The Newspapers Bully the Ruler and Tell Him He Is Neither Useful Nor Ornamental.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

King Haakon,

Who reigns over Norway since its separation from Sweden. King Haakon is popular personally, but the intense hatred of the monarchial form of government by the majority of the Norwegians makes his position difficult.

CHRISTIANI, Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The most sat-on man in all Europe is hapless King Haakon. Even Sultan Mohammed V is relatively blessed, for Mohammed emerged out of Abdul Hamid's prison, whereas Haakon, formerly Charles of Denmark, gave up a pleasant post as popular younger son to take a kingship at $140,000 a year. Even puppet Mohammed gets $2,000,000.

Haakon's trouble is that the Radical-Republican majority now on top is depriving him of every semblance of kingship, and has reached the stage of depriving him of a right which even the mildest monarch retains, that of granting decorations and orders to distinguished—and undistinguished—men. The Radicals have introduced a bill into the Storthing taking this right away.

LEADER OF DEMOCRACY.

Villain in this democratizing tragedy is politician Gunnar Kludsen who came victor out of the general election of last August. Gunnar is easily Norway's greatest man. He is a shipper by trade, who was born in uproarious 1848, and his birthyear made him pugnacious. Gunnar was Finance Minister in the 1905 Cabinet which enforced separation from Sweden; he demanded then a republic, and sooner than acquiesce in the choice of Charles of Denmark he threw up his job. Three years later he formed a Radical-Republican ministry of his own, which did its best to flout and sit on King Haakon; and now that he is boss again he vows that he will flout King Haakon still more.

KING POPULAR; KINGSHIP NOT.

Not only Gunnar Knudsen bullies the King. The newspapers and the Storthing do the same. Newspapers lecture Haakon on his extraordinary good fortune in being King at all. They remind him that he is neither useful nor ornamental, and hint that so far from resenting the filching of his rights he ought to rejoice that he is tolerated at all. They wind up by reminding him that he is popular—which is true—and that they are opposed only to monarchical anachronisms, and by no means to himself. The Storthing's spirit is the same.

NOT TAKEN SERIOUSLY.

"Cutting down the King's power," said a speaker recently, "we do not admit that the King has any power. We like him—three cheers for Haakon VII—but this is a free country, and he can't expect us to take him seriously as a King."

And a stout timber sawman from Bergen added: "In a reformed state the King and all his relatives would practice some trade. Their spare hours would be enough for the reigning business, which they should look on as a recreation."

ANTI-CORONATION LAW.

Hapless King Haakon's first blow was the abolition of coronations. By a narrow shave he was modestly crowned in 1906, but the thrifty Norsemen were so shocked at his seventh-rate extravagance that they swore his coronation would be the last. And almost by unanimous vote the Storthing abolished the coronation ceremony forever.

HAD TO PULL UP TREES.

Other monarchs have a right to plant trees in their gardens, and even butchers and carpenters sometimes claim this right. But when Haakon planted some lime trees in the Slotspark, within a catapult shot of his palace, democratic newspapers told him to take them away. "Norway," they said, "is a free country; save us from opulent Caesarism." King Haakon uprooted the trees. Thereupon expert gardener Herr Groener wrote an article to prove that Haakon was right, and grateful Haakon, with tears of joyful emotion at finding one champion, gave him the Order of the Lion. And this act incensed the jealous guardians of northern liberty, who said that the King ought not to throw orders about. "We do not," they objected, "want Diocletians and Caligulas. This is the twentieth century."

The late Bjoernsterne Bjoernsen and Jonas Lie vowed they would never accept a decoration from the King. When Lie took an order Bjoernsen shed tears. "We vowed our vow sacramentally," he wrote, "at midnight in midwinter on a Polar fjord." The pair quarreled, and appealed to Ibsen. "My rule is to accept all the orders I get," said Ibsen. "The more the merrier."

BRAZIL'S BEST CUSTOMER.

Uncle Sam Buys More Coffee and Rubber Than Ever Before and Increases Oil and Flour Sales.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Brazil sent to the United States 100,000,000 pounds more of coffee in 1912 than in the previous year, while Colombia added 25,000,000 pounds to her quota and Venezuela 14,000,000 pounds, according to figures by the Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce. The total exports from Brazil to this country last year were 675,000,000 pounds; Colombia, 81,000,000, and Venesuela, 38,000,000 pounds. Of India rubber there came to these shores from Brazil last year 45,000,000 pounds, against only 35,000,000 the year before.

On the other hand, Brazil bought from the United States $425,000 worth of agricultural implements in 1912, against $380,000 worth in 1911; 629,000 barrels of wheat flour, against 524,000 barrels, and of illuminating oil 24,000,000 gallons, against 23,000,000 gallons.

COUNTESS IN POVERTY.

Declares She Has Wealthy Relatives in California and Will Inherit Pacific Coast Estate.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

PARIS, Feb. 8.—Considerable surprise and much sympathy is expressed here over the report that the Countess de Chevannes has been discovered in Montmartre in a destitute condition. The wealth of the distinguished authoress has been dissipated through a series of misfortunes.

The Countess was formerly Miss Benson of Philadelphia and she is a relative of the late Archbishop Benson and of the novelist of that name and had wealthy relatives in California. When discovered she told those who came to her aid that she should yet inherit a great fortune and it is stated here she is the next heir to a great estate owned by an uncle in California.

More than twenty-five years ago the Countess married Count de Chevannes. His habits were as extravagant as his pedigree was long. Soon he dissipated her fortune. Penniless, she sat down and wrote a book called "Our Idea," which tells of her courtship and her great love for the spendthrift nobleman, but its strong point is a description of a hunt for a fortune. This hunt was made by the Count and hers was the fortune he so successfully hunted.

CZAREVICH GROWS STRONGER.

Lame Knee of Russian Crown Prince Is Healing and He Is Reported to Be in High Spirits.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

YALTA (Crimea, Russia) Feb. 8.—The Imperial Crown Prince Alexis of Russia is still unable to straighten his left leg at the knee owing to the injury he sustained recently, but according to the physician in attendance, this lameness will rapidly disappear.

Gen. Dumbadze, who returned today from the palace of Tsarskoe-Selo, visited the youthful Prince and conversed with him repeatedly. He says the lad is as full of spirit as ever and has grown considerably taller and more muscular since last spring.

FEW AMERICANS AT COURT.

Wife of American Military Attache Appears with Fifteen-foot Train at Kaiser's Reception.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Very few Americans made their bow before Emperor William at this year's opening court at the palace, at the historic "Schleppen Parade."

Ambassador and Mrs. Leishman presented to their Majesties only the members of the Embassy and their wives and a very few prominent Americans in Berlin.

Mrs. Bjornstad, wife of the American military attache, appeared before the imperial hosts in a gown of pink satin and velours and her fifteen-foot train attracted much notice. Mrs. Bjornstad is a daughter of Mrs. John S. Sabin of San Francisco.

TROOPS CAUSE BANK RUN.

German Soldiers Stationed as Sentries During Mobilization at Metz, Start Depositors' Panic.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

METZ (Germany) Feb. 8.—Consternation was caused today during an experimental mobilization of the Sixteenth army corps, when the commanding general stationed sentinels at the banks.

Affrighted depositors hurried to draw out their money and long lines of them gathered before the doors until the situation was explained. For some time depositors hesitated to believe the statements of the sentinels and the "runs" continued for several hours.

WITNESS FROM THE GRAVE.

German Newspaper Fined for Printing Libel Written by Late Secretary of Foreign Affairs.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—The name of the late Alfred von Kiderlen-Waechter, who died on December 30, while Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, figured in a libel suit heard in a Berlin court.

During the recent European tension, the Korrespondens printed a pessimistic article, which caused a heavy slump on the Berlin bourse. Thereupon the Nord Deutsche Zeitung printed a rebuke intimating that the Korrespondens was influenced by ulterior motives. It was brought out that the rebuke in the Nord Deutsche Zeitung was written by Kiderlen-Waechter. The Nord Deutsche was fined $12.

FRENCH SEASON REVERSED.

Spring Arrives Two Months Too Soon in Paris and Rhododendrons Are in Bloom.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The reversal of the seasons which has been noted in the United States this winter has also marked the weather in France.

The series of abnormally moist and warm days recently experienced in the northern provinces has brought the rhododendrons into bloom in the Parisian suburbs two months before their usual time, while the buds on the fruit trees in the extensive orchards of Normandy and Brittany are already bursting.

PARSIFAL COPYRIGHT.
IT ENDS IN DECEMBER.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—The Imperial Parliament's Committee on Petitions has refused to consider a petition to prolong the copyright of Richard Wagner's opera, "Parsifal," beyond December 31 of this year, when it expires in the ordinary course. The first two signatures on the petition were those of the Crown Prince and Crown Princess.

ULSTER ENMITY IS DYING DOWN.

HOSTILITY TO HOME RULE ON THE WANE.

Titled Nobility Eager to Sit in Irish Parliament—Temporary Lull in Activities of Militant Suffragettes—Girls from Green Isle in American Cities.

BY THOMAS EMMETT.

DUBLIN, Feb. 8.—Only a sudden mishap to the Liberal administration can now prevent the reopening of the Parliament of Ireland a year hence, after a century and more of government under the Act of Union. Gradually, the hostility of Ulster is giving way to preparations to benefit under a new democratic form of legislation. It is significant that Irishmen who have become rich and won titles in England are now looking longingly to participation in the new era in Erin.

I understand that the wealthy Lord Northcliffe is being urged to take a seat in the Irish Senate. All parties would welcome him. As plain Alfred Harmsworth he was a young reporter in Dublin, afterwards an editor of distinction—now, he is the greatest and the most esteemed of all British contemporary publicists. And, in his frank, eager way, he loves the land of his birth.

MILITANTS ADMIT MISTAKE.

There seems to be a lull in the activities of the militant Irish suffragettes. It is generally admitted that the attack on Dublin Castle was a tactical blunder. While Dublin Castle is the general target of oral attacks in this country, nobody wants to see the venerable pile on Cork Hill suffer from vandal hands. Again, the cause of "votes for women" has many friends in Erin's Isle, and it is admittedly only a matter of time when peaceful means will secure the franchise.

IRISH GIRLS ON TOUR.

A number of young Irish girls are now in the United States on a tour through the great cities, to show the wonderful work which the peasant maids can do in manufacturing of the finest laces and embroideries. They expect to return with a lot of useful information as to the possibilities of extending the Irish lace industry in American markets. The girls will hold receptions and give demonstrations of the way the work is done. Their mission is in accord with the new commercial spirit here. Not so many years ago such a commission of young girls would have been deemed an absurdity in the old country.

MIKADO TO PAY VISIT TO POPE.

Cardinal O'Connell to Help in Reception.

Capuchin Chief Who Married Does Penance.

Old Romans Enjoyed Modern Luxuries.

BY CLEMENT J. BARRETT.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

ROME, Feb. 8.—Three months hence an event of world-wide interest to Christianity will take place in Rome. The Mikado of Japan will pay a visit to the Pope, the first visit ever paid by an oriental sovereign to the Vicar of the Vatican.

His Majesty will be received with becoming ceremonials. He will be entertained at one of the most elaborate banquets ever given by a pope to King or Emperor.

It is very probable that the American cardinal, Mons. O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, will be called to Rome to assist in receiving the ruler of Japan. Dr. O'Connell was the Pope's legate to the Emperor's father when the status of Japanese Catholics was being discussed several years ago. He enjoys the personal friendship of the new ruler and his presence will therefor be a deft compliment to the visiting Emperor.

IN SACKCLOTH AND ASHES.

There came recently to Rome a barefooted penitent, who appeared at the Vatican in sackcloth and with ashes on his head, following the ancient Roman rite, now so seldom put in practice. He is Father Benno Auracher, and truly was he penitent.

Father Benno was for years procurator-general of the Capuchin order—the friars who go corded and cowled and with shaven heads and sandaled feet. In 1909 the whole world was shocked to learn that this eminent priest had left the order and the church and married a lady in London. Marriage cured him of his folly. According to priests familiar with the aftermath, the wife of the Capuchin proved herself an unmanageable shrew. In tears and with genuine sorrow he came to the Holy City and to beg forgiveness. The kind-hearted Pope Pius, recalling, no doubt, that both St. Ambrose and St. Columbkille were sorely tempted by wileful women—though these saints proved too strong for the sirens—and being informed by the Vatican officials that the penitence of Father Auracher was real and intense, forgave him and restored him to the priesthood. He has been received back into the Capuchin order, but he no longer is the ruling spirit which he was prior to 1909.

KNOWN TO THE ROMANS.

Caesar, Brutus and others among the ancient Romans would not feel themselves so out of place were they to walk into Los Angeles or New York. The modern elevator, also the radiator, were known to the Romans of the first civilization. So Prof. Boni, the famous archaeologist, assures us.

Commenting upon the fact that three large elevators have been rediscovered in the palace of the Caesars on the Palatine Hill — one "of these with a shaft 120 feet high"—Prof. Boni says:

"Discoveries like these make one realize how little the world has changed in habit or achievements since the days of the old Romans. Take the matter of water supply and baths. There has been found near Pompeii a Roman house in which is installed a first-rate hot-and-cold-water system. The occupants could turn on hot or cold water, or both, just as in a modern house, and this was toward the end of the first century, A. D.

"A mode of bathing remarkably like the modern Turkish bath is described by Celsus, a writer on the art of medicine. He advises the bather to go first into a moderately-heated room, and perspire slightly, after which he should anoint himself and pass into a hot-air room. Having perspired there, he should pour hot, warm and cold water, by turns, over his head; then scrape himself with a strigil and finally anoint himself—this last process being probably a precaution against cold. The strigil was a curved piece of metal much used for cleaning purposes by the athletes and bathers of ancient Rome.

"The ancient Romans were good cooks and had advanced types of kitchen implements. At Pompeii was found an implement consisting of a long handle and a rectangular pan with twenty-eight circular depressions—used for baking cakes or poaching eggs.

"Few people recollect that the Romans introduced a system of heating their houses by hot air. The stove-holes were outside and were connected by shafts by which the air circulated under the floors and up inside the walls. Seneca, writing in the first century, regarded such a system as an enervating luxury, but by the third century it was in general use.

"As to articles of the toilet, we could teach the Romans but little. They had combs, razors, toothpicks, nail files (with a roughened surface and a smooth notch for polishing), mirrors, toilet boxes, scent bottles, pins, brooches, hooks and eyes. Of course, many of these things were much used long before the Romans; the principle of the safety pin goes back, for instance, to very ancient civilizations."

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—A resolution regretting the hesitation of the German army authorities in introducing an "army bill on a grand scale corresponding to the gravity of the present time," was unanimously adopted today by the Executive Committee of the Imperial League of German Towns which is composed of representatives of towns with less than 25,000 population.

The resolution further declares that the "smaller towns of Germany, although already heavily burdened, are willing to make great financial sacrifices in order to render the fatherland able to throw its sword into the scale in favor of European peace."

MANCHU PRINCE TO UPLIFT CHINA.

Dowager Empress' Favorite Here on Mission.

Loves Common People for Saving His Life.

Life's Ambition to Educate Lower Classes.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch.] Behind a young prince's determination to educate China is a story of his rescue from wreckage in a spring flood by a merchant junk with "big white wings."

Prince Changmon Sity Lee, favorite of the old Dowager Empress and member of the ancient Manchu dynasty whose power went with the coming of the new republic, at the Auditorium Hotel told the story of the rescue that made him love the common folk of his country and devote his life to saving his people as they had saved him.

The Prince, an unassuming soft-spoken young man, is in Chicago to interview manufacturers, learn methods of organization and to gain knowledge that will enable him to build factories in his own country and teach his people to make simple necessaries, such as clothing and shoes.

OPPOSES NEW REPUBLIC.

The young prince was outspoken in his opposition to the new republic, arguing that while the new party is working for civilization and the betterment of the people, it proposes to overthrow or change everything. He argues that the people first must be educated.

"To educate my people is my life ambition," he said. "When I was 13 years of age a great flood came into our province. The people screamed and fought and starved and drowned. I was not afraid. I stayed in the palace and played ball. When I looked out and saw the great flood I got on a paddle and floated far out in the river. I saw several people drown. I saw homes destroyed.

FLOATED ALL NIGHT.

"All night I paddled and in the morning a merchant junk with great white wings picked me up. I lived at the captain's house a week. That changed my life. I studied the people. I learned to love them. I said I would spend my life working for them. Since then I have been fitting myself at Oxford and by travel to carry out my purpose."

The young Prince was outspoken in China after he has finished studying farming and manufacturing conditions, schools and the press and he will draw on many students to aid him in writing pamphlets, papers, plays, books—anything to educate the people.

English House of Commons Hears Suggestion to Deport Militant Women to St. Helena.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch.] Unless Mrs. and the Misses Pankhurst and Mrs. Drummond are very careful their fate may yet be "The rock," where died Napoleon the Great.

In the House of Commons Wednesday Sir Arthur Markham asked the Home Secretary if he would consider the question of deporting suffragettes out of the country.

"Where to?" shouted members.

"To St. Helena," retorted Markham amid laughter and jeers.

FRANCE TO HELP CHURCHES.

Bill Will Be Introduced in Parliament to Establish Sustentation Fund for Poor Congregations.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The French government shortly will introduce a bill in Parliament supplementing the congregations act of 1910. The bill will establish a common fund from which relief may be granted to members of the religious congregations, the liquidation of whose property has failed to realize a sufficient sum of money for their adequate support.

The bill also will define conditions under which members of the suppressed congregations may be granted permission to reside in France and provides for the manner of distribution of any surplus among the national charitable institutions and schools.

SIX NEW HATS EVERY MONTH.

Latest Dictate of Modistes in Paris.

Poincare to Extend French Colonies.

Duke Dies Twice to Please His Heir.

BY PAUL VILLIERS.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

PARIS, Feb. 8.—From one excess to another is fashion's pace in Paris. Lewis', the well-known modiste, who has just been decorated with the Legion d'honneur, believes that no woman can afford to invest in less than six new hats a month.

"Otherwise," says this undoubtedly interested, if certainly well-informed authority, "it cannot be said she is up to date with society's modes."

That is the trouble. It seems impossible to most women who really want to keep up to date to do so and keep within the allowance given by sorely pestered husband or fathers.

You see, society will take its cue from the extremists, and these are without conscience.

For instance, there is Monna Delza, who says 200,000 francs is the minimum for a woman of fashion. And Monna Delza has led the way with the diamond-studded heels which are the dernier cri in this gay city.

Monna Delza is a very little lady. Yet she says she needs five or six hats a month, at least three new frocks, four complete sets of lingerie, besides all sorts of other things. It costs 10,000 francs each winter just to renovate her furs, computed to be worth no less than 250,000 francs.

And there are other even more extreme cases.

POINCARE IS MASTER.

M. Poincare is already showing that he is to be the real master of the French republic during his seven years' term. He is going to extend the colonies of France and is preparing to appoint a commission to report upon conditions in the over-the-sea territories of the republic.

Incidentally, there is an amusing story which may explain in part some recent events in the American Pacific possessions, the Philippines.

Many French interests are heavily identified with the development of these islands. For example, the great perfume concerns demand for the supply of a large proportion of their raw material upon the rare perfume of Luzon—ylang-ylang among others.

When the report was received that Congress might give the Philippines independence these interests became alarmed. It was feared that the Filipinos might not prove easy to do business with in a commercial way. It was also feared that Filipino knowledge of the wealth of their products—through American enlightenment—might cause an embargo to be placed upon exports of these raw materials.

So, someone hit upon the idea of suggesting to M. Poincare the desirability of buying the Philippines from the United States. It was urged that they would be easily handled as the French possessions in Cochin-China are only a few miles or so from the northern Luzon seaboard. M. Poincare smiled. He did not give the proposition a moment's serious consideration—for two reasons. He does not think that the United States would sell the islands under any circumstances—however, Congress may be disposed to act on the plea for independence; and France is not in a position to undertake the policing of new territory in Asia. The new colonies must be nearer home.

DIED A SECOND TIME.

The Duc de Dubrec, one of the most popular Parisian clubmen, died recently—twice. He had to die a second time in order to save his son and heir from expensive proceedings as a ward in chancery.

The old duke died first at 10 p.m. He popped off suddenly. Many friends had been invited to attend the supper which was to be given at midnight in celebration of the coming of age of his heir. It was most exasperating—quite a calamity. The family lawyer was heard to bemoan his friend's lack of tact in crossing Acheron just two hours in time for the French chancery courts to feast upon the ducal preserves. You see, in France it is much easier to get into chancery than to get out of it; and as young Dicky Vanderbilt said, explaining the fact that his pretty wife was still dressing for a coaching expedition, "two hours is such a very short time."

Everybody was sympathizing with the heir when a young American doctor interposed.

"My friends," he said, "you mistake. The Duke is not yet dead—not necessarily dead, I mean."

Thinking that the doctor—a close friend of the young duke—was delicately offering the suggestion that the certificate might be deferred until after midnight most of the guests were shocked. It would never do. There were too many witnesses. The secret would not be safe. "I mean, he must die again," observed the youthful doctor, a pallid, thoughtful man. He was enjoying the perturbation of the others.

"And, if your will only permit me, he shall die again," he added.

Taking a pity upon the heir, he explained that science could revive life for a time, at least—the heart could be induced to beat again, the old duke to breathe. The family physician admitted he had heard of such feats, but could not perform the operation.

"Let me try," said the young American doctor. He was given permission, and sure enough, the old duke not merely breathed once more and satisfied the legal witnesses that he was legally "alive," but he sat up and quaffed a goblet of champagne to the health of his heir. Then, just three minutes after midnight, he politely expired a second time. Noblesses oblige.

STRAWBERRIES IN ALASKA.

A Cold-Resisting Plant Found on the Coast of Sitka Has Been Made a Prolific Bearer.

[Washington Star:] Native-grown strawberries and cream in Alaska would have sounded like a comic supplement joke a few years ago. But they are now actualities, according to the experiment station report of the Department of Agriculture. Of course, the resident millionaires of the Klondike could afford to import strawberries from Indo-China if they wanted to do so, but they prefer to grow them locally, and if the present prospects hold out they are likely to become a regular market commodity and within reach of the common mine laborer who makes only $15 or $20 a day.

The Department of Agriculture was interested in Alaska fruit culture for a long time, and explorers brought cold-resistant plants from all quarters. Many of them did well, and the department is now experimenting there with a black currant that will live out of doors at a temperature of 58 below. But the residents could not find a strawberry that would stand the climate and bear fruit inside the narrow time limit allowed by an Alaskan summer.

Finally the plant breeders took hold of the problem. The plant breeder is one of the latest developments of science. He is the wizard of the new horticulture. They found a little native member of the strawberry family down on the coast, near Sitka. The fruit was about as eatable as a mock-orange, but it was a native and inured to the climate. This was crossed with a good fruit-bearing plant from the States, and the result has developed as a cold-resisting plant that bears a better fruit than either of its parents. The experiment station has been growing them and next year they will be generally put out in the local gardens.

As for cream, that is easy. The day has passed when Alaska had to depend on the "tin cow" and get its milk from the condensing factories. The department started several years ago with a small herd of the little shaggy, black Galloway cattle and found they took kindly to the soil and climate of Kodiak Island. To be sure, the big brown Kodiak bears that are big as elephants ate a few, and last year there was a volcano over on the mainland, sixty-two miles away that sifted ashes down on the pastures and starved a few more to death. But the cattle did well in spite of handicaps and the department now is selecting some of the best milkers and building up a regular dairy herd.

Butter from the native cows has sold at times in Alaska cheaper than it was doing on the same date in Washington. So the cream for the native strawberries is assured. It is true that the department has not yet found a sugar cane that will grow inside the Arctic circle and the Alaskans still have to import their sugar, but if the sugar beet man is to be trusted, he thinks in time he can develop a sugar beet that will grow on the Yukon. If that is the case, Alaska will feel so independent of the rest of the country that the chances are she will raise a kick in Congress for an autonomous form of government.

THE MOST ANCIENT STATUETTES.

Found in a French Cave and Believed to Be Twelve Thousand Years Old.

[London Standard:] Count Beguen has communicated to the French Academy of Inscriptions an interesting acount of discoveries made by him in the cave of Tuc-d'Audoubert, in the Department of Ariege. He said:

"At one place the low-roofed passage seemed completely blocked by pillars of stalactites from floor to ceiling, but behind the passage looked as if it was prolonged. My sons did not hesitate to break down the columns and to make a small burrow beyond, through which we managed to crawl. At the end of this gallery, more than 700 yards from the entrance to the cavern, propped up against fragments of rock fallen from above, we found two clay statuettes measuring about twenty-four inches, almost intact and representing bisons.

"In drying the clay had slightly cracked, and some of these cracks run right across, but as they are supported against the rock, they have kept together. Only the tip of the right horn and the tail of the cow have fallen, and lie at its feet. The artist of 12,000 years ago has treated his subject in bas-relief. Only one side, the right, is finished; the other, which is stuck against the rock, is barely indicated. On the clay can be plainly seen the traces left by the modelling hand, and on the ground between the two animals pellets of clay still bear the imprints of fingers."

Before reaching the spot where he found these statuettes Count Beguen passed through many subterranean galleries, whose floors were paddled with thousands of tracks of bears mixed with a few human footprints. Count Beguen sugests that this may have been a species of temple, or rendezvous for ritual ceremonies and dances, such as may be seen today among the savage tribes of Africa. It is the first time that clay statues have been found of such antiquity, their age being put by some of the savants at 20,000 years. Not only did some extraordinary luck save the fragile relics from the falling rocks, but it is remarkable that the medium of clay should have been able to resist so long, and appear almost as fresh as a week after it left the hands of the artist.

STEERAGE RATES.

THIRTY DOLLARS TO AMERICA.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

HAMBURG, Feb. 8.—The German and Dutch steamship lines announced today the steerage rate from Europe to Canada would be cut to $30 instead of $40. The cut includes also the Austro-American service from Trieste, Austria to Montreal.

Red Hair Is Disappearing.

[New York Sun:] Red hair is a real thing, not the Titian tinted kind appearing, and there are comparatively few persons today who resort to it. Dye has probably something to do with its departure.

Red-haired persons need never have any misgivings. On the contrary they ought to feel proud when they remembered that Sylla, Cato, Columbus, Sir Philip Sidney, Bayard, William Oliver Cromwell and Ben Jonson all possessed red hair, while even Shakespeare inclined that way.

The curious thing is that the Saxons ought not to be dark-haired, according to a census made recently. Dorsetshire contains more red-haired persons than any other county.

Musical Tones in Architecture.

[Christian Herald:] It has long been believed that each of the ancient buildings of the world will vibrate in response to some special musical tone. Architects believe that they have found the tones for such famous structures as the Cathedral of Cologne; Notre Dame in Paris and St. Paul's in London. Certainly it is true that each of these buildings responds to the ear of the listener that one tone intensified and augmented to a surprising extent. The corollary to this statement that this legend if sounded long enough and with sufficient force would bring disaster has never been proved.

Pictorial Fruit in London.

[Chicago Interocean:] Fruiterers' shops in the West End of London have pictorial fruit to display, and a loyal Britisher sells an apple with King George's head on the skin of it for from $1 to $1.50. In Paris, where the fruit portraits are made, rich Americans are making a hit by ordering before each of their guests at elegant banquets a peach or some fruit being a faithful sun picture of the diner's features.

Rutherford Concert.

Dufferin Rutherford, one of Los Angeles' most gifted young tenors, left last night for Santa Barbara, where he is specially engaged to give a programme today with the Heinrich Schindler quartette at Hotel Potter. Mr. Rutherford will sing a programme of modern songs, including some of the most representative works from French, German and Italian composers. His numbers will be "Dream Song," from "Manon," Massenet; "Ai, picure," Georgs Hue; "Malgre-moi," Pfeiffer; "Spring," Hildach; "O," Densa; "The Day Is Gone," Margaret Ruthven Lang; "Like the Rose-bud," Frank La Forge; "I Hear You Calling Me," Marshall.

Local Composers.

Songs by two of the most talented local composers have been received from the publishers this week. One of these is "O Golden Sun," by Miss Dana Freebey, and already the popularity of this number is so great that requests are coming for an arrangement for low voice. Miss Freebey's song was accepted last autumn by Miss Gadski for her programmes, and will be sung soon at the People's orchestra concerts by a noted local dramatic soprano, who declares the song admirable for her voice. The other song is by Homer Grunn, the composer-pianist, whose creative work is attracting such widespread attention. Mr. Grunn has set to music a poem, "Just California," written by John McGroarty, and with its atmosphere of spacious grandeur and its rhythmic suggestion of the beating of the sea on the sands, the music is especially well suited to the poem.

Teachers' Association.

One of the events of musical importance for the year was the playing at the meeting of the Teachers' Association, on Friday evening, of the Fuhrer trio, which includes Miss Bessie Fuhrer, violinist; Miss Lucy Fuhrer, 'cellist, and May MacDonald Hope, pianist. Each of these young artists appeared in solo numbers, while the beautiful Dvorak trio opened the programme. The audience was especially large and attentive, in compliment to the young musicians, who have but just returned from a prolonged course of study in Germany, and the reception accorded them was delightfully appreciative.

OVER THE SEA.

Earl Beauchamp is reported to have been selected to succeed the Duke of Connaught as Governor-General of Canada when the Duke and Duchess return to England next summer. Earl Beauchamp was Mayor of Worcester in 1895, Governor of New South Wales from 1899 to 1900 and Lord Steward of the household of King Edward.

The most talkative man in the House of Commons last year was Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George. Between the commencement of the session on St. Valentine's Day, 1912, and the Christmas adjournment the Chancellor spoke 331 columns of Hansard, the official report. Mr. Bonar Law, the Unionist leader, spoke 165 columns and stands next on the list, since a Hansard column contains on an average about 500 words, it is estimated that Mr. Lloyd George has 165,500 words and Mr. Bonar Law 110,000 words.

There are three nonagenarians in the British House of Lords—the Earl of Wemyss, Lord Strathcona and the Duke of Grafton, and this year will be the number doubled. In April Lord Courtown will celebrate his ninetieth birthday. Lord Cross will have a similar age in the following year, and in August Earl Nelson will complete his ninetieth year.

Pierre Bonamel-Roy, son of an orderly officer of the Emperor Napoleon, was born at the palace of Versailles on March 25, 1807, and as a child was a favorite of the King of Rome, a playmate of him by the little Prince before both in his possession; he distinctly remembers the Emperor and his many ways with children. This interesting centenarian now has to live on 50 cents a day, the pension accorded to aim by the Paris public authorities.

Miss Fenton is an Englishwoman who is secretary of the Imperial Cricket Club and a match has been arranged through one of the London papers between a woman's rifle team and a team made up of men. Miss Fenton has made up of ten and says that each of them will fall below 97 in a possible 100 in hitting the bull's eye.

Barker Bros. the Very Best Store in Which to Buy Home Furnishings

SOME STORES have only extravagant furniture for those who will buy nothing else; other stores have nothing but cheaply-made furniture for those who cannot buy better grades, but BARKER BROS.' STORE HAS THE BEST FURNITURE AND HOME FURNISHINGS FOR THE GREAT MAJORITY OF PEOPLE—both the finest and the lowest price, and every grade between these extremes.

Nowhere will you find as satisfactory home furnishing merchandise as at BARKER BROS. In no other store in America are facilities for the making of more "livable" homes surpassed or even equaled. Nowhere are stocks so well exhibited, and the buying of furnishings so full of profit and pleasure as in this store.

Service!

—the ball bearings of business

—If you eliminate the ball bearings of certain parts of machinery, the machine does not do the work expected of it—it does not render "efficient service." Great establishments like BARKER BROS., must "run smooth"—there must be "efficient service" in every way. And that is just what you will find here—a service of dependable merchandise, popular prices, maximum values, permanent satisfaction, liberality, courtesy and a spirit of absolute fairness to each and every patron.

Linoleums

—We have something of great importance to say to you regarding linoleums. We want to tell you about a line we have been selling for over ten years—a line of IMPORTED INLAID LINOLEUMS—the famous GREENWICH make—manufactured in England, and superior in every way to all other makes.

GREENWICH inlaid linoleum is made of pure cork and linseed oil and positively will not discolor by repeated washing. Every color is made separate and the patterns cut and laid in, the same as tile, after which it passes between heavy rollers and is pressed firmly to the foundation of burlap, thus making the lines perfect between the pattern. GREENWICH linoleum will look as clear and bright, after years of service, as when first put down.

WE guarantee every yard of it. It costs no more than other less reliable makes and it pays to invest in such dependable floor coverings. We are exclusive dealers for this celebrated line. We ask you to look at our display of GREENWICH linoleum in our windows this week.

Linoleum at 50c

—Three patterns to choose from; regular 65c; printed qualities, laid, per square yard, at 50c

LINOLEUM at 60c—just three patterns in this lot; regular 80c quality, per square yard 60c

LINOLEUM at $1—regular $1.25 inlaid quality; four patterns in this lot; laid, per square yard, at $1

LINOLEUM at $1.25—regular $1.55 quality; only four patterns; laid, per square yard, at..... $1.25

Draperies

—One need hunt no further than Barker Bros. to find exactly the kind and quality of draperies they require. All through the range of drapery and decorative fabrics—window hangings, door hangings and furniture coverings—here will be found a marvelous collection, embracing practically every weave and coloring manufactured.

IN our drapery section this week there will be found unusual economies in various lines. It will be worth your time to come!

Credit!

—the channel through which business flows

—Did you ever stop to think how credit plays a mighty important part in our lives. How many of the luxuries and modern necessities of life do you think we would enjoy if there were no extension of credit? Water, gas, electric light and other public utilities are supplied us on credit. Credit enables the business man to progress; and credit no less serves to bring into our homes the very things necessary to genuine home comfort and happiness. The credit service offered by the House of Barker Bros. is unequaled in its accommodating character, its fairness to all patrons in the arrangement of settlement, and its economic advantages. This credit service is for you!

Quality Rugs

—In choosing floor coverings at Barker Bros. you have every advantage in your favor to contribute to more satisfactory selections than are possible elsewhere. You have here a larger variety in patterns, and a far more complete range of sizes than shown elsewhere. We carry regularly several thousand sample patterns, embracing practically every weave and color combination made. We are able to meet your exact wants at lowest possible cost.

Piano Benches

—It is quite frequently necessary to replace the old piano stool or bench, that has seen years of service, with one of the newer and more comfortably designed styles. From our varied stock of piano benches you will find no difficulty in selecting one that will perfectly match your piano, both in general style and finish. And you can buy one for so insignificant an amount, compared to the added pleasure you will obtain, that the quicker you look over our assortment, the sooner you will begin to appreciate the difference.

Refrigerators

—The season during which you require a refrigerator in California is practically a "year around one," consequently, it is most important that you should buy one which will require least ice to maintain a satisfactory low temperature.

LEONARD REFRIGERATORS require just about one-half the quantity of ice that ordinary refrigerators consume. This saving, in the course of time, will be enough to practically pay the entire cost of the refrigerator itself. Aside from the economy, it pays to buy a Leonard or Grand Rapids Refrigerator, because of their sanitary construction. More than this, we make it worth while from the cost standpoint alone to favor these makes in your buying.

—We have just placed on our floors a recent shipment of the famous Leonard refrigerators, which we would like you to see.

—4th floor, Household Dept.

SHE "PUT IT OVER"

The Triumph of a Los Angeles Girl in Chicago—Enrica Clay Dillon Scales Ladder of Fame in a Night.

BY KATHRINE STICE

In the Chicago Record-Herald.

At 8 o'clock on the night of January 4, 1913, Enrica Clay was unknown to the audience assembled in the Auditorium Theater of Chicago to hear Mme. Carolina White in the role of Aida. Three hours later Enrica Clay was famous. For in the time between there had happened one of those dramatic triumphs that make the grand opera stage the promised land for ambitious young women who can sing.

Mme. Carolina White, owing to a combination of circumstances for which she had no control, failed to appear with the rest of the Chicago Grand Opera Company scheduled for the occasion. Her part was sung that night by one of the members of the company who had never before sung on the operatic stage in America.

The girl who was thrust into the diva's role at the eleventh hour was prayed in the Egyptian garments loaned her by another member of the company, the Countess de Cisneros, and who was bidden to do her best to satisfy the demands of the thousands of people who had come in the expectation of hearing the well-known prima donna, was for her that night, the occasion of her first operatic appearance in her native America, the laurels of fame.

Enrica Clay went on the stage of the Auditorium Theater an unknown singer. She can never be sure whether it was for the glory she found on that first step of her house of life is to be climbing to be again conceited, but the queer part of it all is that she did not know as she bowed to the applauding audience that the cheers were for her, didn't know that the applause was Andreas Dippel, the manager, and Cleofonti Campanini, the conductor, was more than mere kindness to a beginner; didn't know that the praise of her fellow-singers was the sincere tribute of artists to a genius of equal; didn't know that she had stepped into her own. Her finding it was one of those fairy tales that the weaves to keep us working at our looms.

THOUGHT APPLAUSE WAS OF KIND.

The immaculate walls, the dark floors, the white mantel, the mirror-backed walnut furniture and the straight-lined marble-topped table of the parlor of the Convent of the Sisters of Mercy at Walnut avenue and Twenty-ninth street were a setting that only the greatest of stage managers, Chance, would have chosen for the scene where a girl learned that all her dreams of fame had come true. A discerning critic would have chosen the room behind the scenes of the Auditorium Theater.

Enrica Clay hurried out of the borrowed garments of the part of Aida into her dark dress and coat and little fur hat. A less modest girl than Enrica Clay would have known that she had scored one of the most sensational triumphs in the history of grand opera in Chicago.

The people coming out from the Auditorium, where they had come to hear White in the role of the Egyptian slave and had remained to hear a girl whom they had never heard before, and of whom they had never heard, knew that the unheralded singer had won one of those rare triumphs that made grand opera a stepping-stone land. The other singers, the orchestra leader, the orchestra players and the chorus all knew that the girl from the West had scaled in a night the ladder of fame. But they did not know that she, too, knew it, and she in turn considered their praise as the kindliness of friendship for a fellow-climber. And so she went from the Auditorium on the floor of the elevated and walked around the block to the convent, where the Sisters of Mercy have made a home for the girls who come to Chicago to work. And on the threshold she met the vigilant guard of fame, the squad of reporters who had preceded her, impatient for the news of her personal triumph.

She listened to them in silence, a breathless, splendid-looking girl, glimpsing a future of achievement as a realization came to her of what their visit portended. She tried to force herself to coherent utterance about herself in answer to their questions.

But finally the thrilling joy of success brimmed over her cup of restraint. "Do you really, honestly mean," she demanded of her interviewers, "that I've put it over?"

A DAUGHTER OF THE WEST.

They went out laughing at the buoyancy of her youth, her Americanism. But she turned to the Sister of Mercy who stood ready to give her tribute of praise, and cried as if she had staked her future on one throw and lost it. And then, being a very wise woman, and a grand opera star to be, she decided if the girl who had "put it over" failed to sleep that night it was not because she was building castles in Spain. She says that she was glad that its promise came to her thought of the future, and that faith others have had in her she has been thinking of the way in which she came to the glory of brilliant, apparently instantaneous success, looking back over a childhood and girlhood of work and struggle.

Yesterday, in the convent parlor, she talked of places of interest, little of herself. But Enrica Clay Dillon—for that's her full name—can't talk of herself in such a way that the one who listens wants her to keep on talking. For she has the rare gift of speech with personality of manner and she's interesting for more than her voice, and her cleverness and her success. Enrica Clay is the sort of girl whose friends are proud of her and whose friendships want to be her friends.

She is a western girl, a daughter of the late Judge H. C. Dillon, of Los Angeles. Born in Dayton, O., in her childhood on a California ranch where she was more interested in the riding of horses than interested in the books that her father and mother, made her study, for she didn't want to go to school but she did want to travel, and so her parents wisely held out to her the hope of attending college at Mt. Holyoke.

She studied at college for a year, although she, felt there no need for it now, that college was not the foundation for an artistic career she had already decided, considering her western ideas of [illegible] with her New England training, that she would be an opera singer. But she had discovered that college was on her way to the height of her ambition.

"I'm not really sorry that I went to college," she said, "for I'll be able to advise it for another girl who wants to go into opera. She can see that and she could spend the time to much better advantage in the study of those things that will help her. For one thing, she can get in touch with life outside of the four walls.

"And then the time's not wasted at all, for preparation for [illegible]

Songs in a Garden.

Rose leaves in my hands,
I see you all away;
Winds shall blow you through the world,
Break my wedding day.

Where you go, or West you go
And fall on land or sea,
The one that I love best
To bring him here to me.

If he finds me spinning
A short I'll break the thread;
If he finds me dancing
To dance with him instead;
And finds me at the mass—
Let this not be,
I forget my sweetest saint—
(And while he kneels by me!)

Lilies are like nuns in white
That guard me well all day,
But red, red rose that near them grows
Is wiser far than they.

Red rose, wise rose,
Keep my secret well;
I kiss you twice, I kiss you thrice
To say you not to tell.

Sleep beneath the moon
And side awake are you,
You have heard a certain word
To make a dream come true.

Red rose, wise rose,
Do for my sake,
Give tonight a petal light
To my white lilies wake.

—Dorothea Garrison in Scribner's Magazine.

Electrification of the Earth.

[Boston News:] The electrification of the earth is a problem of the physicists. As stated by Dr. George C. [illegible] observations from pole to pole have proven that the earth is a charged sphere, and that of negative electricity into the air is equivalent to a current of more than 1000 amperes. Yet the charge of the surface remains undiminished. More than negative electricity is brought down by rain, etc., and no sign of a return current of 1000 amperes is known and no explanation is known.

Prince's Great Library.

[Springfield Republican:] The Bibliotheque Nationale, which already has forty-four miles of shelves, will in the next few months, add five miles to its total. The French library now contains over 2,000,000 volumes, and the number in other national libraries, but as an institution it is much behind the times. For one thing, there is no artificial light, and of the year the huge collections of knowledge is quite useless, as they are closed except during a few hours in the middle of the day.

If the girl who had "put it over" failed to sleep that night it was not thought of the future, except to be glad that its promise justified the faith others have had in her. But she has been thinking of the way by which she came to the glory of brilliant, apparently instantaneous success, looking back over a childhood and girlhood of work and adversity.

Yesterday, in the convent parlor, she talked of places of people and little of herself. But Enrica Clay
Dillon—for that's her full name—talk of herself in such a way that one who listens wants her to keep on talking. For she has the wonderful gift of speech with personality in manner and she's interesting in more than her voice, and her hapness and her success. Enrica Clay the sort of girl whose friends are proud of her and whose acquaintances want to be her friends.
She is a western girl, a daughter the late Judge H. C. Dillon of Los Angeles. Born in Denver, she spent her childhood on a California ranch where she was more actively interested in the riding of mustangs than in the books that her New England mother made her study. She didn't want to go to school, but she did want to travel, and so her father wisely held out to her the bait of tending college at Mt. Holyoke.
She studied at college faithfully although she felt there as she knew now, that college was no essential foundation for an artistic career. She had already decided, combining her western ideas of accomplishment with her New England ideas of future, that she would use the voice of her way to the heights of fame.
"I'm not really sorry that I went to college," she said, "but I'd never advise it for another girl who wants to go into opera. She doesn't need it, and she could spend the money much better advantage in the study of those things that she does need.
For one thing, she could get in touch with life outside the conventional walls.
"And then the time's so short, after all, for preparation for a grand opera

Unless you realize that five years abroad is really too short a time to acquire a foundation. That's one reason why so many American girls fail. It's not their voices," she said, the young priestess voicing the tale of her success with the lamps as she turned to her eagerness to help to her sisters who have not yet won laurels, "for the American girl has quality and strength of voice equal to any. It's not lack of physical strength, nor of will power, nor of endurance. It's not courage.
She has all these in equal degree with anyone. But it's a question of time.

WHY AMERICAN GIRLS OFTEN
FAIL.

The girl who is sent to Europe by the fondness of some woman's faith in her future goes with the determination of proving her worth in the shortest possible time because of the limitation of money. She works slavishly at the study of music and of singing. She gives herself no rest from the study of brain or voice. And when she comes back at the end of two or three years her voice is ruined by her intensity of work and by what she does not do herself right. And that's why many girls fail.
"The language in opera," she continued, "is another handicap that the American girl suffers from. Opera in French or Italian or German isn't sung in those languages because they are more melodious, but because it is the language of the country where the opera is to be produced.
There is no reason in the world why opera shouldn't be sung in English.
The absurdity of the wording that spreads the idea of opera in England so ridiculous to so many people will be eliminated by the employment of good translators that will prescribe the colloquial of one country to the colloquial of another.
Now, it's funny to hear 'Come to my little angel,' but wouldn't that translator set it down, 'Come to my dear'?"
In the fabric of ideas like this Enrica Clay wove as she mused over her European studies, ending in her European triumph. For her first appearance made in the Pergolesi opera in Jesi five years ago in the home of La Sennambula brought not only enthusiastic approbation from the critical public of Jesi, but the invitation to sing as Violetta in the famous Theater of Venice and at the Pergolesi. There she sang
Mimi and "Fedora" at the Duke of Aosta Theater in the city of Christoforo Columbus.

SINGS BEFORE EDWARD VII.

It was in Malta that Enrica reached the summit of grand opera stature. In Malta she sang before Edward VII of England. It was the first operatic performance that the much attended, and his enjoyment of it was so great that the young girl was summoned again and again to receive a decoration from the King and Duchess of Connaught, who sat as Tosca at the gala performance given there to honor the visiting American fleet.
The story of that night at Malta is one of those stories that need the delicate touch of Stephen Crane to give to its background, the great stage than the stage with the glitter of the women and the brilliant uniforms of the men.
In the ballroom court of the Duke and Duchess the staff officers in red and gold, the white uniforms of the fleet commanders, made a background which the singer gazed upon as a gallery where the jackies and the girl on the stage, the latter wore the decoration of a Russian, had come from the Palace. She had been there when the news of the battle of Ma-jaba had been flashed across the waters. She had a heritage with that kind of men who had fought for American freedom and she had sung in the latter-day American way. And it was to the men who had fought for and won them that she sang that night in Malta.
Then, too. From pit and gallery came their answers, cheers and cheers that made Enrica Clay back after the curtain had gone down. And it was the thrilling applause that buoyed her up as she stepped to the footlights, raised her head and began the stirring song of defiance—
"Now you see by the dawn's early light," followed by an orchestra that just rendered "God Save the King."

"I have every line of it," she said as she recounted the story.
"One of the things an American learns by living in Europe. She learns and things American."

Songs in a Garden.

ALTERATION SALE

—The alteration sale goes merrily on, accompanied by ring of hammers—hustle and bustle—but the thing of greatest importance is—THE BARGAINS. It's a regular house-clearing time. Odd lines, short ends and special purchases combine to make this alteration sale one of importance to the man or woman with a need to fill. Many good things for the housewife this week—and the men—they'll appreciate the values made possible by the fact that we're closing out our entire stock of Men's Goods at just about cost. Make it a point not to overlook the hour specials. They mean savings worth while to the early shopper.

Our Initial Showing of New Spring Suits at $25.00

This Model $35.00.

We have always made a specialty of suits at $25.00, because the demand is greatest and we sell more $25.00 suits than any other one price during the season. In specializing thus we can bring to you the very ultimate degree of suit value for a moderate price.
This spring we have secured a lot of particularly attractive and desirable materials in our line of $25.00 suits.
Natty styles and such wanted cloths as fancy striped eponge, fine serges and worsteds, light weight mixtures, herringbone and diagonal weaves.
The perfection of tailoring is apparent in these new spring models, one of which is sketched here, although mannish and strictly tailored, is the keynote.
We show more than twenty different designs in regular and extra sizes. The most popular colors are tans, grays, leather shades, ivory, hair line stripes and shepherd checks and plain blacks.

Spring Coats for Street & Auto Wear
Are Here in Clever New Models
Smart gray; white and black and white striped worsteds and diagonals; also black and white; tan and white plaids; plain boucle, ratine and eponge are the most favored materials for early spring wear.
Covert Cloth, too, makes a strong bid for popularity and is shown in many refined and beautifully tailored designs.
The rather bizzarre shades are plentifully shown for both street and auto wear, while tan, snuff-color, rose, sand and taupe are among the leaders; navy and black being always good, especially in serges and diagonals.
Straightline tubular cut coats are most in evidence; the average length is 45 inches, and practically all styles have cutaway fronts. The waist line is extremely low, and coats close mostly low and on the side.
There are many little touches of color added in Persian or Ratine Collars, covered buttons, and loops, but the general effect is "Mannish" and strictly tailored. Prices range as low as $12.50 and $15.00, From that to $20.00, $25.00 and $35.00.

This Suit $25.00.

BE A WISE WOMAN

REMEMBER: A $5.00 Nemo Corset gives you EVERYTHING you can get in ANY corset—except frills and fancy fabrics.

NO woman need pay more than $5.00 for a corset. You can't get a more stylish, better-fitting, more comfortable and long-wearing corset than a $5.00 Nemo, at any price—whether imported or domestic, ready-made or made to order.

Of course you can pay more if you want fancy fabrics, expensive trimmings or a Paris label; but these add nothing to the comfort and wear. And there are Nemo Corsets at higher prices; but these represent elaborate special features, which, however, are well worth the money if you need the special service and can afford the additional cost. The models shown above are intended—

For Wise Women, Who Demand Their Full Money's Worth

IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Berendo-street Intermediate.

That enterprising educational institution known as Berendo-street Intermediate has issued its semi-annual "Berendo Life," and a very snappy and entertaining magazine it is. The editorials by Wienand Esgen have the real "punch," the cartoons by Ellen Berndt and Robert Haggerty were amusing and original, not to say daring. Following are the other members of the staff: "The Alumni," Morris Ankrum; School Notes, Phyllis Adam; Music, Dorothy Darling; Calendar, Bessie Tuttle and Merle McAnney; Athletics, Constance Hunter and Joe Morris; Joshes, Dalton Myers; advertisements, Phil Connors. The joshes and ads are particularly enterprising and Dorothy Darling's stories are very clever.

Exchange Teacher Coming.

Dr. Richard Westermann is a Prussian college professor whom the Prussian Ministry of Education has recommended to Superintendent Francis as an exchange teacher to take work in the high schools of this city. In return, Los Angeles will send a teacher to Prussia. This is a departure, but is in line with the practice of many large cities of this country. Dr. Westermann will teach German at Hollywood High, Manual Arts, Polytechnic and Los Angeles High Schools, and will conduct a class in German for teachers. The exchange teacher from this city has not yet been decided upon.

Ninth-street School.

Miss Sarah McKenna's room was a veritable picture gallery on Thursday afternoon, the occasion being the art exhibit of the ungraded room. The blackboards were decorated with drawings, the walls with pictures framed by the sloyd class, and even the windows were adorned with delicately-colored papers which gave the effect of stained glass.

The Parent-Teacher Association viewed the exhibit in the afternoon and afterward listened to an interesting address by J. Samuel Lacy on "Equipment for Life."

School Orchestras.

Miss Jennie L. Jones, supervisor of orchestra work, tells of some pleasant happenings connected with last rehearsals of the fifty-four boys and girls who combined to form the orchestra which played for the concluding exercises of the eighth grades at Temple Auditorium on Tuesday. On the Friday preceding, Mr. Lebegott, director, and Mrs. Julius Bierlich, concert master of the People's Orchestra, visited the rehearsal, and expressed themselves as much pleased with and interested in the work. They told the boys and girls that they would look to them as future members of the Symphony and People's orchestras, and delighted the children by conducting them through their two selections. On Monday, at the last rehearsal, Mr. Gustave Ulrich, a 'cello player of great ability, and a member of the Symphony Orchestra, after saying a few words, was asked to play, which he very graciously did, borrowing a 'cello from a member of the orchestra, and playing, without accompaniment, "The Evening Star," and "Berceuse" from Joselyn.

The names of the children who acquitted themselves so well were Bernard Brown, Salvini Barano, Francis Lorimer, Edward Luchelli, Douglas White, Elmer Kendrick, Walter Zumbrum, Pleasant Henderson, David Comet, Floyd Le Baron, Cleo McCary, Herbert Lively, Marie Hiebach, Dorothy Yost, Rose Weiss, George Schilts, St. Clair Smith, Dorothy Maygrove, Blanche Kinzie, John Handly, Milton Cornell, Mary Berryman, Madaline Cherry, Atherton Cliff, Marjorie Carver, M. Esther Wilson, Mattie Arrowood, Vener Nichols, Erie Lawrence, Lyndon Ballou, David Ramsey, Guy De Long, Ernest Peck, Lynton N. Brent, Harold Taft, Virginia Darnell, Elizabeth Casey, Helen Mountain, Isabella Boyd, Dorothy Taylor, Marion Jones, Ruth Ingalls, Elizabeth Miller, Clifford Loucks, Ruth Hookstratten, Esabell Stockton, Esther Bertiner, Laura MacGillivray, Mell Astholz.

Sentous Intermediate.

Fire drills have taken on a new meaning since the experience of a real fire, and the young people these days are very earnestly giving a live imitation of persons saving their own lives.

Several rousing new school songs have been written by students, under the guidance of the music department. These not only serve as an education in music, but inspire keener school spirit.

Selma Avenue.

An excellent exhibit of drawing, sloyd and sewing was made at Selma Avenue school, last Friday. About two hundred persons viewed the work of the children, and listened to a delightful programme given by the youngsters.

Avenue 21 Intermediate.

The B-10 debating class has been having an exciting mock trial this last week in the form of a juvenile court case. It was conducted in a realistic manner.

On Thursday, February 6, the B-8 oral English class gave two short plays for the parents of the members of the class. The plays each occupied about fifteen minutes. They were written by pupils of the class. One, "The Housekeeper's Vexations," dealt in a humorous way with the servant problem; the other was an interesting school play, "The Mischief Maker." Not only did the participants show ability in acting their parts, but the composition of the plays also reflected credit.

The first edition of Avenue 21 intermediate's school paper, "Orange and Black," appeared February 4. It is a magazine of eighty-five pages, 6x9 inches. The cover design is a sketch of the Woolwine site. Over 500 copies were printed, all of which were sold before the paper was out.

Polytechnic High.

These are the days of hail and farewell. The faculty gave the senior A's a reception in the school luncheon January 31. After the refreshments were served, W. A. Dunn, the principal, gave a short talk to the seniors. This was responded to by Walter Stanley, the class president. An informal good time followed.

The class night programme given in the school auditorium February 4 transported the audience to the tropical islands of Hawaii. The play dealt with the Hawaiian customs and the American influence over the natives. There were several vocal numbers which were especially good. The opening chorus was sung by a group of seniors in Hawaiian costume. A Dutch song and dance was given by Hope Nash and Alice Goldsmith, who were dressed as natives of the Netherlands, and who were members of a traveling company under the direction of Bob Lytle, a "blooming Englishman." The farewell song by the whole class was appropriately set to the music of "Aloha." The orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Parsons, gave its invaluable assistance.

The preparation of the whole programme was in charge of Miss Guinevere Metkiff, who deserves much credit for the success of the performance. Some of the leading roles were taken by the following: Herbert Brown, Walter Stanley, Blanche Deets, Bob Lytle, Agnes Gentry, Harold Huber, Dorothea Dunlea, Harold Blakeslee, Sylvia Moore, Ralph Haney, Greta Palmer and Fred Morris.

On Friday, at 6 o'clock, the Senior A banquet occurred at the Mt. Washington Hotel. After dinner, speeches were made by a number of the members of the class and teachers present. Walter Stanley acted as toastmaster. The faculty was represented by W. A. Dunn, principal, Miss Kate Smith and Mr. W. L. Richer, vice-principals, Miss Ethel Magee, Mrs. Gertrude Parsons, Miss Lucile Dickson, Miss Guinevere Metkiff and Miss Bertha Sanborn, class teacher. The regular class entertainment committee had charge of the affair, and is composed of Wesley Holler, president; Edith Newcomb, Mary Church, Catherine Little, Sylvia Moore and William Speed.

Hollywood High.

The modern language department of the High School has planned a brilliant entertainment for February 14, beginning at 2:15 p.m. There will be dances, choruses, and three short comedies in Spanish, German and French. "Las Solteronas," the title of the Spanish play, means "The Old Maids," and is a story of an amusing error made by a Spanish gentleman in his efforts to marry off his two daughters. In "Der Knopf," or "The Button," the proverbial forgetfulness of the German professor, who in this case sews a red button on his coat to remind himself that he has been recently married, and must, therefore, not forget the existence of his handsome young wife, is used to bring about a series of misunderstandings which grow steadily worse, until it is finally discovered that the button he has used for a reminder does not belong to his wife, but to a former sweetheart who lost it from her cloak while a guest at the wedding. "La Cigale chez Les Fourmis," or "The Grasshopper at the House of the Ants,"—portrays the experiences of a newly-rich French family, with more money than culture.

The dances are under the skillful management of Miss McLean, gymnasium instructor, and the music will be furnished by the school orchestra. The cast of the Spanish play is: Prerolle, the father, Carlos Garcia; Santalea, the mother, Vera McReynolds; Pura, one daughter, Florence Isaacs; Casta, another daughter, Sue Carpenter; Claudeo, visitor, Robert McMillan. The cast of the [illegible] is as follows: Dr. Robert [illegible] university professor, [illegible] Gabriele, his wife, [illegible] Dr. Karl Blatt, also a [illegible] Beattie; Bertha, [illegible] Ray Feeman. The cast of the play is: Monsieur Chamerot Blackman; Madame Chamerot Woods; Henriette, their [illegible] Esther Fry; Paul de Vinoit Nichols; Servant, Barbara [illegible]

Monday afternoon the boys' basketball team met Los Angeles High on home court. It was a fast game, Hollywood being beaten by a score of 24 to 24. A word of praise is due Briggs, James Candee and Sherrin, who should have been on the "hospital list," but never [illegible] in the game and playing every minute of the time. The next game scheduled with Manual Arts at Hollywood scores at the opening game she did at the last, with Hollywood three schools will be used for place: Hollywood, Polytechnic, Los Angeles High.

The girls' interclass basketball games have now come to a close, the last game was between the [illegible] and senior girls Friday evening. It was hotly contested, the winning team, the score being 18 to 11. senior girls were awarded the championship and will soon be given "H." The girls on the [illegible] are Grace Witherell, captain; Garnett, Carrie Schlatter, Hazel [illegible]; Alice McLaughlin and [illegible] Ryerson.

State Text-books.

Parents and children alike are confused regarding free text-books. According to the State Board's [illegible] to furnish them at the proper time, Superintendent Francis is in receipt of a letter from the State superintendent stating that the books will be in the city within about two weeks.

Los Angeles High.

Without any serious interruption the regular class-room work of the year commencement exercises and activities closed with the presentation of the much-prized diplomas last night.

The senior play, "Tell," was cleverly presented before a crowded assembly Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Competitive individual [illegible] company military drills were held during periods three and four Wednesday. Sergeant Hayes was the winner in the individual competitive [illegible] while Co. C, with Russell Perry captain, won the company [illegible]

Class-tree planting and [illegible] day made up the programme for Thursday afternoon exercises were added event consisting of the presentation to the school of a [illegible] sun dial. This latest gift was the presentation of the graduating class and Mr. Earle, father of Hester [illegible] of the faculty. The presentation speech was made by Wesley Holler, president of the graduating class. Esther Roth, B12 president, accepted the dial on behalf of the school.

The tree planting exercises consisted of the usual [illegible] with a committee of four boys as the tree bearers; on this committee were Fred Subs, Harold [illegible] Theodore Lee and Clarence Bell. Addresses on behalf of the class were made by Walter Stevenson and [illegible] Thompson. Mr. Hosak and Miss Dorsey spoke as representatives of the school and faculty.

Following the open air [illegible] there came the senior-B farce, the presentation of star and crescent pins in the assembly. The first and the most noteworthy attempt of the year at the expense of the senior-B's has been given at the school in years. It was in reality a [illegible] comic opera, with the usual score as the production of the [illegible] brains of a group of the [illegible] The senior A's made a spirited mock protest against the production of the play on the ground that it had not been properly [illegible] the city officials. Marshal [illegible] was the alumnus who made the presentation speech in connection with the award of the star and crescent pins.

Blue and White made its [illegible] ance Thursday. It is a handsome volume, replete with attractive pictures. It is dedicated to "America's Philanthropist of the type of Abraham Lincoln." The fore-word is by David Starr Jordan of Stanford University. The book was issued under the leadership of Frances Young, with Ruth McArthur as business manager.

The faculty of the school is decidedly busy Saturday morning with students.

Manual Arts High.

Miss Putnam, vice-principal, announced the new courses for the Manual Arts next term at a general [illegible] held Wednesday. The first of these will be a complete automobile course which will be run in connection with the machine shop. If sufficient membership can be secured a boys' printing class will be opened. The [illegible] courses are offered by the [illegible] department and consist of [illegible] grammar and vocational [illegible] Aside from the cooking [illegible] eleventh and twelfth grades will be allowed to take these subjects or other courses in the curriculum remain unchanged.

The botany classes are busily engaged in the [illegible] prepare their ground for the spring planting and cultivating will be done by the students themselves. Mr. Whitely expects to have the [illegible] at work in a few weeks. Last year the students planted a large piece of ground with potatoes. This year they propose to engage in this work more extensively and will [illegible] cafeteria with fresh vegetables during the spring months. Each class will have its own plot, and a little rivalry in the appearance of the gardens will be an added [illegible] high efficiency.

Miss Theresa Goss, [illegible] the student body, presented members of the 1913 football team their "M's" Wednesday. In order to secure one of the prized emblems a player must participate in [illegible] of the scheduled games. For an additional year the athlete receives a gray star to be worn on the [illegible] ter. Those receiving one bronze star were Huff, Holderman, Peterson, Lake, Kinkaid and Parker. [illegible] honored with a bronze star were R. Nevil, Richardson, Thayer, Reynolds, Rinehart and Johnson; Gilman, Street, Kinkaid and Wargoner received bronze stars with three stars.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Elwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Kit" writes: "I am far below normal weight. I suffer with headaches and am nervous to the point of exhaustion. If you can tell me something to help me I shall be very grateful."

Answer: I can prescribe nothing so effective as a thorough course of three grain hypo-nuclane tablets. These tablets will aid in extracting the nutrition from the food which will increase the red blood supply, overcome nervousness and you will become plump and healthy. This treatment should be continued for several months, as it takes time to change the tissues and cells of the body.

"Sarah" says: "Can anything be done for one who is bothered with rheumatism? If so, please reply."

Answer: You can be entirely cured of your rheumatism if you take the following: Mix by shaking well and take a teaspoonful at meal times and at bed time and you will soon be cured. Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 oz.; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; iodide of potassium, 2 drams.

"Ray" writes: "Can a sufferer from bronchial trouble be relieved? Doctors do not seem to help me, what would you suggest?"

Answer: To cure chronic cold, sore throat and bronchitis, I would advise the use of concentrated essence mentho-laxene. Purchase this at any drug store in 2½ oz. packages and mix according to directions given on bottle and you will very shortly be cured of all bronchial trouble. This will not only relieve, but will cure, and is very pleasant to take.

"Hulda" says: "I cannot eat without great distress after eating. I am sleepless and restless, nervous and irritable. Can you tell me anything that would cure me?"

Answer: Your trouble is all due to your stomach, which causes the nervous, restless feeling. Take tablets triepeptine and you will soon be cured of all this trouble. These are packed in sealed cartons and are pink, white and blue tablets to be taken after meals. Take the pink tablet after breakfast, white after dinner and blue after supper. If this is continued the curative agencies will soon restore natural digestion.

"Miss M." writes: "I suffer greatly with my nerves, am almost on the point of nervous prostration. I cannot sleep and am hysterical at times. Can you help me?"

Answer: Many women, old and young, who have suffered as you do, have been cured by using the following tonic restorative treatment: Get from your druggist 1 oz. tincture cadomene (not cardamon) and 5 ozs. syrup of hypophosphites comp., mix, and take a teaspoonful before each meal. Always shake well before taking.

"Miss T. R." asks: "Do you think a weight of 190 pounds is too much for a girl of medium height; and what can I safely take to reduce about 15 pounds?"

Answer: Your weight is excessive, and if it increases it may cause much suffering and embarrassment. I advise the regular use of 5-grain arbolene tablets, which are sold by most pharmacies in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration.

"Carpenter" writes: "My liver and kidneys are in a bad condition. I have dizzy spells and dark spots before my eyes. Also have twinges of rheumatism. Can I be helped?"

Answer: To cure kidney and liver trouble use three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). These are packed in sealed tubes with full directions for taking. They act pleasantly and tone up the bowels and liver and purify the blood. They are convenient, effective and highly curative.

"Phoebe"—The following will cure your children of bedwetting: Get 2 drams of tincture rhus-aromatic; 1 dram tincture cubebs and 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort. Mix and give the child from 10 to 15 drops in water about one hour before each meal.

"Maud" writes: "I have suffered a great deal with catarrh. It gives me headaches, affects my eyes and my breath is awful. Can you prescribe something to cure it? Only my nostrils and throat are affected."

Answer: I have prescribed antiseptic viline powder and grateful letters from hundreds indicate that it is speedily curative, but must be used occasionally to prevent a recurrence. Get a two ounce original package of viline powder; use a half teaspoonful to a pint of warm water. From the palm of the hand snuff the water through the nostrils until thoroughly cleansed, two or three times daily. Mix a level teaspoonful of viline powder with an ounce of lard or vaseline and apply well up into the nostrils twice daily and your catarrh should soon be cured.

"Onda" writes: "I am troubled with itching scalp, dandruff and my hair is falling out. It is harsh and brittle."

Answer: Plain Yellow Minyol is the best remedy for itching scalp, falling hair and dandruff that I know of. It can be bought in 4 oz. jars and if used according to directions will cure all diseases of the hair and scalp. If the hair is harsh and brittle and you are bothered with those straggling locks, the use of minyol will restore that soft, fluffy appearance and bring back the intense natural color.

Men's Suits Are Going Fast

All 1912 Men's Suits Must Go Before March First

—That's why we've cut the prices on all 1912 winter suits. You see we began the season last September with absolutely a clean stock and now we're going to do the same thing in the spring, therefore, all men's suits in stock, several hundred of them, too, go at three prices—

$7 $9 $11

—And just because the prices have been cut don't think the quality is impaired any. These suits are worth the regular prices, every bit of it. In fact, they are the best suits money can buy at the prices. It's compliance with our rigid policy that forces us to leave no stone unturned to have absolutely clean stock from season to season.

THE WEEK

PARTIES, RECEPTIONS, DINNERS, DANCES AND THE LIKE.

LENT, with its dress of sackcloth and ashes, is to be kept this year to the strictest letter and only affairs of the most informal will be included in the schedule for the next forty days.

Brides-elect will be honored by a number of small affairs, and there will be several important weddings during the season, but the plans, though elegant, will be simple. Miss Mildred Whitnah, who is betrothed to Mr. Paine Montgomery, and whose wedding will be an event of Wednesday next, was hostess last evening at an unpretentious dinner party for members of her bridal party, including Miss Ellen Skinner, Miss Dorothy Whitnah, Miss Margaret Gould, Richard Montgomery, Vilas Hubbard of Pasadena and Willard Fishburn of San Diego. The dinner was given at the family home, at No. 249 West Adams street, and jonquils were used in decorating.

Another Pre-Nuptial Party.

The Miss Olive Trask, who is to month to wed Allen Langden Leeds, and also for Miss Lucia Thompson, who is the betrothed of Robert Sinclair, and Mrs. Henry Clay King entertained yesterday with an old English tea-party. The table at the Alexandria was bright with violets and Marland rosebuds arranged in a basket of plenty, these same flowers formed corsage bouquets. Rose sachet marked covers for Miss Dorothy Peck, Mrs. Wayland Trask, Miss Edith Holder, Miss Olivet Erdt, Miss Helen Holmes, Mrs. Francis Johnstone Holmes, Mrs. Thomas Murphy, Mrs. George P. Thompson, Mrs. George A. Thompson, Miss Allen Crocker, Mrs. Roland Crocker, Mrs. William Henry Cline, Jr., Miss Jones, Miss Delicia Leigh of San Jose, Miss Wilhelmina Chancellor and Mrs. Edward L. Doheny.

Pre-Lenten Function.

One of the radiant pre-Lenten parties was the bridge afternoon, which had for its hostesses Mrs. George Ellis of No. 2124 Western avenue and Mrs. Charles F. Ellis of No. 3 St. Andrews place, who complimented Mrs. Ottamus Lamb and Mrs. Russell of Clinton, Iowa, who are the winter in

A CALL AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

BY W. H. HOGARTH.

Washington is certainly a clean and attractive city. The imposing buildings, broad avenues; the crowning feature of all, the Capitol, towering above everything.

I wanted to see the President before and had no appointment.

I walked to the White House, passing a giant tourist automobile containing a load of well-dressed "sightseers." I hurried by, for I got no "personal conduction."

Just inside the great iron gate, six men, seemingly tourists, were conversing. I walked closely scrutinized as I entered the main entrance to the White House. Several policemen in uniform were on duty at the doors and stood a number of men in civilian's dress and might easily be recognized as detectives, but I passed in and out of the main entrance.

As I enter the corridor as you enter a large hotel, and proceed to the office, you enter a loud-talking, bustling newspaper men. A little way down this corridor there is an angle, the desk of the doorkeeper to the President. There is also a door to the right, leading to the executive offices, but I was asked to be seated a few moments.

In this anteroom, the corridor men, many of whom were easily recognizable.

Judson Harmon met a stout newspaper man in the corridor, and, slapping him heartily greeted him with a "Hello, Stormy Petrel! What do you want?" Evidently his "Storm Petrel" was of the newspaper race.

Tom Taggart, ex-Senator from Indiana, came Senator Bailey of Texas with Senator Root of New York and Senator Burton of Ohio. Each of these men had a private secretary, and all these secretaries in Washington. With a characteristic drawl he seated the pretty girls and began to talk to them in a low voice, and arrange for him to meet them at dinner. Evidently Bailey wanted an opportunity to tell the President that he was to bring three girls to dine, but showed first satisfaction and then annoyance at having his social engagements mixed.

I could not but notice the very decorous air that pervaded the place. No vaudeville stunts as in the City Hall of Los Angeles, no "Tin Pan Alley" tape was concerned. The "Hello girls" of the telephone switchboard manipulated while they touched the cords and talked in one as they passed out, all the same low tone.

Finally my hours had elapsed. Just been sent in. Entered his office. Norton greeted me with a smile and said: "I am sorry but the President is exceedingly busy and cannot possibly see you inside of two weeks." I handed him a telegram from a Los Angeles man, reading: "The President owes me a few moments unobserved. Tell him to tell him the real state of things along the entire frontier, while I go to Mexico."

Norton read his story was most startling. Mr. Norton disappeared into a room, evidently the President's workroom, although he was not there, for I could see him through the open door. A liberal size and a chair-big enough seat anyone.

Gen. Wood and myself seated ourselves on one of the comfortable sofas and waited. In a few minutes, with two persons entered, all smiles, with the exception of Norton, who perfectly concealed his feelings in regard to the intruder's performance, and for a few minutes conversation with the others. Gen. Wood was not spoken to until the President had made nearly the entire circuit of the room, and before he left he evidently relating to the promotion of certain officers.

I was left until the last, when the President came to me and said, "Mr. Norton tells me you have something to tell me that you do not wish to tell before others." Into a chair, well-furnished, circular room

In the Realm of California,"

BY A PRINCESS OF THE REALM.

LIFE IN THE SENSUOUS "LAND OF THE AFTERNOON."

"SOCIETY people have every intention of observing Lent," a prominent mondaine was quoted as saying last week, which means that for the next month the society chronicler must be the very soul of discretion. Her yearnings towards "a good story" must be severely squelched. She must exist on month-old 'memories and intelligent anticipations. She must cast her all-seeing eye beyond, over, above the immediate happenings around her. If there is one thing above all others that we must observe and respect, take au grand serieu and question not, it is the pretty little hypocrisies of society, with a big S.

Hence, for all official purposes, the Bachelors' Ball, the Charity Ball, and the various society Mardi Gras weddings of the past week must be accepted as closing the early spring season, and for forty days and forty nights we must conjure to ourselves a pleasing vision of society self-denial and penitence. A long and precious interlude, in which the debutante and her mamma will be assured of their beauty sleep, in which complexions and hair can receive a little special attention; in which the new spring hats and the new spring styles can be studied effectually; in which the dressmaker can become a fixed member of the household. And in which, of course, monsieur, madame and mademoiselle will indulge in a little introspection, will perhaps review their New Year's resolutions, and wonder disconsolately—mademoiselle will at all events — why St. Valentine's Day must needs come in Lent this year.

And talking of St. Valentine's Day, tell it not in Gath! one or two hostesses are—oh, well, one must consider these poor dear debutantes, you know, and they can be quite informal little affairs. Besides, one had thought up such cute ideas for a St. Valentine's dance before one remembered it would fall in Lent.

So perhaps the veil of sackcloth may be lifted just a bit next Friday evening, after all—just a corner, you know—and we will smooth it down neatly next morning.

In the meantime, since memories and hope are our only official sources of society gossip, let us dwell happily on the recollection of that Bachelor's Ball. The lure of the orient proved very strong and many of the most sumptuous and enchanting dresses were of far eastern inspiration.

Mrs. Guy Cochrane, Mrs. Cheney, Mrs. Montgomery, Miss Margaret Drake, Miss Rankin—surely Cleopatra never exceeded them in beauty or grace. 'Twas a veritable dream of fair women. The old Colonial costumes, too, proved dangerously becoming, and the radiant Miss Katherine Mellus, as a golden California poppy, attracted many an admiring gaze. She is a native daughter and that poppy is so essentially Californian seeming so exactly to embody the sunshine and happiness that reign on our shore, that our hearts went out to her at once.

And what a sumptuous display of jewels. The Durbar and Coronation could boast no better. No wonder those bachelor hosts hold themselves in such high esteem. Nothing was considered too good or too luxurious for their ball.

Southern California always enjoys an eruption of outdoor sport. There is no Lenten ban on sport, and besides we have a great weakness for exploiting our climate and showing the visitors how early and with what complacent assurance we can arrange our big tournaments for the early days of February. Thus we have a large society tennis event in full blast down at Coronado, to which many a debutante and jeune fille fled on Thursday. All the country clubs, too, are holding large golf tournaments on and around Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, which will be converted into society events. Tea on the terrace takes on an added delight in February, and that recent nip of frost has so effectually removed the very last fly that open-air bridge parties, with the accompanying refreshments, can be enjoyed with impunity.

If it is true that a number of society women have arranged to hold Lenten services at their homes—and there is persistent talk to that effect—one cannot but feel sorry that religion should thus become a fashionable pastime as it is almost bound to do under these conditions. Doubtless the clergy who accept invitations to officiate will feel that any sort of service is better than no service, and that what is commenced in a spirit of novelty may work for good in the end. But one cannot help feeling that if the desire for the services is real it would be more suitable for the congregation to go to the church rather than to make the church come to them.

Then, too, there will assuredly be that little sense of rivalry and each Lenten hostess will endeavor to vie with her sister in securing the most important cleric; thus, the lady that secures a bishop will have scored several points over the hostess of a mere rector.

There has been much talk anent the proposed State mating farm, which the California League of Justice is promoting. I fear eugenics are becoming fashionable, too, and there is danger ahead if someone does not quickly devise some new entertainments for society. Denver's National Eugenics Society is receiving any amount of fashionable support, and our local mondaines have not the slightest intention of being outstripped by Denver. Wherefore, the State mating farm ides cropped up at just the right moment; and I can see us taking to eugenics with the same avidity with which we shall indorse the new spring hats.

Mrs. Mitchell Honored.

One of the enjoyable as well as elaborate affairs of the current week was the large bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Lon Hickman Mitchell at her home, No. 1091 South Alvarado street, complimenting Mrs. Hoyt Mitchell, a recent bride. American Beauty roses nodding from long stems adorned the dining and living-rooms and the sun parlor was beautiful with violets and jonquils. Assisting the hostess was Mrs. Germain Pellisier, mother of the honoree; Mrs. C. F. Borton and Mrs. De Roulet. Many of the younger set were included among the guests.

Party at "Mission Play."

Mrs. A. Caldwell and her daughtre, Miss Stella Caldwell of Illinois, were the complimented guests at a box party given at the "Mission Play" in San Gabriel recently by Madame J. A. Donato, No. 117 Benton way, which was followed by tea at the home of Miss Lopez in an adobe house in San Gabriel, which is more than 100 years old. Included were Mrs. Germain Pellisier, Mrs. De Roulet, Mrs. Hoyt Mitchell, Mrs. E. Rogers, Mrs. Lewis Carlisle, Miss Lopez, Madame Fusenot, Mrs. George Fusenot, Mrs. William Mayne, Miss Kise and Mrs. William Barmore.

Arrowhead Gossip.

One of the automobile parties that registered at the Arrowhead Hotel at Arrowhead Hot Springs during the past week was made up of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Carpenter and C. W. Moon. They remained for several days during which time they made a number of short runs through the surrounding country. Mrs. Clark was hostess at an informal dinner to several friends who were registered at the hotel at the same time.

A delightful and interesting guest at the hotel is Baroness von Stockhausen of Vienna and Florence, who is visting friends in Southern California. She has written several monographs and books on travel and customs of different people and is planning one on the hospitality of Southern California citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Johnson and Dr. and Mrs. D. W. King arrived at the hotel several days ago and are touring the valley in their machine while staying at the resort. They have winter homes in Los Angeles but are really residents of Seattle, where all are prominent socially.

At Beverly Hills.

A dinner party was given by Mrs. Elizabeth Carney of Marinette, Wis., on Sunday. Mrs. Carney's guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Carney, and children of Los Angeles; Miss Mary Louise Carney of Racine, Wis.; Frank Carney, Marinette, Wis., and Mrs. and Miss Ducey of Detroit. The table was artistically decorated with carnations and maidenhair ferns.

Miss Caroline Hazard, formerly president of Wellesley College, spent the week-end at the hotel. Miss Hazard is motoring through Southern California.

Mrs. C. N. Cotton was a gracious hostess on Thursday entertaining at luncheon in the private dining-room.

The table was handsomely embellished with Richmond roses and maidenhair ferns. Bridge was played in the afternoon. Mrs. Cotton's guests included Mrs. Valentine Payton, Mrs. I. L. Hibbard, Mrs. Charles Cotton, Jr., Mrs. C. A. Fellows, Mrs. E. L. Doran, Mrs. S. E. Aldrich, and Mrs. E. W. McGhee.

The State of Montana was well represented on Friday when Mrs. O. H. Churchill entertained at luncheon some former Montanans. The guests of honor were Mrs. William Florence and Mrs. Thomas Clary of Great Falls, and Mrs. Elizabeth Rankin of Helena. There were twenty in the party.

Miss Mary Ducey of Detroit, entertained some friends at luncheon Tuesday after which they enjoyed golf at the Los Angeles Country Club which is adjacent to the hotel. Miss Ducey's guests were Miss Disston and Miss Barroll of Philadelphia, Miss Davis of Marinette, Wis.; Frank Carney of Marinettte, Mrs. Ducey of Detroit and Mrs. Carney of Marinette, Wis.

From Canada.

Mrs. Harry Bedlington of Toronto, with her niece, Miss Audrey Leslie Little of Walkerville, are settled at the Emerson Apartments, in Hollywood.

Violet Luncheon.

A violet luncheon was presided over last week by Miss Ethel Joyce of No. 929 South Westmoreland avenue, who adorned her table with a Cluny cloth over violet satin with a mound of violets resting in the center. Violet cards marked covers for Mrs. Willard Kennedy, Mrs. Delos Castle, Mrs. Will C. Pennell, Mrs. Karl Fishburn, Mrs. King, Mrs. Banks, Mrs. Leland Weeks, Miss Ada Grove and Miss Ethel Olsen. Later the performance at the Orpheum was enjoyed.

Dancing Party.

Hundreds of carnations decorated the residence of Mrs. Willard Kennedy at No. 1427 West Forty-seventh street Tuesday evening, the occasion being an enjoyable dancing party shared by Mr. and Mrs. Walter McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Delos Castle, Mr. and Mrs. A. Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Fishburn, Mr. and Mrs. Will Pennell, Mr. and Mrs. C. King, Miss Ada Grove, Miss Ethel Olsen, Miss Ethel Joyce, Carl Parsons, Dr. Jack Petterson and B. Olsen.

Dramatic Club.

The Hermosa Dramatic Club, T.F.B., was entertained at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney L. Santee on West Forty-fifth street Thursday evening, when the following officers were elected: Rodney L. Santee, Mrs. Leta M. Santee, George W. Bailey and Mrs. Elisabeth Schneider Edwards. The affair concluded with supper covers having been held for Mrs. Clara Wiggins, Mrs. Bessie Shigley, Mrs. Leta M. Santee, Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards, Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey, Miss Anna Beubler, Robert Johnston, Lee Wiggins, Ward Freeman, William Shigley, Rodney L. Santee, Clarence O. Edwards, George W. Bailey and Louis Bailey.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Anna Botsford Comstock of Cornell University has been passing a few days in this city as the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Silas Sprowls of No. 507 Westlake avenue. Mrs. Comstock is president of the American Nature Study Association.

Seventy-fifth Birthday.

Many letters and telegrams of congratulation were received from Elgin, Ill., yesterday by Mrs. J. S. Wilcox, who celebrated her 75th birthday anniversary at a luncheon given by her two daughters, Mrs. R. F. Fitz and Mrs. H. W. Kidd. The affair took place at the home of Mrs. Kidd at No. 5347 Monticello avenue, where thirty relatives enjoyed the dainty repast and birthday cake lighted with seventy-five candles. Mrs. Wilcox formerly resided in Elgin, where she was prominently identified with the large clubs, and the celebration was of equal interest in the eastern city.

Informal Evening.

In celebration of their sixth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Barker Van Zandt entertained informally at their apartments at the Frontenac last evening. Red carnations and greenery were employed in decorating, a huge screen of the blossoms having been arranged to seclude a Hawaiian orchestra which played during the party hours. The early part of the evening was spent in cards—the lucky winners being Mr. Kelly, Mrs. Moffett, Dr. Devitt and Mrs. Brown. Gold hearts linked together with tiny gold chains marked places at the 13 o'clock supper for Capt. and Mrs. William Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gutchess, Mr. and Mrs. Moffett, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dreyfuss, Mrs. S. M. Myall, Miss Iola Baass, Miss Gertrude Walton, B. Brown, L. King. The host and hostess received a handsome cut-glass bowl.

Bon Voyage Luncheon.

In honor of Mrs. C. Reed, who sailed last week for a tour of the world, Mrs. G. L. Arnold entertained with a bon voyage luncheon prior to her departure. A miniature steamboat on a sea of glass surrounded by violets delighted the guests, who included Mrs. C. A. Miner, Mrs. B. L. Butterfield, Mrs. J. W. Dre Four, Mrs. J. L. Bannister, Mrs. E. P. Barbour and Mrs. D. K. Butterfield.

Birthday Party.

Miss Helen Levy of No. 1701 South Flower street gave a theater party at the Orpheum recently in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Tea was served later at the Alexandria, where covers were arranged for Miss Riffa Kinney, Miss Winnie Cohn, Miss Marcelle Levy, Mrs. L. B. Cohn, Jr., and Mrs. L. Neimeyer.

Morosco Party.

Miss Edith Stanford was a charming matinee hostess Thursday, entertaining the following at the Morosco: Miss Genevieve Faulkner, Miss Marian Clark, Miss Gertrude Ellis, Miss Evelyn Carpenter, Miss Marguerite Pomeroy and Mrs. Hamilton Andrews. The afternoon finished with tea at the Alexandria.

Another Matinee.

A luncheon at Hotel Alexandria and a matinee party at the Burbank was the entertainment planned by Mrs. P. A. Hilbert for her friends Thursday afternoon. Invitations were accepted by Mrs. Jurgenson of Blabe, N. D., Mrs. Bates of Hollywood, Mrs. J. Borgerding of Melrose, Minn., Mrs. H. Blenke, Mrs. Zins, Mrs. J. Heeshen of Melrose, Minn., Mrs. S. Bartholomew of St. Paul and Mrs. C. Borgerding of Belgrade, Minn.

One O'Clock Luncheon.

In compliment to Miss Reginald Carme, who with her family has recently moved to Hollywood, Mrs. Andrew M. Strong of Grace street entertained Tuesday afternoon with a 1 o'clock luncheon. A profusion of spring flowers were gracefully grouped about the different rooms, and a mass of yellow jonquils and ferns formed the table centerpiece. Covers were placed for Mmes. Reginald Carme, Arthur Atkinson, W. C. Franklin, Will Dursee, J. H. Collier, George Ryce, Milton Saxton of Pasadena, Miss Litta Hullinger, Miss Julia Dwire and Miss Pearl Parcher.

Miss Smith Complimented.

Miss Hazel Smith, who with her parents, recently came from Denver to reside in Hollywood at No. 1543 Highland avenue, was the complimented guest at a party given by Miss Margaret Guiler at her home on Highland avenue last Saturday evening. A prize given to the one writing the best story containing the name of several automobiles went to James Grace. Prizes for cards went to Miss Mabelle Lewis and Dr. E. K. Roberts. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wheelock, Mrs. J. W. Russel, Misses Helen Kelso, Hazel Smith, Margaret Guiler, Messrs. Earl Deits, Richard Cochran, James Grace, Phillip Storm and Lawrence Turrentine.

For Mrs. McNaught.

Mrs. Burt L. Sacre of No. 1433 Fielding avenue entertained Friday with a delightful informal afternoon in honor of her house guest, Mrs. John McNaught of Indianapolis. The rooms were attractively decorated with pepper boughs and white marguerites. Five tables were arranged for bridge, the prizes for which went to Mrs. L. E. Davidson and Mrs. Fred Kent.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. Benjamin James of Carlton Way gave a birthday party last week in honor of the second birthday anniversary of her son, Master Allen. Children's games were enjoyed. Lunch was served about 4:30 o'clock. As a favor each guest received a different kind of toy.

Those present were Katherine and William Palmer, Sheldon and Edwin Elliot, Zella Dunlop, Elizabeth Sullivan, Dick Sullivan, Ainsley and Semour Paul, Alan Herrington, Benjamine James, Jr., and Allen James.

Visitor Honored.

Covers were laid for twelve guests at the luncheon given by Mrs. A. P. Worthington of No. 451 Kingsley drive, Friday afternoon, when Miss Gertrude Lewis, the house guest of Mrs. S. S. Sanberg was honored.

Elaborate Luncheon Party.

Elaborate in every detail was the luncheon given by Mrs. E. S. Jewett of Sunset boulevard at the Hotel Hollywood last Tuesday afternoon when she entertained thirty-five guests. Killarney roses and fern made a handsome table centerpiece, and each guest received a beautiful corsage bouquet of Killarney rose buds and violets.

Monday Card Club.

Dusty Miller was used to decorate the rooms of Mrs. F. M. La Grange of the Argyle Apartments Monday afternoon when she pleasantly entertained the members of the Monday Card Club. About 4:30 o'clock refreshments were served at the card tables. The first prize was awarded Miss Winstanley while Miss Maude McLellan received the second prize.

Entertain at "Tiffin."

Thursday a few guests were entertained at "Tiffin" at the home of Mrs. Philo J. Beveridge on Hollywood boulevard in honor of their house guests, Capt. and Mrs. Richard Swain of Yokohama. Places were arranged for Capt. and Mrs. Swain, Mrs. Arthur Penny, Mrs. George Francis Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Beveridge.

Capt. and Mrs. Swain are visiting in Long Beach this week, but will return to the Beveridge home the later part of next week.

Silk Stocking Club.

The members of the Silk Stocking Club were pleasantly entertained Tuesday by Mrs. W. T. Reynolds at her home, No. 5858 Hollywood boulevard. Mrs. A. P. Worthington received the club prize and Mrs. Deming of Beverly was awarded the guest's prize. Later in the afternoon a luncheon was served.

Luncheon and Bridge.

Mrs. Thomas H. Cooke of No. 7624 Hawthorne avenue was the delightful hostess at a luncheon-bridge party yesterday afternoon. A profusion of carnations and fern carried out a white and green color scheme. Forty-six guests were present.

Children's Party.

Fairy children danced with abandon at the birthday party of Maxine Frances Morgan at the Bryson on Wednesday. The little hostess, only 8 years old, taught them many new things in the art of her muse, Terpsichore, for one of her natural endowments has been dancing. The tango, the fantastic steps of the Russian ballet, the gyrations of the mysterious Hungarian movements, the gliding waltz and other individual dances were all portrayed with wonderful accuracy by this nymph.

All of the other little girls, there having been about thirty guests to the party, accepted her as their leader and joined gleefully in the many amusements of the afternoon. They danced the grizzly bear with big, shaggy toy bears, while their fond mothers glanced in occasionally from a tea which occupied them during the same period.

Assisting little Miss Morgan, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Clark, charming southern society people of Shreveport, La., were Miss Mary Douglas Benham and the Misses Elizabeth and Frances Bryson, the latter being the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Bryson. At the close of the dance a birthday luncheon was served at which favors were given each guest. The ice cream was molded in the form of candles and the birthday cake was lighted with the real things. Beautiful roses were used on the table for decorations.

Gay Pre-Lenten Ball.

Gay with flags, balloons, serpentines and confetti the pre-Lenten ball of the Good Shepherd Auxiliary at Kramer's last Monday night reached its climax in the cotilion, which one and all averred was one of the most delightful features ever introduced at the annual festivals of the organization.

Led by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bayer the dance opened to the soft rhythms of a dizzy waltz, played by the St. Cecilia orchestra, then evolved into marches and tableaus, finally closing with the whirring of serpentines and showering of confetti.

The grand march, which opened the festivities, was led by Dr. and Mrs. Arnold Burkelman, the latter being president of the auxiliary. They were closely followed in the procession by other leaders in the organization, including Miss Susan Lynch, past president; Mrs. Thomas Phillips and Mrs. L. A. Grant, vice-presidents;

The Diamond Situation in Los Angeles

The fact that Feagans and Company are the only Los Angeles jewelers who confine their diamond selections (in stones of ¼ carat size and larger) to perfect specimens of the Yaeger, Blue River and Wesselton, grades is of paramount importance to every prospective diamond buyer.

We could undoubtedly dispose of a great many of the crystal and other lower grade diamonds—but as in all things else, we adhere strictly to the highest standards—and leave the rest to the more commercial stores.

The purchase of a diamond is too important a transaction to justify any one in accepting any hazard. When you buy a diamond—know that it is a perfect Yaeger, Blue River or Wesselton.

You will be sure of this if you purchase from Feagans and Company—and you will further be sure that the price you pay is right—for our present prices are based on extensive purchases made before the recent advances, and cannot prevail when our present stocks are depleted.

We always welcome comparison of prices and values.

New Method of Reducing Fat

Good News From Paris.

A news item from Paris informs us that the American method of producing a slim, trim figure, is meeting with astonishing success. This system, which has made such a wonderful impression over there, must be the Marmola Prescription Tablet method of reducing fat. It is safe to say that we have nothing better for this purpose in this country. Anything that will reduce the excess flesh a pound a day without injury to the stomach, the causing of wrinkles, the help of exercising or dieting, or interference with one's meals is a mighty important and useful addition to civilization's necessities. Just such a catalogue of good results, however, follow the use of these pleasant, harmless and economical little fat reducers. We say economical because Marmola Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous prescription) can be obtained of any druggist or the makers, the Marmola Co., Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., for seventy-five cents the large case, which is a decidedly economical price considering the number of tablets each case contains.

Foothill Club.

The members of the Friday Afternoon Foothill Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. L. A. McCray, No. 2029 Canyon drive, last week. In the dining-room, where luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, pink carnations and asparagus fern effected a dainty table centerpiece. Pink sweet peas and yellow jonquils were used in the living-room, while the pink carnations were effective in the music-room. Bridge whist was enjoyed during the afternoon.

Out-of-Town Visitors.

Mrs. Paul Compton gave an informal luncheon party of twelve covers at her home, No. 1749 Sycamore avenue, Friday afternoon, when her guests included visitors from out-of-town. Cards and conversation furnished delightful diversion for the afternoon.

Dinner at Alexandria.

Miss Bertha Anderson of Pasadena entertained at Hotel Alexandria Friday evening in honor of her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Duncan, the former a nephew of the late President. Covers were also laid for Mr. and Mrs. P. Petiquin, Mr. Boone and Mrs. M. Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. Duncan left this morning in their private car "Ohio," en route to Cleveland.

OUT-OF-TOWN SOCIETY.

Pasadena.

QUITE the largest social function of last week was the reception given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Hiram W. Wadsworth and her daughters, Misses Katherine and Mary Wadsworth, at their home on South Orange Grove avenue, between 4 and 6 o'clock. Several hundred society matrons and maids of Los Angeles and Pasadena were entertained. Mrs. Wadsworth and daughters received alone in the north reception room, which was beautifully ornamented with clusters of marigolds and acacia. Mrs. Wadsworth wore a handsome gown of black velvet with pearl ornaments; Miss Wadsworth was becomingly gowned in a pretty blue charmeuse with over drapes of black and jet, and Miss Mary Wadsworth wore a charming frock of white charmeuse with pink accessories. The affair was of special interest, as the engagement of Miss Wadsworth and Edward Ahlswede has but recently been announced, and this was a pleasant opportunity for the bride-elect of congratulations to the bride-elect. In the dining-room the decorations were masses of violets arranged as the centerpiece on the table, extending over the cloth and falling in a shower from the electrolier. Here Miss Leslie E. Learned, Joseph B. Dunn, John Wadsworth and Miss Rhoda Bissell presided over the ices and cakes and Mmes. Roydon Vosburg, Frank B. Martin and Benjamin Dougherty presided at the punch bowl. Others assisting were Mmes. Mary Richardson, Grace Rorabach, George Arthur Wilder, Misses Alice Phillips, Irene Wilder, Hildreth Markham, Ada Fernald, Carolyn Tompkins, Ada Fernald, Ruth Ahlswede, Ethel Richardson and Ada Ahlswede.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gates gave one of the most charming dinner dances of the season yesterday evening at Hotel Green. The dinner table was placed in the alcove of the main dining-room and was beautifully decorated with violets and pink roses. The favors were gilt baskets filled with place cards were also souvenirs, that for the women being pink and those for the men cases for cards. An innovation was made in the serving of dessert, for concealed in the concoction were two favors, a boudoir cap for the fortunate woman guest, and an ivory pocket-knife for the man. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Grattan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neustadt, Miss Ruth Gates, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Neustadt, for whom the affair was given; Miss Emily McBride, Dorothy and Phoebe Bailey, Theodora Robbins, Paul Messrs. Shelbourne Bradshaw, Arthur Dodsworth, Charles Reed, Jr., Paul Staats, Sumner Cristy, Harlan Gates. After the dinner dancing was enjoyed in the romanesque room, and Mr. and Mrs. Grattan will entertain with a similar affair this week, Saturday.

Mrs. Edwin Ratmyder gave a tea, New York avenue, was the hostess of two very prettily-appointed afternoon bridge parties last week, the one given Thursday afternoon and the second Friday. On both occasions the house was decorated with fragrant acacia and tables were arranged for twenty players. Mrs. Ratmyder was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. H. A. Fitzgerald, and Miss Ruth Sorver. Thursday the guests included Mmes. Anson Lisk, Frank Orpwood, Walter Barnes, Misses Lowe Jenkins, Margaret Mears, Lucy Smith, Jessie and Alice Rose, Mabel Seibert, Irene and Phoebe Grosse, Mrs. John Shelbourne and Miss Marcia Hawley of Los Angeles. Among the guests were Mmes. Mary Richardson, major, Benjamin Dougherty, Robert Martin, Alvick Pearson, Edith Richardson and Miss Ethel Richardson.

Mrs. Lloyd Canfield Haynes of No. 1817 El Cerrito place, gave a luncheon and matinee party Thursday afternoon. The luncheon was given at the Sierra Madre Club. In the center of the table was placed an artistic group of yellow marguerites and ferns—the dainty name cards further carrying out the yellow and green scheme.

Later the guests were taken to the Morosco Theater, where they enjoyed the matinee performance of "The Love Story of the Ages." The party included Mrs. H. M. Potter, Mrs. R. Kinney, Mrs. G. C. Rich, Mrs. H. Herron of Pittsburgh, Mrs. E. K. Hum, Mrs. T. A. Johnson, Mrs. E. A. Montgomery, recently of New York City; Mrs. G. W. Hornback of Hamburg, Wash., Mrs. Arthur Stone, and Mrs. L. C. Haynes.

Mrs. Preston B. Blumb charmingly entertained the Seven O'clock Dinner Club last evening at her home on Ashburne drive. A mound of violets embellished the center of the table, and cards ornamented with quaint Dutch figures marked covers for Mr. and Mrs. John Cave, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Balfour, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Rhone, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Gifford, Miss Florence Gifford and Roland Mulford. Auction bridge was the pleasure of the evening following dinner.

Mrs. William Bradshaw, president of Chapter A.A.P.E.O., South Pasadena, assisted by the members, will act as patronesses at their annual charity ball, which will be given Friday evening, February 14, in Ongs Hall, corner of Mission street and Fair Oaks avenue. The affair will be distinctly valentine in character, hearts, shrubbery and potted plants entering into the decorations, and elaborate refreshments will be served. Three hundred invitations have been extended.

Honoring the fourteenth birthday anniversary of their niece, Eugenia Axtman, as well as their twenty-first wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Gaspard, recently from Chicago, entertained with a dinner party Wednesday evening, at their home, No. 1119 Brent avenue. Narcissus was used throughout the home, while the centerpiece for the table was a large birthday cake with white candles. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Axtman, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Packer, Madame Gaspard, Mrs. Louise Axtman, Misses Marie, Adele and Eugenia Axtman, Miss Martha Sears of Bedford, Ind.; Antoinette Bush, and Messrs. Leon and William Axtman, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice L. Gifford of Los Angeles, have been the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Gifford on Laurel street, while moving into their own bungalow, recently completed at No. 629 Marguerita street.

One of the merry parties of the current week was the entertaining of the Neighborhood Dinner Bridge Club by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fisher Hobert, Friday evening at their home in Oneonta. Jonquils, primroses and ferns in a brown basket formed a handsome centerpiece for the table, which was further enhanced by large yellow satin bows. Jonquils adorned the score and place cards. Auction was the pleasure of the evening and prizes were captured by Miss Charlotte Butterfield and Col. Butterfield. Members present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sebree, Mr. and Mrs. William Council, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McStay, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sanson, Miss Charlotte Butterfield, Col. Frederick D. Butterfield.

Miss Florence Parmelee, No. 919 Fair Oaks avenue, is the guest of Mrs. Osmond Burton at Keene, Kern county, in the Tehachapi Mountains.

Rialto.

ON WEDNESDAY afternoon a delightful programme of art and travel was given before the members of the Woman's Club of Rialto and their many guests. Miss Kathleen French opened the programme with a piano solo which was followed by a most interesting letter on "Travels Through Europe," read by Mrs. B. E. Sibley. J. E. McBurney of Los Angeles spoke most interestingly of art and Mrs. Estudillo of Riverside delighted the ladies with her talk on "Old Masterpieces." Mrs. Estudillo had a number of prints of famous paintings which she used to illustrate her discussion. A beautiful violin solo by Leon Lockwood concluded the splendid programme. The room was in pretty decoration of feathery greenery and tea and wafers were served from a long table. Misses Babette Gagel, Kathleen French and Lou Ella Baines assisted the hostesses, Mmes. Gray and Lockwood, in serving.

Mrs. L. P. Kingman entertained with a pretty valentine party Tuesday evening in compliment to her guests, Messrs. Goodyear, Chamblin and Hess. Garlands of red hearts and pretty branches of mountain mistletoe formed the decorations. The guests were entertained with flinch, contests and music. A clever feature of the evening was found in the refreshments. Tiny heart valentines, bearing amusing lines, being enclosed in the napkins. Aside from the honorees guests included Misses Helen Hoover, Mina Sedwick, Lou Ella Baines, Amanda Linkler, Ruth Kingman, Daisy and Aleta Steelman, Lois Livingston, Belle Barnard, Mrs. Maude Montgomery, Messrs. Clinton, Ray and Albert Kingman, Hartzell, Harris, Hoover and Ivan Kingman.

Growing Children Need Good Bowels

Give a Mild Laxative Occasionally to Insure Regular Bowel Action

As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother, and as the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health, great attention should be paid to them.

Diet is of great importance, and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods. A food will constipate one and not another, and so we have a healthy food like eggs causing biliousness to thousands and a wholesome fruit like bananas constipating many. It is also to be considered that the child is growing, and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.

A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should be given often or occasionally, according to the individual circumstances, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a laxative and tonic combined, so mild that it is given to little babies, and yet equally effective in the most robust constitution. At the first sign of a tendency to constipation give a small dose of Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and prompt action will follow in the morning. It not only acts on the stomach and bowels, but its tonic properties build up and strengthen the system generally. Mrs. Henry Babler, Van Dyne, Wis., writes that her little son, Melvin Babler, was constipated most of the time until she gave him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Since using this remedy he has never been constipated.

MELVIN BABLER.

The use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts and pills, as they are too harsh for the majority and their effect is only temporary. Syrup Pepsin brings permanent results, and it can be conveniently obtained of any near-by druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

QUIET, but perfect in all its appointment, was the wedding solemnized at high noon Wednesday, when Miss Mary Elizabeth Wallace became the bride of Merritt Oliver Wendell Stone, No. 211 Euclid Vine avenue. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. M. Pomeroy, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Potted palms and ropes of smilax adorned the spacious living-room where the bridal pair stood before a beautiful window recess, which was hung with portieres of smilax, bedecked with violets. The wedding march was played by Miss Edith Hunsaker. The bride was attired in a becoming gown of rosada green mousseline over satin, trimmings of Irish point lace, and carried a bouquet of pale pink matthiola and maidenhair fern. The ceremony was followed by a beautifully appointed wedding breakfast. The bride is the accomplished young woman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Burchard Stone, and numbers many friends by her acquaintance. The groom is a large ranch owner of Brawley, in the Imperial Valley, where Mr. and Mrs. Stone will make their home after a short honeymoon.

With the members of the Thursday nightly Club as hosts, Ontario society was out in force Monday evening to enjoy the last dance of the present season at the Masonic Temple. The party numbered several out-of-town guests and was one of the most enjoyable of the winter season. The hall was furnished by Whiting's orchestra. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holmes Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Edson Swan, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Harris Frankish, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamer Dilworth, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Azusa.

ON WEDNESDAY afternoon Reciprocity Day was observed by the members of the Woman's Club. A large number of members and their friends were present. An exceptionally fine programme was enjoyed by all present. At noon an elaborate luncheon was served. Delegates were present from all the neighboring towns and from Los Angeles.

The entertainment, "The Katzenjammer Picnic," given under the direction of Mrs. Payne of Los Angeles for the benefit of the Azusa Woman's Club, drew full houses at the City Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings. This entertainment was one of the most successful amateur affairs ever given in the valley and reflected much credit upon both the director and the principals who participated in the play.

Clinton McIlhenny and Miss Alta McIlhenny of Venice are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Dingham of South San Gabriel avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pyle of Dallas City, Ill., are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dunham of No. 515 Pasadena avenue, parents of Mrs. Pyle. Mr. and Mrs. Pyle expect to spend the winter in Azusa.

A Physician Cures His Wife Of Consumption

With A Simple Home Treatment. Book Fully Describing The Treatment Sent Absolutely Free To Any Lung Sufferer.

DR. W. R. KNIGHT of East Saugus, Mass., writes: "My wife was dying with Consumption, when I ordered the Lloyd treatment. She was very weak from night sweats, cough, and in a feverish condition. I noticed a change for the better after ten day's treatment, and from that time on up to three months, when the cure was completed. The Lloyd Treatment filled the entire system in the blood and tissues, and it is the only remedy so far discovered that will do this. It is a preventive as well as a cure. It should be used by those who are run down, or those who fear the approach of Consumption. It can be truthfully said that for the cure and prevention of Consumption, it is the most wonderful treatment of the present age."

This is only one of hundreds of letters received from physicians and others reporting cases of consumption and lung trouble restored to health in all sections of the United States. We want to send every lung sufferer absolutely free the startling statements of Dr. W. H. Kiester of Dayton, Ohio, Dr. C. G. Pennard of Kansas City, Mo., Dr. J. H. Wash of Troy, Mo., and many others who report results almost beyond belief, together with a valuable book on cause, prevention and treatment of consumption and lung trouble.

If you are suffering from weakness, blood-spitting, hemorrhages, night sweats, chills, fever, loss of flesh, painful lungs, distressing cough, wasted body, loss of strength—write me today and I'll send you ABSOLUTELY FREE the proof, testimony of others who, after suffering with most distressing symptoms, have stated that they ARE CURED, strong, able to work, without ache or pain, happy, full of praise, after a few month's use of this simple home treatment. Send your name and address TODAY. ADDRESS: JUDD Q. LLOYD, 891 Lloyd Building, St. Louis, Mo.

Over Half Of All Sickness Caused By Clogged Up Weakened Kidneys

Hundreds Are Suffering With Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It. Backache, Bladder Disorder and Rheumatism Are The Result.

It is a well recognized fact among physicians today, that the greater part of all sickness can be avoided by keeping the kidneys working properly.

This is even more important than for the bowels to move regularly, because the kidneys and bladder are the filterers and sewers of the body. If you suffer with pains in the back or sides, bladder or urinary disorders, lumbago, rheumatism, dizziness, puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, nervousness, tired and worn-out feeling, or any of the many other symptoms of kidney trouble, don't neglect yourself another day and run the risk of serious complications. Secure an original package of Croxone, which costs but a trifle, take three doses a day, for a few days, and you will be surprised how entirely different you will feel.

Croxone cures the very worst cases because it removes the cause of such troubles. It soaks right in and cleans out the kidneys and makes them filter out all the poisonous waste matter and uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism soothes and heals the bladder and quickly effects a cure.

It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for the purpose. You will find it entirely different from anything you have ever used. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take into the human system without results.

You can secure an original package of Croxone from any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.—[Advertisement.

SOCIETY.

gathering on Thursday evening of last week. It was a five hundred party, and was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Lea and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lea, who have been the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hatch for several weeks. The ladies' prize was won by Mrs. William Lea, while A. H. Coggswell took the gentlemen's prize. The consolation went to Mrs. Bundy. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Teagarden, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Coggswell, Mr. and Mrs. William Lea, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lea, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Hatch, Dr. and Mrs. E. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Cartwright, and Mrs. Leslie of Los Angeles.

A delightful dinner was given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Ashton. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Hackett and son, Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Ashton, Mr. and Mrs Noran, and son George, all relatives.

The most notable affair given by the Music Study Club this year occurred Monday evening, when the girls of the club entertained their parents and friends with an evening musicale at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Valk on South First street. Those enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Valk, Prof. and Mrs. Charles E. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Haney, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph N. Hornby, Mrs. H. E. Martehs, Mrs. McIlvain, Mrs. Mary E. Carr, McKinney, Kenneth Knesel, Bert Lichty. The club will hold its next regular meeting on Monday evening, February 17, at the home of Miss Ruth Knesel, on North Garfield avenue, when the evening will be devoted to the study of opera.

The Alhambra Round Table entertained with a most delightful "conversazione" last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Sparks, and Miss Sarah J. Brierley on South Fifth street. The club has just completed their study of Egypt, and the subject for the evening was "Twentieth Century Egypt." The president, Miss Brierley, had cleverly arranged the tally cards so that no two people would meet during the progressions from one table to the next. The seven tables were in charge of different members of the club, who led the conversation for the first round. Miss Joyner presided at the first table, with the subject, "Government and Militarism;" Dr. Woodhull, second table, "Population as to Numbers, Nationalities, Languages, and Customs." The other tables, which discussed various phases of government, education and customs, were in charge of Mrs. W. K. Walker, Mrs. Olberg, Miss Grace Brierley, Miss Lane, Mrs. Willis, who made their subject most interesting. At the close of the "progressions" most delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Those who enjoyed this novel conversazione were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Nairne, Mr. and Mrs. Willie, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Walker, Mrs. Olberg, Mrs. Joyner, Mrs. Hattie L. Jordan; the Misses Joyner, Lane, Rice Woodhull, Brierley, Dr. Anna Woodhull, M. Greene and Dr. Woodhull.

MARDI GRAS was celebrated in a truly delightful fashion Tuesday night by the members of the Cotillion Club. The affair was planned as an oriental party, and there was a generous representation from the various countries across the seas. The hall was decorated in Japanese style, bamboo and greenery being used in profusion. The cotillion figures were chosen by Miss Elsie Smith of San Francisco, and introduced some cunning little short stepped figures. The favors were parasols and fans and quaint little hair ornaments of tiny Japanese lanterns. Punch was served with Japanese rich cakes and Chinese candies. Monrovia.

THE recent rains have done much to beautify the canyons, filling the streams with sparkling, ice cold water and freshening the greens and browns of the mountain sides. The call of the wild has not passed unheard, and many Monrovians and out-of-town visitors have responded. Every day of the week finds a steady trickle of "hikers," happily tramping to Saw-pit Falls, Deer Park, or the woodsy retreats along the upper ends of Spanish and Monrovia canyons. On Sundays, the crowd is multiplied a dozen times. The new auto highway to the old power site has done much to draw a large percentage of visitors, by doing away with the tedium of the long walk before you come to the real canyons. Among last Sunday's visitors were Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Richardson and children, all from Ontario, a jolly auto party who were delighted with the natural beauties of the canyons. From Los Angeles came J. F. Smith, with the Misses Grace and Estelle Smith; F. J. Kimball, wife and daughter; Miss Mayme Bradley and J. Rogers and wife. H. Russell Greaves and his guest, John A. Irwin, of the Home Savings Bank, Los Angeles, enjoyed a tramp in the beautiful, but little known country above Saw-pit falls. From Monrovia a large company, in scattered twos and threes, did the various places of interest, and brought up the total to a round hundred.

The Women's Club programme for this week consisted of a lecture by B. F. Kingsley on "Die Walkure." The D. D. Club, which has been studying opera during the winter season, was the guest of the Women's Club for the programme.

L. R. Stark of Clarion, Iowa, is visiting his son-in-law, Clarence Bowerman, and the two, in company with J. M. Baldwin, spent the week-end at Catalina.

Mrs. Horace Evans, who with her husband will leave shortly for the north, was the guest of honor at a charmingly-appointed luncheon Tuesday afternoon. Valentine decorations in poinsettias and hearts were used, and the same floral design was carried out in the refreshments. Those of the list of invited guests included: Mmes. [illegible] Fred Krusmark, M. R. Conklin, H. W. Bushnell, Kenneth Carter, H. F. Crews, W. G. Davidson, A. M. Stone, F. N. Robinson, M. H. Graves, H. E. Miller, C. H. Sarwine, Albert Shaw, D. D. Northrup, C. Greaves, A. Bush, L. Johnson, B. J. Arthur, Kirby Lawrence, C. J. Dixon, F. M. Thomas, Emily Wheeler, C. E. Wheeler, Boyd, G. Blake, Thomas Rowan, Addict Schupp, Harry Kirchner, A. A. The Song-Sparrow.

The thicket glimmers gray before the door,
The waiting fields lie cold in brown and bare,
When lo, a merry song overhead the moor—
The song-sparrow is back again, laughing there.
"Sweet-sweet-sweet" ripples forth in cheery tale.
The witchery of sunny ways enfolds,
The grass remembers, and the meadow swale
Deckah er green gown with dancing marigolds.

Bleak lanes grow fair the while the blithely sings
From chilly turret the prince of day,
Out of the dark his pulsing notes rings,
Presaging light while all the world are gray.
"Sweet-sweet-sweet," till the heart-strings are drawn,
"Sweet-sweet-sweet" he pours a matchless art,
Luring the footsteps of the lagging dawn
With the fresh magic of his song-sparrow heart.

Prophet of hope, I hear your hopeful cheer
Tossing new courage to the world of day.
Sing on, sing on, and though the heart be drear
Lift thou mine eyes to remember May,
Singing in shade while yet the world are gray,
Speeding with song the darkness of the night;
Pilgrim of joy adown a dusky way
Teach me to keep my heart toward the light!

Plant Trees Along Highways

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

New York State Highway Commission, which has charge of the extensive system of road building that is in progress for several years, has already bought 150,000 red oak seedlings, 15,000 Carolina poplars and 10,000 birch trees for planting along the roads. It is the intention of the commission to plant every tree that will add to the beauty of the State eventually. The trees will not only add to the beauty of the highways, but they will have a very instructive effect of showing and provide a source of timber supply that may become important.

What New York is doing is being done in every State as a part of the good roads work now in progress. A planned and under control system of most every road has a wide strip or right of way to permit of the planting of trees. In France and Germany it is common to use the side of the roads for ways for this purpose, and there are charming and shady avenues that are thereby created. In this country there is hardly a locality in which shade trees for the purpose could not be had at low cost, and with a little attention of trees good results could be had in a few years.

IS YOUR HAIR SLIPPING?

The presence of dandruff and falling hair conveys a warning which it is best to heed. At first the loss of hair may be so slight as to be hardly noticeable. But no matter how little may be the fall each day, it is working toward the same sad, inevitable result, and that is total baldness.

You may have hair enough today, but how about tomorrow and the day after? Dandruff and falling hair mean baldness sooner or later and demand the immediate regular and energetic use of Newbro's Herpicide. This is the "original" remedy that kills the dandruff germ and prevents the hair from falling out. It keeps the scalp free from dirt and dandruff and allows the hair to grow abundantly and naturally. By no other means and this means alone can total incurable baldness be prevented.

Herpicide does not stain or dye and has a most exquisite fragrance which makes it especially pleasing to the ladies. It stops itching almost instantly.

You may be told that there are remedies "just as good as Herpicide." You cannot afford to take chances with nor can you expect to obtain results from an off brand article. Insist on having genuine Herpicide, the Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer.

You can get a sample of this delightful hair dressing and a booklet on the care of the hair by sending ten cents in silver or postage to The Herpicide Co., Dept. S, Detroit, Mich. Try Herpicide once and you will never be without it.

Sold everywhere in 50 cents and $1.00 sizes and guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded.

BRENT'S Credit System

Is absolutely fair, and you will do well to avail yourself of it, in buying furniture and household goods here. BRENT'S prices, too, are extremely reasonable; and BRENT'S stocks the largest and best selected that can be obtained.

Make it a point to do your dealing at BRENT'S, the Great Credit House. You'll find it the most satisfactory from every point of view—in the dependable furniture you'll get; in the wide assortment you'll have to choose from, and in the low prices you'll pay.

BRENT'S

Store Open Saturday Nights

During the past three years we have studiously refrained from keeping our store open on Saturday evenings, in compliance with a verbal agreement made among business houses at that time. Now, however, we find a large number of our competitors back in the old rut; we have therefore decided to keep our store open every Saturday evening until 9 o'clock. One-half our force of clerks will be on duty; these clerks will be given one-half day's freedom during the week following their night duty, to avoid hardship on their part. I trust the public will appreciate our position.

Respectfully,
E. J. BRENT, Proprietor BRENT'S Great Credit House.

—A hundred heavy Axminster Rugs in 36x72 inch size at about a third under present value—Oriental and floral designs in a great range of colorings, $2.95. Similar quality in size 27x54 inches at $1.95.

11.3x12 ft. Axminster Rugs $35.00

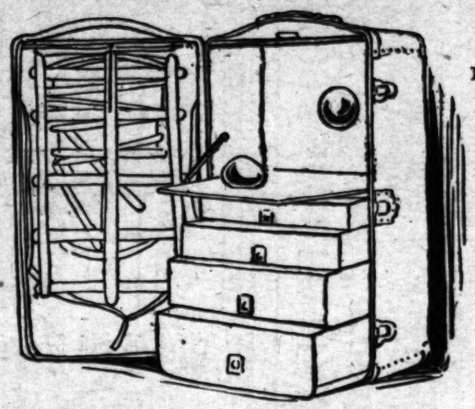
—A small number of them to be featured on Monday—Extra large size Axminster Rugs for unusually large rooms—Three new patterns in Oriental and Persian designs—extra size rugs at an extra low price, $35.00. (Fourth Floor)



Indestructo Trunks

—We have never known such spirited Trunk selling as that of the past few weeks—

—Indestructo Trunks are becoming more and more widely known.

—Indestructo Trunks are built to be ever so much stronger.

—The box of the Indestructo Special which is of six-ply veneer, one-half inch thick, has the same strength as a solid piece of wood two and one-half inches thick.

—And other Indestructo Trunks are equally great in strength.

—This six-ply veneer is put together into a jointless box in massive hydraulic presses under the pressure of 2500 pounds to the square inch.

—Compare this method of making a trunk with the ordinary nailed box construction.

—The box of the Indestructo Special, having been built of a six-ply veneer, Indestructo glue, Indestructo corners, in the Indestructo way, is covered with canvas, bound with fiber and shod with heavy cold rolled steel, brass plated.

—See the Indestructo Trunks at Bullock's on Monday—"Specials," "Travelers," "De Luxe" and "Dreadnoughts"—Steamer or regular sizes.

—The picture shows a remarkable value.

—An "Indestructo" Wardrobe, $37.50—A trunk among trunks—on the Third Floor, $37.50.

Fine Ginghams at 12½c Yard

—are going to win the hearts of many women on Monday—

—Famous Toll du Nord Ginghams in a splendid array of checks, plaids, stripes and plain colors. So many designs to choose from that one can surely find the one that suits. An unusual quality ginghams, 12½c yard.

Inlaid Linoleums at 95c a Yard

—No, indeed, that is not their usual price. Another instance of Bullock's masterful merchandising.

—Never mind how it happens—nothing need concern you except that you get here before the last of this thousand-yard lot is gone.

—Tile, block and Mosaic effects in green, blue and rich wood brown tones—12 different patterns for Monday's early buyers. Imported linoleums as well as the domestic makes. 95c a yard. Buy for far-in-the-future needs. (4th floor.)

Buy Bedding

—At Bullock's, where cotton is sold as cotton, where wool mixtures are sold as such, where nothing is sold as ALL wool unless it will stand every test.

—Some of the inexpensive grades of blankets, sheets and spreads featured for Monday—

Blankets at $1.50

—Heavy twilled cotton blankets, 70x80 inches, in white or tan. Surprisingly warm and serviceable for so cheap a blanket.

Pepperell Sheets

—Made of genuine Pepperell sheeting of the heavy grade, and seamless. Size 81x99 inches, 85c. 81x90 inches, 75c. 72x99 inches, 90c. 63x99 ins., 65c. All with wide hems. Pepperell cases to match—42x36 inches at 18c; 45x36 inches at 20c.

Mission Spreads $2

—Santa Barbara Mission spreads with hemmed, fringed or scalloped edges, and some with cut corners—size 78x98—new Marseilles patterns.

Mission Spreads $3

—San Luis Mission spreads of extra large size—44x94 inches—rich satin finished spreads in heavy raised patterns—hemmed edges. $3.

Woolnap Blankets, $2

—Look like real wool. Full size, in white or gray, with tape-bound ends. Splendid values at $2 a pair.

Plaid Blankets $2.75

—Extra large size and extra heavy, with a very soft, wool-like finish. Various fancy plaids and checks in soft shades of blue, pink, tan and gray. Dainty, warm, durable.

Wool Blankets $3.95

—Not ALL wool, though. But far more wool than people who know blanket values would expect to find in blankets at that price. They measure 70x80 inches, are in pure white only, and have tape-bound ends. $3.95 a pair.

Fringed Spreads $1

—Large fringed spreads with cut corners. Heavy quality in Marseilles effect—very specially priced at $1.

—$2 will buy strikingly dainty collars of fine shadow laces and nets—stocks of distinctive design with bow or jabots attached—some even with a touch of real hand embroidery.

—75c will buy the cleverest new jabots, or you can pay as much as $6. These include those new large effects that have become very prominent in eastern style centers. Net jabots, hand-embroidered and trimmed in shadow laces are plentiful and here are exquisite hand-made Princess and Oriental lace neckpieces in white and cream.

—In collars, the Epaulet model should be seen by every woman. The newest shape—Comes in a wide shoulder effect to be worn with dress or coat. These we have in both real and imitation laces—some with hand, others with machine embroidered edges with dainty val. or shadow lace trimmings. With or without cuffs, they come, some in pleated effects with jabots attached, others of satin with shadow lace or net jabot—Even these "last minute" collars sell for as little as 75c—while they range to $12.50 each.

—Then the new yokes include the prettiest plain or hand-embroidered ones. Every one with elastic to hold in place and boned ready to wear.

Those in plain nets are 50c and $1.25, while the more elaborate ones are $2.25 to $4.00.

—Plan on seeing Bullock's new neckwear first thing Monday. Share the many unusual values that will be there.

The Gypsy Winds.
The gypsy winds of the world the
The gypsy winds are blowing,
The gypsy winds whose pale, and Whose cheek and shadow rose,
Whose red and yellow feet, know their Grave-track gold,
Horned leaf and weeping grass
Pattern the trail.

Swift winds and light winds that call among the beeches,
Scouting path, past silvered pools,
Bringing breath of star-cool air
From lonely mountain passes,
From hemlock-scented
From breath of From Wayfaring
Across the sun-swept earth the gypsy winds are daring,
Their journey done, and the Homeland and richland know
Their noonday hiring
Down the world.
Down the windy-ribboned roads that loiter through the world.

Vagrant winds, fragrant winds, faint
wildwood spice breathing,
Brooklime mint and meadow thyme,
Scent of wild onion blooming dawn-
flushed on sunny ledges,
And white-starred jasmine curtains
Bring
Breathes through vine-wrapped
Breathes breathing.

Far across the open world the gypsy winds are roaming,
Scent of emerald bracken, and Juniper and headland rose
Their twilight homing.
When from out the star-pale world they wander back to me.

Sea winds, and free winds with reek of tar and shipping,
Ship of tramp-ship Argon, and the Wash of unseen waves beneath the ocean's secret places,
And through dim coralled caverns the Earth Herself Clark in Amalex.

Lost Fractional Currency.

[Chicago Intercean:] Many of our younger citizens have never seen the little brown and green fractional currency which was used during the Civil War, which then took the place of small silver, says the Independent. The government made a present to it, for an immense amount of it was estimated as thus destroyed and taken from the statement of the public debt. Now it is practically all destroyed with the exception of that which is preserved by collectors. And yet the monthly statement of the public debt from Washington holds $6,585,409,950 of fractional currency added to the amount of silver. It will be another bit should estimate it will reach $500,000,000, and reduce the paper debt of the country by over $6,000,000. The present interest-bearing debt is $964,951,950.

FACT AND COMMENT.

The wisdom embodied in the recent utterances of William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Los Angeles Aqueduct, with respect to the policy of diverting the forthcoming Owens River water supply from the territory immediately tributary to Los Angeles, is brought home to the former advocates of the so-called "high-line" project. The chimera of economy to be derived from the expensive Graham enterprise is losing its power of appeal with thinking and far-seeing taxpayers, who, already burdened almost beyond endurance with the drain upon their pocketbooks, due to this, that and the other scheme requiring a new tax levy, are becoming genuinely alarmed at the general economic outlook.

Mulholland sounds the warning in unmistakable terms when he declares that the city would repent paying the millions asked for to carry out the high-line scheme. "It has cost the city of Los Angeles $24,000,000 to develop the Owens River project," said the now nationally known engineer during the past week to a group of representative business men, "and it is certainly not just to this city to pay for the distribution of this water supply to other localities.

"Neither is it reasonable for us at this time to assume that the city will wish to annex territory not yet developed or not yet approved by the people at large," he added. "After a million has been annexed to the city by popular vote it will be time enough to give it a chance to ask for water. Then let the people of such a section pay for the privileges granted them. It is not up to the city to supply other regions with a free line when those regions may never become a portion of the city. We cannot afford to take any risks of this kind, nor has anyone the right to try to dictate the policies which the growth of Los Angeles shall take. This must be left to time and to the people.

"I insist," Mulholland stated with emphasis, "that the people alone have a right to decide what territory belongs to the city and what does not, and that the question of water comes under that of annexation."

Good Mixture.

It has struck the Fact and Comment man all along that the principal stands of those who have adhered to the ready-revenue fallacy of the high-line scheme, whatever the motives of the few who originated the plan, has been an error in vision. Shortsightedness is a common mistake in a city which is advancing with such phenomenal rapidity as is Los Angeles. Observation of the experience of other cities simply can not be made the standard of municipal guidance here. No other city is growing or has ever grown as Los Angeles is growing. Civic experts, city planners, professional advisers and progress depositors, the highest priced and costliest of them, are doing something beyond their powers when they attempt to say that Los Angeles ten years hence is going to have and need such a population, distributed over such and such an area and requiring utilities, municipally owned and otherwise, planned according to estimates mathematically sound, or no and so.

The best Los Angeles can do is to go ahead along big, broad lines, building carefully the while mistakes as great as that of the high-line scheme. Who knows how soon Los Angeles itself is going to need every drop of the aqueduct water? Surely Mr. Graham can't know, and Mr. Mulholland frankly admits he don't know. A critical study of present and past conditions of growth and trend will give anybody, however, a very good line on the probabilities. Such a study is calculated to convince one that Los Angeles can't afford to run the risk of having any considerable portion of its precious water supply away off from the city proper when the time does come that it will be needed at home.

Assuredly Los Angeles would be making a bad break in itself paying the cost of piping this water to outside sections. Competent legal authorities declare that water thus diverted could not be recalled, at least not without expensive and extremely disagreeable litigation. It would be bad enough for the city to fall into a pit through some mistake in judgment, as cities ere this have fallen; but it would be gross stupidity for Los Angeles to dig its own pit and then deliberately fall into it.

Los Angeles will have a life-sized job in simply avoiding mistakes during the next few epoch-making years of its existence.

The Way We Grow.

Over seven thousand new dwellings of one, one and a half and two stories were erected in the city limits of Los Angeles during 1912. Thousands of homes, not included in the official building records, were built just outside the city and in close-in districts, which inevitably will soon be asking to be taken into the corporation limits. Flats and apartments were built last year by the hundreds. The activity of 1912 was only a repetition, on an ascending scale, of that of 1911, 1910, 1909 and 1908. For years previously the advance of Los Angeles had been the marvel of the nation.

The present year will eclipse 1912 in point of home-building activity. Six hundred permits were issued for new dwellings last month and the City Building Department is besieged by prospective builders every hour of every working day. The activity of the realty market plainly indicates that such of these homes as are being built for sale are being grabbed up by the buyers. Everything points to an increment of population that plainly justifies Mr. Mulholland's warning that Los Angeles itself is likely to need far more water than it anticipates. Every new tract, every new house, every new flat and apartment, every new building, every new industrial enterprise of any character whatever requires its quota of water, and the rate of demand is constantly growing.

Los Angeles, "the city covering all out of doors," is becoming more and more compact. All the vacant area of the city proper will be improved before the closest observers can possibly realize it, at the present rate of development. Immediately outside the city large areas are being similarly developed by the subdivisionists. These will soon be an intergral part of the whole urban community and will be clamoring for city water. The high-liners, one and all, would do well to take a few days off to see what is going on in and around Los Angeles before voting to divert any of the aqueduct water to far-away points.

CHANGED TO HOTEL.

Building Formerly Occupied by Good Samaritan Hospital Converted Into Modern Hostelry.

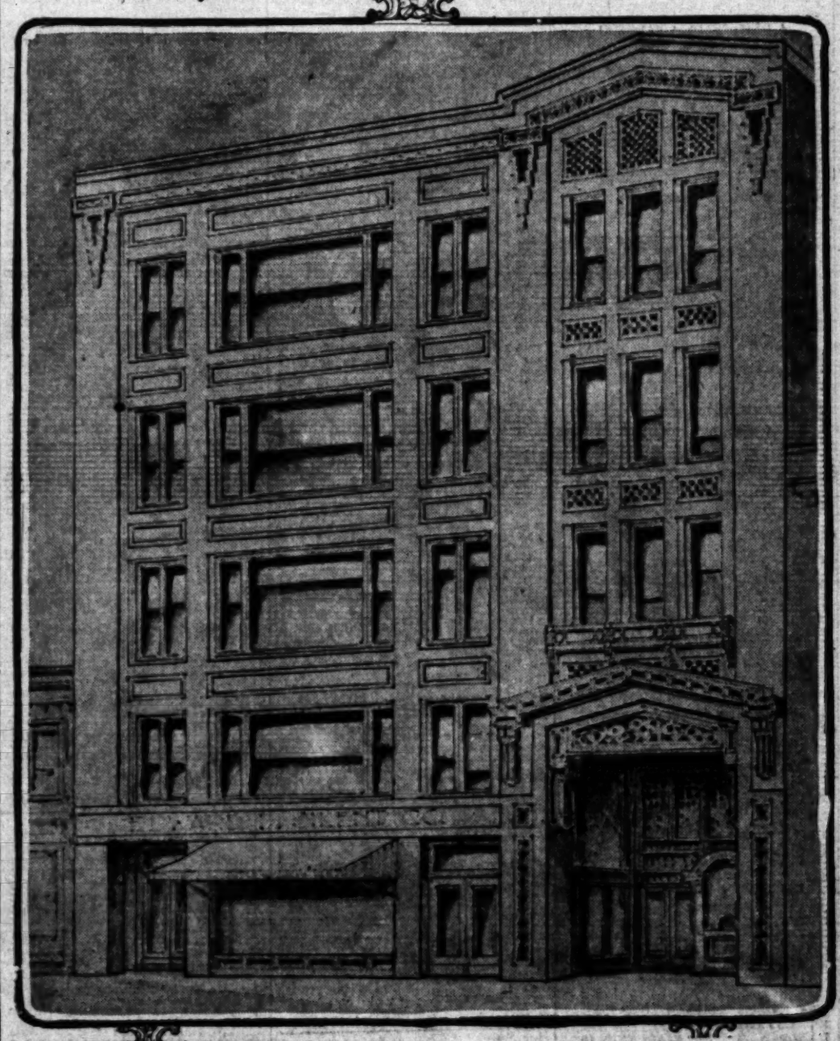
The Southern Brokerage Company reports the leasing of the three-story and basement brick apartment-house located at No. 1318 Maryland street, from Hans Debes, owner, to Mrs. Mary A. Clements, lessee, for a term of ten years, at a total rental of $60,000. The building contains thirty-two apartments arranged in one, two and three-room suites.

The same firm reports the leasing of the property formerly occupied by the Hospital of the Good Samaritan at The Southern Brokerage Company Tull of Washington, for a term of five years, at a reported total rental of $52,000. The building has been thoroughly renovated throughout, and is now being luxuriously furnished by the lessee and will open to the public about February, 15 as the Hotel Glencoe.

UNITE INTERESTS.

R. D. Tinklepaugh, who has been connected with the Holmes-Walton Company for several years, has associated himself with Charles W. Stewart, under the firm title of Stewart & Tinklepaugh. The firm is now placing a subdivision on the market at Del Rosa, on the Santa Fe line between San Bernardino and Highland.

Attractive New Downtown Improvement.



Building for Edward D. Silent & Co., Hunt & Burns, Architects.

Handsome structure to be reared on west side of Hill street between Seventh and Eighth streets.

EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS.

Thirty-one Houses Started in One Tract and Twenty in Another by Building Company.

Thirty-one new houses have just been put under construction for Mrs. Elizabeth Barnum on Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth streets, between Western and Normandie avenues, by the California Real Estate and Building Company. The houses are being built in what is known as the Barnum tract, and their completion will practically finish the development of this subdivision. A little over two years ago the property was cut into 144 lots, of which only nine now remain unimproved.

Seventeen five and six-room bungalows are being put up by the same company on Fifty-eighth street, between Normandie and Denker avenues. This will complete the development of the Normandie-avenue tract, where, less than three years ago, there were a hundred and sixty-nine unimproved lots. Sixteen six-room bungalows are being finished at Van Ness avenue and Arlington street, two blocks from Jefferson avenue, by the same company.

The California Real Estate and Building Company has also just purchased one hundred lots in the new town of Torrance, and has started work on twenty five and six-room bungalows. The company recently finished at Torrance, twenty five-room bungalows for the Domingues Land Company.

The company reports house sales for the week as follows: Six-room bungalow, No. 1602 West Fifty-eighth street, to Mary O. Carrington; five-room house, No. 1620 West Fifty-eighth street, to Arthur Brownwell, and five-room bungalow, No. 1452 West Fifty-sixth street, to Luther B. Ealick.

NEW APARTMENTS.

Modern Structure of Four Stories Projected for Corner of Temple and Bunker Hill—Other Projects.

Sketches are being drawn for a four-story brick apartment-house projected by the Los Angeles Securities Company for the southeast corner of Temple street and Bunker Hill avenue. The structure as planned will contain 100 rooms, divided into two and three-room suites, and will be 70x130 feet in size. Scott Guintin is the architect.

George F. Costerisan and J. F. Kavanaugh, associated architects, are preparing designs for a four-story brick apartment-house to be erected by Lawyer & Thomas on Boylston street south of Third. The building will contain sixty-seven rooms.

Plans for a three-story brick apartment-house to be erected by Mrs. Ella Barker at Eleventh and Beacon streets are nearing completion in the office of Elmore R. Jeffery. The structure is designed to contain eighty-five rooms and to cover a ground area of 80x165 feet.

J. F. Partch took out a permit during the week for the construction of a four-story brick apartment-house which he proposes to erect at No. 1515 South Figueroa street. The building will contain about 100 rooms in two and three-room suites. L. L. Jones is the architect.

Plans are being drawn by Fielder Slingluff for a three-story frame apartment-house that is projected by F. D. Turner for a site on Westmoreland avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets. The building will contain fifty rooms.

SECURES HALF INTEREST.

Woman Realty Broker Buys Equity in Valuable North End Holding. Reports Three Recent Transfers.

Mrs. Eugenia D. Porter purchased from J. J. Seeman during the past week a one-half interest in the southeast corner of Hill and Court streets, comprising a site fronting 140 feet on the former street, with a depth of 225 feet, improved with a sixty-five-room apartment-house, now nearing completion, and two other structures of nominal value. The value of the property is given by the new owner at $100,000.

Mrs. Porter also reports having made the following sales of real estate: To Mrs. Laura E. Vandergrift, through Sibley Realty Company, the Eugenia Apartments at Venice, consideration, $10,000; to Oscar B. Smith, six-room bungalow at No. 305 South Union avenue and six-room bungalow at No. 307 South Union avenue, total consideration, $8500.

Notable Deal.

CENTURY LEASE ON SOUTH HILL.

TRANSACTION INVOLVES SITE JUST ABOVE EIGHTH.

Lessees Plan to Erect Building of Six or More Stories on Lot Within Next Three Years—Total Rental Consideration Reported at Nearly Two Millions.

The construction of a fireproof building of six or more stories in height at Nos. 736-740 South Hill street within the next three years is said to be assured as the result of a ninety-nine-year lease recently concluded between N. C. Shekels, as owner, and Warren H. Cook and Don W. Carlton, as lessees. The deal, though several weeks old, was made public for the first time yesterday. The leasing contract contains an option to purchase and a clause making obligatory upon the lessees the erection of the kind of structure mentioned.

The lease, dating from January 1, 1913, involves a reported total rental consideration of $1,750,000. The site is 63x160 feet in size and is improved with frame buildings, which are under lease to present occupants for the next two and a half years. At the end of this time Cook and Carlton announce that they will begin building operations.

The lease on the site was negotiated through the agencies of Yerby & Yerby, J. N. Cordary & Co. and the Aaronson-Gale Company.

FINE BLOCK FOR SOUTH HILL.

Realty Man Projects Modern Loft Building.

Structure to Stand Between Seventh and Eighth.

Part of Improvement to Be Used as Theater.

Following the recent announcement of the conclusion of a $2,000,000 ninety-nine-year lease between the Huber Realty Company, as lessor, and Edward D. Silent, as lessee, and covering a site on the west side of Hill street, between Seventh and Eighth streets, The Times is authorized to publish a perspective picture of a modern five-story steel frame building to be started by Silent within the next two weeks on the lot involved. This perspective was prepared in the offices of Hunt & Burns, architects, of the important new South Hill street improvement.

The building project is being handled by Frank H. Cole, manager of the business rental department of Edward D. Silent & Co., who acted as broker in the leasing transaction which is responsible for the enterprise.

The ground floor of the projected building is to be occupied jointly by the realty firm of Edward D. Silent & Co. and the Tally Amusement Company. The latter concern, which already owns and maintains the College Theater on Hill street, will use its portion of the structure for an up-to-date picture playhouse. The upper floors of the building will be utilitsed for loft purposes.

The Silent building will have a Hill street frontage of sixty feet. A portion of the structure will be fifty-one feet in depth and the rest 160 feet deep to an alley. The improvement will be of what is known as the class B type and the first structure of this description to be started in Los Angeles in over a year.

The street front will be handsomely faced with cream-colored brick, the design involving a three-color ornamental treatment in matt-glazed brick and tile. Decorative inlays of tile will be a feature. The space given to windows will be unusually large.

The offices of the Silent company will comprise the lower two stories and basement of a portion of the building and will be richly finished in tile and mahogany. Much time has been given by the architects to the designing of the theater portion of the building which will be thoroughly modern and complete.

The theater audience room will have a seating capacity of 900 persons and will have a ceiling height of twenty-eight feet, extending through two full stories of the building. A handsome decorative treatment will be carried out in the room, which will be lighted and ventilated after the most scientific methods. The playhouse lobby will be finished in marble and tile and will be decorated with large mural paintings set in panels. Rest rooms for the patrons will be provided in the basement.

The main entrance to the building will be ten feet in width and will be finished in tile and marble. One large passenger elevator will serve the upper stories.

ACQUIRE HUGE TRACT.

Los Angeles Company to Subdivide Seven Thousand Acres in Coachella Valley—Land Adapted to Dates.

Announcement of the purchase of 7200 acres of land in the Coachella Valley has been made by the Southern California Home Builders. Work on the development of the tract, which will be placed on the market in the near future, has already been started.

The purchase was made from the Southern Pacific Railroad. The land extends for twelve miles along the right of way of that road, between Edom and Indio. Towns will be established at Edom and Dry Camp by the new owners.

The land is declared by the company officials to be particularly adapted to date raising and is to be cut up into ten-acre tracts for the market. Water tests are declared by the new owners to have been satisfactory.

ACTOR BUYS REALTY.

For a reported consideration of $6250, Antonio Arcaro, recently of the Orpheum circuit, has purchased a lot 195x150 feet in size on Washington boulevard, in the West Adams and Washington Boulevard Tract, of Victor G. Kleinberger and F. H. Edwards. The brokers in the deal state that the site is to be improved with a home. Arcaro and his wife have also acquired a business lot on West Adams street in the same tract, together with other residence sites his total investment, according to the agents, being about $15,000.

COMPLETE HUGE MILL.

To meet the local building demand for lumber a mammoth planing mill has just been put in operation by the Hammond Lumber Company in its Los Angeles yards. This mill is a two-story structure, 326x80 feet in size and with a total floor area of 51,200 square feet. It will handle 3,500,000 feet of lumber per month, it is stated by the company officials. The machines are operated by electricity from a 600-horse-power plant. Three of the lumber boats unloaded at San Pedro within the week brought big shipments to this plant from the Columbia River country.

FINE HOMES PLANNED.

An attractive house to cost in the neighborhood of $20,000 is to be started at once by John A. Vaughan at the southeast corner of Washington boulevard and Buckingham road in Wellington square. A handsome dwelling costing a like sum will be begun immediately by George S. Sofford at the southwest corner of Virginia road and Washington boulevard in the same subdivision. The site of the Sofford place is a sightly lot 160x150 feet in size.

FREE AT OUR OFFICE—die BY MAIL. OUR idea of a home is one both PRACTICAL and ARTISTIC. By careful study we manage to instill certain INDIVIDUALITY into each home.

It quite frequently happens that the PROSPECTIVE BUILDER'S IDEAS and PURSE do not correspond. In such cases our PRACTICAL knowledge comes to the rescue, and often where others have hopelessly FAILED, WE SUCCEED.

We build homes from the modern five-room cottage, at $900, to the most elaborate dwelling. It rests with the INDIVIDUAL entirely, what his home will cost. By concentrating our PURCHASING POWER, combined with our PRACTICAL knowledge, and being in a position to DISCOUNT our BILLS, we can, for a given quantity of work, discount our competitors' prices.

We build either by contracts on a fixed fee of 10 per cent, of estimated cost of work, or on our own lots in Los Angeles, Redondo and San Pedro, on easy terms.

We make no additional charge for our Architectural services, if we build, or if we fail to satisfy you both as to price and designs.

Every modern convenience.

ELEGANT 11-ROOM HOUSE.
WILSHIRE DISTRICT.

$20,000. $20,000. $20,000.

This beautiful home is less than a year old, not far out and only one block from Wilshire blvd. A fine lot 100x150 ft. frontage, lots of room and privacy, no crowding. Both exterior and interior of house is very charming, finest of mahogany and oak decorations and fixtures are beautiful. Breakfast room is most delightful. Maid's room and bathroom downstairs. Upstairs there are four charming sleeping rooms handsomely decorated, two fine sun rooms or sleeping porches, two elegant tiled bathrooms, bevel plate-glass mirror in every bedroom. Lots of porch room around house. Furnace, water heater, garage. Owner leaving city and we have just been instructed to sell soon as possible.

BEAUTIFUL 10-ROOM HOME, ONE BLOCK FROM WILSHIRE.

This elegant 10-room house, just completed, is better value by $1000 than anything else we know of today. Brick below and plaster above, with porte cochere; hardwood floors throughout. The woodwork was all handrubbed to a beautiful piano finish. Library finished in natural redwood, is charming, decorations and the Tiffany lighting fixtures are exquisite and in best of taste; a fine Gruby tile mantel. The maid's room and bath are on first floor; on second floor are four most charming sleeping rooms, daintily papered and decorated, and large tiled bath; also a delightful sleeping porch or sun room, all inclosed with glass. Stairway leads to a floored attic, a good basement with furnace.

HANDSOME 9-ROOM GRAMERCY PLACE.

A beauty, 9-room house, just finished, near car line, east front lot 50x150. There are hardwood floors throughout, charming breakfast room, handsomely decorated and finished throughout the upstairs, three bedrooms and sleeping porch are very delightful; in fact, the entire house has that elegance and home feeling that is so desirable and yet so seldom found, especially at such a low price. Furnace, garage and cement drive, and remember, brand new, never lived in and well built by day's work. Attractive terms if desired. Connected with sewer.

...Acres for Subdivision.

...TRACTS FOR SUBDIVISION.

4000 acres four miles from county seat of one of the best counties in the San Joaquin Valley, both the railroads run through the property, not an acre of waste land, all under cultivation, good water conditions for irrigation, 20 to 40 ft. Rich sandy loam soil, no alkali. Level with 5-ft. fall to the mile. A great deal of land adjoining the same quality, but improved in alfalfa, etc. are selling not less than $250 per acre. Our price

$75 PER ACRE.

Pay 10 per cent. cash and begin selling long time on balance. Good release clause.

$50 PER ACRE.

800 acres three miles from county seat, ¾ mile from station, excellent soil, no alkali. This land adjoins alfalfa field, good water conditions, $10 per cent. cash. Will handle this splendid proposition for the present.

$60 PER ACRE.

2000 acres between the two railroads, adjoining some of the liveliest subdivision work in the valley, excellent level land, near three shipping points, surely ready for subdivision. Price $62.50 per acre. Good terms can be arranged.

FOR SALE—DID IT EVER OCCUR TO YOU that Hill street is a natural born winner? Have you ever considered that the largest investment building corporation in the world was built up on Hill street, and it did not happen to be South Hill street either, but well up toward the northern end of the street? Have you reflected that such firms as Hamburger's, the Broadway Department Store, the J. W. Robinson Company, the Ville de Paris, and a lot of other concerns have considered Hill street important enough to extend their business through to that thoroughfare? Have you ever considered that no big retail business house has ever extended its business through to any other street except Hill street? That's the handwriting on the wall.

The judgment of any man who has accumulated a fortune in retail trade in those strenuous times must be pretty good judgment, and if that judgment inspires to seek Hill street outlet for their business, Hill street real estate must be pretty good real estate. Real estate anywhere on Hill street is good real estate, but we recommend the southern end of the street for the biggest rise in values on the basis of present prices. We offer the best corner south of Pico for $120,000. BLACK BROS. (INC.,) 209 H. W. Hellman Bldg.

ALSO
Three small lots, 50 to 70 ft., on Flower, close in, for sale on very attractive lease.
ALSO.
S.W. 60-ft. corner, Grand and 14th; can deliver this at a bargain for short time only; will soon be off the market; many owners are withdrawing Grand ave. property from market, and corners will soon be out of the question. The wise ones know what is in the wind for this great central thoroughfare, situated as it is half way between Main and Figueroa. Watch Grand and Pico corners. Great profits will be made on Grand ave. for next two years.
ALSO
75 feet on Grand, only 250 feet from Grand and Pico. Fronting 75 on Grand and 75 on Palm. This is a good buy for a big profit in next 18 months. Price liable to big advance March 4.
ALSO
Can deliver the very finest 3-acre foothill villa site in all Southern California, in Hollywood. This is not cheap. The price is way up, but it is a rich man's proposition and will be made one of the great show places.

FOR SALE—
WALNUT AND ALFALFA LAND.
We have a beautiful sub-division in the famous El Monte-Covina district, that for quality of soil, is unsurpassed in the State. It's a deep sediment loam, absolutely free from any objectionable features. It will stand the most rigid investigation. The location is excellent, being surrounded by highly improved homes. Only 1 1/2 miles from Covina car line.
150 inches of water piped to each 20 acres. Being so close markets, hay brings $15 to $20 per ton in field. The land can be planted to walnuts and the land pay for itself while trees are coming into bearing. It's a rare chance, improve it.
Prices $450 and $500 per acre with water, easy terms.
Sell in 20-acre lots.

70 ACRES.

Covina district, top notch soil for alfalfa or walnuts, adjoins some of the highest-priced and most desirable property in the San Gabriel Valley. Water piped to the land for irrigation. Only a short distance from Covina or El Monte. Owner will seed this land to alfalfa and sell it for $500 per acre. Can you beat this? It's certainly a bargain. Don't doubt, but inspect the property. Alfalfa and walnuts are always sure to bring returns. Remember the price, $500 per acre, reasonable terms.

80 ACRES.

Adjoining the growing town of Puente, and on the Valley Boulevard to Los Angeles. This land will produce enormous crops of alfalfa or other produce. Owing to location will make an ideal home, and is sure to be a money-making proposition. Alfalfa is a sure crop as it's immune from damage by frosts or insects. Diversified Crops, Money-Making Crops on the Orosi Farms.
We are pleased to advise our clients and friends that the young orange trees planted last June on our demonstration farm were not hurt by the "worst freeze in 36 years" and even nursery stock seems to have escaped injury. This experience emphasizes the advantage of the Orosi district in Tulare county as a Naval orange territory, because our oranges ripen four to six weeks earlier than in Southern California and are shipped by Dec. 15.
The freeze also teaches the advantage of diversified crops. The Orosi Farms soil is choice for oranges, and it is also adapted to the growing of peaches, olives, figs, Thompson's seedless grapes, melons, berries, Turkish tobacco, alfalfa, etc. We will be glad to quote specific instances showing that the above crops yield $100-$300 an acre.
With such returns possible, our lands cannot long remain at $150-$300 an acre. We offer choice inducements to settlers. We will accept 1/4 cash and wait six years for the balance.
Don't get scared. Grow oranges, but grow other crops as well. Twenty acres well tilled means luxury.

FARMERS WANTED
IN ARIZONA.
Big opportunities in Maricopa county, Arizona. Farmers who are being crowded out of California on account of high land prices and eastern land seekers who want low-priced land with abundance of water, should visit the great Salt River Valley, where they cut an average of six tons of alfalfa to the acre, and alfalfa has been selling from $13 to $16 a ton. A farmer who has lived in the Salt River Valley for eight years and who has been in the dairy business all his life writes: "I never have seen a country where stock does so well and matures so quickly." There is an abundance of "stored water" in the great Roosevelt Dam. Thousands of acres of land are ready for the plow. Phoenix, the capital of the new State of Arizona, is a winter paradise and is growing rapidly.
BIG EXCURSION

Coming to Town.

ORANGE SHOW BOOSTERS WILL INVADE METROPOLIS.

One Thousand Men and Women from San Bernardino Will Arrive in Los Angeles at Noon Wednesday to Tell of the National Orange Show, Which Will Open February 17 and Continue the Balance of the Week.

THE "Yellow Kid" has returned.

Five hundred of "him" will parade the downtown district of Los Angeles promptly at noon on Wednesday of this week.

But the "yellow kids" will not be alone. Each will have with him a specimen of the fairest of the fair of San Bernardino's many handsome women, for which the Gate City is famous.

There will also be two or three hundred gaily bedecked automobiles, a motor truck from which a bevy of handsome young women will pelt the crowds with large ripe and juicy oranges, a band of music, a mounted police escort, and other features incidental to letting the people of Los Angeles know about the National Orange Show, which is to be held in San Bernardino February 17 to 22.

But back to the "yellow kids."

Who are they?

They are five hundred of the live boosters from San Bernardino. Each will wear a long orange-colored duster with green trimmings and wherever they go the people will learn of the National Orange Show.

The "yellow kids" will be the big guns of the great boosting trip that the San Bernardino folks will make through the towns along the Valley boulevard from their hustling city to Los Angeles, for acquainting the people with the great citrus exhibition.

The parade of between 200 and 300 handsomely decorated automobiles will leave San Bernardino at 8 o'clock, with stops at Upland, Azusa, Monrovia and Pasadena. The big parade will arrive at Broadway and First in Los Angeles promptly at noon, where it will be met with a squad of mounted police by Mayor Alexander and Chief of Police Sebastian and escorted through the entire downtown district. A special permit to smash all the traffic ordinances they wish to has been secured by the boosters.

Hundreds of boxes of the golden fruit will be thrown to the throngs on the streets, while the "yellow kids" will acquaint everyone with the approach of the National Orange Show.

Following the parade, at 1 o'clock, a banquet will be served the boosters at the Hollenbeck Hotel, John S. Mitchell having made special arrangements for them. Los Angeles city officials, representatives of the city's commercial organizations, newspaper representatives and others will be special guests at this banquet.

But—the National Orange Show.

It will have anything of the sort ever held on the Pacific Coast completely eclipsed.

The exhibit space will occupy an area twice as large as Madison Square Garden in New York. It will be housed in two of the largest and finest exposition tents ever brought to the Pacific Coast—wind proof and waterproof.

Exhibits of citrus fruits will be shown from every district in the Golden State—from Butte county on the north to the Mexican line on the south, while Porto Rico growers have also signified their intention of sending a display from that far-away isle.

Set in a great frame of gold, more than a score of magnificent feature displays will be shown. Some of these will cost $2000 and represent weeks of solid work for several workmen. These features take on all sorts of fantastic forms and shapes. Many of them are in some way characteristic of the city or district making the display. Citrus fruits are used exclusively, so far as possible, in building these feature designs.

At this great show the "400" of the citrus fruit world will be on dress parade. The finest specimens of oranges, of lemons, of grapefruit, of tangerines and all the other varieties of the citrus family—they will all be there in friendly competition for the $5000 worth of trophies the people of San Bernardino have hung up as evidence of their good will.

Not only will the aristocracy of the citrus fruit world be shown at the show, but the "Story of the Orange" will be told in the many and varied exhibits. From the little groups of seedling orange trees in the gardens of the padres a century ago to the present-day development of the citrus industry, is a far cry. But it will all be told in the displays at the National Orange Show. The coming of the navel, which has become the world-famous orange of California, as well as all the other advance steps of the industry, will be portrayed in the exhibits.

Nursery methods, cultural processes, how the fruit is picked and packed, the manner of precooling, and how all the other many and varied things pertaining to the citrus industry are done will be shown.

The by-products, just now receiving so much attention from citrus fruit growers, will also be displayed. In short—the National Orange Show will portray the citrus industry in all its phases from mission days to the twentieth century period.

This is the third annual exhibit of the National Orange Show. The idea was conceived by Harry Perkins and presented to the people of San Bernardino—his home city. Mr. Perkins has been general manager of each of the three expositions, each of which has been a great success.

John Anderson is president of the third show, Joseph Ingersoll, vice-president; F. M. Renfro, secretary, and Harry Perkins, general manager. It is financed by the business men of San Bernardino without expectation of profit—being solely for the upbuilding of the citrus industry of the entire State.

A flash of fireworks, a blare of bands, addresses by a number of prominent men from various parts of the State, and the third annual show will be opened at 7 o'clock the evening of Monday, February 17, and continue the balance of the week.

There will be an amusement section for the entertainment of those seeking it. The city will be in holiday attire from end to end, the streets will be illuminated in a lavish fashion, while preparations are being made to entertain not less than 100,000 visitors at the show.

Hundreds of auto parties will make the run out from Los Angeles, Pasadena and the other cities near the coast, the trip to San Bernardino and return easily being made in a day. The finest of boulevards make traveling a delight.

Special excursions are to be run to San Bernardino during the week by the Los Angeles and Long Beach Chambers of Commerce, while other cities are expected to do the same.

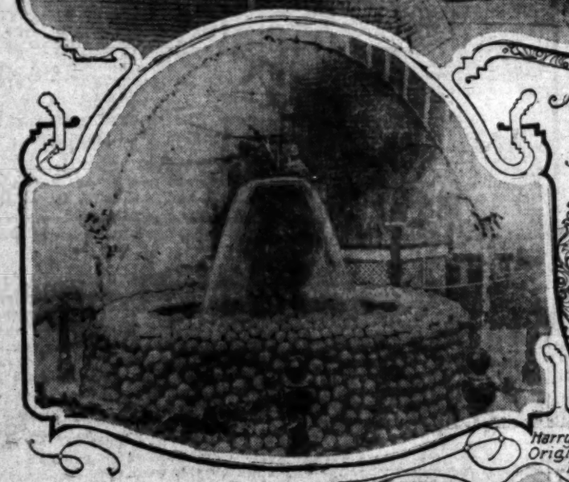
The show will be of special interest to the tourist, who will thus have an opportunity of not only seeing the entire citrus industry in panoramic form, but also what is easily "California's greatest midwinter event."

But—be sure and do not miss the "yellow kids" at noon in Los Angeles on Wednesday of this week—February 12.

They're worth while.

John Anderson, President of Orange Show.

Joseph Ingersoll, Vice-President



Harry Perkins, Originator of the National Orange Show

C. M. Grow, Chairman of fruit exhibits

F. M. Renfro, Secretary

Merely a Suggestion.

Above are two views of the National Orange Show, which will open in San Bernardino February 17. Grouped about these two scenes are the men who have pluckily carried out the plans for the great citrus exhibition regardless of the blighting weather which temporarily discouraged growers and shippers.

YUCIAPA VALLEY

WHERE BIG RED APPLES GROW

Apples Pay Big

—in the Yucaipa Valley where health and prosperity go hand in hand.

—as much as $1000 an acre has been taken from orchards here for three years in succession.

—the soil is a soft and easily worked sandy loam. It is deep and rich. It has never known a crop failure. Plenty of water is available at low prices and land is NOW PRICED LOW.

NO ORCHARDIST has ever bought from us in the Yucaipa Valley who cannot now sell his land AT A PROFIT!

$285 An Acre

—land is now priced at $285 an acre to $300 an acre. Planting is cheap, but must be done SOON. Thousands on thousands of young trees are now going in.

THEATER FOR WEST END.

Attractive Picture Playhouse to Be Built on Washington Street Near Cherry—Capacity, Eight Hundred.

J. H. Parker, manager of the lease department of the California Realty Corporation, has leased a moving picture theater to be erected on Washington street, near Cherry. The building is being erected by the Baer Realty Company for H. H. Wenbrink and will be 50x150 feet in size. It will have a handsome front elevation faced with marble. The lease is for ten years, at a total rental of $40,000.

The building is being designed by A. Lawrence Valk and will cost approximately $20,000. It will have a seating capacity of 800 and will be beautifully finished and modernly appointed.

WEST ADAMS PARK.

Contracts have been let by Robert Marsh & Company, and construction will begin at once on five homes at West Adams Park. The contractor is Charles D. Goldthwaite. As soon as these houses are completed it is the intention to construct fifteen additional houses in lots of five each. During the past week the last of the work on the sewer and drainage system in the tract was completed, and the street and sidewalk work is nearly finished. During the next two weeks another thousand trees will be set out in the subdivision.

AT THE CITY'S EDGE.

Fifty Permits Granted to Builders in Glendale During January—Contracts Let for Street Work.

GLENDALE, Feb. 8.—During the month of January fifty building permits were granted in this city, these having a valuation of $67,655. The permits for January of last year numbered forty-five and had a valuation of $45,020. During the past week the following permits were granted: Henry Braun, Ninth and Glendale avenue, residence, $6000; T. W. Gould, No. 139 Louise street, residence, $3500; M. L. Rowl, No. 322 Orange street, flats, $3000; J. A. Lilly, No. 136 South Louise street, residence, $2000; George Taylor, Louise, near First street, residence, $2000; John Clendenning, No. 220 Louise street, residence, $2000; J. A. Aldrich, Orange Grove and Adams street, residence, $2000; Will Lacy, No. 207 North Maryland, residence, $2000; Mrs. Stephen Mandery, residence, No. 1425 Pioneer drive, $2000; Albert Cornwell, Louise near Sixth, $1750; R. C. Lou, Adams and First street, residence, $1200.

Contracts were let this week for the improvement of four more of Glendale's streets. The McCombs company was awarded the work on Dryden and Campbell streets and Central avenue and F. R. Sinclair was given the contract for improving Doran street. The contracts represent about four miles of street work.

A. A. Schoenfeldt has sold to Mrs. Van Strumm a residence at No. 1616 Ruth avenue, the price paid being reported as $2000. Mrs. Emma Klein has purchased of J. Frankenfield, the northeast corner of Stocker street and Brand boulevard, 60x320 feet, the sale price being given at $2000. Mrs. Klein will erect a fine home on her property in the near future. N. H. Cassell, a recent arrival from Hood River, Or., has purchased a story and a half residence on Kenwood north of First street, for a consideration of $4000. The northwest corner of Randolph street and Brand boulevard has been sold by George W. Wheeler to a local investor for $4000. Miss Cora Goodell is erecting on Seventh street an apartment-house to cost about $4000.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

Twenty-five Building Permits Issued in South Pasadena During January—Home Builders Active.

SOUTH PASADENA, Feb. 8. — Building permits amounting to $43,150 in value were issued in the month of January by the city building inspector. Twenty-five permits were granted, for the most part for the erection of homes. The largest permit was for $6500 and provides for the erection of a nine-room dwelling by John B. Althouse, who will build at No. 1937 La France avenue. H. L. Metcalf took out a $5000 permit for a nine-room structure to be erected at No. 2014 Camden court. A. L. Bachman was granted a permit to erect an eleven-room apartment-house, costing $5000, at Nos. 1302 and 1304 Fremont avenue.

The Cawston Ostrich Farm is making extensive repairs and additions to its buildings and took out two permits, one for a concrete basement and repairs totalling $3500, and the other for repairs costing $1000.

Other permits issued were to Dr. C. F. Metcalf for a six-room bungalow at No. 611 Elm street, to cost $3000; M. L. Gastren, eight-room house, No. 1305 Stratford avenue, $3500; Fred A. Bailey of Los Angeles, seven-room dwelling, No. 1951 Leman street, $2950; J. D. Tarles, six-room bungalow and garage, No. 344 Pasadena avenue, $1500; H. C. Johnson, six-room dwelling, No. 1610 Lyndon street, $2000; W. P. Finerty, six-room bungalow, No. 1818 Electric avenue, $2750; Lawrence C. Keck, six-room bungalow, No. 618 Elm street, $2000, and C. M. Brittian, six-room bungalow, No. 534 Elm street, $3500.

DEPOT STARTED.

White Tile Structure at Owensmouth Will Be Model Passenger Station. Order Placed for Lighting System.

OWENSMOUTH, Feb. 8.—Foundations are being laid for a new Pacific Electric depot at this place and the building will be pushed to completion as quickly as possible. The structure is to be of white tile, will cost approximately $7000 and will have every convenience for passengers. The Southern Pacific depot, finished some months ago, is the same material and cost about $5000.

Work will begin shortly on a $50,000 schoolhouse for the pupils of the Owensmouth grades. A bond issue for this amount has been voted by the Owensmouth school district and a site secured. There are nearly a hundred school children in the town.

Electric street lights will soon illuminate the business and residence section of Owensmouth. An order has been placed for ornamented poles with cluster globes. The lighting of the town will be followed by electric lighting of the San Fernando Valley speedway for the eighteen miles that it runs through Van Nuys-Lankershim lands if present plans carry out. The Southern California Edison Company is now building a sub-station here for power distribution.

TRADES APARTMENTS.

Owner of Shatto Street Place Exchanges Property for Cash and Twenty-two Wilshire District Lots.

The Empress apartment-house, containing sixty-six rooms and located on Shatto street, between Valencia and Witmer streets, was transferred the past week from C. W. Vonder Kuhlen to C. H. Hann. The consideration is given at $55,000.

In exchange Vonder Kuhlen received $22,500 cash and twenty-two lots located in the Wilshire section. The deal was made by George W. Miller and L. H. Judson, with A. D. Bowman.

FORM PARTNERSHIP.

Carroll W. Kirby and Robert K. Gilbert, formerly with Robert Marsh & Company, have opened offices at 307 Van Nuys building. The firm will be known as the Gilbert-Kirby Company.

CROWN CITY INVESTOR WILL BUILD SHOW HOUSE.

City Official One of Sellers of Valuable Corner Acquired by Savings Bank—Structure on Lot Bought to Be Greatly Enlarged by New Owners.

PASADENA, Feb. 8.—A deal consummated several days ago through the agency of E. H. Lockwood assures the opening of another moving-picture theater in Pasadena. The deal is the purchase by Frank Dales of No. 681 South Orange Grove avenue, of property fronting on the east side of Colorado street and sixty feet west of Euclid avenue. The site has a frontage of sixty-six feet. On the lot Dale proposes to erect a building, probably one story in height, which will contain a theater in the rear, with store buildings on each side of the entrance. The price paid for the site is given at $43,000.

Another deal closed this week by Lockwood was the sale for Mayer Thum and his brother, Ferdinand Thum, of the property at the northeast corner of Marengo avenue and Colorado street to the Citizens' Savings Bank. The consideration is given at $125,000. Ten years ago Thum brothers purchased this property from Lockwood for $21,000. The bank expects soon to begin the work of changing the building now on the property to a six-story business block.

Of the building permits issued here last week those for improvements to cost $1000 or more were:

F. M. Taylor, four-room bungalow and garage, No. 311 North Chester avenue, $1350; R. Rochester, Jr., two-story garage, No. 1365 Oakland avenue, $4500; Clarence McGregg, six-room frame dwelling and garage, No. 1166 North Michigan avenue, $2200; J. T. Ball, five-room frame bungalow, No. 1324 North Marengo avenue, $1600; Mrs. F. W. Cummings, eight-room frame residence, No. 289 Palmetto drive, $5364; H. R. Campbell, eighteen-room, two-story frame apartment-house, No. 765-71 South Los Robles avenue, $8000.

THE VIEW'S "THE THING"

Since time immemorial, kings, emperors, great artists and men of wealth have sought out the high spots for home building.

An all-inclusive view has been the first consideration. Nowhere is this condition better exemplified than here in Southern California. Clear, sweeping views of the ocean, mountains, city and the valleys are considered priceless residential advantages.

The incomparable view from Angeles Mesa has made this subdivision famous. It has been in a great measure responsible for the sale of over $1,250,000.00 worth of lots in a little over a year's time.

Go out today and see this wonderfully comprehensive vista — the imperishable privilege of every Angeles Mesa resident.

Note the tremendous amount of residential development (now under way) surrounding this attractively built-up eminence.

Property values have doubled here during the last 15 months—and there is every reason to believe they'll go much higher.

But why argue farther? A visit today will convince you.

At the last regular meeting of the Board of Directors a dividend of 10% per annum on par value of the stock was declared.

More than 7% net on your investment, and as the company grows older your income increases and your investment grows in value.

Now Is the Time The continual increased earnings justify an advance in price. Buy before the advance. Everyone who is going to invest his money wants the best security back of his investment, a sure income and an investment that will grow in value.

The Best, Safest and Surest Investment

This is the vital question you must determine. In arriving at your conclusion do not overlook the fact that this company in less than 2 years has more than $1,000,000.00 in good live assets and in surplus and undivided profits about $85,000.00 after paying all operating expenses and dividends of about $45,000.

Remember This: The best investigation you can make of any company is to know the reputation for success and honesty of the men who direct the affairs of the company.

It Would Be a difficult task to get together in Los Angeles a more representative body of successful business men than those who direct the affairs of this company.

FOR PROFESSIONAL MEN.

Los Angeles Architects Complete Plans for Eight-story Office Block Projected at San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 8.—Plans have been completed by the MacGibbon-Frary Company of Los Angeles for an eight-story office building that is projected by George F. Hart for the corner of Eighth and D streets, this city. Construction upon the building will begin, it is reported, within the next two or three weeks.

The building as planned will occupy a ground area of 100x150 feet and will be open on four sides, one side looking toward the Carnegie Library. The block will be divided into 250 rooms and will cost, according to the owner, approximately $350,000.

The building is designed to house professional men, one floor to be devoted to architects, another to lawyers, another to doctors and so on. The lower story will contain six storerooms and in the basement will be a large cafe. The building will be equipped with three high-speed passenger elevators. The lobby will be handsomely finished in marble.

BUY VALUABLE TRACT.

Realty Company Pays High Figure for Unsubdivided Holding in Heart of Fine West End District.

The McCarthy Company has just completed the purchase of ten acres of unsubdivided ground in one of the finest residence districts of the city at a reported price of $100,000. The piece is bounded by West Eighth, Catalina and West Ninth streets and Normandie avenue. Mrs. Hulda Franciska Schmidt was the seller, the Title Insurance and Trust Company acting as trustees.

The tract will be subdivided immediately and put on the market as a high-class residence subdivision, with building restrictions ranging from $4000 to $8000 and with a high grade of improvements. The property is surrounded by a well-developed and attractive residence community.

OPENING DATE SET.

Preparations for the formal opening of Factory Center, the tract of the Pacific Realty Bonds Company, at the Los Angeles harbor, to be held on March 4, are now under way. Special excursions will be run to the property and a programme of entertainment arranged. An effort will be made by the company to have all street work, sidewalks, curbs and water improvements installed throughout the tract before the opening.

INGLEDALE ACRES.

Sales in Ingledale Acres are reported by the Guy M. Rush Company to the following buyers: H. A. Lackey, Silas P. Jensen, J. H. Heras, A. Mulleng, Mrs. M. A. Crosby, L. J. Smith, J. W. Barnes, J. H. ALFALFA LANDS IN BIG DEMAND.

ACREAGE MOVING BRISKLY IN PORTERVILLE FIELD.

Enormous Area, Utterly Barren a Year Ago, Now Well Improved. Southern Investors Buy Two Valuable Tracts for Immediate Development.

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 8.—Business was comparatively quiet in realty circles during the past week. Brokers ascribe the comparative lull in orange acreage transactions to the fact that suitable trees for planting are becoming high in price and difficult to get. Olive trees of the better quality are almost impossible to secure. Alfalfa lands continue to move briskly, several deals having been placed in escrow this week.

Evidence of the number of transfers of alfalfa land made within the past few years is shown in the statement that in the Tipton-Pixley district alone there is now under development nearly 8000 acres of alfalfa land, all of which has changed hands within the past twelve months. All of this acreage was raw land and practically all of it has passed into the hands of Southern California investors.

A new record was established in the price of raw alfalfa land this week in the sale of the old Broder ranch of eighty acres, situated in the Farmersville district, to C. J. Giddings of Visalia, who paid $16,000 for the property. There is considerable timber on the land, which is said to be desirable for either alfalfa or deciduous fruits.

H. E. Jones, a retired merchant of San Jose, purchased this week of G. F. Shrider a twenty-acre orange grove situated in the Sunnyside district. Approximately $20,000 was paid by the new owner for the property. The place includes seven acres of five-year-old early navels and seven acres of seven-year-olds, the remainder being unimproved. Jones will move here from San Jose.

Will Hershberger of this city has sold to A. E. Geeting, recently from Los Angeles, a quarter-section of alfalfa lands in the Woodville district. The consideration is not given. Geeting expects to develop a large portion of the tract. Hershberger closed a deal this week for the purchase of a forty-acre tract of improved alfalfa land in Westfield, buying from T. M. Slusser.

J. B. Garver, one of the pioneer ranchers of the Deep Creek section, has sold to Henry W. Mellen a quarter-section in the south Poplar alfalfa country. Mellen, who is from Southern California, has not announced his future plans for the property. The land is adapted to alfalfa culture.

Properties of Elmer E. Col[illegible] the Santa Monica Bay Rea[illegible]

Long has it been known that the Santa Monica Bay affords every condition that would make it the ideal Harbor of a big city, so well appointed is it indeed, in this detail, that the point was very strongly agitated to make Santa Monica the harbor of Los Angeles instead of San Pedro, at the time that San Pedro was first taken into consideration as the prospective harbor of Los Angeles.

All due investigation having been given to the general depth of approach and all other such considerations pertaining to the harbor qualifications of the Crescent Bay, which investigations proved beyond all doubt its advantages as a harbor, the matter was finally taken to the United States Senate, there being only defeated in the final issues, which allowed San Pedro to be the authorized harbor of Los Angeles, instead of the Crescent Bay.

This fact, however, makes it look very favorable even yet that the Santa Monica Bay will some day come into its own as one of the prominent harbors if not the most prominent harbor of the Pacific Coast. At least, with the multitude of beach and health resorts and home city advantages that Santa Monica is now enjoying, and will continue to enjoy in ever-increasing numbers to the end of time; it would not require a stretch of imagination to see Santa Monica as a port of call, receiving its due quota of the big naval, freight and passenger steamers plying between the Pacific Coast and Asia, the Japanese, Australian and Hawaiian Islands, and between the Panama Canal and our own Southern borders, as well as our Northern ports and Los Angeles.

LEASED FOR TEN YEARS.

Seventy-five-room Apartment-house at Ninth and Parkview Secured by Retired Mining Man.

The Campbellton apartments, a seventy-five-room property recently completed at the corner of Ninth and Parkview, has just been leased by Clinton Campbell, as owner, to Frank J. Spare, a retired mining man, for a term of ten years and at a reported total rental of $84,000. The deal was consummated through R. A. Mecham, manager of the leasing department of D. H. Lingle & Co.

The building is three stories in height and of brick construction. It is divided into two and three-room apartments.

Santa Monica-a Natural Harbor For Ocean Liners

Practically Every Maritime and home advantage Is Known to the Crescent Bay City

Properties of Elmer E. Cole, Proctor & Stadelman and the Santa Monica Bay Realty Co. Attracting Attention

Long has it been known that the Santa Monica Bay affords every condition that would make it the ideal harbor of a big city, so well appointed as it. Indeed, in this detail, that the point was very strongly agitated to make Santa Monica the harbor of Los Angeles instead of San Pedro, at the time that San Pedro was first taken into consideration as the prospective harbor of Los Angeles.

All due investigation having been given to the general depth of approach and all other such considerations pertaining to the harbor qualifications of the Crescent Bay, which investigation proved beyond all doubt its advantages as a harbor, the matter was finally taken to the United States army, there being only defeated in its final issues, which allowed San Pedro to be the authorized harbor of Los Angeles, instead of the Crescent Bay.

This fact, however, makes it look very favorable even yet that the Santa Monica Bay will some day come into its own as one of the prominent harbors if not the most prominent harbor of the Pacific Coast. At least, with the multitude of beach and bath resorts and home city advantages that Santa Monica is now enjoying, and will continue to enjoy in ever-increasing numbers to the end of time; it would not require a stretch of imagination to see Santa Monica as a port of call, receiving its full quota of the big naval, freight and passenger steamers plying between the Pacific Coast and Asia, the Japanese, Australian and Hawaiian Islands, and between the Panama Canal and our own Southern borders, as well as our Northern ports and Los Angeles.

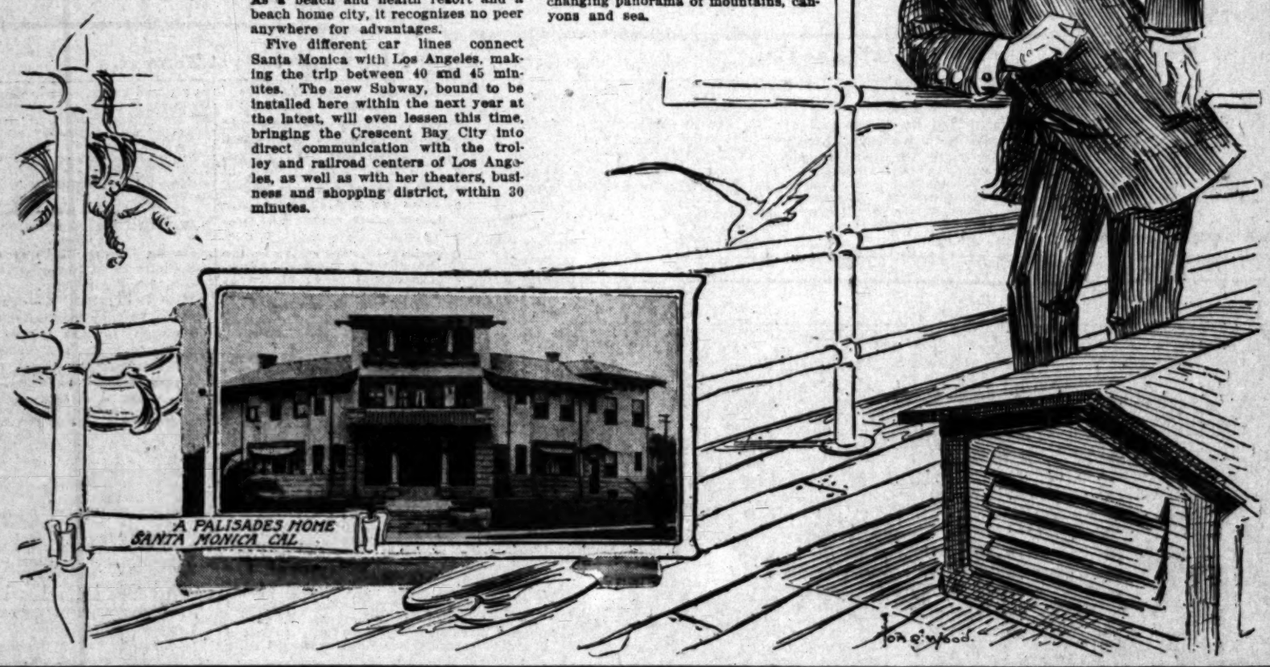
The reason that New York, Boston and the many other big cities of American and foreign continents have developed from simple settlements of mere handfuls of inhabitants, figuratively speaking, has been largely the fact, that aside from the harbor standpoint, they possessed exceptional advantages otherwise.

This is why Santa Monica is bound to develop into such a city in time. As a beach and health resort and a beach home city, it recognizes no peer anywhere for advantages.

Five different car lines connect Santa Monica with Los Angeles, making the trip between 40 and 45 minutes. The new Subway, bound to be installed here within the next year at the latest, will even lessen this time, bringing the Crescent Bay City into direct communication with the trolley and railroad centers of Los Angeles, as well as with her theaters, business and shopping district, within 30 minutes.

Already the automobile boulevards of Santa Monica have become world famous. An eight-mile automobile racing course comprising some of her automobile thoroughfares, is the scene each year of the world motordrome.

The scenic charms of Santa Monica are conceded by all to be without superior for grandeur—an ever-changing panorama of mountains, canyons and sea.



Important Sub-division Property

One of the most important properties in Santa Monica is that owned by Elmere E. Cole of the Laughlin Building of this city. This territory immediately adjoins and is in fact a part of the famous Palisades, running between Seventh and Seventeenth streets, and between Montana and Nevada Avenues.

This property has attracted particular attention to both home seekers and investors in this district, due to its close proximity to the sea, and its exceptional nearness to the city of Santa Monica with its stores, schools, churches and other like advantages. From an investment standpoint, both of these factors will largely augment its steady increase in value.

Another feature which is attracting a large portion of eager homeseekers to this district, is the fact that this property is located with its entire frontage along the new Montana Avenue, the famous new boulevard, recently completed in this community.

This superb automobile boulevard makes the trip from Los Angeles to the sea but a 30-minute run by automobile. It is a superb, 80-foot roadway, with broad parkings of various beautiful and odd plants, trees and shrubs.

From the present outlook, it is possible that as many as two hundred new homes will be built here within the next eighteen months or two years. At present all of the street work and other high-class improvements are in, which fact greatly increases the continued growth of and demand for the property.

Other Prominent Firms of Santa Monica

Other firms who are accomplishing some of the big things that are being done in and about Santa Monica, are: Proctor & Stadelman and the Santa Monica Bay Realty Company.

One of these which is doing things in Santa Monica of such importance that the names at its head are becoming ineffaceably written in the history of the Crescent Bay District as being among its most prominent public benefactors is that known as Proctor & Stadelman.

Among other things of note that this firm has done recently, is the taking over of the 1000 feet just north of the Municipal Pier, which it is expected, will be placed on the market in the very near future. The part of the Esplanade in front of this valuable property will be forty feet in width, and it will have an open balustrade coping with concrete lamps and posts, following out an entirely new idea in stone art masonry that will make it one of the most important portions of the entire Ocean Front Promenade.

Still another firm which is at the head of some of the most important things that are now taking place in Santa Monica, is the Santa Monica Bay Realty Company. This prominent firm is dealing principally with the close-in properties, having in its control at present, some of the most important pieces of real estate both in the city proper of Santa Monica and surrounding it.

They have a system of easy payments that is making it possible for great numbers to own real estate property in Santa Monica, that otherwise would be debarred through lack of sufficient funds.—[Advertisement.

ASSED FOR TEN YEARS.

Seventy - five - room Apartment-house at Ninth and Parkview Secured by Retired Mining Man.

The Campbellton apartments, a seventy-five-room property recently completed at the corner of Ninth and Parkview, has just been leased by Clinton Campbell, as owner, to Frank J. Sparr, a retired mining man, for a term of ten years and at a reported total rental of $84,000. The deal was consummated through R. A. Mecham, manager of the leasing department of D. H. Lingle & Co.

The building is three stories in height and of brick construction. It is divided into two and three-room apartments.

TO START THIS MONTH.

Work on the new furniture factory erected at North Wilmington by the Trans-Pacific Furniture Lumber Company of Los Angeles and the Philippine Islands, will be started on Saturday, February 22, according to the officials of the company. The first building of the group, it is stated, will be a two and three-story office and warehouse structure of steel and concrete construction. Lumber, finished from the company's mills, shipment of hardwood lumber from the Philippine Islands, will be installed in the front part of this building, it is announced. Later additions to the factory will, it is said, include boiler and engine-rooms, dry kilns for hardwood lumber and lumber storage sheds.

BANKER BUYS HOME.

Dr. B. H. Smith, cashier of the All Night and Day Bank, has purchased a seven-room bungalow of attractive design at Southland Park, Fifty-second street and Western avenue, from the Western Building and Investment Company. The house is on one of the corners of the tract and occupies a large site. M. E. Ward, who recently came here from New York City, has bought a six-room house in the same tract for $4000. A third purchaser in Southland Park within the week was H. D. Corrought, two bought a six-room bungalow.

NEW SOUTHWEST PARK.

The architectural department of the Los Angeles Investment Company has just completed plans for a new park in the New College Tract. This park, with a frontage of 1400 feet and esplanade 100 feet in width, will, it is said, cost $11,000. The curbs will be lined with a hedge of English boxwood. Throughout the park will be planted semitropical shrubs, rose gardens and flower beds. Several fountains will be placed in the grounds. The arrangement of the space provides for shady visiting places for the women, secluded reading and sewing benches and playgrounds for children, together with tennis courts.

READY FOR OPENING.

Five carloads of twelve-inch steel pipe were unloaded at Montrose, the new townsite above Glendale, in order that water might be flowing to the property by Saturday, February 15, when the Holmes-Walton development is scheduled to be opened to the public. But 250 acres of the townsite will be opened next Saturday. As soon as all of this property is disposed of the remaining 250 acres will be placed on the market. C. H. Pratt will have charge of the sales end of the new La Canada-Crescenta development.

"GET-TOGETHER" MEETING.

Twenty-five employees of Emil Firth were his guests at a handsomely-appointed dinner given last Wednesday night in the Alexandria Hotel. The dinner was the first of a series of "get-together" affairs which Firth has planned for his salesmen and other business associates.

PALMYRA HEIGHTS.

Fourteen bungalows have practically been completed by the Conservative Investment Company at Palmyra Heights, and six more will be started during the next week, according to Theodore Weisendanger, president of that company. Improvement work on three main streets through the tract has been completed and work is being rushed on other streets in order that they will be made ready ahead of the home building operations.

FIRST SKYSCRAPER.

FRESNO, Feb. 8.—The final papers necessary for the erection of Fresno's first skyscraper, a ten-story block, to replace the Fiske building, were signed yesterday morning at a meeting of the directors of the Fresno Estate Company. The building will cost $300,000. The contract has been let to the Lindgren Company of San Francisco.

WILL INSTALL STREETS.

Alberto D. Frink, who was one of the grading experts of the Los Angeles aqueduct, has taken charge of the street construction for the Pacific Home Builders and has started building the nine miles of streets planned in Angelus Park. Frink is also installing the gas and water mains, and electric conduits in the same tract.

SELLS OAKDALE TRACT.

The sale of twenty acres of citrus land in the Oakdale tract is reported by Theodore Weisendanger, president of the Conservative Investment Company. Michal Evans of Long Beach was the purchaser. Evans will soon begin the cultivation of his land. The finishing touches are now being made to the Oakdale irrigation system, Weisendanger reports.

TO SPRING AND SEVENTH.

The W. H. Taft Company, real estate brokers, formerly of the Wright and Callender building, have moved to larger and more commodious quarters at 403-405-407 I. N. Van Nuys building, where they will engage in a general real estate and investment business.

APPOINT CASHIER.

Charles J. Rittenhouse has been appointed cashier of the Hibernian Home Builders. Rittenhouse has had a wide experience as an accountant and in banking.

RETURNS FROM SOUTH.

J. R. Fones of the foreign sales department of the Janss Investment Company, has just returned from a trip through the south were, for weeks, he has been establishing branch agencies for handling the Janss properties and Van Nuys-Lankershim lands.

This Man Knew

Dividends 8%

A man came into our office some weeks ago, stated he had noticed our advertising, and subscribed for 1000 shares of stock, on the installment plan of 10% down and 5% per month. He stated at the time that he would further investigate our company, and MIGHT invest more later.

A couple of weeks after his first visit he again called and subscribed for an additional 1000 shares, payable CASH for them, and also paying CASH for the balance due on his previous subscription, making a total payment of $950 at this one visit.

This man stated that he had sold his stock in another company to invest with us. He is a man who has studied investment companies quite thoroughly and KNOWS.

YOU also should investigate.

NEW SHORE HIGHWAY.

The trustees of the city of Newport have started arrangements for the paving of the main thoroughfare between the Santa Ana River bridge through that place and extending to Balboa. This boulevard is to connect with the Coast boulevard. There will be three miles of this paved street, with a four-inch concrete base and asphalt top dressing.

GOTHAM PARK.

Gotham Park, the new subdivision of the Commonwealth Home Builders, on the Harbor boulevard at Manchester avenue, will be formally opened to the market today. Among the features of the tract are a children's playground, a clubhouse and a park extending through the property from north to south. The tract is served by the Moneta-Homeward car line.

A DANGER TO AVIATORS.

Wonderful Mirage Witnessed as They Look Towards the Earth Beckons Them and They Forget.

[Harper's Weekly:] It was at Manchester. Aeroplanes were sweeping the skies in the circuit of Britain race. Vedrines had landed, and, impatient at the rules that made him wait ten minutes before taking up the race, went about jabbering French. One of the official asked him what kind of a trip he had had. Vedrines' answer was to hold up his hands expressively and murmur, "Mon Dieu!"

He was quiet for many seconds, then he said:

"I was blanketed in clouds so that I could not see ten meters before me. Below was nothing but rolling mist that gradually took on all fanciful shapes and colors. I caught myself wanting to descend, to drop suddenly into it and see what it was like. To escape this feeling I flew higher and higher, until, venturing to look down again, I saw wonderful lights and shadows that never before had been revealed to me from the sky. I saw a dreamy city, a wonderful mirage, and I believe I would have forgotten every thing but those exquisite colorings, released my levers, and—" (He laughed.) "But I was fortunate, for I became sick, as sick as a dog, away up in the clouds. Then the reality, the hard tenseness of it all, returned to me. In terror I gripped those levers until my hands hurt and so managed to retain control until I landed here."

Vedrines was fortunate—he escaped. Arch Hoxsey, however, was killed. He, too, must have suffered from the illusion—the explanation of which medical ben cannot agree upon—when he bolted to his death at Los Angeles. His biplane, clearly visible fro mthe ground, was seen to overturn slowly, as if Hoxsey had released his hold on the levers. Then it dashed down. After the accident, a score of contradictory reports appeared in the newspapers. The reporters could only guess. But a man who was with Hoxsey that December afternoon two years ago told me that the death of John B. Moisant had produced a profound effect on Hoxsey. Moisant had fallen the same morning at New Orleans. How easily could the thought of Moisant, peaceful in death, be conjured up to Hoxsey when, weak with fighting the wind, he looked down and saw the earth thousands of feet below him — soft, mystic, an aureole of wonderful color and tenderness, calling him down.

Pacific Electric Railway Company Seeks to Build Important Extension to South Coast Lines.

BAY CITY, Feb. 8.—The Pacific Electric Railway Company has made application to the Supervisors of Orange county for a franchise for an electric railway to extend from the terminus of the Long Beach-Alamitos line on the spit between Alamitos Bay and the Pacific Ocean, across Alamitos Bay, down Ocean avenue and along the ocean front on Ocean avenue to Main street, this city, thence to a junction with the main line of the railway.

The twenty-minute service on the Long Beach-Alamitos line will be continued on the new route, thus giving Bay City a twenty-minute service along the ocean front from Los Angeles and Long Beach, in addition to the improved regular rapid service in vogue on the Newport line of the Pacific Electric.

SURVEYS COMPLETED.

Completion of the survey of more than three-fourths of the large acreage of Lake Elsinore Farms, on the eastern edge of Lake Elsinore, has enabled the Braly-Janss company to prepare maps of this area, and the preliminary survey of the remainder of the tract has reached the point where the valley lands have been announced as ready for settlement. Lake Elsinore Farms comprise the holdings of the Superior Land and Water Company, for which the Braly-Janss company is sales agent. The acreage begins at the edge of the lake and continues eastward up the valley beneath the Temecula Mountains. The tract is ninety miles from Los Angeles, and is intersected by the Santa Fe Railroad.

RUBBER FACTORY FOR TORRANCE.

AUTO TIRES WILL BE MADE WHERE MOST USED.

Important Manufacturing Plant to Be Added to List Under Way and Projected at Industrial Center. Present Plans Call for Six Buildings to Be Constructed.

H. H. Sinclair, general manager of the Dominguez Land Corporation, has signed a contract for the construction of a $100,000 rubber factory in the new industrial city of Torrance, according to information made public yesterday. The W. C. Hendrix Rubber Company, with main offices now in Denver and Salt Lake, will build the terms of this contract, which is factory to cover five acres of land in the new city.

Work on the new plant, it is stated, will begin within the next ninety days and the first two units of the factory are to be completed before the middle of the summer.

The W. C. Hendrix Rubber Company is the largest of its kind west of the Mississippi and has been established more than ten years. Those interested in it are connected with the Stockyards Bank and the First National Bank of Denver, and with the Denver Union Stockyards.

After signing the contract for the construction of the factory, W. C. Hendrix, president of the company bearing his name, left Los Angeles immediately for New York, where C. Thatcher, chief chemist of the Peerless Manufacturing Company, has been placed under contract to manage the new plant.

The plans for the proposed factory call for six buildings. Railway facilities have been contracted for, and the plant will contain a mechanical, vulcanizing and tire department, a department for the manufacture of mechanical goods and one for the making for heavy machinery. The Denver office of the concern now markets annually 1000 auto tires and more than $1,000,000 worth of mechanical rubber, it was stated yesterday by a representative of the Dominguez Land Corporation, who also declared that the Torrance output is to be much greater.

"The fact that the Los Angeles harbor will be a port of call for the Panama Canal trade settles the transportation question for our firm," said Mr. Hendrix recently. "There will be more west than east-bound shipping for the first few years and as a result it should be cheaper to ship goods from Los Angeles to New York than from New York out here. These two points are the great automobile markets of the country.

"With the opening of the Torrance plant we will extend our sales force along over the Pacific Coast, opening a New York office and be ready to go national as well as a sectional business. We have no stock for sale, but are simply enlarging our business.

"Our main building at Torrance will be 640 feet in length by 60 feet in width. The other buildings will be 50x100 feet each, and in addition there will have an office and a power-house. We have contracted for the use of 480 electrical horsepower and for a number of 100-horse-power oil-burning engines for vulcanizing.

FAMOUS ROAD TO BE EXTENDED.

Contracts Let to Lengthen Huntington Drive.

Plans Call for Boulevard to Reach Arcadia.

Concrete Span Will Bridge Santa Anita Wash.

Through the efforts of H. E. Huntington and others heavily interested in the San Gabriel Valley, the famous Huntington drive is to be extended from its present terminus at the edge of Michillinda to the eastern limits of Arcadia. The contract for this work has been awarded to the Davidson Construction Company, and work will begin as soon as the surveys are completed and the grade stakes set. The new boulevard will be of a like character with the rest of the drive, which is one of the noted automobile roads of the State.

The route, as outlined, will be from Michillinda easterly to Baldwin avenue, through the Baldwin ranch to Falling Leaf avenue, and then to a connection with the county boulevards system at Monrovia.

The City Engineer of Monrovia has already set to work preparing plans for a concrete bridge over the Santa Anita Wash, and the expense of this construction work, amounting to about $50,000, will be borne jointly by Monrovia and Arcadia.

When the extension of Huntington drive is completed it will form a short cut between the eastern and western portions of San Gabriel Valley, a development longed for by the residents in the two sections for several years.

The highway will put the Hotel Wentworth, which Huntington recently purchased, and which he is now having completed, in direct communication with many new points. It will open up to the subdivisionists some of the most attractive of the undeveloped acreage in Los Angeles county.

GREAT INDUSTRIES.

Beet-Sugar Making.

The Department of Agriculture's report on the beet sugar industry of the United States gives the production for 1912 as 700,000 short tons, valued at $73,000,000. There are now in operation sixty-six factories in seventeen States, which used during the past season 5,062,223 tons of beets produced on 473,877 acres, and the industry has become one of the mainstays and chief supports of agriculture under irrigation in the semi-arid States. Yet this industry produces practically only one-eighth of the home consumption. The importation from entirely foreign territory now approximates 2,000,000 short tons annually.

With our present low average of one and one-fourth short tons of beet sugar per acre, it would require 1,600,000 acres to produce the 2,000,000 short tons now imported; or, the acreage harvested the last year slightly less than 475,000, it would take the production of 2,000,000 acres of beets to equal the entire home consumed, a condition to which for more than eighty years economists have looked forward.

Automobile Exports.

The popularity of the American automobile is also evidenced by the fact that the exports of automobiles and parts thereof, including tires, approximates $30,000,000 in 1912 against $22,000,000 in 1911, $15,000,000 in 1910 and $9,000,000 in 1909. A striking fact shown by the automobile figures is the marked decline in the price at which the machines are exported. In 1907 the average export price was nearly $1800 per machine; in 1909, $1470; in 1911, about $1000, and in 1912, a little less than $1000 each, the average export price at the present time being thus but little more than one-half that of 1907. The average price of aeroplanes exported in 1912 was about $3400 per machine. Of the automobiles exported are sold for use in British territory. Of the 27,707 machines exported in the twelve months ending with November, 6844 went to Canada, 4271 to the United Kingdom, and 3112 to British India.

Portland Cement.

According to returns received by the United States Geological Survey to January 15, 1913, it is estimated that the total quantity of Portland cement manufactured in the United States in 1912 was approximately 81,941,998 barrels. It is believed that this estimate is within 1.5 per cent of the exact figure. This quantity represents an increase of 3,-191,361 barrels over the 78,528,637 barrels manufactured in 1911, or 4.3 per cent. The shipments of Portland cement during 1912 are estimated at 82,136,231 barrels, compared with 78,-945,783 barrels in 1911, an increase of 3,190,448 barrels, or 12.2 per cent. The production in 1912 was thus held in check sufficiently to permit a material reduction in the stocks of cement at the mills at the close of 1911, which amounted to nearly 12,000,000 barrels.

Exports of Oil.

That the United States during the twelve months of the current year will export no less than 1,800,000,000 gallons of petroleum and petroleum products is the announcement of the statisticians of the Department of Commerce and Labor. This huge quantity, if equally divided over the entire year, would amount to a daily average abroad of 5,000,000 gallons, valued at about $120,000,000, or at the rate of about one-third of a million dollars per day. In amount this is equal to almost one-fifth of the total petroleum production of the United States during 1911, and over 12 per cent. of the world's production in 1911.

Of the more than 1,000,000,000 gallons of illuminating oil exported in the fiscal year 1912, the United Kingdom took 166,000,000, Japan 109,000,000, Germany 82,000,000, China 76,000,000 and British India 57,000,000 gallons. Of the 202,000,000 gallons of lubricating oil exported in that year, 82,000,000 gallons were sent to the United Kingdom, 25,500,000 to Belgium and 24,000,000 to Germany. Of the 171,000,000 gallons of gasoline and other lighting oils of distillation exported in 1912, 34,000,000 went to Canada, 27,000,000 to the United Kingdom and 26,000,000 to Germany. Of the 208,000,000 gallons of crude mineral oils exported, 74,000,000 went to Canada,

Exports of Oil.

...The United States during the ...months of the current year ...will be no less than 1,300,600,000 ...gallons of petroleum and petroleum ...products, the announcement of the ...bureau of the Department of ...Commerce and Labor. This huge ...total, equally divided over the ...year, would amount to a daily ...average of 5,000,000 gallons ...valued at about $120,000,000. ...The export of about one-third of a ...million barrels per day. In amount ...this is equal to almost one-fifth of the ...total production of the ...United States during 1911, and over 12 ...per cent of the world's production ...for that year.

...There were more than 1,000,000,000 gal... ...lons of illuminating oil exported in ...the year 1912, the United King... ...dom receiving 196,000,000, Japan 199,... ...000,000, Germany 72,000,000, China ...and British India 57,000,000. ...Of the 202,000,000 gal... ...lons of lubricating oil exported in that ...year the United Kingdom received ...25,500,000 gallons, 25,500,000 to ...Germany, 17,000,000 gallons of gaso... ...line, and other lighting ...products exported in ...1912 went to Canada, 27,... ...000,000 to the United Kingdom and ...17,000,000 to Germany. Of the 208,... ...000,000 gallons of crude mineral oils ...exported in 1912 went to Canada, ...37,000,000 to France, 28,000,000 to ...Panama and 23,000,000 to Mexico.

The petroleum production of the United States made its highest record in 1911, 9,250,000,000 gallons, against a little less than 3,000,000,000 gallons in 1901, a decade earlier; 2,250,000,000 gallons in 1891, a little more than 1,000,000,000 gallons in 1881, 218,000,000 gallons in 1871 and 89,000,000 gallons in 1861. The United States now produces practically two-thirds of the petroleum of the world, the share in 1910, according to an accepted authority, having been 64 per cent., against 43 per cent. in 1900.

Pig Iron Production.

[Iron Trade Review:] The production of pig iron in 1912 was the greatest in the history of the American iron trade, and the December output was the largest of any month. The total production of coke and anthracite pig iron for the year was 29,325,513 tons, a gain of 6,136,912 tons over 1911 and 2,480,199 tons more than the previous record made in 1910. Production for December was 2,777,292 tons, or 92,647 tons more than the previous record made in October last year.

The Iron Age points out that production on January 1 was at the rate of 33,500,000 a year, largely in excess of the record-breaking 1912 production. Steel ingot production was at the rate of 34,000,000 tons.

Farm Animal Products.

In his annual report Secretary of Agriculture Wilson says that the dairy cow is one of the principal producers of wealth on the farm, and the value of her products in 1912 is estimated at about $830,000,000, an amount which exceeds the value of the cotton lint, and is nearly equal to the combined value of lint and seed. The wheat crop is worth only three-fourths as much as the dairy products.

The magnitude of the poultry industry is set forth. An egg may be worth only a cent and three-quarters, and yet 1,700,000,000 dozen eggs are worth $350,000,000, and these are the estimates for 1912. If to the value mentioned is added the value of the fowls raised, the products of the poultry industry on farms amounts to about $570,000,000. This is nearly equal to the value of the wheat crop and is more than three-fourths of the value of the cotton lint produced this year.

The animals sold from the farm and the animals slaughtered on it together number about 111,000,000, and the farm value of these animals is estimated at $1,920,000,000.

The total value of the animal products of the farm in 1912 is estimated to be about $3,395,000,000. This is a larger value than that of 1911, but is about $150,000,000 below the estimate for 1910, which is the only year that exceeds 1912 in value of animal products produced on farms.

While animal products are about one-third of the wealth production on farms in 1912, the crops are about two-thirds. Their value is $6,137,000,000, an amount which is vastly above the high-water mark of total crop value in 1911.

THIRTY --CENTS

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA HOME BUILDERS THRIFT

February 17th is our Anniversary. We finish our first year of active business on that day. Our shares advance to THIRTY CENTS at the same time.

We take pride in our record, but want to make a greater one between now and the 17th.

FIFTY-TWO HUNDRED shareholders in ELEVEN MONTHS, and nearly $700,000 real subscriptions, with over $300,000 paid in, is only part of what we have done.

In fact, we would have numbered SIX THOUSAND shareholders by now if we had not feared the danger of growing too fast.

Our subdivisions in Los Angeles and San Diego are highly successful. Most of the houses we build sell before they are completed. The 7200 acres we own in the Coachella Valley are proving even more valuable than we originally thought.

Now, we are ready to push ahead again, and want to make a new record by February 17th.

Up to midnight on that day,—OUR ANNIVERSARY —only a week hence,—shares will be 27½ cents.

After that day, IF ANY SHARES ARE FOR SALE, the price will be THIRTY CENTS.

We mean by this, that our total capital stock is only $1,000,000. Of this $700,000 is now subscribed.

Only orders post-marked up to midnight February 17th will be accepted at 27½ cents a share. If you cannot call, telephone for our messengers or use the mail.

$1.25 cash with subscription and $1.25 monthly pays for each 100 shares. Take any amount from 100 ($27.50) shares up to 10,000 ($2750) shares. This is the most we will sell to one subscriber.

All payments will receive the full three months' dividend, due March 31st and payable April 15th. This is at the rate of 10% on par, and nets you 7¼% a year at the present price of 27½ cents.

None of us have bought these shares expecting them to pay less than TWENTY PER CENT on par within a reasonable time.

If you want an interesting booklet on profits in home-building, our financial statement, and "TEN MONTHS' RECORD," fill in and mail this coupon.

And ALL General Ranching Products. AN OPPORTUNITY FOR BIG MONEY MAKING UNDER THE MOST MATCHLESS CONDITIONS EVER PRESENTED IN THE HISTORY OF CALIFORNIA. Climate—Water—Soil—Altitude—Health Advantages—Location—Transportation—Pleasure Opportunities—Picturesque Setting—And General Home Advantages—ALL IN YOUR FAVOR.

OLIVES

are the theme of the hour among nine fruit growers out of every ten, since the recent Citrus losses. Why? Because every olive grower knows there is a veritable mine of gold to be reaped with olives under the right conditions.

Think of it—the olive crop of Southern California (the only olive territory in the United States,) is valued at considerably more than $2,500,000. The demand far exceeds the supply.

Olives at Lake Elsinore Farms are no mere possibility—they're a proven fact; groves right on the tract are netting immense revenues to their owners.

One olive grower at Elsinore, a short distance from our tract, netted $50,000 or $750 an acre from his grove last year.

The California Olive Land Company with its immense plant at Elsinore, offers to contract for your olives for the first ten years of your crops, paying you 5c, 7c and 10c a pound, according to size. This will save you all trouble and marketing expense.

There are no finer soil, climatic and water conditions in California for the perfect production of the Olive than the Olive Territory of Lake Elsinore Farms.

ALFALFA

Can well be termed, "The Mortgage Lifter," for if there is one crop more sure of steady, big profits than another it is Alfalfa.

Alfalfa on the Alfalfa Territory of Lake Elsinore Farms is one of the most gigantic successes known in any district of Southern California. In fact, it is the only close-to-the-market, bumper-crop, alfalfa district in Southern California. Seven crops are cut here annually at from 10 to 12 tons to the acre.

Alfalfa is now bringing from $23 to $25 a ton.

One man is now planting at Elsinore Lake Farms 600 acres to alfalfa.

DECIDUOUS FRUITS

Including apricots, peaches, plums, figs, grapes and apples as well as English walnuts and almonds are making tremendous profit for their growers in and about the fruit territory of Lake Elsinore Farms.

NEGLECTED OPPORTUNITY.

Los Angeles Traveler Abroad Says Southland Beaches Should Be Made Most Attractive in World.

A prominent Los Angeles business man traveling through Europe addresses an interesting communication to he Times calling attention to the attractiveness of the Mediterraneau beach resorts, particularly Nice, on the southern coast of France, and suggesting the undeveloped possibilities of the Southern California beach towns. He gives it as his opinion that Santa Monica, Redondo and Long Beach have in them the making of the most alluring resort places on the globe if only the citizens of these places will take advantage of the natural beauty of the Southland coast line to spend money in systematic improvement work.

The traveler encloses a photo post card picturing the famous La Jetees-Promenade at Nice, a shore-line strolling and recreation place which attracts thousands of wealthy tourists annually to the French resort. The charming treatment of the beach frontage at Nice, he explains, might easily be made to serve as a model for the beaches of Southern California. If Los Angeles had such beaches in its vicinity, this section would, he believes, soon become the most popular of summer and winter resorts with a large percentage of those who now flock, not only from all over Europe, but from the United States, as well, to the Mediterranean places.

"It would pay the people of the beach towns," concludes the writer, "to condemn such beach property as might be required for promenades such as that at Nice and to issue bonds for the improvements desired. Such a plan would do more to bring the world to our doors than anything we have ever attempted."

Building Ordinance of Monrovia Held by Inspector to Be Too Stringent for Practical Purposes.

MONROVIA, Feb. 8.—An important revision of the building ordinance is being made by Building Inspector W. L. Eggleston. The first draft of the new law will be ready for the consideration of the Council next Tuesday evening. The old ordinance, according to the inspector, possesses clauses which are not only ambiguous to contractors and builders, but which are unnecessarily severe, and which work a hardship on poor people, who are least able to bear it.

The old ordinance emphatically forbids the so-called California construction of houses, where boards, battened inside and out, are used in place of studding, lath and plaster; also the use of anything less than two-by-four studs in the side walls. The new ordinance will allow a greater freedom in construction, being patterned closely after the newly-completed Pasadena building ordinance, which is considered one of the most up-to-date and comprehensive statutes in the State.

The Happier Father.

[Kansas City Star:] The Rev. John W. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame College, tells of a priest who was going to lecture on the evil of great wealth. In the audience was a man the priest knew. The man was the father of seven girls and the lecturer pointed to this man as an example.

"Think," said the priest, "of being the proud father of seven daughters. Think who is happier—the man with a million dollars or the man who is the father of seven daughters.

"I will ask you, Mr. Sheldon, who do you think is the happier?" said the priest, pointing to the subject of his argument.

The man arose and said: "Father, I think that a man with seven daughters is the happier. A man with a million dollars worries for more. A man with seven daughters never does."

Keeping Prayers in Place.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] A Chicago woman was arrested the other day charged with praying too loud. She prayed often and vociferously, if the protesting neighbors can be believed.

Of course, nobody contends that this enthusiastic devotee was heard because of her loud praying. The still small voice would have carried the petition quite as well. But to arrest a person for praying seems an anomaly.

It recalls the story of the verger in Westminster Abbey who had a foreigner arrested for kneeling and praying in the main aisle.

"But," said the judge, "why do you object to the man's devotional act?"

The verger was amazed.

"W-why, Your Honor," he stuttered, "if I d-didn't make an example of this man people would be praying all over the place!"

Ten years in the penitentiary is the term of former State Senator Black. He robbed the widows and the orphans, besides a number of persons who are neither. He confessed his crime, saying that he did not wish to escape on a technicality. This is a concession to society and sholud be to his credit.

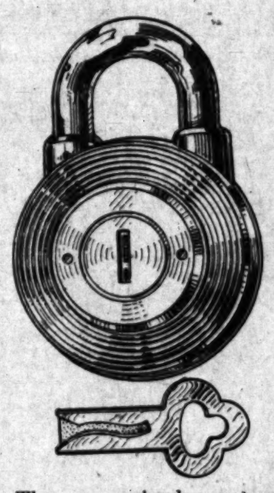
The Investment Opportunity You Have Been Looking For



GREAT fortunes are made from great patents.

A great patent may be a small, simple thing.

No wise person will overlook the opportunity to share in the profits from the manufacture and sale of a high-grade patented article, that is in universal use, low in price, and THE BEST THING OF THE KIND MADE.

The Dowe Patent Locks

To Be Manufactured by the American Lock Company

are such. They are the best locks in the world. They have no springs or pins, cannot get out of order and are ABSOLUTELY UNPICKABLE. They are so simply constructed that they can be MADE FOR LESS MONEY AND SOLD FOR LESS MONEY than any other high-grade lock.

The American Lock Company now controls the Dowe patents and proposes to establish a factory in or near Los Angeles.

For the purpose of securing additional funds for their manufacture it has placed on the market a block of stock at

25 CENTS PER SHARE

Par value $1.00. The locks will be made in all styles and patterns. The market for these locks will be practically unlimited, as their merits become known. Stockholders will have the advantage of a home enterprise under their direct personal observation.

Investigate Now, While the Minimum Price Prevails

Call and see the Dowe locks, and get further details regarding these wonderful patents and the opportunities for highly profitable investment.

Please send me, without obligation, further data regarding the stock in the American Lock Company.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—In the two months since the strike in the men and boys' garment making industry began here, a loss of $30,000,000 has been borne by the manufacturers and the workmen, according to estimates published today.

It is declared that more than one-fourth of the annual output of men's and youth's ready-made clothing amounting to $20,000,000 has been lost to the industries in this city, while the loss in wages to workmen is estimated at $10,000,000. This does not include the losses incurred by the BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Sharp criticism and unstinted praise of labor and social conditions in the United can characterise an article by Dr. Gustav Stresemann, a former prominent member of the Reichstag and a well-known economist, who has just returned from a tour of investigation through America.

The conditions in most American cities in respect to safety are simply horrible," the doctor declares, and any German factory inspector would be astounded if he could observe the dangers to which the majority of workmen are exposed. Much stress also has been laid, both in Germany and America, on the low wages paid in the United States. Considering that the purchasing power of a dollar is equal to from one to two and one-half marks, and the further fact that the average laborer must himself make provision for old age or incapacity, it is to be doubted if he is better off than the German workman.

Dr. Stresemann's strictures on factory conditions, however, is the sharpest adverse criticism in his article, which is full of praise for other phases of general economic conditions in America. In the matter of municipal housing conditions, for instance,

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—In the two weeks since the strike in the men's garment making industry began, a loss of $30,000,000 has been borne by the manufacturers and workmen, according to estimates issued today.

This does not include the losses incurred by the strikes in the women's garment industry.

One manufacturer said that the industry had now lost the greater part of the season's business. The United Manufacturers' Association more than a week ago proposed a fifty-two-hour week and an increase in wages of from 5 to 10 per cent.

WOULD FLOG DRUNKARD.

London Surgeon Believes He Has Only Solution for Cure of the Liquor Habit.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Dr. Miller, lecturing before the London Medical Society, has advocated flogging for drunkards. He declared that the present system of treating drunkenness judicially is all wrong, because it began at the wrong end. When a citizen is brought up for the first time on a charge of drunkenness, he is admonished and allowed to go; the second time he is fined, and the third he is imprisoned. Exactly the opposite course should be pursued. The first time the man is clearly culpable, the second time he is less accountable for his condition, and the third time he is a chronic drunkard.

The only thing such a man remembers, Dr. Miller said, is physical pain. It is the one logical deterrent for the chronic alcoholic, and it is the one not used. The reason for this is that we are too scientific, and too sentimental. We are too white-livered to beat a man who beats his wife; therefore, in the name of humanity the wife has to go on getting beaten. It would be kind to flog the alcoholic early, whereas it is simply barbarous to imprison him later.

AMERICA LEADS GERMANY IN PUBLIC WELFARE WORK.

Famous Member of Reichstag and Economist Gives Unlimited Praise to Labor and Social Conditions in United States, Although Here and There He Has Fault to Find.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Sharp criticism of existing phases of labor and social conditions in the United States characterize an article by Dr. Gustav Stresemann, a former prominent member of the Reichstag and a well-known economist, who has just returned from a tour of investigation in America.

Social conditions in most American cities, in respect to safety are "simply horrible," the doctor declares, and any German factory inspector would be astounded if he knew of the dangers to which thousands of workmen are exposed. Dr. Stresemann also has been laid, between Germany and America, on the subject of wages paid in the United States. Considering that the purchasing power of a dollar is equal to that of two and one-half marks, and the further fact that the American laborer must himself make provision for old age or incapacity, it is admitted if he is better off than the German workman. Dr. Stresemann's strictures on factory conditions, however, is the sharpest criticism in his article, which is full of praise for other features of general economic conditions. In the matter of municipal housing conditions, for instance, he finds America far in advance of Germany. When, for example, 39 per cent. of the inhabitants of Detroit occupy their own homes, he says, it is high time for Germany to send over a commission to find out how it is done.

AMERICA FAR ADVANCED.

Dr. Stresemann also expresses his high appreciation of the manner in which American cities have provided free baths, gymnasiums and libraries readily available to everyone, and he was greatly impressed with the parks of the different cities, both because of their number and the manner in which they are maintained. In these things, he says, America is far in advance of Germany, as also in another thing—the domain of voluntary public charity. He refers to the immense contributions of the well-to-do for the erection of hospitals, asylums and similar institutions, and terms them "a self-imposed taxation of the rich."

"In all our criticism of the 'Dollar Land,'" Dr. Stresemann concludes, "we must not forget that the chase after the dollar is not the only thing that attracts the attention of the observer in the United States. The United States is beginning to be an example to us in many things, and especially in its care for the public welfare."

LONDON TAXIS STRIKE AGAINST HIGH GASOLINE.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—A strike which has been heralded as a blessing by the long suffering public is the novelty which the public is now enjoying as the result of the taxicab drivers' refusal to accept the increase in the price of gasoline. A few consistent taxi users have been unable to instantly summon a vehicle grumble at the action of the ordinary citizen, who, for the present disagreeable needs underground, is delighted when he does emerge into the light of day he can cross the street without endangering his life.

The strike itself is proving a bigger task to settle than was expected. It appears equally difficult for the owners, the drivers or the public, to pay more, and it seems impossible to force the gasoline companies to reduce their prices. It has been suggested that fares be raised, but the drivers, who now live almost solely on tips, declare that tips would be reduced if the charges were increased. The strike has proven one thing, and that is that there are too many taxicabs on London streets.

Labor's Unrest.

STRIKES ON AND OFF AND STRIKES COMING.

A HUNDRED porcelain workers struck in Trenton, N. J., January 27, causing the shutdown of ten factories and throwing 5000 workers, strikers and others out of employment. (The latter being unfortunate victims.) The strikers demand an increase of wages from $1.75 a day to $2.50 and the usual strike violence, led to many arrests by women and girls, as many arrests were made. The New York Herald holds Mayor Gaynor and city accountable for the strike by settling waiters. Adding directly in an editorial under the caption: "Your order to 'deal' with the waiters is a milistone around the neck of the men endeavoring to earn an honest living. . . . Don't let other agitators have time to fan into a conflagration. . . . Don't wait until we have a Haymarket in New York. Don't wait until strikes through these waiters are inflaming public opinion." Let them be dismissed! Shut the doors on the strikers and drive the scabs out. Doubtless this advice had its effect in preventing almost the next day the waiters' strike of hundreds of waiters on the streets of New York for the work that the jobs they so long filled by men now filled by men beyond endurance and tolerated demands proprietor Reagan of the Hotel Knickerbocker took the bit between his teeth and summarily dismissed 250 men. Captains and all were forced to walk out. They are part of the hundreds who will have to permanently "stay out" of the jobs they had before the strike. This same result of "lost jobs" affects the striking waiters of Albany, N. Y., also. This second waiters' strike was a worse failure than the first one. Even the I.W.W. strike leaders, headed by Miss Curley, told the strikers to "get back on any terms they could." Ettor's fool "poison the food" speech went a long way towards killing the strike.

The painters of Albany, N. Y., will not strike for the raise from 41 to 50 cents an hour. They are compromising on 45 cents an hour. The plumbers there want to "try again" for a raise of from 50 to 60 cents an hour.

The police of Copenhagen, Denmark, threaten to strike if they do not receive an increase in pay. The movement is spreading and the police of the whole kingdom may be affected.

What has federated union labor to show for the $6,500,000 which is actually paid out for "cost of strikes" in federation years, 1911 and 1912? That very pertinent question should be seriously asked of itself by the 90 per cent. decent part of union labor.

What will there be left of Gompers after the "finish fight" he threatens to have with the United States Steel Corporation at labor's expense?

Seven thousand coal miners went on strike in the Lackawanna region on February 1. Eight collieries in Delaware are also affected. The strike was called to help the hoisting engineers gain their demands.

France has a general strike of officers of sea-going merchant vessels. Some of the sailings for New York are stopped.

It is hard to say whether or not the men's garment workers' strike in New York is really settled or not. Latest reports are that the unions are to vote on the provisional agreement for settlement executed a few days ago. This agreement promises a raise in wages with all other points or claims to be left to arbitration. Week workers receiving less than $12.50 a week will get 10 per cent. advance in wages, those earning more than $12.50 and less than $15, a 7½ per cent. raise, and those receiving $15 a week and over, are to have 5 per cent. more. The weekly hours are to be reduced from fifty-six to fifty-two.

Because of a strike for no good reason whatever, the doors of every clothing factory in Rochester, N. Y., are closed and 15,000 men and women are out of employment, stopping a weekly payroll of almost $150,000. The shops are closed for an indefinite period. Some of the factories are very large ones and their closing will affect the clothing industry of the whole country. It is a complete tie-up of work by the employers who refuse to be dictated to by the strikers. Of course the employers will also lose heavily, but they are fighting for industrial liberty—for their right to be masters of their own businesses. The fight by the strikers is for that form of industrial slavery called "recognition of the union," in the vain effort to secure which the strikers are losing $150,000 wages weekly. The Rochester union lacks funds and great suffering is already resulting, particularly among the women and children of the strikers. What folly striking is, anyway, and what utter folly it is to strike on a poorly-filled or empty treasury. It is expected that Buffalo will follow Rochester's lead in a clothing strike for "recognition."

Boston has a strike of 5000 garment workers for more wages, an eight-hour day, abolition of tenement-house work and recognition of the union. Is it not probable that "recognition of the union" is not dragged into strikes just for the purpose of trading it off for some other advantage; or as a club to hit or frighten employers with? A similar strike is on the cards for Chicago. Forty thousand female white goods workers were on strike in New York and 35,000 have gone back to work. The other 5000 cannot get back—are "not wanted." Many of them are literally destitute, and charity is relieving them, though it is entirely their own fault that they are out of work. Out of every big army some always get lost in the shuffle. The striking of a mob is very different from the striking of a few skilled workers, but it is the "mob" which Haywood, Ettor, Lunn and company always seek to lead—to destruction.

The fifty-four eastern railroads warn their 35,000 locomotive firemen that if their present voting results in a strike it will mean a tie-up of all eastern lines. The roads say they cannot pay the $9,600,000 annual wage increase demanded, but repeat their willingness to arbitrate. The men also profess to be willing to arbitrate, but want a different board of arbitration than the high-class one which recently gave the engineers higher wages. It looks as if the man want a board which will be sure to give them all they ask. No successful arbitration can be entered into from that point of view on either side. At this writing it looks very much as if a calamitous strike is inevitable.

Eastern Canadian conductors, trainmen and engineers make demand for a 10 per cent. wage increase and improvements in certain general working conditions, upon all the railroads in the Eastern Association, including the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific railways.

Three hundred iron ore miners at Minneville and Witherbee, N. Y., went on strike a few days ago for more pay, less hours and recognition of the union. They want an eight-hour day and 50 cents a day increase in pay. The strike was precipitated by the company discharging two men for "pernicious activity in circulating infamous and untrue charges." In opposition to the organizers of the Western Federation of Miners 300 of the strikers have gone back to work unconditionally. These are largely men with families who value highly their homes in houses provided by the company—houses fitted with all modern improvements.

REPORTS ON WAGES AND CONDITIONS.

Timely Bulletins from All Parts of the World.

Continuing the profitable and encouraging comparison of American high wages with foreign low wages for the same kinds of work, commenced in this column on Sunday, February 2, we have the following which every American wage earner who feels the least discontent with the wages he is receiving should carefully read and ponder, especially if strike agitators are endeavoring to inflame his unwarranted discontent:

Lemon Industry Wages in Sicily.

Lemon groves—	Wages, per day.
Custodian or superintendent	$ 0.579—$ 0.772
Men laborers, pruners, pickers and carriers	.450— .579
Women, boys and girls, (average)	.192 .240
Sorters, women	.240
Packing-houses—
Foremen	.733
Men, packers, porters, box makers	.733
Forewomen	.977
Women, boys and girls, average	.240
Pressmen	.772
Helpers to pressmen	.386
Clerical help, per month	20.000— 30.000

These rates per day are for nine hours' labor. Overtime for men is $0.0965 per hour and for women $0.0386 per hour. For the classes of men, boys and girls, $0.0386 per hour. For the classes of work named here for men $1.75 to $2.50 per day is paid in California's lemon industry, and proportionately larger than the Sicily rates go to the women, boys and girls.

Macaroni Making Wages.

	Per day.
American skilled labor	$1.75 to $2.50
Foreign skilled labor	.40 to .60
American common labor	1.25 to 1.75
Foreign common labor	.30 to .40

The foreign daily hours of labor are twelve hours and Sunday forenoon, while a day's work in American factories is ten hours. In the foreign factories children of from 10 to 16 are paid from 10 to 20 cents per day, while none under 16 can, by law, work in the American factories.

Wages in Nursery Industry.

France, men, per day of 11 hours	.4 to $ .50
France, women, per day of 11 hours	.30 to .40
Holland, men, per day of 12 hours	.50 to .60
United States, men, per day of 9 to 10 hours	1.75 to 2.00

Ninety per cent. of the cost of a rose plant, for instance, is labor.

Pineapple Canning Wages.

United States, Hawaii—	Wages, per day.
Skilled labor and superintendents	$2.00 to $2.50
Foremen	2.00 to 2.00
Common male laborers	1.10 to 1.35
Singapore, chief foreign source—
Skilled labor and foremen	.35
Common labor	.25 to .30

Building Trades Wages.

Bricklayers—	Wages, per week.
United States	$26.77 to $30.42
England and Wales	9.13 to 9.25
Germany	6.55 to 7.40
France	5.35 to 7.02
Belgium	5.05 to 5.84
Stonemasons—
United States	22.63 to 26.77
England and Wales	9.04 to 9.37
France	5.35 to 7.02
Germany	6.55 to 7.40
Belgium	5.05 to 5.84
Carpenters—
United States	16.72 to 21.39
England and Wales	8.80 to 9.37
Germany	6.55 to 7.40
France	5.84 to 7.36
Belgium	4.91 to 6.14
Joiners—
United States	16.72 to 21.39
England and Wales	8.80 to 9.37
France	5.78 to 6.43
Belgium	4.97 to 5.79
Plasterers—
United States	24.23 to 29.00
England and Wales	8.88 to 10.14
France	5.78 to 7.66
Belgium	5.01 to 5.96
Plumbers—
United States	21.29 to 27.37
England and Wales	8.80 to 9.37
France	5.84 to 7.02
Germany	5.84 to 6.93
Belgium	4.91 to 5.79
Painters—
United States	15.62 to 20.43
England and Wales	7.66 to 9.12
Germany	5.84 to 7.30
France	5.21 to 6.43
Belgium	4.38 to 5.25
Hod carriers and bricklayers' laborers—
United States	13.17 to 15.75
England and Wales	5.92 to 6.57
Germany	4.74 to 5.84
France	3.85 to 4.63
Belgium	3.65 to 4.38

It is well known that the wages paid in Los Angeles in the building trades are quite considerably higher than the rates named above for the entire United States, while just a glance at the latter rates shows how very much higher they are than the rates paid in England, Germany, France and Belgium. It is, therefore, hard to understand why there should ever be any discontent among the building trades workers of this city as to the wages they get.

Women Workers in France.

Factory workers	1,326,000
Agriculture	940,000
Servants	772,000
Home workers for factories, etc.	540,000
Business, public services and liberal professions	504,000
Total	4,136,000

Averaged their wages run from 40 to 58 cents a day. Is it any wonder that on these wages that so many women and girls in Paris and other large cities of France (as in England) take to the "gay life" in order to live and dress as a woman or girl ought to live and dress?

Wages in Moscow, Russia.

	Average yearly wages.
Textile industries	$166.74
Metal working industries	184.91
Paper mills	158.26
Electrical industry	253.68

The workers number 308,000. The lowest wages fall to workers in flax, hemp and jute mills.

Street Railway Wage Increase.

Without a strike the wages of the 5000 employees of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the New York Railways Company have been increased by 10 per cent. The actual yearly raise for each man will be $43, adding to the payroll approximately $150,000 a year. The company will also establish co-operative stores to supply their men with foodstuffs at cost price.

Bonus for Telephone Girls.

Telephone operators who have been in the employ of the Bell Telephone Company in Pennsylvania for two years are receiving a yearly bonus of $25 from the company. Those who have served three years are receiving $50 a year and from then until ten years' service has been completed they will receive $50 annually and after that $100 a year as long as they remain in the service.

Steel Wages Increased.

The independent iron and steel mills, anticipating the Steel Corporation's announced intent, have increased the wages all round by 10 per cent. without any strike or threat of strike.

OMINOUS SPIRITUAL SIGNS.

Comparison of the Death Rate in Different Parts of the United States Makes a New Record.

[Current Opinion:] The moral and sociological health of America has lately been diagnosed by two distinguished experts, with somewhat disconcerting results. Franklin H. Giddings, professor of sociology in Columbia University, tells us that we are ineffective on the side of social control. "The normal functioning of society has broken down in the United States," is the startling way he puts it. In support of his statement he cites "the terrible figures of homicide," and statistics of occupations, of political affiliation and of membership in religious denominations which show "diminishing restraint upon the individual." This nation of ours, Prof. Giddings remarks ironically, is the biggest thing going—in some ways. We hold many records. A new one has just been published, and it shows that in disregard of human life no other big nation this side of Russia can touch us:

"England and Wales are content to get along with a homicide rate of 0.9 per 100,000 of population per annum. We beat that with an excess of 6.22, or a rate of 6.5 for the registration area. Boston, a little bit behind the rest of us, has a rate of only 4.5. Brooklyn, a slow place, has a rate of only 3.6, and Milwaukee hardly worth noticing, a rate of only 2.8. But Manhattan and the Bronx show up very well with a rate of 6.9. Chicago beats us with a rate of 9.1, and San Francisco with a rate of 10.4.

"The South, as we cheerfully acknowledge, is the banner section. New Orleans has a rate of 24.1; Atlanta, a rate of 29.8; Nashville, a rate of 35.2; Savannah, a rate of 37.8; Charleston, a rate of 32.3, and Memphis a rate of 63.4. Washington D. C., very properly has a fairly representative rate of 9.2, intermediate between the rates of the northern and those of the southern cities. The average rate for thirty cities, North and South, is 8.3."

The Dangerous Gasoline.

[Insurance Engineering:] A woman and her home were burned up recently in Springfield, Mass., through ignorance of the quite commonly-known pair of facts that gasoline left open will quickly fill a closed room with a gas sometimes more dangerous than gundpowder and that by rubbing silk one may produce static electricity, in other words, a spark.

The woman left a silk waist soaking in gasoline in a bowl in a bathroom to clean it. After a time she went back and began rubbing the silk between her hands, producing a spark which ignited the gasoline fumes and blew up the place. Had she only known—but what's the use? Sometimes it is ignorance. At other times it is thoughtlessness or carelessness. The resulting fatality is the same.

In the Spotlight.

MISS FOLA HEADS PICKET.

La Follette's Daughter Leads New York Strikers.

Twenty Girls Arrested; She Is Only One Looked At.

Not Wagon Room for All in New York's Patrol.

[New York, Sun Jan. 29:] Trouble and Miss Fola La Follette arrived simultaneously on the northeast corner of Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue yesterday afternoon. Miss La Follette, who was an actress and is the suffragist daughter of Senator La Follette, had come to the corner to lead a band of thirty or forty girl strikers on picket duty in front of the Twenty-third street entrance to the Masonic Temple building, on an upper floor of which the white-goods firm of Wilber M. Dyer & Co. is in the throes of strike troubles.

Two by two, with Miss La Follette in the lead, the girl strikers came marching up from the Labor Temple, where Miss La Follette had just addressed them, the line of demure misses suggesting a girls' boarding school out for a walk. And as the girls stopped in front of the building to wait patiently until the employees of the Dyer firm should come forth to be buttonholed and argued with by the strikers along hurried another procession that suggested anything but a girls' school out for a walk.

This second group of marchers wore blue tailormades trimmed with brass buttons and their lives are given to being cops. Miss La Follette early made it evident that first of all she was there to direct the picketing, cops or no cops, and also to see to it that the pickets created no disorder but did their persuading in a ladylike manner.

And in a very few minutes the presence of Miss La Follette's pickets began to bother the cops. Straightway the cops began to annoy the pickets. Little whirls of cops, pickets and half innocent bystanders converged into one large whirlpool of pickets, cops and just people, with the voice of little Miss La Follette rising in a commanding way, "Girls, Girls! Officer, how dare you, sir! Girls, just keep moving up and down!"

An egg loose and no longer even in the class called cooking eggs, suddenly appeared from nowhere upon the one time spotless left shoulder of a policeman from the West Seventeenth street station. Miss La Follette at the moment was about a hundred feet away and so she could not stop the throwing of the egg. The policeman stopped it, but too late; and his name is Murphy—John Patrick Murphy.

And so instantly one thing led to another. Crowded Twenty-third street now was jammed on both sides of the roadway. Whirlpools whirled. Out of nothing came a patrol wagon. Miss La Follette was darting across the street between trolley cars and automobiles and shouting, excitedly, back over her shoulder, "Girls, girls! Don't do anything rash! Wait till I telephone to the labor union!"

Miss La Follette dashed into a department store across the street, telephoned, wormed back to the firing line and again cried, "Girls! Girls!" Detective Bill Hughes with five other plainclothesmen from the Central Office joined the party. Sergt. Unger of the West Seventeenth street station and half a dozen of his bluecoats began to add spots of color to the immediate foreground.

And before the egg had flown at all, and, so far as the innocent bystanders could see, before anything at all had happened except the orderly arrival of Miss La Follette and her picket squad, Miss Maud Younger, who is hall chairman of the Labor Temple and says she "lives on her own income," had been arrested. Miss Younger, who is prominent in the Women's Trade Union League, a few moments after the pickets arrived was down at the end of the block giving her name and address, No. 15 East Eleventh street, to a reporter when Policeman Bill Nau reached across the shoulder of one of the little knot of people gathered about Miss Younger and told her she was under arrest for obstructing traffic.

Miss Younger started back amicably with the policeman and together, with most of that part of the shopping district jamming toes on heels ecstatically behind policeman and prisoner, they came upon a very whirly whirlpool whirling about Patrolman Flood and another leading prisoner, Miss Margaret Hinchey, also prominent in the Women's Trade Union League.

Miss La Follette stormed upon the policemen and protested stormily that neither of the prisoners had done anything nor could have done anything inasmuch as the girls the pickets were waiting for would not even begin to come out of the building for an hour or half. But the patrol wagon backed up just the same.

As near as can be remembered now this is the time the senile egg hit the policeman named Murphy. In a jiffy about a dozen girl pickets were being jammed into the big motor patrol and they all went into it with the ecstatic joy of zealots.

"Take me, then, too! Arrest me—they didn't do anything. Neither did I, so arrest me, too!" came feminine cries from the press of flying furs and feathers near the back step of the police wagon. The policemen were obliging, and so when the wagon clanged away out toward the car tracks it bulged with eighteen picket prisoners in addition to Miss Hinchey and Miss Younger. And they all went over to the station-house.

Miss La Follette and eighteen other pickets who hadn't been able to get arrested now began an arm in arm saunter, Miss La Follette in the lead with Local Chairman Augusta Fest. The policemen were back in a little while and for an hour and a half they ranged themselves along the building with nothing to do but watch the two by two procession worm through the crowds of shoppers until dusk. Miss La Follette never stopped for a moment.

As She Saw It.

[Judge:] A very pretty, but extremely slender girl entered a street car and managed to seat herself in a very narrow space between two men. Presently a portly colored mammy entered the car, and the pretty miss, thinking to humiliate the men for their lack of gallantry, arose.

"Aunty," she said, with a wave of her hand toward the place she had just vacated, "take my seat."

"Thank you, missy," replied the colored woman, smiling broadly, "but which gen'man's lap was you sittin' on?"

MILLER TELLS OF THE TRIAL.

Thrilling Narrative by Brave District Attorney.

Summary of the Dynamite Conspiracy Cases.

Notable Address Before Chicago Hamilton Club.

[The Times herewith presents copious extracts from the thrilling address by United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller of Indianapolis before the Hamilton Club in Chicago, January 22. It was an eloquent review of the dynamite conspiracy trial at Indianapolis, by the brave man who won it, and made a deep impression, bringing every man in the audience to his feet.]

Mr. President and Members of the Hamilton Club of Chicago:

The people of the entire nation have been greatly interested in what is commonly known as the "Dynamite Conspiracy" trial, recently concluded at Indianapolis, Ind., which resulted in two pleas of guilty and the conviction by the jury of thirty-eight indicted men.

In addition to the conspiracy charged, the indictment covered twenty-five direct violations of the statutes of the United States, in the transportation of dynamite and nitroglycerine from a place in one State to a place in another State, upon passenger trains.

Some of the defendants were charged with the physical act of carrying the dynamite or nitroglycerine, and all of the other defendants charged as aiding and abetting in the transportation of such prohibited explosives.

All of the defendants, under the laws of the United States, were principals. To the twenty-six offenses so charged, two defendants entered pleas of guilty and the jury convicted thirty-eight of the defendants of each offense, as he stood charged in the indictment.

As to time, the conspiracy covered more than six long years. As to territory, it was limited only by the boundaries of the nation.

In the dynamite trial at Indianapolis, evidence of almost 100 explosions was admitted. The destruction of bridges and buildings was shown. The numerous assaults upon non-union workmen by defendants, testified to, the murder of more than a score of innocent workmen at Los Angeles appeared—all for the purpose of showing the history and to characterize the greatest conspiracy of the age. None of these things were shown, none of this evidence admitted, as a basis of punishing men for the destruction of property or the taking of human life.

The convicted men were ably defended, they had a fair and an im-

Asking Questions

Right at the start realize this—that you can best safeguard your money by asking questions. Ask these questions with a purpose—with the view of bringing out the real facts. Refuse to accept evasive answers. Insist in the most emphatic manner, upon direct, to-the-point answers to every question you ask.

"Who Are the Men Behind the Company?"

This is one of the most important questions for you to ask. Don't be satisfied with a general reply that tells you nothing definite. For example—"Well known, experienced men manage the affairs of our company."

Ask About Each Individual Man

Take them right down the list, one at a time. Find out what each one amounts to—what his standing in the community—his reputation—his past connections—experience. Is he an acknowledged success and a money maker, whose ripe judgment and business experience will prove a real asset to the company and safe guard the investments? Is each and every name that of men who take a real and active interest in the affairs of the company?

Other Questions of Vital Importance

1. Do the officers and directors receive a salary or other compensation?
2. Can they buy more stock than other shareholders?
3. Did they ever receive any promotion stock?
4. Do they hold any stock under option?
5. Can they buy or have they ever bought any stock below the regular selling price?

SYNOPSIS OF ARTICLE.

Downey and the Los Nietos Valley; its location.

Good roads through the district.

The town; its public utilities, business and social life.

Ranching conditions of the locality, its soil and climate.

The district's water assets.

Working to secure an electric car line.

The needs of the town of Downey and and opportunities for outside investors.

Names of residents anxious to correspond with prospective settlers.

Downey, a prosperous neighbor of Los Angeles.

Stretching between the "old" and "new" San Gabriel rivers, southward from the Puente Hills, is an extensive area, opulently endowed by nature with unsurpassed facilities for the raising of Valencia oranges, walnuts, alfalfa, beets and garden truck. This section is popularly termed the Los Nietos Valley. The town of Downey lies in its heart, and is the commercial center of the entire district.

Besides being a busy trading center, Downey is also rapidly becoming a popular residential suburb of the city of Los Angeles and in this capacity affords several distinct and attractive features as inducements to new residents.

LOCATION.

Its nearness to Los Angeles is one of its first assets. It is located twelve miles southeast of the city on the Santa Ana branch of the Southern Pacific Railroad and has a rapid and frequent train service. The time consumed in riding to Los Angeles is about twenty minutes. The round trip fare is 70 cents, but this is reduced to 11½ cents when a twenty-five ride, family commutation ticket, good for ninety days, is purchased. The railroad company also issues a fifty-two ride individual ticket, good for a calendar month, for $4.50. This reduces the fare to about 8½ cents a ride and is used by persons who live in Downey and whose business is conducted in Los Angeles, necessitating their traveling back and forth daily. The local people are also diligently persisting to secure an electric car line from Los Angeles and more will be mentioned of this in another part of this article.

GOOD ROADS.

Facilitating all kinds of transportation are five of the county's good roads, which pass through the Downey district. These are all of first-class construction, consisting of a sixteen - foot wide, turnpiked, macadamized surfacing, equal to asphaltum paving, and costing in the neighborhood of $7500 to build, per mile. About ten miles of these roads are laid throughout the district. From Downey one road stretches directly to Long Beach, a distance of about fourteen miles. Running north from Downey, the upper portion of this same road leads to Los Angeles, about eleven miles distant. A road now under construction will lead from Downey to Norwalk. The Los Nietos Valley road and the Laguna road also pass through the district.

With the advent of the automobile truck and the "good roads," a large truck garden district has come into maturity. The farmers are now able to raise vegetables, melons, berries and allied crops and ship them at night on auto trucks to Los Angeles. This enables the farmers to deliver their produce in a fresh condition at the market at the minimum expense for hauling and shipping. The new transit system is rapidly being adopted by all the big truck garden men and is proving highly satisfactory. Many of the ranchers own their own auto trucks and some make a business of hauling for their neighbors.

TOWN.

Within a radius of two miles of the town's business section, there live an approximate population of 1500 people. The altitude is 101 feet above sea level. There are no saloons. Seven church denominations including the Baptist, Methodist, Southern Methodist, Presbyterian, Holiness, Catholic and Christian have large congregations and their own houses of worship, in its moral environment Downey is all that could be desired as a place for a family to reside.

The business section comprises several blocks of large and substantial brick, frame and stone buildings in which are housed all general lines of retail business firms.

PUBLIC UTILITIES.

The Downey Electric Light, Power and Water Company furnishes electric current for illumination and power purposes at nominal rates, and also supplies the current for the town's street lighting system. All the main streets are lighted with 250 watt tungsten lamps.

Gas is supplied for both heating and cooking purposes.

The Downey Home Telephone has an extensive telephone system running throughout the district and operates in conjunction with the Los Angeles Home 'Phone Company. A toll of 15 cents for three minutes is charged for communications to Los Angeles. Connections are made to the towns of Norwalk and Artesia without extra toll.

The Sunset Telephone Company also has a trunk line passing through Downey affording long-distance communication anywhere throughout the State.

Downey supports a volunteer fire department and two weekly newspapers.

BUSINESS.

Without exception, all the retail merchants of Downey report a steady increase of business during the last year which on an average has ranged between 25 and 33 1-3 per cent.

Typifying the financial growth of the entire community, the prosperous condition of the two local banks might be mentioned.

The Los Nietos Valley Bank was organized in 1891 and has been in active operation at Downey since that time. It has a present capitalization of $75,000 and surplus of $18,750. Its deposits amount to $292,000 and its total resources to $403,804.58. The increasing amount of deposits has been especially gratifying to the board of directors of the institution. The bank is quartered in a $15,000 brick building and is equipped with all the most modern banking facilities customarily found in banks of its size. The bank is a member of the American and California Bankers' Associations, and its forty stockholders are all people living in the Downey district.

The Bank of Downey is a private commercial institution, which was organized in 1902 and is capitalized at $25,000. Its deposits amount to $27,000. Its outstandng loans are $21,000 and its total resources amount to $57,000. The owner reports a growth of business during the last year.

The Ball-Tweedy Orange Packing House at Downey is an independent concern, packing most of the citrus fruit grown in the district.

Their greatest supply of oranges comes from the Ball-Tweedy ranch, comprising 225 acres of citrus stock. Their packing-house is valued at $6000. Last year their total shipment amounted to 125 cars. Their packing capacity is two cars a day. The concern packs under the registered, trade-marked names of the Defiance, Condor and Base Ball brands.

The Downey Co-operative Creamery has a $3000 plant and equipment for cooling 500 gallons of milk a day. Some fifty or sixty of the local dairymen sell their milk to this creamery. The company is a member of the Mutual Dairy Association of Los Angeles.

The Newmark Grain Company of Los Angeles has a $4000 milling plant at Downey which manufactures corn meal and graham flour.

PROPERTY VALUES.

Much of the local property about Downey is held by what are popularly termed permanent residents. There has been very little land speculation attempted here. Many of the people who have lived for years in the district are buying all the lands at their present values, that their pocketbooks can afford, showing their sanguine faith and confidence in the country.

Improved acreage, not planted to trees, but in excellent farming condition and with available water, runs from $450 per acre up to $1000. Planted orange groves command $1000 per acre up. Walnut groves are selling from $1000 per acre up, prices varying principally according to location and farming facilities.

Residential lots, including street improvements and all public utilities accessible, range in values from $350 to $1000 each.

Business lots, 50x140 feet, can be had as low as $900, which price runs up to $2000 each, according to location.

Five and six-room houses and lots can be had from $2500 each and up and may be purchased on easy terms.

SCHOOLS.

The Los Nietos Valley Union Tigh School is a $40,000 building situated on an eight and one-half-acre plat of ground, affording a spacious playground and a large agricultural experiment field. The building is excellently equipped with modern heating and ventilating appliances and has fifteen large, well-lighted rooms. There is an assembly hall seating 400, a library containing 1000 volumes, physics and chemistry laboratories, typewriting and drafting rooms.

The school offers an especially fine commercial course to its students. By next fall it is hoped that a complete course in scientific agriculture will be introduced. This summer $5000 will be spent on the improvement of the grounds. Lawns and artistic parkings are planned which will add much to the school's appearance.

The students are organized into a co-operative body with the teachers to conduct the general business affairs of the institution, most of the business management being given over to the students under the principal's supervision. There are social, literary, debating and oratorical societies. Each year both the junior and senior classes give a play and publish an annual booklet.

The present enrollment of the school numbers ninety-two students, an increase of over 25 per cent. during the year. There are eight teachers on the staff, several of whom are especially well qualified to give instruction on the subjects which they handle. The entire school organization is directed by a competent principal who is a living exponent of practical education.

There is a good grammar school in the center of town. This affords elementary educational facilities for several hundred pupils. A large corps of teachers are provided and the general studies mapped out by the State Board of Education are taught.

SOCIAL.

Some of the leading fraternal orders have lodges or chapters at Downey, among which will be found the Independent Order of Odd Fellows: Downey Lodge, No. 220, F. & A. M.; Court Downey, I.O.F.; Nietos Lodge, W. O. W.; Modern Woodmen of America, Rebeccas, Eastern Star and Maccabees.

The Odd Fellows lodge owns a two-story brick building on the main street, which has a large assembly hall upstairs, used as a meeting place for both the Odd Fellows lodge and Masons.

Forty of the active ladies of Downey have organized a Saturday Afternoon Club. This body has for its prime purpose, the encouragement of social, literary and civic work. Two years ago the club constructed a pretty little clubhouse at a cost of $2500 in which they now hold their meetings, dances, dinners and other entertainments.

The Saturday Afternoon Club has made its power felt chiefly in its work to improve civic conditions. In the past they have done much to advance the town in regard to its sanitation and cleanliness. They give several benefit entertainments in their clubhouse during the year and use the proceeds to good advantage. The club is a member of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

There is a strong Parent-Teachers Association at Downey and this organization is a factor of large consideration to the welfare of the local educational institutions.

RANCHING.

Lands in this district appear to be loose sands. This is a source of great deception as well as one of the best ranching assets of the community. After penetrating the sand to a depth of from three to four feet there is encountered a deep, rich, black loam, capable of producing nearly any kind of vegetation. The surface dressing of sand serves to act as a mulch, and is very easy to cultivate. The sand does not propagate great quantities of weeds and is an excellent moisture absorber. It is a source of considerable surprise to visitors in the district to see beautiful orange or walnut trees, heavily ladened with fruit, apparently growing out in a sand bed. In reality, the roots of those trees are firmly anchored in the strata which lies immediately below the layer of surface sand.

Experts have pronounced the Downey district an ideal site for the culture of the Valencia orange. Perhaps there is no other section in South where oranges can be grown at less expense. The cost of caring for and maintaining a grove is remarkably small, owing to the abundance of natural features—soil and climate—which are nowhere together. At the present time there are possibly between 400 and 500 acres of citrus fruits being grown within a radius of three miles of Downey.

Although the conditions are exceptionally advantageous for the raising of orange, the navel and all varieties of lemons and grapefruit are proving a success. The local orchardists have steadily brought their groves to bearing and a failure of a crop has never occurred.

There are several hundred acres devoted to sugar-beet culture. A number of sugar factories in the neighboring localities handle the product and fine transportation facilities are afforded for shipping the crop. The beets grown here rank among the best grown anywhere in the United State, both in point of tonnage and percentage. The amount of sugar per ton to the acre remains unsurpassed by any other beet-growing section of the South.

Large quantities of alfalfa are grown, and the soil of the Downey district to the south and west of the town is well adapted to its growth. Besides the soil, cheap water is a strong attraction for people to engage in dairying pursuit.

With the abundance of alfalfa, dairying has been developed extensively. There are many small dairy farms throughout the territory and the dairymen are making excellent returns. The convenience of the section to Los Angeles permits fresh milk to be shipped to the metropolis daily. There are many houses in the vicinity of Downey where ranchers of their surplus stock of beef cattle. In every way the man looking for a good dairying location will find the Downey district very convenient for his operation.

Large varieties of vegetables are grown to a splendid perfection. Berries and melons grow well and there are many acres of valuable marsh and garden lands to be yet worked in this section. The Downey district is the home of the principal farming concerns supplying the city of Los Angeles with fresh fruits and vegetables. Often the growers command the highest market prices for their products.

Poultry raising is a popular occupation of many of the local people. Some men who are engaged in clerical work in the city of Los Angeles have an appetite for the soil and indulge in this vocation as a pastime and find it interestingly profitable.

Hog raising is carried on to an extent, but chiefly by the farmers men who find it economical in feeding hogs in connection with their dairying business. The hogs consume the skim milk, eagerly fattening themselves, and, incidentally, the farmer man's purse.

WATER CONDITIONS.

Many expert well drillers and farmers men who have tested the water supply pumps in all parts of the district have stated that the water conditions in the Downey district are unsurpassed. It seems that there is an inexhaustible ground lake or river of water flowing through the entire territory from the Sierra Madre Mountains to the sea. The Los Angeles, San Gabriel and Rio Hondo rivers have been found to flow principally underground and between 30 and 150 feet below the surface and these rivers furnish the immense subterranean supply constantly supplied.

The first water found is generally encountered almost anywhere from 30 to 50 feet at a depth of only ten or fifteen feet, and at this depth water is usually obtained in sufficient quantities for domestic purposes. For irrigation wells, however, these supplies are not sufficient and it is necessary to go to strata which are found between 100 and 150 feet, where inexhaustible supplies are found.

Downey Ranches.

limited quantities of water may be developed. There are a number of wells between 90 and 150 feet which are producing as much as 120 miner's inches, or in the neighborhood of 1000 gallons per minute.

At about 790 feet below the surface, the well drillers tap artesian water. There are a number of wells which have been sunk to these strata and which flow continuously unless capped. For the last forty years there has never been a well sunk in this section which did not strike water and the supply has not fluctuated appreciably in that time.

One of the great points regarding the water supply of the district is the small cost required to develop it. There are few places, if any, where well water could be more cheaply developed. It costs about $2 per foot to sink a ten-inch casing to a depth of ninety feet and then the water rises in the well to within twenty-five feet of the surface. The pumping is done by windmills, electrically operated, centrifugal pumps or centrifugal pumps operated by gas engine.

Besides the well water developed by the individual property owners there is a large incorporated company which diverts part of the waters of the San Gabriel River for the use of the farmers in the district. This is the Irrigon Ditch and Water Company, which has a capitalization of $25,000. The company owns one of the oldest and best established water rights on the San Gabriel River. Their irrigation system comprises a great network of concrete pipes and ditches extending over an area of 500 acres. The water is taken out of the San Gabriel River at a point one-quarter of a mile above the Whittier and Los Nietos county road and then gravitates through nearly forty miles of concrete mains and laterals.

In its organization the Irrigation Company is composed of the district's property owners who work together and equally pay the running expenses of the system without any idea of making a profit. A uniform charge of 25 cents per head of 250 miners' inches is made, the rate that the stockholders have been paying. During the regular irrigation seasons, 1000 miners' inches are constantly being distributed through the system but at certain seasons of the year twice that amount can be developed if necessary.

The water supply of the Downey district is a most important asset and the water rights have been legally established and re-established so often that there now remains no possible doubt as to a title which could be contested.

Both the water of the San Gabriel River as well as that from the underground sources is devoid of salts or other chemicals injurious for drinking and its purity is one of the chief boasts of the inhabitants.

ELECTRIC RAILROAD.

The Pacific Electric Railroad Company has been expending vast sums of money extending its suburban lines out of Los Angeles. The company now has an application pending for authority to issue bonds which aggregate $7,024,000. This money will nearly all be spent upon improvements outside the city.

The people of Downey have been actively working to secure an electric car line to their town out of this appropriation. Their first plan was to secure a line which would connect with the Whittier branch of the Pacific Electric at Rivera. In 1907 they had secured a free right of way along the routa and were prepared to give bonds to the railroad company when the financial panic hindered the prosecution of the work.

There is a possibility of the Pacific Electric building a cross-country line from the foot of the Sierra Madre mountains southward to the sea. This line would relieve the congestion in the city of Los Angeles occasioned by the many people who are compelled by the present system to pass through Los Angeles on their way to the beach resorts from the foothill section. If this line were built it would undoubtedly pass through Downey and thus furnish indirect communication between the town and Los Angeles and direct transit to the beaches and the Pasadena district.

However, the plan at present proposed, upon which direct action can be taken to immediately secure an electric car line through the Downey district is the electricizing of the Santa Ana Pacific steam road. It costs approximately $18,000 to construct a mile of first-class, single-track, electric railroad as built by the Pacific Electric company, including the overhead work. To electricize a steam line would save the expense of grading, as the cost of maintaining and operating an electric line is 40 per cent less than that of a steam road. The railroad company would favor its construction, if the proposition could be conveniently financed, and the several towns along the route of the Santa Ana branch of the Southern Pacific would unite in raising a large enough bonus to assist the road in its construction work, an electric line could undoubtedly be secured.

TOWN'S NEEDS.

Downey affords opportunity for a laundry and small manufacturing plants.

There are large quantities of deciduous fruits grown in the district which the product has to be hauled many miles to Los Angeles, by rail. There is a fine opening for a creamery.

A man with an auto truck who would do a business of hauling the products of the local farmers to Los Angeles should find a profitable business in this enterprise.

Women's Club, Downey.

In reality, the roots of these trees firmly anchored in the virtuous soil which lies immediately below the layer of surface sand.

Experts have pronounced the Downey district an ideal site for the culture of the Valencia orange. Perhaps there is no other section in the South where oranges can be grown at less expense. The cost of caring for and maintaining a grove is remarkably small, owing to the abundance of natural features—water and climate—which are massed together. At the present time there possibly between 400 and 500 acres of citrus fruits being grown within a radius of three miles of Downey.

Although the conditions are exceptionally advantageous for the Valencia orange, the navel and all varieties of lemons and grapefruit are grown with full success. The local citrus groves have steadily brought in big returns and a failure of a crop has never occurred.

There are several hundred acres devoted to sugar-beet culture. A number of sugar factories in many of the neighboring localities handle the product and fine transportation facilities are afforded for shipping the crop. The beets grown here rank with the best grown anywhere else in the State, both in point of size and in percentage. The amount of production to the acre remains high and is surpassed by any other beet-growing section of the South.

Large quantities of alfalfa are grown, and the soil of the lower lands to the south and west of Downey is well adapted to its growth. With the soil, cheap water is an important attraction for people to engage in dairying pursuit.

With the abundance of alfalfa, dairying has been developed extensively. There are many large and small dairy farms throughout the territory and the dairymen here are making excellent returns. The proximity of the section to Los Angeles permits fresh milk to be shipped to the metropolis daily. Two shipments houses in the vicinity relieve the ranchers of their surplus butterfat. Beef cattle. In every way the district looking for a good dairying section find the Downey district very convenient for his operation.

Large varieties of deciduous fruits are grown to a splendid profit. Berries and melons grow well and there are many acres of valuable truck garden lands to be yet worked in this section. The Downey district is one of the principal farming communities supplying the city of Los Angeles with fresh fruits and vegetables. Both the growers command the best market prices for their produce.

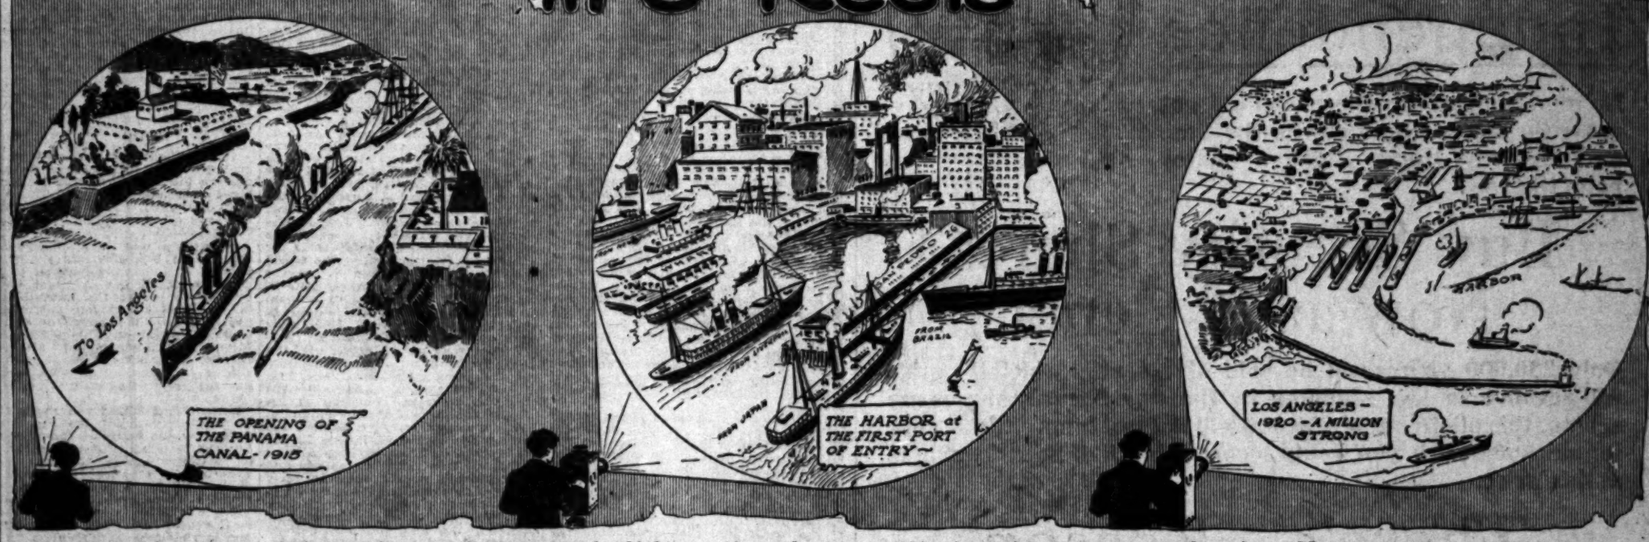
Poultry raising is a popular occupation of many of the Downey people. Some men who are engaged in clerical work in the city and who have an appetite for the soil indulge in this vocation as a side line and find it interestingly profitable. Hog raising is carried on to a large extent, but chiefly by the farmers men who find it economical to feed their hogs in connection with their dairying business. The hogs consume the skim milk, eagerly fattening themselves, and, incidentally, the farmer's purse.

WATER CONDITIONS.

Many expert well drillers and engineers who have bored wells or installed pumps in all parts of the State have stated that the water conditions in the Downey district are unexcelled. It seems that there is a great underground lake or river of water flowing through the entire territory from the Sierra Madre Mountains to the sea. The Los Angeles, San Gabriel and Rio Hondo rivers have been found to flow principally underground from the face and these rivers serve to supply the immense subterranean reservoir constantly supplied.

The first water strata is usually encountered almost anywhere in the district at a depth of only ten or twelve feet, and at this depth water may be obtained in sufficient quantities for domestic purposes. Most of the irrigation wells, however, must go to greater depths to go to strata which are between 90 and 150 feet, where practically

Los Angeles—"a Moving Picture Show—"in 3 Reels"



The prime object of these "Moving" Pictures is to set people thinking. If people don't think they can't be reached—therefore they don't act.

So many things are happening these days, and so many other things are about to happen, that we feel as if we were not doing our duty unless we posted these happenings, present and to come, in large pictures, before your eyes, and said: "There, now, is proof of what we have been contending. Will you believe it now, and, believing, will you follow instructions?"

THE THREE YEARS OF PLENTY

As this Company has repeatedly said before in its ads., there are 3 years of plenty before us—'13, '14, '15. Great things are to be done in these three years. The greatest feat of engineering of 1913, almost, if not quite, equal to the digging of the Canal, is that of the Aqueduct, where, at a cost of millions, this city is bringing water overland, through tunnels, over hills and valleys, hundreds of miles, into its own reservoirs, a priceless gift for those here now and for the generations who will follow them. Wonderful—but we are getting so used to wonderful things that we miss seeing some of them.

The pictures move fast before the visions of the citizens of Los Angeles, like a three-ring circus, where there is so much going on one can only catch a glimpse here and there as they unfold before our eyes.

ARE YOU READY FOR OPPORTUNITY?

The vital question before us is, what will you do with your opportunities in the three years before you.

Here stands a new Company, alive to what's going on, which says, "Climb aboard and ride to the front with us." Will you do it? We can't make you.

To our intense gratification, an army of men and women have already responded to our call, with the result that we have broken all records for stock selling during a three weeks' period!

MAKING PEOPLE THINK

So, you see, these sermonettes we have been preaching each Sunday morning must have been reaching some people and making them think.

If we can only get people to think, then they will come up here and argue, and if they will argue, then they will join us, for none can argue against us.

We are simply taking the tide at its flood, and that sort of work leads on to fortune. They can see it as well as we can.

CO-OPERATION IS THE THING

We were saying that if we could get people to come and talk over the situation with us, we could convince them of what is before them and us, and how easy and thoroughly practical it is, to co-operate, so all can share according to our holdings.

"MOVING PICTURES"

Picture No. 1 shows the opening of the great Canal. The first boat through will be headed, we believe, for the "First Port of Entry"—Los Angeles, Queen of the Pacific.

The opening of the Canal, the sailing of the first boat, the completion of the waterway, marks the beginning of a new epoch in the history of Los Angeles.

Picture No. 2—Ships of all nations in the harbor and flags of all nations waving and snapping in the breeze.

This picture is to prove to you that picture No. 3 must come true within the time set, five years later—Los Angeles, a million in 1920, built solid from the foothills to the sea—A WORLD CITY.

All three pictures are meant to stimulate your powers of imagination. Without imagination man would be rooting in the ditches, and even if we all are blessed with it, we need something to stimulate it every so often, so we can take in a wider perspective than usual.

WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU

If you have any interests in this city, the opening of that waterway in 1915 will make those interests more valuable. If you have no interests, then come and join us, and get some, at once. We have a place for you, and we are throwing you a line, right now, and beg you to reach out for it, haul it in and make fast, now, so you can be, not merely an interested spectator, but an interested stock owner, a co-operator, with an ax to grind in future events.

Come and join our army.

We will make you pay 12 cents a share for your stock today, but that is nothing to what you will have to pay sixty days from now.

A BOOM AT LAUREL CANYON HEIGHTS

Our big subdivision at Laurel Canyon Heights, near Hollywood, over 750 lots, is attracting the attention of buyers, and each day sees greater activities out there.

Each day our Autos are busy taking people out to this beauty spot, people who demand something else besides a house and lot on a side street. That's not typical of California.

They want a Vista of Mountain, Valley and Sea, and still they can't go into the wilds to get the combination. That's not practical. But Laurel Canyon Heights offers the solution of their problem, as it lies within 30 minutes of Broadway, and every lot has a beauty of its own. And so, Laurel Canyon Heights is enjoying a season of great activity. Lots are being purchased, and directly we shall see a number of artistic bungalows and chalets dotting the sides of these romantic homesites.

But lots at $200 will no longer be available when that day comes. They should be selling at double today's prices.

HOW CAN WE PROFIT BY THE PICTURES?

"MOVING" PICTURES are mostly thrown on the screen of memory—they are fleeting. Some of us profit by them, some not.

It is a little thing to ask—that you come and say "Howdy-do!" Come and look into our faces, see what we look like, talk to us, see what we are aiming at and striving for, and why we are so anxious to get going in the shortest possible time.

We are all traveling along the same road—with the same goal in sight—the goal of Success, and in our opinion we can reach it better by working together.

A RAISE IN PRICE OF STOCK IS NEAR

The shares of stock in First National Securities Company are now 12 cents, but only for a short time. The activities of our Laurel Canyon Heights properties demand a higher price. We advise the purchase of shares now before the 12c allotment is all subscribed.

Announcement of the rise in price will be made, unless the entire allotment of 12-cent stock is taken by one party, something which may happen.

Meanwhile, shall we send you our book, "The Greatest Investment?"

ANNOUNCEMENT—Owing to the enormous response to our advertising and the consequent crowding of our offices daily by the buyers interested in FIRST NATIONAL SECURITIES COMPANY'S stock, we have found it necessary to SEEK LARGER QUARTERS, and have secured the entire building at 645 South Spring Street. Temporary offices will be maintained at the new address while the extensive work of remodeling and refinishing the new offices is going forward.

The Spring Street offices will be open evenings. WATCH US EXPAND! LOOK FOR THE BIG EAGLE.

ADVANTAGE OF "GENIUS."

Brilliant Ideas Come Without Tiresome Effort and Great Things Are Done Unconsciously.

[Dr. Frank Crane in Washington Star:] A genius is a superior human machine.

He gets a great deal of praise and reward, but in truth he deserves no credit, for his best work is automatic.

Nothing is more mechanical than originality.

For the brilliant ideas are never produced by tiresome effort; they pop up out of the subconsciousness without any promptings from us.

Note your own bright inventions. You have been thinking over a matter for days, until perhaps you have given it up and put it aside in despair, and then suddenly, apropos of nothing at all, while you are boarding a street car or getting your shoes shined, click!—you have it!—the solution flashes full-born into your mind.

You may say it "just came" to you. Better, it just came out of you. For after your conscious intelligence had chewed and chewed upon it, you swallowed it, so to speak, and it passed down into your subconscious intelligence, then was digested and prepared, and when perfected suddenly reappeared in your consciousness, after the manner of ruminants.

A genius is a person who is endowed with a powerful subconscious mill for grinding out ideas.

He does not necessarily have a trained mind; he must have a wonderful sub-mind.

The physician who is a genius looks over the patient and the correct diagnosis "just comes" to him. That is the genuine God-made doctor. The man-made product of the schools tries to pierce the mysteries of life with his bare brains and stumbles into an inextricable maze.

The lawyer genius penetrates at once into the gist of a case. Study and experience may help him, but nothing can take the place of that inward nature-born sharpness of vision.

The literary genius is one to whom the right word "comes," the priest genius is the one with the X-ray of ethical sympathy, the artist genius is the worker whose subconscious soul grasps the truth of beauty with unerring taste.

That is why no genius can explain himself. Michael Angelo or Conan Doyle or Paderewski cannot tell how he does it. He doesn't know. The great things he does are non-conscious.

There is ground for believing that there is as much difference between the genius and the common man as there is between man and the animals.

Kant says: "The greatest discoverer in the sphere of science differs only in degree from the ordinary man; the genius, on the other hand, differs specifically."

After thirty-one months' service without a single breakdown, the automobile ambulance in the service of the Charity Hospital at New Orleans, La., has so proven its worth that another motor ambulance is to be added in the near future.

Miller Tells of the Trial.

partial trial before a great judge, and no better jury ever occupied a jury box.

The evidence of the guilt of the thirty-eight men convicted by the jury was so overwhelming that the jury was a unit in its decision as to each convicted individual.

To Judge Albert B. Anderson, who so ably and fairly presided at the trial for three months, and to the twelve honest and courageous men who returned the verdict of guilty against these thirty-eight conspirators, this nation owes an everlasting debt of gratitude. . . .

Union labor was not on trial. The right of laboring men to organize to better their condition was not on trial. The right of union men to proceed, within the law, to enforce reasonable demands, was not on trial; but the power of the government was invoked, under the law, to punish a band of criminals that were seeking to destroy the very foundation of the guaranty of life, liberty and property under the Constitution.

When the policy of the destruction of property was determined upon by this band of criminals, by the use of dynamite and nitroglycerine, there were no questions asked as to whether the company or firm whose property was to be destroyed, was a member of the Erectors' Association or an independent concern—the only question in the minds of the conspirators was: "Is the firm or company conducting its business on the open-shop plan"—if so, an explosion should follow.

I have been congratulated many hundreds of times by men all over the country for my part in the prosecution of these conspirators, but the congratulations that mean the most to me and the most to society come from many members of organized labor, giving their unqualified approval of the trial, their belief in the guilt of the defendants, as demonstrated by the facts, and their desire to stand for "liberty under the law."

It is extremely unfortunate for the country, it is extremely unfortunate for organized labor, when you consider the overwhelming guilt of these defendants, as demonstrated almost to a mathematical certainty, that such men as Fitzpatrick and Knockles, here in Chicago, could induce a labor organization to denounce the court who presided at the trial, and the jury that rendered this just verdict. Such men as Fitzpatrick and Knockles are a menace to peace and good order, are a menace to society. [Vigjustice. [Applause.]

In all probability the government would never have been called upon to conduct this prosecution were it not for the fact that it almost seemed that the machinery of the States had broken down. Assaults by the score in various cities were unnoticed; assaults with intent to kill were wholly disregarded. The blowing up of buildings occurred frequently, regularly, almost weekly—sometimes two in one night; but the local authorities were either unwilling or unable to bring the criminals to the bar of justice. [Applause.]

The State of California finally obtained the evidence which caused indictments to be returned against John J. McNamara, the secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, and his brother, James B. McNamara and Ortie E. McManigal, charging them with murder, charging them with the destruction of the Times Building and with the destruction of the Llewellyn Iron Works.

An able, fearless prosecuting officer, Capt. J. D. Fredericks of Los Angeles was in charge. [Applause.]

James B. McNamara and Ortie E. McManigal, the most active members of the "dynamite crew," were arrested on the twelfth day of April, 1911, at Detroit, Mich., where they had planned to blow up five buildings, to blow up and destroy this property, as directed by the chief boss of this nation-wide conspiracy—John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers.

James B. McNamara and Ortie E. McManigal, at the time of their arrest, had with them infernal machines and all the material necessary to cause the destruction of this property.

John J. McNamara was arrested at Indianapolis on the twenty-second day of April, 1911. At the time of his arrest the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers was in session. Frank M. Ryan, its president, was there. Herbert S. Hockin, who succeeded John J. McNamara as secretary-treasurer, was present. John T. Butler, the first vice-president, was there. Eugene A. Clancy of San Francisco, Phillip A. Cooley of New Orleans, Henry W. Legleiter of Pittsburgh and Michael J. Young of Boston were also in attendance at this executive board session. John J. McNamara was arrested; his arrest was regular; his removal to California for trial was within the law. [Applause.]

In the meantime, and before the arrest of John J. McNamara, Ortie E. McManigal had confessed to William J. Burns in Chicago, and James B. McNamara and Ortie E. McManigal were also taken to California.

At the time of the arrest of John J. McNamara at Indianapolis the premises occupied by this International Association in the American Central Life Insurance building at Indianapolis were searched. William J. Burns obtained from McManigal the combination to the vault used by the association, on the first floor of that building. This vault was opened and no explosives found, although sixty days before there had been stored in this same vault enough nitroglycerine to blow up the American Central Life building, the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument and all the buildings located in that portion of the city.

On the evening of the arrest of John J. McNamara the officers went to the basement in the same building and found another vault, recently built and paid for by the association, and upon its finally being broken open they discovered enough dynamite to blow up a dozen buildings, more than a dozen alarm clocks, caps, fuse, batteries and all the other paraphernalia necessary to be used by the "dynamite crew" in the destruction of life and property.

The same night, the officers, guided by McManigal's confession, went to a barn known as "Jones's barn," near the city of Indianapolis, and found a padlocked piano box containing an additional supply of dynamite and nitroglycerine and other material used in the work of destruction. Within two days there was found at Tiffin, O., more than 500 pounds of dynamite, stored in a box in an old shanty belonging to the father of Ortie E. McManigal, which dynamite had been stolen from a magazine of a stone quarry at Bloomville, O., by Ortie E. McManigal and James B. McNamara, under the direction of John J. McNamara.

Notwithstanding the discovery of all this dynamite, nitroglycerine, clocks, batteries, fuse and attachments, as well as letters, papers and documents, that conclusively established the guilt of the McNamaras and many others, the officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, headed by the defendant, Frank M. Ryan, president of the association, charged that all of this material, and all of this incriminating evidence, had been planted by the officers of the law. [Applause and groans.]

The case against the McNamaras finally came on for trial at Los Angeles early in October, 1911. Capt. Fredericks wanted the evidence in the possession of local authorities at Indianapolis, which evidence consisted of the articles discovered following the arrest of John J. McNamara, and incriminating letters, papers and other documents, almost invaluable in the prosecution of the men who were responsible for the destruction of property in California, and for the murder of twenty-one innocent men.

Capt. Fredericks filed his written petition in the Criminal Court of Marion county, asking that this evidence be sent to California to be used in the prosecution of the McNamaras. The prosecuting attorney of Marion county opposed the petition. In this opposition, the prosecutor of course was joined by the attorneys representing the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers. The judge of the Criminal Court of Marion county denied the petition.

It was about this time that an appeal was made to the government, to aid the State of California in securing the Indiana evidence. The facts were presented, which indicated that the laws of the United States had been violated.

A petition was then presented by the United States Attorney for the District of Indiana, on behalf of the government, in the Criminal Court, seeking to secure the incriminating letters, papers and documents supposed to be in the possession of that court or its officers. This petition was bitterly contested by the attorneys for the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers and the prosecuting attorney of Marion county.

Writs of prohibition were applied for by the International Association and denied by the Supreme Court of the State of Indiana and the Circuit Court of Marion county. Replevin suits were filed by said association and an application for a receiver was also made, without avail, and while the fight was still in progress in the local courts the Federal grand jury met in Indianapolis, and upon its report to the judge of the District Court of the inability of the grand jury to secure the incriminating evidence, an order was immediately made by the judge of said court, directing that the incriminating papers, letters and documents be at once delivered to the District Attorney, for use in a Grand Jury investigation, and to be held until the further order of the court.

Following this order the government obtained other letters, papers and documents, incriminating in the highest degree against the various defendants who were later indicted and still later were convicted.

I sincerely trust that no other officer of this country will find it necessary to prosecute a case of this kind. I believe that when the government won, and demonstrated its power to reach this band of criminals and conspirators, civilization was placed upon a more secure foundation. I cannot help but feel that justice triumphed; that "liberty under the law" won a victory. I cannot help but feel that organized labor has been greatly benefited by the conviction of some of its misguided and unworthy leaders, and that the stability of the government itself has been strengthened. The permanency of our free institutions depends upon the wise enforcement of the laws enacted. There are questions that suggest themselves at this hour. Are we to be turned aside through fear? Are we to disregard our oaths through sympathy? [Applause.]

I enlisted in this fight on the side of law and order. I enlisted to fight dynamiters, conspirators, murderers. JOHNNY FITZG

Boston's Big Little Man and His Dances and Sings

[SPECIAL CORRESPON

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—At the firing of the first gun—that is to say, when he heard the opening question—John Francis Fitzgerald, Mayor of Boston, arose and began to walk around. He said to one man: "Come over here, Mike, and sit down," and to another: "Hello, Tim, what's on your mind?" Droning sounds were heard there in the corner of the large, glaring and shabby office, as Mike got his orders and Tim made his complaint, or gave low voice to his plans.

Then the Mayor, an undersized man, erect as a corporal of infantry, full-chested, like a boxer or a wrestler, blue-eyed, large-browed, his hair dashed with gray, turned meritoriously toward me. He looked trim, military and dramatic, in his dark runaway coat, his light-colored trousers and his linen-faced vest. A brilliant stickpin, amber at times and crimson in certain lights and angles, glowed on his breast.

Motion, of legs or arms, invariably with orators, gives speed to thoughts and fluency to words. Therefore, when Fitzgerald stood up. A moment later he began to walk. Sitting against the wall, often twenty feet away, I saw nothing half the time but the nape of his neck and the back of his head. It was as though the army were hastening on to the front and I were only a curious spectator on the fence. So I joined the Mayor in his steady pace. Sometimes he would halt for an instant and with his index finger beat a tattoo of emphasis on the collar of my coat. Though he may dance with the son and daughter of an Italian immigrant, let us say, though he may raise his tenor voice in song at a Russian reunion, and even at a Democratic meeting, and though he may burst into the flames of eloquence at any time or place, John Francis Fitzgerald is as earnest, shrewd and sensible as he plays the tune of life by ear and not by ear. Beneath his rhetoric there is a purpose solid and sincere. The frenzy of emotion, as he parades the platform and punches his fists into the air, lures him not into emptiness, vanity or foolishness. He shoots to hit and hits to

JOHN FITZGERALD "CAME BACK."

Five years ago he was turned out of the office he now holds. Most politicians would have become morose or given up the ghost. It was so in this case. The reformers came to conquer remained to dine. They gave the city, however, another scheme of government before they passed away. "And I," Fitzgerald, free of himself, laughingly told his friends, "shall be the first Mayor of Boston to be elected under the new charter." Moreover, it came to pass. "He tries each day," Sunday pupil," a follower of John Inspired on the globe. The globe is in diameter, twenty-two and weight 656 pounds. It ing also states that, owing to cident, he has had temporarily place the globe on wheels. his second attempt to accomplish long journey—the first time the misfortune to lose it China during the Boxer rebellion.

John Francis Fitzgerald, a professional politician, as he has been and boldly and fairly put on the banners of rectitude, measured, and made for a wholly different type of man, and sat himself down once more in the Mayor's office. "A new, better and busier Boston," a theme of his own, is still his one and theme and battle cry. Energy seems to be a feeble word with which to picture him. A steam engine in boots is hackneied and inadequate, and, besides, men nowadays want something else. Being the father of six children, he is pleased to show anyone their photographs. He has traveled six miles in a flying machine with Claude Graham - White, the aeronaut. Also, he has been a member of Congress.

"I haven't had dinner at home in the evening but once since January," he said to me as we marched to his office. "Today, at noon, I had a chicken sandwich and drank two glasses of milk while at my desk. I rise early and stay late. I have not slept more than six hours a night, and of the time only five hours a night for fifteen years. I never get actually tired."

CAPTURES AMERICAN PEOPLE.

"What," I had asked him, in starting the interview, "is the greatest governmental need of American cities?" I asked for an ethical outburst, for an appeal about integrity and the suffering of the governed. Suddenly the Mayor hated. He gazed for a while at the floor. Obviously he was thinking. A rhetorical expression crept into his countenance.

"My answer," he said, "will disappoint your expectations. The greatest governmental need of American cities is an unbridled public press, a press that will follow a policy of pitiless and unprejudiced publicity; a press that will help the Mayors of all municipalities to cure the evils which are present, a press that is not entirely and persistently censorious but is free and willing to assist in creating public opinion for the good things which are suggested or initiated.

"Now the Mayor is not the only one. He is a community whose interests call for an honest and capable government." We were walking now side by side. "He is a citizen like the rest of the inhabitants. Maybe he is a good taxpayer and maybe he isn't. Then he is going about his own business. Tomorrow he is called to the office of his city. Then what happens? He is immediately put up as a target and a considerable part of the populace begins to shoot at him. Then men let him alone unless they find some fault which they think needs to be rebuked publicly. It is the way with the press. Word is seldom said except in criticism. Little by little sentiment is turned against the Mayor, the lawyer or the shoemaker, whom the people themselves, up to their lights, chose to be Mayor. The best man alive can be tortured and discredited finally if friends remain dumb and distressed while his enemies are tearing away the foundations of his character.

MUCKRAKING HURTS A CITY

"Small things, when there are many of them, bulk large in business and government. A man here has grumbles about the habits of his street." An unmended pavement, conversations talk and resentment in a neighborhood. Gradually reproof, ignored or unanswered, enlarges and grows into something worse. The city is injured, of course. But the mayor is one man. The city may be a million people. Every evil spoken of a city hurts that city more than it does any single individual. The harm is scattered around among the many, especially effecting, however, the business section.

"The average American, indeed, has gone into the habit of questioning the honesty and patriotism of the men partial trial before a great judge, and no better jury ever occupied a jury box.

Miller Tells of the Trial.

The evidence of the guilt of the thirty-eight men convicted by the jury was so overwhelming that the jury was a unit in its decision as to each convicted individual.

To Judge Albert B. Anderson, who so ably and fairly presided at the trial for three months, and to the twelve honest and courageous men who returned the verdict of guilty against these thirty-eight conspirators, this nation owes an everlasting debt of gratitude.

Union labor was not on trial. The right of laboring men to organize to better their condition was not on trial. The right of union men to proceed, within the law, to enforce reasonable demands, was not on trial; but the power of the government was invoked, under the law, to punish a band of criminals that were seeking to destroy the very foundation of the guaranty of life, liberty and property under the Constitution.

When the policy of the destruction of property was determined upon by this band of criminals, by the use of dynamite and nitroglycerine, there were no questions asked as to whether the company or firm whose property was to be destroyed, was a member of the Erectors' Association or an independent concern—the only question in the minds of the conspirators was: "Is the firm or company conducting its business on the open-shop plan"—if so, an explosion should follow.

I have been congratulated many hundreds of times by men all over the country for my part in the prosecution of these conspirators, but the congratulations that mean the most to me and the most to society come from many members of organized labor, giving their unqualified approval of the trial, their belief in the guilt of the defendants, as demonstrated by the facts, and their desire to stand for "liberty under the law."

It is extremely unfortunate for the country, it is extremely unfortunate for organized labor, when you consider the overwhelming guilt of these defendants, as demonstrated almost to a mathematical certainty, that such men as Fitzpatrick and Knockles, here in Chicago, could induce a labor organization to denounce the court who presided at the trial, and the jury that rendered this just verdict. Such men as Fitzpatrick and Knockles are a menace to peace and good order, are a menace to society. [Vigjustice. [Applause.]

In all probability the government would never have been called upon to conduct this prosecution were it not for the fact that it almost seemed that the machinery of the States had broken down. Assaults by the score in various cities were unnoticed; assaults with intent to kill were wholly disregarded. The blowing up of buildings occurred frequently, regularly, almost weekly—sometimes two in one night; but the local authorities were either unwilling or unable to bring the criminals to the bar of justice. [Applause.]

The State of California finally obtained the evidence which caused indictments to be returned against John J. McNamara, the secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, and his brother, James B. McNamara and Ortie E. McManigal, charging them with murder, charging them with the destruction of the Times Building and with the destruction of the Llewellyn Iron Works.

An able, fearless prosecuting officer, Capt. J. D. Fredericks of Los Angeles was in charge. [Applause.]

James B. McNamara and Ortie E. McManigal, the most active members of the "dynamite crew," were arrested on the twelfth day of April, 1911, at Detroit, Mich., where they had planned to blow up five buildings, to blow up and destroy this property, as directed by the chief boss of this nation-wide conspiracy—John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers.

James B. McNamara and Ortie E. McManigal, at the time of their arrest, had with them infernal machines and all the material necessary to cause the destruction of this property.

John J. McNamara was arrested at Indianapolis on the twenty-second day of April, 1911. At the time of his arrest the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers was in session. Frank M. Ryan, its president, was there. Herbert S. Hockin, who succeeded John J. McNamara as secretary-treasurer, was present. John T. Butler, the first vice-president, was there. Eugene A. Clancy of San Francisco, Phillip A. Cooley of New Orleans, Henry W. Legleiter of Pittsburgh and Michael J. Young of Boston were also in attendance at this executive board session. John J. McNamara was arrested; his arrest was regular; his removal to California for trial was within the law. [Applause.]

In the meantime, and before the arrest of John J. McNamara, Ortie E. McManigal had confessed to William J. Burns in Chicago, and James B. McNamara and Ortie E. McManigal were also taken to California.

At the time of the arrest of John J. McNamara at Indianapolis the premises occupied by this International Association in the American Central Life Insurance building at Indianapolis were searched. William J. Burns obtained from McManigal the combination to the vault used by the association, on the first floor of that building. This vault was opened and no explosives found, although sixty days before there had been stored in this same vault enough nitroglycerine to blow up the American Central Life building, the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument and all the buildings located in that portion of the city.

On the evening of the arrest of John J. McNamara the officers went to the basement in the same building and found another vault, recently built and paid for by the association, and upon its finally being broken open they discovered enough dynamite to blow up a dozen buildings, more than a dozen alarm clocks, caps, fuse, batteries and all the other paraphernalia necessary to be used by the "dynamite crew" in the destruction of life and property.

The same night, the officers, guided by McManigal's confession, went to a barn known as "Jones's barn," near the city of Indianapolis, and found a padlocked piano box containing an additional supply of dynamite and nitroglycerine and other material used in the work of destruction. Within two days there was found at Tiffin, O., more than 500 pounds of dynamite, stored in a box in an old shanty belonging to the father of Ortie E. McManigal, which dynamite had been stolen from a magazine of a stone quarry at Bloomville, O., by Ortie E. McManigal and James B. McNamara, under the direction of John J. McNamara.

Notwithstanding the discovery of all this dynamite, nitroglycerine, clocks, batteries, fuse and attachments, as well as letters, papers and documents, that conclusively established the guilt of the McNamaras and many others, the officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, headed by the defendant, Frank M. Ryan, president of the association, charged that all of this material, and all of this incriminating evidence, had been planted by the officers of the law. [Applause and groans.]

The case against the McNamaras finally came on for trial at Los Angeles early in October, 1911. Capt. Fredericks wanted the evidence in the possession of local authorities at Indianapolis, which evidence consisted of the articles discovered following the arrest of John J. McNamara, and incriminating letters, papers and other documents, almost invaluable in the prosecution of the men who were responsible for the destruction of property in California, and for the murder of twenty-one innocent men.

Capt. Fredericks filed his written petition in the Criminal Court of Marion county, asking that this evidence be sent to California to be used in the prosecution of the McNamaras. The prosecuting attorney of Marion county opposed the petition. In this opposition, the prosecutor of course was joined by the attorneys representing the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers. The judge of the Criminal Court of Marion county denied the petition.

It was about this time that an appeal was made to the government, to aid the State of California in securing the Indiana evidence. The facts were presented, which indicated that the laws of the United States had been violated.

A petition was then presented by the United States Attorney for the District of Indiana, on behalf of the government, in the Criminal Court, seeking to secure the incriminating letters, papers and documents supposed to be in the possession of that court or its officers. This petition was bitterly contested by the attorneys for the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers and the prosecuting attorney of Marion county.

Writs of prohibition were applied for by the International Association and denied by the Supreme Court of the State of Indiana and the Circuit Court of Marion county. Replevin suits were filed by said association and an application for a receiver was also made, without avail, and while the fight was still in progress in the local courts the Federal grand jury met in Indianapolis, and upon its report to the Judge of the District Court of the inability of the grand jury to secure the incriminating evidence, an order was immediately made by the judge of said court, directing that the incriminating papers, letters and documents be at once delivered to the District Attorney, for use in a Grand Jury investigation, and to be held until the further order of the court.

Following this order the government obtained other letters, papers and documents, incriminating in the highest degree against the various defendants who were later indicted and still later were convicted.

The reformers [illegible] came to conquer remained to die. They gave the city, however, another theme of government before they passed away. "And I," Fitzgerald, [illegible] of himself, laughingly told his friends, "shall be the first Mayor of Boston to be elected under the new charter." Moreover, it came to pass. He tries each day, Sundays included, "a follower of his informed [illegible] to win the friendship of some [illegible] who has opposed him in the [illegible].

"A [illegible] better and busier Boston," a [illegible] of his own, is still his one [illegible] theme and battle cry. Energy [illegible] is a feeble word with which [illegible] to picture him. A steam engine [illegible] in boots is hackneied and inadequate, and, besides, men nowadays [illegible] something else. Being the father of six children, he is pleased to [illegible] anyone their photographs. He [illegible] traveled six miles in a flying machine with Claude Graham - White, [illegible] aeronaut. Also, he has been a member of Congress.

"I haven't had dinner at home in the evening but once since January," he said to me as we marched to his office. "Today, at noon, I had a chicken sandwich and drank two glasses of milk while at my desk. I come early and stay late. I have not slept more than six hours a night, and [illegible] of the time only five hours a night, for fifteen years. I never get especially tired."

[illegible]TURES AMERICAN PEOPLE.

"What," I had asked him, in starting the interview, "is the greatest governmental need of American cities?" I asked for an ethical outburst, for an [illegible] about integrity and the [illegible] of the governed. Suddenly the Mayor halted. He gazed for a while at the floor. Obviously he was thinking. A rhetorical expression crept into his countenance.

"My answer," he said, "will disappoint your expectations. The greatest governmental need of American cities is [illegible] abridled public press, a press that will follow a policy of pitiless [illegible] prejudiced publicity; a press that will help the Mayors of all municipalities to cure the evils which are [illegible] against, a press that is not entirely [illegible] persistently censorious but is free [illegible] and willing to assist in creating public [illegible] for the good things which are [illegible] suggested or initiated.

"Now the Mayor is not the only [illegible] in a community whose interests [illegible] for an honest and capable government." We were walking now side [illegible] by side. "He is a citizen like the rest [illegible] of the inhabitants. Maybe he is a [illegible] taxpayer and maybe he isn't. [illegible] he is going about his own business. Tomorrow he is called to the [illegible] office of his city. Then what [illegible] opens? He is immediately put up [illegible] target and a considerable part of [illegible] populace begins to shoot at him. [illegible] man let him alone unless they [illegible] some fault which they think needs [illegible] be rebuked publicly. It is the [illegible] with the press. Word is seldom [illegible] except in criticism. Little by [illegible] sentiment is turned against the [illegible] servant, the lawyer or the shoemaker whom the people themselves, [illegible] up to their lights, chose to be [illegible] Mayor. The best man alive can [illegible] mistaken and discredited finally if [illegible] friends remain dumb and disunited while his enemies are tearing away the foundations of his character.

JOHNNY FITZGERALD, MAYOR.

Boston's Big Little Man and His Ideas of Municipal Government. Dances and Sings With His Constituents.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—At the firing of the first gun—that is to say, when he heard the opening question—Hon. John Francis Fitzgerald, Mayor of Boston, arose and began to walk around. He said to one man: "Come over here, Mike, and sit down," and to another: "Hello, Tim, what's on your mind?" Droning sounds were heard there in the corner of the room, glaring and shabby office, as the boss gave his orders and Tim made his complaint, or gave low voice to it.

Then the Mayor, an undersized ex-officer as a corporal of infantry, looked, like a boxer or a wrestler—keen-eyed, large-browed, his head crowned with gray, turned serio-comically toward me. He looked trim, natty and dramatic, in his dark frock coat, his light-colored trousers and his linen-faced vest. A brilliant stickpin, amber at times and opal in certain lights and angles, glowed on his breast.

His gestures, of legs or arms, invariably for emphasis, gives speed to thoughts and accuracy to words. Therefore, when Fitzgerald stood up. A moment later he began to walk. Sitting against the wall, often twenty feet away, I saw nothing half the time but the nape of his neck and the back of his head. It was as though the Army were hastening on the front and I were only a curious onlooker on the fence. So I joined the Mayor in his steady pace. Sometimes he would halt for an instant and with his index finger beat a tattoo against the collar of my coat. Then he may dance with the light step of an Italian immigrant, let us say, though he may raise his strong voice in song at a Russian feast, and even at a Democratic banquet, and though he may burst forth in flames of eloquence at any time and place, John Francis Fitzgerald remains earnest, shrewd and sensible all the while. He plays the tune of life by ear and not by ear. Beneath his humor there is a purpose solid and sane. The frenzy of emotion, as he thumps the platform and punches the air into the air, lures him not into emptiness, vanity or foolishness. He shoots to hit and hits to

FITZGERALD "CAME BACK."

Four years ago he was turned out of office he now holds. Most men would have become morose or given up the ghost. It was not so in this case. The reformers came to conquer remained to die. Upon the city, however, another form of government before they knew it was. "And I," Fitzgerald, of himself, laughingly told his friends, "shall be the first Mayor of Boston to be elected under the reformed charter." Moreover, it came to pass. He tries each day, Sundays included, a follower of his informed me, to win the friendship of some one who has opposed him in the past.

John Francis Fitzgerald, a professional politician, as he has been called boldly and fairly put on the garments of rectitude, measured, and made for a wholly different kind of man, and set himself down as a sage in the Mayor's office. "A better and busier Boston," a cry of his own, is still his one theme and battle cry. Energy is his feeble word with which to picture him. A steam engine is a toss is hackneyed and inadequate, besides, men nowadays say something else. Being the father of six children, he is pleased to exhibit their photographs. He has traveled six miles in a flying machine with Claude Graham - White, inventor. Also, he has been a member of Congress.

He hasn't had dinner at home in evening but once since January. "I said to me as we marched into his office. "Today, at noon, I had a chicken sandwich and drank two glasses of milk while at my desk. I rise early and stay late. I have not more than six hours a night, and of the time only five hours a day for fifteen years. I never get really tired."

HE STUDIES AMERICAN PEOPLE.

"Now," I had asked him, in starting the interview, "is the greatest governmental need of American cities?" I had looked for an ethical outburst, for an appeal about integrity and the suffrage of the governed. Suddenly the face of the man changed. He gazed for a while into space. Obviously he was thinking. A rhetorical expression crept into his countenance.

"Answer," he said, "will disappoint your expectations. The greatest need of American cities is an enlightened public press, a press that will follow a policy of pitiless publicity; a press that will help the Mayors of all municipalities to cure the evils which are rife. A press that is not entirely constantly censorious but is free and willing to assist in creating public opinion for the good things which are being or are initiated.

"The Mayor is not the only one in the Mayor in a community whose interests are an honest and capable government. We were walking now side by side. He is a citizen like the rest of the inhabitants. Maybe he is a lawyer and maybe he isn't. He is going about his own business. Tomorrow he is called to the head of his city. Then what? He is immediately put up for and a considerable part of the press begins to shoot at him. Why not let him alone unless they find a fault which they think needs to be attacked publicly. It is the way of the press. Word is seldom kind in criticism. Little by little public opinion is turned against the Mayor, the lawyer or the shoemaker, as the people themselves, by the light of their lights, chose to be their ruler. The best man alive can be lied and discredited finally if he will remain dumb and disdainful while his enemies are tearing the foundations of his character.

MUDSLINGING HURTS A CITY

"Mud slinging, when there are plenty of them, bulk large in business and government. A man here and there grumbles about the lights in the streets. An unmended pavement is the talk and resentment of a thousand. Gradually reproof, left unanswered, enlarges itself into something worse. The city is injured, of course. But the injury to the city is much greater. It is the people. Every evil thing that a city hurts that city itself. It does any single individual. The harm is scattered around and is not, especially effecting, the business section.

"The American, indeed, has no right of questioning the motives and intentions of the men whom he has voted into office. If the average American would closely analyze his own case as he states it, he would be compelled to admit that he makes a fool of himself every time he goes to the ballot box and the ticket he supports is successful. He chooses his own officers. Back of the errors or abuses of government is the citizen who has voted. Does he ever upbraid himself? I have yet to hear or catch him in the act.

"I deny that our cities, as a rule, are misgoverned. Neither are the States. The habit of saying that American public life is bad is injurious to the general welfare and to our reputation as sensible men, capable of self-government. Furthermore, we cannot hope to get the best value from Mayors or Governors if we are constantly finding fault with them or attacking the honesty of their motives and their actions. Thus we lose part of the service of our public officials, and at the same time make it impossible for many able and high-spirited men to take a personal part in government and politics."

TALKS OF GRAFT IN BUSINESS.

"Why does public office develop grafters?" I asked.

"It doesn't," Mayor Fitzgerald replied, stopping his tramp and moving his arm up and down like the walking-beam of a steamboat. "I am bound to say, however, that the public believes to the contrary. The press often helps to create and spread the opinion that office-holders are dishonest, and the mouth-to-mouth insinuations of the people convert a suspicion into a positive conviction. Nevertheless, there are fewer grafters in office than there are in business. Dr. Wiley found that our coffees, spices, canned foods, and even our drugs were adulterated. Who adulterated them? Politicians? No. Office-holders? No. Against whom was the Sherman anti-trust law enacted?

"Who gave rebates on freight shipped over our railroads? Who asked for the rebates and received the rebates? Rich sugar refiners paid government employees $10 a week to doctor their accounts, falsify their scales, and to cheat the people out of millions of dollars in customs duties. Who buys a plant for $500,000, issues $3,000,000 of bonds and a wagonload of stock, and makes the public pay dividends on the whole amount? These questions answer themselves.

"Nine reporters come to the City Hall in Boston every day. They see me when I get here in the morning and again at noon, and then in the evening when my work is done. It is so in every large city. The reporters are required to find out all that is going on. That is right. I am glad they come. But what business in the country could stand an inquisition that is so incessant and microscopic? Send nine seasoned reporters each day, year in and year out, to the headquarters of the United States Steel Corporation, the Standard Oil Company, or the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. Let all doors, all mouths, all books, all papers be open to them. What would follow? I venture to say that the news from any city hall in this country would instantly be made rather dull and trifling.

HOW A GRAFTER IS DEVELOPED.

"When a grafter is caught in a bank or a big manufacturing establishment there is usually a settlement and no publicity. I have known scores of such cases. 'Keep it away from the newspaper,' say those who have been robbed or cheated. 'If it gets out it will hurt our business.' And who corrupts City Councilmen and members of our State Legislatures? Office-holders? The last inquiry is ridiculous. The corruptionists are big, respectable captains of trade and industry who want something they have no right to possess. A man runs for office. Let us say he is a candidate for the City Council or the Legislature of his State. The moment he is nominated persons come to him with tickets for picnics, fairs, festivals and boat rides. He buys under open or implied threats. After his election bills begin to pour in. He is swamped by debt. Nor can he borrow any money with which to lessen the pressure.

"In the midst of his mental distress, a rich and leading citizen appears. 'Here,' he says, 'is a little contribution for your next campaign.' It is always for the 'next' campaign. So the councilman or the legislator, pinched, worried and harrassed, is developed, as you say, into a grafter. Who develops him? Who, he or the rich and leading citizen, is the greater sinner against society? I say and say it deliberately that there is infinitely more graft in business than in politics."

"Why are European cities better governed than cities in the United States?" I asked.

"The atmosphere in this country is charged with money. The atmosphere of Europe is not. Here the ablest men are engaged in business. Having made fortunes, they, the fever of acquisition now boiling through their blood, lust after more money. There are grades among millionaires, and there is competition, just as there is among merchants, lawyers and politicians. Once a man is very rich, he buys an electric light company or a street railroad or a manufacturing concern and sells a $1000 bond for $850 and throws in some of the stock. He keeps most of the stock himself, however, puts up prices, declares a dividend and sells out. Thus worketh our strongest and ablest citizens.

"The streets of foreign cities are said to be clean. American cities, therefore, should be clean, declare those who criticize their own country. But how are European streets kept clean? By women, in Vienna and Budapest, who are paid $2.50 a week—barefooted women, in short dresses which show their legs half way up the knees. In Berlin, 14-year-old boys, with shovels and brooms, remove the dirt made by animals and vehicles. American women would not work in the streets. We don't want them to. Our boys would feel degraded by the service performed by the boys of Berlin. We send our boys to school that they may become busi-

Home Builders New Skyscraper To Be Started on April First

To Provide Investment as Near Absolutely Safe as Possible Is the Mission of "Home Builders"—Here Are Two Approved Forms

"Home Builders" Stock
—Pays Dividends Every 3 Mos.
—It Is a Superior Investment
—Invites Complete Inquiry

"Home Builders" stock is the most commonsense investment you can make, because it is like becoming a profit-sharing partner in one of the best institutions in Southern California. It does not promise to make you rich over night, because its business is conducted along safe and sane lines and like all good conservative enterprises does not speculate.

If you want safety with good cash dividend earnings, buy "Home Builders" stock. It has just passed its Fifth Year and during that time has paid to its stockholders $712.50 in cash dividends upon each $1000 invested for that time, 71¼% paid back. Besides this generous distribution of profits, "Home Builders" has built up a surplus of fully $600,000, putting away more than $2.00 into surplus and undivided profits for every $1.00 paid in dividends.

"Home Builders" earnings or revenue from the interest on its invested capital is alone sufficient to pay its cash dividend payments. Its stock is worth $2.90 the price asked.

It does not encourage speculation in its stock and does not tolerate speculation in its investments.

It issues its Financial Statements under oath, that you may know the whole truth regarding its financial condition. It is frank in reply to questions made by honest folks who wish information regarding its operation, upon which to base an investment in its stock. It fulfills every promise it makes, and will not raise a false hope in order to get your money.

6% First Mortgages
—Risk of Loss Eliminated
—A First Class Mortgage Loan
—Sold Under Guarantee

Here is a strictly first mortgage investment where improved real estate worth two for one is back of every dollar you place in the security offered.

Six per cent. net to you is the interest return. Considering that all appraisement of property is made and a guarantee given that the property is ample for the mortgage, that all taxes, insurance, possible foreclosure from failure of payments provided against, that there is no work to do on your part, all risks, loss, worry eliminated, 6% interest nets you more than if you placed the mortgage yourself and hired the legal work done and receiving 7%.

You may invest $100, $200 or $20,000. Whatever sum you have we will secure these mortgages for you, and give you a guarantee of the "Security Fund," the special department of "Home Builders" incorporated to supply this kind of investment, and guarantee the same.

These are the notes of the original mortgagor full secured, made in convenient sums—not this Company's promise-to-pay. You can take a list of the properties mortgaged and verify their value as security, which, if in itself is not ample you do not need to buy them—the guarantee you get extra.

By these mortgage notes, issued in sums of $100 and more, "Home Builders" not only offers an absolutely safe security, but it is enabled to turn its money faster and make more profit from its building operations.

Get a Willow Plume Alfalfa Ranch

In the Beautiful San Jacinto Valley

BIGGEST SURPRISE OF ALL

WILLOM PLUME SUBDIVISION joins the Great Cawston Ostrich Farm in the beautiful San Jacinto and Hemet Valley. It is the biggest surprise of all, because no one ever thought it would be possible to get it for subdivision purposes. We have it, and more than that, it is all ready to move onto, any sized lots, from ten acres up. This is the prettiest and the best ranching proposition in the State of California, barring none. Streets and boulevards all in, and an abundance of gravity water for irrigating purposes piped to each piece. The whole tract is level and ready for seeding to alfalfa, THE KING OF ALL CROPS. This whole proposition will prove a regular gold mine for its lucky possessor. Every acre of the land is worth more than twice what it can be bought for today; $250.00 to $275.00 an acre takes the best of it, water rights and all. These water rights are separate from the land, and can be used as collateral in securing loans at the bank, on a $200.00 valuation. Two of these certificates go with each acre, and are worth in the market $100.00 each, or $200.00 per acre. That leaves only $50.00 to $75.00 per acre for the land itself, or less than one-half its actual value.

There is only about six hundred acres remaining of this beauty spot. When it is gone it will be a case of paying some one a handsome premium over the above price to get a slice, for there is not another subdivision property to be had in the beautiful San Jacinto Valley at any price. NOTE THE LOCATION! Our most distant acre is not ten minutes by team from two beautiful little cities, San Jacinto and Hemet, less than two miles apart. It's only three hours from Los Angeles, fine boulevard all the way, or up and back the same day over the Santa Fe—excursion rates on Sunday.

FRUITS AS FOOD.

Are Superior to Artificially Prepared Substances Because They Invite Ready Flow of Digestive Juices.

[California Fruit Grower:] Otto Carque, the well-known food expert, says that foods prepared by Nature are the best:

"Modern physiology shows that there are two important factors in sustaining health and vigor of the body—first, adequate nutrition; and second, the conservation of vital forces. Foods we receive direct from the hands of Nature contain the necessary elements for our body in the highest form of organization and will therefore insure perfect nutrition, while in the process of digestion they require only a small expenditure of nerve power; they are superior to artificially prepared foods, which make a heavier draw upon our nervous energy, overtaxing and weakening the organs of digestion and elimination, in fact, every organ of the body.

"In the carbohydrates of the plant foods Nature has organized those elements which supply heat and energy to the body. They exist in different forms, principally as starch and sugar. In fruits we find the heat-giving portion as glucose or grape sugar already prepared for immediate assimilation. Here the rays of the sun have practically taken the place of the cook by bringing the carbohydrates into the most perfect and soluble form.

"Besides, fruits contain substances which invite the ready flow of the digestive juices and when they are thoroughly masticated, and reach the stomach a large proportion of their nourishing ingredients is at once dissolved and thus passes directly into circulation without burdening the digestive organs.

"On the other hand, cereals and starchy foods have to undergo more or less artificial preparation and require more vital force for digestion, as all starch must be turned into grape sugar by the digestive juices before it can be absorbed by the blood stream.

"Fruits have certainly formed the principal item in the nourishment of primeval man, who was not yet acquainted with fire and tools necessary for the proper preparation of cereals.

"That fruit sugar is the most economical of animal heat and energy has been proven by many scientific experiments. By analyzing the blood previous to and from a muscle of a living animal it has been found that more pure blood traverses an active or working muscle and more impure blood issues from it than from a resting muscle. Prof. Mosso, an Italian investigator, found by careful examination that fruit sugar, if taken in not too great quantities, and not too concentrated, lessens or delays fatigue and increases working power."

The Oil Industry.

OILY RUMORS FROM SOUTH

San Diego Test Wells Are in Limelight.

Paraffine Strike Reported Near Encinitas.

New Developments in the Derrick Fields.

San Diego county's wild-cat wells are attracting attention again, interesting developments being reported from several of them. However, there seems as yet no reason to assume that oil has been demonstrated, despite alleged showings of gas, paraffine, petroleum, etc.

The most important rumor is that of a small paraffine strike in the Pacific American well at 2019 feet near Encinitas. The chief figure in this company is Mrs. Laura Clark, who has been operating, it is said, in the vicinity of Encinitas for some years in search of oil.

In Mission Valley near the city of San Diego the Balboa Oil Company at 2490 feet is shutting off water to make a test. Showings of oil and gas are reported. The same is rumored concerning the San Diego company's well at Serrango, which is down 1700 feet. It is thought that this well will very likely have to be modified, as the casing has parted higher up.

Gas and oil showings in the Lomago well at 2900 feet and in the City well at 2200 feet, both of which are near the Mexican border, are the late reported developments there. It is believed probable that a test will be made in these wells at an early date.

Field and Finance.

The Central Oil Company has brought in wells Nos. 57 and 58 in the Whittier field on its property, their output being estimated at 100 to 200 barrels a day each. The oil is of high gravity. They came in at 2350 and 2360 feet respectively.

The Standard Oil Company's No. 1 well on the Emery lease is expected in very soon. The event is awaited with interest, since the coming in of No. 2 with its production of 1000 barrels a day, which was very significant for this part of the Fullerton field.

The dividend of the Producers' Transportation Company, which is to be paid April 21, will aggregate approximately $105,000. The rate is $1.50 a share. The announcement of this and subsequent quarterly dividends has demonstrated the financial strength which this company has attained since its organization a few years ago. The Producers' Transportation Company has practically completed the doubling of its eight-inch line from Junction to San Luis.

The Independent Producers' Agency, for which the Producers' Transportation Company acts as oil marketer, delivered 1,300,000 barrels of oil during December, as compared with 1,040,000 in November. The selling price during December was 34 cents. Considerable attention is directed toward the portion of the field where the Buick brought in its famous Nos. 2 and 3 gushers. The California Midway Oil Company's No. 7 well has passed the six-inch string and is now early down to the supposed depth of the oil sand. Good progress is also being made drilling well No. 6 recently started.

The Standard Oil Company, which is down 2260 feet in its test well in the Kern River field, proposes to go deeper and make a thorough deep demonstration of the division. Trouble has been encountered, but progress has not yet been secured.

The Union Oil Company's big new producer in La Habra continues to do about 1500 to 2000 barrels a day. It is much larger than any previously brought in on the Graham & Loftus lease.

"On the other hand, cereals and starchy foods have to undergo more or less artificial preparation and require more vital force for digestion, as all starch must be turned into fruit sugar by the digestive juices before it can be absorbed by the blood vessels.

"Fruits have certainly formed the principal item in the nourishment of primeval man, who was not yet acquainted with fire and tools necessary for the proper preparation of cereals.

"That fruit sugar is the main source of animal heat and energy has been proven by many scientific experiments. By analyzing the blood going to and from a muscle of a living animal it has been found that more blood traverses an active or working muscle and more sugar disappears from it than from a resting muscle. Prof. Mosso, an Italian investigator, found by careful examination that sugar, if taken in not too great quantities, and not too concentrated, lessens or delays fatigue and increases working power."

Twenty-one Cigars a Week for Each Worker Exempted From Internal Revenue by Congress.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The custom long followed by cigar manufacturers allowing employees to make twenty-one cigars a week each for their own consumption without paying the regular internal revenue tax on the product, was legalized by Congress yesterday, when the Senate passed a bill already passed by the House amending the internal revenue laws in this Congress.

OILY RUMORS FROM SOUTH.

San Diego Test Wells Are in Limelight.

Paraffine Strike Reported Near Encinitas.

New Developments in the Derrick Fields.

San Diego county's wild-cat wells are attracting attention again, interesting developments being reported in several of them. However, there seems as yet no reason to assume that oil has been demonstrated, despite alleged showings of gas, paraffine, petroleum, etc.

The most important rumor is that of a small paraffine strike in the Pandora well at 2019 feet near Encinitas. The chief figure in this company is Mrs. Laura Clark, who has been operating. It is said, in the vicinity of Encinitas for some years in search of oil.

In Mission Valley near the city of San Diego the Balboa Oil Company is said to have struck a flow of oil. Shutting off water to make a test. Showings of oil and gas are reported. The same is rumored concerning the San Eligo company's well at Serrango, which is now 2700 feet. It is thought that the oil will very likely have to be abandoned, as the casing has parted in the hole.

Gas and oil showings in the Lo Angeles well at 2900 feet and in the well at 2200 feet, both of which are near the Mexican border, are the latest reported developments there. It is believed probable that a test will be made in these wells at an early date.

Field and Finance.

The Central Oil Company has completed wells Nos. 57 and 58 in the Whittier field on its property, their production being estimated at 100 to 200 barrels a day each. The oil is of light grade. They came in at 2350 and 2400 feet respectively.

The Standard Oil Company's No. 1 well on the Emery lease is expected to blow soon. The event is awaited with interest, since the coming in of this well with its production of 1000 barrels a day, which was very significant for this part of the Fullerton field.

The dividend of the Producers' Transportation Company, which is to be paid April 21, will aggregate approximately $105,000. The rate is $1 a share. The announcement of this and subsequent quarterly dividends has demonstrated the financial strength which this company has attained since its organization a few years ago. The Producers' Transportation Company has practically completed the re-doubling of its eight-inch line from Junction to San Luis Obispo.

The Independent Producers' Agency, with which the Producers' Transportation Company acts as oil marketer, received 1,380,000 barrels of oil during December, as compared with 1,400,000 in November. The selling price during December was 24 cents. Considerable attention is directed toward the portion of the field where Shell brought in its famous Nos. 1 and 2 gushers. The California Midway Company's No. 7 well has reached the six-inch string and is being drilled down to the supposed depth of the oil sand. Good progress is also being made in drilling well No. 6 recently completed.

The Standard Oil Company, which struck 2260 feet in its test well in the Kern River field, proposes to go deeper and make a thorough deep boring test of the division. Tar sand has been encountered, but production has not yet been secured.

The Union Oil Company's big new gusher in La Habra continues to do well, flowing 1500 to 2000 barrels a day. It is much larger than any previously brought in on the Graham & Loftus lease.

The Rancho La Brea Oil Company has ordered additional equipment for its air-pumping plant from the East and when this arrives will pump all its wells by compressed air supplied to the pumping engines. The system has proved a considerable saving in many respects, and was installed at a comparatively low cost. The company's property is in the Salt Lake field.

TO GO DEEP FOR WATER.

Operators in Carisso Valley Get Oil Rig to Put Down Well in Search of Irrigation Supply.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BRAWLEY, Feb. 6.—H. J. Sternberg of Los Angeles has sent a well rig out to the Carisso Valley, west of Brawley, with which he proposes to sink 3000 feet, if necessary, to reach water. The outfit is a Keystone standard drill of the make generally used in the oil regions. Sufficient casing has been sent to put the well down to a depth of 1000 feet at the start. Two shifts of men will be employed, running day and night.

While numerous attempts to sink wells have been made in the Carisso district, hydraulic rigs have hitherto been used with indifferent success, although water has been found at a depth of 200 and 400 feet. This water came within pumping distance of the surface. The land owners have not been satisfied with this showing and want flowing wells. Harper's well, an old oil hole, exists as a perpetual remainder of what may be found below the surface, if the right strata is struck.

Notes and Personals.

It is believed probable that Capt. John Barneson of the General Petroleum Company, may soon make Los Angeles his permanent residing place. This move on the part of Barneson does not seem improbable following on the heels of his election to the directorate of the Union Oil Company. Further the fact that the company is rapidly completing its pipe line to this city from the Midway district would make it seem likely that it will make its headquarters more in this city in the near future.

Rumors are still afloat concerning a deal for the Associated Oil Company. Since De Sabla denied that the General Petroleum was after the Associated, belief seems to have been fixed on the California Petroleum Corporation of New York as a possible purchaser.

The Maricopa Northern Oil Company expects this month to clean up its indebtedness which amounted to $2000 January 1. The run ticket of the company shows that 7800 barrels were delivered last month, which at 45 cents a barrel, makes the gross returns about $2900. The company has two producing wells. No. 2, which sanded up recently, is again flowing.

The Sunset Extension Oil Company, which is drilling on 8, 11-23, near the Midway Fields Oil Company's dead gusher, has reached a depth of 2515 feet, and expects to go into the oil sand in about 100 feet. The well has already run into a salt water sand, and at latest reports had encountered a strong showing of heavy oil.

The Midway Northern Oil Company has started well No. 4 on section 32 and had reached a depth of 800 feet at latest advices. Preparations are made to test out well No. 3, at about 2040 feet, which it was decided at one time to abandon.

The Maricopa Queen on section 32 in deepening well No. 7, has struck an oil sand at 2098 feet.

E. P. Ripley, manager of the C.C.M.O. Company, or Santa Fe, is in the Midway field. He will return in a few days.

The Midway Pacific Oil Company has the derrick up for well No. 3, on its property in North Midway. Some difficulty has been encountered in producers Nos. 1 and 2, because of sand. It is expected that this will be overcome in a short time.

Three Light Wells.

The Belridge Oil Company has brought in three good wells on the western edge of its developed holdings, the production running from 500 to 850 barrels per well. The oil, as usual, is of light gravity. The company's production during January was, it is said, about 700 barrels a day, the largest in its history. The new wells are very shallow, and seem to be among the best the company has brought in.

The Oil Industry.

BIG REFINERY IS ENLARGED.

Standard Adds to El Segundo Plant.

Hammon's Ventura Holdings May Be Combined.

Rumors of Strike in Semi-tropic Well.

The Standard Oil Company is expanding its refinery at El Segundo by the addition of five more 1000-barrel stills, and it is believed probable that further enlarging of the plant will take place soon. There were originally fifteen stills in operation and the plant was built so that more can steadily be added, in anticipation of steadily increasing business. The asphalt plant which has been under construction is expected to be ready for operations March 1.

Combine Holdings.

Plans are on foot for the amalgamating of the W. P. Hammon interests in Ventura county, according to report. The Hammon companies in that district, including the Montebello, Oak Ridge and others, have very extensive and important holdings, and the combining of them will make a very strong concern. W. P. Hammon only recently returned from a trip to New York and Europe, and it is believed that this journey probably had some connection with the reported project.

Semi-tropic Well.

Rumors are rife concerning the probability of oil being found in the Progressive Oil Company's wildcat well drilled in the semi-tropic field west of Wasco. It is said that the well has reached a depth of 1800 feet, and that considerable light oil sand has been encountered. It is further reported that options on considerable acreage in the vicinity of the well have been secured. Whether or not the alleged oil formation proves as extensive as reported remains to be proven, but it is assured that if the strike is made, to the extent expected, that a new and important producing district will be opened up.

RAPID DEVELOPMENT.

The new West End development, the Pico boulevard tract, is rapidly being put in condition for its formal opening by W. I. Hollingsworth & Co. The improvements are extensive and include grading, street and sidewalk work, the laying of water pipes, the planting of trees and other development. The new tract is desirably located opposited the grounds of the Los Angeles Cricket Club, and west of Victoria Park and Lafayette Square. It has an extensive frontage on Pico boulevard, a continuation of Pico street, which is to be made a lighted auto drive to the sea. The Venice-Redondo Shortline marks the entire southern boundary of the property, traversing it lengthwise. The Sawtelle, Sixteenth street and West Washington carlines are convenient to the tract.

OFFICES ENLARGED.

To provide increased room, necessitated by the opening of new departments, the Janss Investment Company is enlarging its offices in the Consolidated Realty building by the installment of a mezzanine floor. The advertising and other departments that do not come in direct contact with land and home buyers will occupy this floor. Two of the latest departments opened by the company are the house and lot branch and the country lands department, the latter under the direction of Charles M. Conant.

Montrose

The wonderfully attractive Townsite you've been hearing so much about. It's the most strategic location adjacent to Los Angeles, with the surest possibilities—at the junction of the Verdugo, La Crescenta, La Canada Valleys—almost midway between Glendale and Pasadena, on the Foothill Boulevard—30 to 35 minutes from downtown Los Angeles.

OPENING SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 22nd

Early action means profit! To delay investigating until our Opening Day may mean another opportunity you have lost. Inform yourself about Montrose. It's something more than merely a beautiful suburban property. It's a natural townsite—the convenient purchasing point and center of the richest country anywhere about. Present conditions are similar to those surrounding Glendale, Pasadena, Alhambra and South Pasadena before these towns were built. Had you been able to buy in any of these at the start you know the profit you would have garnered. Only the possibilities of Montrose are greater—and Los Angeles and Southern California are more densely populated today. These are FACTS. Think them over. Then come to our Office Monday or Tuesday for the information that will positively verify them.

You get the benefit of the mountains at Montrose—the wonderful view, the dry sparkling air, the pure mountain water, the coolness, the absence from fog.

Stretching down the Verdugo Valley are the prosperous groves and orchards, the smiling gardens—just Southern California at its best, as far as the eye can reach.

Now think of having every city convenience heart could wish in a setting like this! Think of being able to put up a real HOME, under such conditions, where you will be thoroughly protected in your improvements—far from the "checker-board" effect of the city lot—on some perfectly laid, winding drive among the trees and flowers.

From your porch, perhaps, your eye will rest on some inviting wooded canyon or on some brush-covered mountain peak. Do you think you could forget business—the city with its rush and hurry, amid surroundings like these? What better relaxation, what more complete and delightful change could you ask?

Montrose has been laid out by W. D. Cook, Jr., the well known Landscape Architect. It will truly be a residential park. Trees, shrubs, parkings—and vacant lots even—will be cared for free of charge for seven years. You'll recognize what this means!

Street work will be of the best. Conveniences like telephones and electric lights will be available. Even a luxurious Club House, which the property owners will control, will be erected at Montrose, near the County Boulevard.

The first 250 acres, crossed by this wonderful scenic drive, comprise this preliminary offer. Both business and residence lots are available. Prices are low. Terms are easy. All residence lots are large—big enough to give you a real suburban home and grounds.

You're interested? Of course you are—if you appreciate beauty—and if you want to make some money. We've exaggerated nothing—in fact, we cannot tell half in this space.

Act quickly! Inform yourself! Get the booklet and verify the facts for yourself.

Thousands already know Montrose and this district. There'll be a rush on our Opening Day. If you're wise, you'll take time by the forelock.

FREE BOOKLET

Get one now. It gives the whole story of Montrose by word and picture. You'll be delighted with the beautiful views that are reproduced. Telephone, write or call at our office.

when the price advances to 12 cents. Then about one month later, or Saturday, March 15th, another advance is expected. You who have not had experience in the new system—that system founded on the avoidance of dangerous speculations and costly debts and the establishing of corporations with a substantial surplus at once—are entitled to inquire

WHY?

THE ANSWER: Keeping away from costly debts saves much interest which ultimately goes as dividends to the stockholder. Companies loaded with heavy debts and large interest charges do not pay large dividends. The avoidance of dangerous speculations—that phase of the system that accounts for so many of the healthy and prosperous corporations whose shares are now at top-notch prices—prevents shrinkages in profits through losses.

Johnny Fitzgerald.

ness men, physicians, lawyers, engineers and expert mechanics."

"Is Boston, under its new charter, practically governed by a commission?"

"No; we have a City Council of nine members elected at large, instead of seventy-five members, as was the case formerly, and a school council of five members. These men, with the Mayor, govern the city. I am opposed to government by commission. Responsibility should be centered and made definite. A small City Council is better than a large one.

THE BIG MAN OF BOSTON.

"The Mayor of Boston has more power than any mayor in the United States. He initiates all the money appropriations, sending the budget, now amounting to $34,000,000 a year, to the City Council. His veto is final on everything. He appoints men to manage all the departments, except the commissioner of police, who is chosen by the Governor of Massachusetts. Accountability is fixed. If things don't go right, the people know who is to blame. Nominations for elective offices are made by petition. Conventions have been abolished. Party lines have disappeared. Our plan is good, and I heartily recommend it to other cities."

"You know, of course, that you are said to be a machine politician?"

"Yes; though I have been fighting machines ever since I have been in politics. Your question has brought my personality into our conversation. Let me say, then, that I have always earned my own living. There is something exculpable, perhaps, in that. At all events, it is explanatory. My parents came from Ireland. They were kept down; all Irish people were. Education was denied them. They were not permitted to learn trades. Irish girls, consequently, had to be domestics. Irish boys became farmers. Arrived in this country, my father, like most Irishmen, thought public office to be a high honor—that of which we have been deprived we want. He hoped that I would take an interest in politics. But he died and my mother died, leaving nine sons. I should like to have you get the setting of my life that you may fairly judge the picture sometimes drawn of me.

A WONDERFUL FAMILY OF BOYS.

"There were nine Fitzgerald boys, as I have said. The youngest was 2 years old. I took charge of the family, especially of my baby brother. Neither he nor I, let me add, ever tasted liquor or tobacco. We lived, the nine of us, in a humble tenement for fifteen years. A woman kept our house. We were not brought up under the best of conditions, but we stuck together and became good, average American citizens. Seven of us, thank God, are living yet. My first money was earned as a butcher's boy, carrying meat to customers for 50 cents a day. I was ambitious to be a physician, but the death of my father compelled me to leave the medical department of Harvard and to hunt for work. A place was obtained in the customhouse of Boston; I passed the examination with flying colors. So began, I might say, my life in politics. I was elected a member of the City Council of Boston and of the Senate of Massachusetts. Also, I was sent to Congress. In the meanwhile I had built myself up in the insurance business.

"I served three terms in Congress. My salary was $5000 a year. Half the time I lived in Boston, the other half in Washington. Expenses ate up my income. I then had five children. The future of my family caused me to retire from Congress. I bought a dying weekly newspaper. It now pays me as much as $30,000 a year. I never meant to quit politics, and I never did, but I hoped to make some provision for my wife and children. The story I have told may be answer enough for your question."

"Do you still dance and sing, and make merry with your constituents?"

"I do. I hold that it is the duty of a Mayor to know the inhabitants of his city. We have Greeks, Italians, Russians and all kinds of alien peoples. I want their points of view. During my first term I accepted invitations to dinners, dances, picnics and meetings. I stopped dancing, however, in my second term. Many persons have said that I am not dignified. None the less, I think I am acquainted with my constituents, and such knowledge is a part of my duty. It would have been worth much to the mill town of Lawrence during the strike had the Mayor understood his people as thoroughly and intimately as I understand the people of Boston. Anyway, such is my theory, and I believe it to be sound and workable."

UNIONS REWARD CRIMINALS.

Conventions are Silent Regarding Indianapolis Verdicts, and California Trades Re-elect Tveitmoe.

[Portland Spectator:] Probably the labor unions, whose annual State meeting at Salem synchronizes so pleasurably with the session of the Legislature, passed resolutions denouncing dynamiting and murdering as un-American and abhorrent to unionists and demanding that union leaders who had been found guilty of destroying property and lives should be expelled from the ranks of union labor. Probably they did; but in the reports of their proceedings we have seen no mention of such resolutions. And probably no such resolutions were introduced; or if introduced they may have failed to pass.

It is just possible that the action of the State Building Trades Council of California had a malign influence on the deliberations of the unions of Oregon. At its annual meeting in Los Angeles a couple of weeks ago the California Building Trades Council not only did not try to purge itself of dynamiters and murderers, but re-elected as its secretary one of the men convicted as a dynamiter in the Federal Court at Indianapolis—Olaf Tveitmoe, now serving sentence in the government penitentiary at Leavenworth.

There is no doubt of the guilt of Tveitmoe—no more doubt of that than of the guilt of the McNamaras, who confessed. And so we have forced on us the monstrous truth that the California Building Trades Council not only does not abhor dynamiting and murderering as a means of settling labor disputes, but that it endorses them and is ready to reward with its offices and honors the wretches who murder and dynamite in its name.

But The Spectator does not believe that the rank and file of union men either of Oregon or California favor dynamite and murder as arbitrators between them and their employers. In the unions are peaceful, upright, honorable men, faithful to things that are fair and loyal to things that are lawful; but unfortunately they are not in control, and so we have unions hiring dynamiters and murderers, and trades councils rewarding the criminals with offices and honors.

BLOOD DROPS SOLVE PUZZLE.

CAN DETERMINE THE RACE OF A CRIMINAL.

Denver Physician Makes a Discovery That Will Be an Important Aid in Establishing the Guilt of a Criminal, Whether White, Black or Yellow Man Committed the Crime.

[Denver Republican:] As a result of the conviction in the West Side court one year ago of Gynko Mitsunaga, a Japanese, for the murder of Mrs. Katherine Wilson two years ago, a Denver physician has made a discovery that is said to be one of the few really important scientific aids in criminology. Dr. A. L. Bennett, who, besides being a practicing physician, is the Japanese counsel in Denver, has determined that hereafter the race of a slayer can be told by an examination of only one drop of his blood.

When Mitsunaga was convicted of the crime with which he was charged there was at least one man who had been in the courtroom throughout the hearing who was doubtful of the guilt of the Japanese. He was Dr. Bennett. When the trial had been finished Dr. Bennett said to O. N. Hilton, Mitsunaga's attorney:

"Your defense has been that the slayer of Mrs. Wilson was a white man. I am inclined to believe that you are right. It is a shame that there is no way to tell whether you are or not."

"If a person should discover a way he will have done something which cannot be estimated in its importance to the endeavor to mete out exact justice," Mr. Hilton replied.

Dr. Bennett had long been interested in the studies of the blood of the different races and the different animals, and he determined to begin the experiment that resulted in finding conclusively that the blood of a negro is different than that of a white man, and the blood of a white man is different than that of an oriental.

JAPANESE FOR EXPERIMENTS.

He made many experiments. His connection with the Nipponese of Denver enabled him to find as many persons of that race to experiment on as he desired. Day after day for two years he has pursued his studies. Last week he made sixty-seven experiments, and after that he was assured that he had succeeded. In all the experiments he has made he has not failed once.

Prof. Richter of the University of Pennsylvania, famous for his studies of the blood and the formations of the blood cells, has hailed Dr. Bennett's experiments as completely successful. Prof. Richter once believed that the blood of the races was different, but gave up the idea a few years ago. Until he learned of Dr. Bennett's findings he would not admit the possibility, but now has declared his belief in the idea.

Dr. Bennett is reticent in discussing his discovery, but admitted yesterday that he is satisfied that he has succeeded in his efforts. Mr. Hilton, whom Dr. Bennett has had associated with him in his efforts, declared that there is absolutely no doubt that Dr. Bennett has succeeded, and that his discovery will be of incalculable benefit in criminology.

"This discovery is one of the most important ones that science has made in years," Mr. Hilton said. "One cannot estimate its value to criminology. It is a discovery that [illegible] what I contend is possible in determining from the blood what the person is from which the blood has come.

"Dr. Bennett has found that the blood of blood taken from the body of a negro is of different crystal formation than that of a drop from the body of either an oriental or white man. And the drop of blood need not be fresh, it can have dried and not affect the result.

"Hereafter the examination of the blood after a crime will furnish one of the most important clews to the criminal. Had Dr. Bennett known what he now knows when the body of Miss Signe Carlson was found in Montclair several weeks ago, the authorities could have known whether to search for a white, black or yellow man. I could name hundreds of cases that I have read of or that have come under my personal observation that would have been solved quickly perhaps, if it had been known what the race of the slayer was.

"In the Mitsunaga case, which caused Dr. Bennett to begin his experiments, I contended that the murderer of Mrs. Wilson was a white man. Mrs. Wilson had battled desperately for her life. Under her finger nails were found particles of skin, evidently with the dried blood of her assailant. Had we known then what we know now it could have been determined once and for all whether her slayer was a Japanese or a white man.

USED OWN FACE FOR TEST.

"Dr. Bennett used the flesh of his own face in making his experiments, and that from the faces of negroes and Japanese here in Denver. His experiments were exhaustive, and I would not say conclusively that he had succeeded until we were both convinced beyond all shadow of a doubt that the crystals of the blood of different races are different.

Dr. Bennett's discovery will [illegible] down a contention that criminologists and scientists have made for years according to persons interested in criminology in Denver. It has been denied always that the blood of different races could be differentiated. In many trials scientists have been called upon to tell whether the blood was that of an animal or a human being, but an attempt to tell whether the blood was that of a white man and oriental or a negro always has been derided.

"I will say only that there is no doubt that we can differentiate between the blood of the different races of the human family," Dr. Bennett said. "I cannot at this time go extensively into the experiments I have conducted, or the results of those experiments. I prefer to give up my discovery to the world for what use it may do rather than to talk about it."

Importing English Song Birds.

[New York Tribune:] Nearly a thousand English wild song birds are soon to be dispatched to British Columbia, song birds being rare in Canada. The importation of birds is the first importation of the kind ever made, the movement being conducted by the Provincial Naturalists' Club of Victoria, British Columbia. They comprise thirty pairs of gold finches, thirty-six pairs of linnets, thirty-six pairs of bluetits and seventy-four pairs of larks. To keep the birds from pining during their long voyage they will be provided with food closely resembling their natural food. Thus the larks will be fed on canary hemp and breadcrumbs, the finches on ground-up nuts and grain, the robins on breadcrumbs and mealworms and the goldfinches and linnets on mixed seed. Special cages are being made for the birds, and the quarrelsome tendency of the cock birds provided for by separate apartments.

Mining in Tonopah.

EXTENSION HAS FURTHER TO GO

One Zone's Limit Has Not Been Reached.

Midway Enters Good Streak in Crosscut.

Montana's Shaft Vein Breaks Into Good Ore.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

TONOPAH (Nev.) Feb. 8.—With a shipment of over a ton of bullion valued at $27,000 and weighing 2300 pounds the Tonopah Extension closes its accounts for the last month. The shipment is the last clean-up for the second half of January, and although somewhat below the average it is accounted for by the fact that several thousand dollars' worth of precipitate remained in the boxes undisturbed when the clean-up was made. The working of the mine has broken into fine ore on the 600-foot level to both the north and south veins and also in the lower contact vein in the intermediate drift above the 600-foot level.

An interesting feature about these developments is that they are scattered through the mine from the north vein near the shaft, to about 400 feet due west of the shaft in the north vein and in the extreme west [illegible] workings over 700 feet west of the shaft in the lower contact vein. This is by no means the western limit of the payable ore zone.

The south cross-cut on the 525-foot level of the Midway has entered a streak of good ore two and one-half feet wide on the hanging wall side of the vein—which has now been proved to be twenty feet wide—of vein matter between walls with numerous stringers of quartz. Drifting east on this streak has been commenced. The sinking of the new shaft is making good progress and a depth of 414 feet has been reached.

The shaft has passed through the water belt and another cement reservoir has been constructed at a depth of 100 feet and all water is collected there; sinking will hereafter make better progress. The annual report of the company shows an available balance in the bank of $6524 after spending $63,950 during the past year in exploration and exploiting without regard to the construction of the new deep shaft which was undertaken late in the year.

A most important development in the Montana Tonopah mine between the 565 and 615 foot level occurred when the shaft vein broke into and passed through a body of good milling ore, sixteen feet wide, with bunches and streaks of high grade material. This ore-body lies between the McDonald and south vein and is apparently a new one, as it has not yet been correlated with any other known vein in the mine. It is undoubtedly a downward extension of the big body of low grade quarts that was cut the previous week on the 565-foot level and drifting on it will now be pushed to determine its length.

Another important discovery was made on the 565-level, where the drift on the low grade quartz body broke into the downward extension of the old stope of the McDonald vein. Sampling shows that this ore is of a very good milling grade. The length of the stope and its known height of 60 feet guarantees a very large tonnage of good mill ore which will be extracted at a small cost.

With checks of dividend No. 30 of 5 cents a share the Tonopah Mining Company of Nevada issued a statement of operations for the quarter ending November 30, 1912. This shows that during that period the company earned a net surplus of $68,126 over dividend requirements. The company's strong financial standing is shown by the statement of cash on hand and quick assets amounting in all to $1,927,987.

The company has paid in dividends $1,050,000 since April, 1905. Several improvements are to be noted in the operations in both the grade and width of ore development. The Stone vein on the 840-foot-level has widened out from about three feet to the full width of the quartz body. The west drift on the 1400-foot level of the Halifax passed through a bunch of quartz on the contact and entered the trachyte, accomplishing its object by moving that this ore-bearing formation extended from the adjacent mine into the Halifax at this point. The formation is dipping east at this point at about the same angle as in the Belmont and there is strong probability that further prospecting on the Belmont eastern line will result in opening a continuance of one of the ore bodies of that mine. The drift will be extended to the company's western boundary where cross-cutting south will be commenced.

At the West End construction work is nearing the point where the opening of ore on the 600-foot level may shortly be expected. The west drift on this level is now run in the footwall of the vein which has flattened in its dip and also turned slightly to the south. The face of this drift is under the short east drift that was run from the bottom of the winze sunk from the 500-foot level to a depth of seventy feet on the dip of a good body of milling ore and a station will now be started to cut this ore-shoot on its downward extension. The Jim Butler continues to make good in the west drift of the sixth level which has been drifted on for 160 feet without determining its extreme length. The face of the drift shows a splendid body of rich ore across a width of six feet although the full width is greater than this as only one wall is exposed in the drift.

In the past month a greater tonnage of ore was shipped than in December and the average value was higher. The net profits for January will certainly exceed those of the previous month. The opening up of these great ore shoot makes it easily possible for the company to ship a large tonnage of rich ore, but the policy is to keep only a small quantity mixed with the lower grade stuff in the stopes. Nevertheless, it is expected to maintain a high average grade.

Mining in the Great Southwest.

Tonopah.

EXTENSION HAS FURTHER TO GO.

Ore Zone's Limit Has Not Been Reached.

Bishop Enters Good Streak in Crosscut.

Montana's Shaft Vein Breaks Into Good Ore.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

TONOPAH (Nev.) Feb. 6.—With a shipment of over a ton of bullion valued at $27,000 and weighing 2220 pounds the Tonopah Extension closed its accounts for the last month. The shipment is the last clean-up for the second half of January, and although somewhat below the average it is accounted for by the fact that several thousand dollars' worth of precipitate remained in the boxes undisturbed when the clean-up was made. The sinking of the mine has broken into the ore on the 600-foot level in both the north and south veins and has in the lower contact vein in the intermediate drift above the 660-foot level.

An interesting feature about these developments is that they are scattered through the mine from the north vein near the shaft, to about 1000 feet west of the shaft in the south vein and in the extreme west-ern workings over 700 feet west of the shaft in the lower contact vein, which is by no means the western limit of the payable ore zone.

The south cross-cut on the 525-foot level of the Midway has entered a body of good ore two and one-half feet wide on the hanging wall side of the vein—which has now been proved to be twenty feet wide—of vein mat-ter between walls with numerous stringers of quartz. Drifting east of this crosscut has been commenced. The sinking of the new shaft is making good progress and a depth of 414 feet has been reached.

The shaft has passed through the ore belt and another cement reser-voir has been constructed at a dept of 400 feet and all water is collected here, sinking will hereafter make good progress. The annual report of the company shows an available balance in the bank of $6524 after spending $61,950 during the past year in prospecting and exploiting without cost to the construction of the new hoisting shaft which was undertaken late in the year.

Another important development in the Montana Tonopah mine between the 515 and 615 foot level occurred when the shaft vein broke into and cut through a body of good milling ore sixteen feet wide, with stringers and streaks of high grade material. This ore-body lies between the McDonald and south vein and is apparently a new one, as it has not yet been correlated with any other known vein in the mine. It is undoubtedly a northward extension of the big body of low grade quartz that was cut during the previous week on the 565-foot level and drifting on it will now be started to determine its length.

Another important discovery was made on the 565-level, where the drift on the low grade quartz body broke into the downward extension of the rich stope of the McDonald vein. Assaying shows that this ore is of a good milling grade. The length of the stope and its known height of 100 feet guarantees a very large ton-nage of good mill ore which will be extracted at a small cost.

The checks of dividend No. 20 of 2½ cents a share the Tonopah Mining Company of Nevada issued a state-ment of operations for the quarter ending November 30, 1912. This shows that during that period the company earned a net surplus of $75,000 over dividend requirements. The company's strong financial standing is shown by the statement of cash on hand and quick assets amounting to $1,527,967.

The company has paid in dividends $1,200,000 since April, 1905. Sev-eral improvements are to be noted in the ore bodies in both the grade and extent of ore development. The Stone drift on the 840-foot-level has been cut from about three feet to the full width of the quarry body.

The west drift on the 1400-foot level of the Halifax passed through a body of quartz on the contact between the trachyte, accomplish-ing the object by moving that this ore-bearing formation extended from the Belmont mine into the Halifax at this point. The formation is dipping east at about the same angle as the Belmont and there is strong hope that further prospecting on the Belmont eastern line will result in opening a continuance of the ore bodies of that mine. This work will be extended to the property's western boundary where the sinking south will be com-menced.

The West End construction work near the point where the open-ings on the 600-foot level may be expected. The west drift on this level is now run in the foot-wall of the vein which has flattened to the south and also turned slightly to the south. The face of this drift is now under the short east drift that was run from the bottom of the winze from the 500-foot level a distance of seventy feet on the dip of the body of milling ore and a start has now be started to cut this ore body on the downward extension. The drift continues to make good ore, the west drift of the sixth level has been drifted on for 100 feet without determining its end length. The face of the drift shows a splendid body of rich ore with a width of six feet al-though the full width is greater than this as only one wall is exposed in the drift.

The last month a greater ton-nage was shipped than in De-cember and the average value was higher. The net profits for January will exceed those of the previous month. The opening up of new ore shoot makes it easily possible for the company to ship a large tonnage of rich ore, but the policy is to keep only a small quan-tity on hand with the lower grade stuff being shipped. Nevertheless, it is expected to maintain a high average

STRIKE AROUSES INTEREST.

Shipments of Rich Silver and Cop-per Ore Start From Big Blue Mine at Wickenburg.

The Big Blue Mining Company has begun shipments of the rich silver and copper ore opened up in a rich strike on the third level of the Big Blue mine, eighteen miles north of Wickenburg, according to Col. Ed F. Browne, president of the company, who is in this city for a few days.

"The shipments are attracting a great deal of attention," he said, "and the ore, which is shipped to the Phelps-Dodge smelter at Douglas, av-erages 20 to 30 per cent. copper and 175 ounces to the ton in silver. The rich streak widens out to three to three and one-half feet at the point where the strike was made.

"The company has been making shipments from its Copper Prince mine of copper ore containing 10 to 14 per cent. copper, and has nearly finished a forty-ton mill at Constella-tion on the Hassayampa River. This mill is to start up next month."

Cananea.

MOLTEN MATTE STARTS BLAZE.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLAR FIRE AT DEMOCRATA SMELTER.

Old Plant Is Put in Commission at Property—Greene Cananea Output This Year Is Expected to Be Nearly Double, and Cost of Treating Ore Is Reduced.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

CANANEA (Mex.) Feb. 7.—After a two-months' run, the smelter of the Democrata Company is closed down, owing to the burning of the frame work around the new 250-ton furnace. Exposed woodwork caught fire from the splashing of molten matte. The damage was about $10,000. The old 125-ton furnace is operated and both jackets are to be in commission again within a few weeks, making about 30,000 pounds of copper a day.

While the Democrata Company has only a limited area of ground its ores are rich and readily handled and the property is extremely well situated, on the line of the Cananea mine rail-road, a short distance from the Cananea smelter at Ronquillo.

The Greene-Cananea Company produced about 55,000,000 pounds of copper last year and expects an out-put of about 90,000,000 during 1913. The cost of treating ore has been re-duced from $6.85 per ton in 1907 to about $2.50, the cost per pound of copper now being about 9 cents. Much economy has resulted from the op-eration of the smelting works, re-built by Prof. Ricketts, and benefit is already experienced through the use of the new converters of the Great Falls type.

The company is doing more work than for years past, especially around its Capote mine, where a new shaft is sunk to the 1000 level, giving much more ready access to what is known as one of the greatest copper bodies of the world.

The Cananea Company's mines at Puertocitos, twelve miles from the smelter at the end of the narrow-gauge mining railroad, are given more attention than ever before. One tun-nel at the Henrietta mine, lately com-pleted, is 1500 feet long, cutting through a hill. It is for the opera-tion of a motor line that will carry ores from the Elenita mine to the bins at Puertocitos. Several immense ledges are exposed in this locality, as well as a number of smaller veins from which rich bornite ore is taken.

The new electrical equipment for the Calumet and Sonora Company, a few miles northwest of Cananea, now is almost complete and the mine is put in shape for the largest possible production of ore. The mills have been overhauled and many new de-vices for the more complete separa-tion of zinc and other base products installed.

W. T. Frasier of San Francisco has taken charge of the old Babicanora mine in the Chispas district, which lately was sold to a Pennsylvania company. The mine is one of the most ancient in Northern Mexico and is famous for its great silver produc-tion. The lead was lost a number of years ago but the company now op-erating is confident of picking up the vein again and also of profiting in working the lower-grade silver ores in sight.

High-grade zinc and lead ore has been found on the Cobriza property, near the Calumet & Sonora property. The formation indicates that only the top of the ore body has been struck at the bottom of a 150-foot shaft.

The smelter of the Cobriza Mining Company, seventeen miles west of Nogia, will be started within a few days. It was erected two years ago, but civil conditions have not been favorable for operation since. The furnace is of the MacDonald hot-blast type of 150 tons daily capacity. About 100 men will be employed. The property is said to be well developed and to have large quantities of ore of average value of $18 a ton.

That early extension northward of the Randolph Rio Yaqui Railroad is not contemplated is indicated by an agreement made by the Southern Pa-cific Company for the use of its road-bed by the Minneapolis Copper Com-pany from Cumpas to Nacozari. This roadbed is understood to have cost at least $1,000,000, much of it being blasted out of solid rock. Temporary bridges are to be put in and the road utilized for motor trucks, which will handle freight to the mines from Na-cozari station, a distance of fifty-six miles. The Minneapolis Company's smelter is to be blown in early in February.

It is probable that a mill will be built in the near future on the Provi-dencia mine near Nogales, a rich cop-per and silver property owned by Col. Emelio Kosteriltzky of the Mexican rurales and Dr. I. M. Zimmerman of Douglas, Ariz. Several carloads a week are now shipped from the prop-erty to a smelter.

Lime Carbonate.

JOHANNESBURG, Jan. 17.—Q.: The sample was found near Johannes-burg. What is it? G. W. F.

A.: Soft and friable calcareous marl with gypsum present and trace of phosphoric acid. A fairly good "top dressing" for grasses, etc.

Iron Sand.

ANAHEIM, Jan. 18.—Q.: Found in the Santa Ana Canyon in large quantities from eight to fifteen miles east of Anaheim. E. W. P.

A.: Carbonates absent. Trace of soda. A silicious mixture of yellow and red iron oxides with clay. Traces of phosphoric acid. The oxides washed from the gangue would make a low-grade paint material.

Oroville.

WILL REDREDGE HISTORIC AREA.

California's First Field to Be Again Developed.

Britishers Are Negotiating for Gravel Mines.

Fume Control Process Pro-nounced a Success.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

OROVILLE (Cal.) Feb. 7.—The first step in the redredging of the Oroville placer field is soon to be un-dertaken. The management of the El Oro Dredging Company has de-cided to rework 200 acres of its old land, and one of the dredges will be placed in action in the old field within a few weeks.

It is believed that the dredges for-merly used permitted large quantities of gold to escape, and with modern boats, it is stated that previously-worked gravel can be again profitably handled. Several companies have con-sidered redredging their estate, but it has been the general opinion that such a project is hardly feasible with-out the employment of dredges of the largest type.

Oroville was the scene of Cali-fornia's first gold-dredging activities, and the pioneer gold boats were large-ly experimental affairs. Only the richest ground could be profitably treated, and a considerable per cent. of the auriferous values was lost in course of operation. The boats were usually provided with buckets of three to four cubic feet capacity, and the various areas of low-grade ground were passed over. With the advent of dregdes having buckets of thirteen to fifteen cubic feet capacity, en-gineers have predicted the successful reworking of the district.

The previously-neglected ground can be economically worked with the big boats, and the gold formerly lost recovered. The Natomas Consolidated of California, and other powerful cor-porations have seriously considered re-dredging the old deposits, but have neglected to make the experiment be-cause of the large areas of virgin ground still remaining undeveloped If the operations of El Oro Company prove sufficiently encouraging, it is certain the life of the Oroville field will be extended many years.

Magalia Activities.

Negotiations are under way for the sale of the Mineral Slide gravel mines to an English syndicate. The hold-ings, locally known as the Cohn group, have been extensively deve-loped and are considered the most valuable in the field. During the past six months a large body of gravel has been exposed, new equipment in-stalled and a good production main-tained. The price represented in ne-gotiations approximates $300,000, and it is understood the English capitalists have agreed to make a substantial cash payment. Engineers have thor-oughly examined the holdings in be-half of the purchasers.

The Valhalla Mining Company has been incorporated to operate the Val-halla quartz mine, about a mile north of Magalia. A seventy-five-foot shaft has been sunk and a ledge running over two feet wide has been disclosed. Samples of the quartz assay around $100 per ton, and the owners have outlined a plan of vigorous develop-ment. If further work warrants the step, machinery will be provided and the working force largely augmented. Dr. C. L. Browning is president and Richard White secretary. The com-pany is mainly composed of Chico residents.

With an abundance of water avail-able, the various gravel properties in the heart of the Magalia district are showing consistent activity. Good re-serves of excellent gravel have been developed in the Steifer, Kidd and other properties, and the outlook for a long and favorable season is ex-ceedingly bright.

Considerable Los Angeles capital is interested in the district, and the An-gelenos appear in a good way of win-ning excellent profits from their en-terprise. The late storms provided an abundance of water, and most of the companies have arranged to take fullest advantage of this favorable condition.

To Control Fumes.

After a series of experiments on copper ore containing an excess per-centage of sulphur, J. A. Heslewood and co-workers have declared their process for control of copper-ore fumes an unqualified success. The most difficult ore for treatment was especially selected for final tests, and results were so pleasing that the in-ventor and his associates are planning a smelter embodying the new meth-od at one of the smelting towns on the Shasta copper belt.

An offer has been made to erect a plant for the Mountain Copper Com-pany and it is thought this corpora-tion will avail itself of the opportu-nity, as with its present equipment it is unable to operate the great Kes-wick plant.

In the Heslewood process the ore is smelted with the assistance of crude

Building Troubles

The expense of repairs on buildings that have been improperly construct-ed will always be a source of annoy-ance to owners, who have very likely paid for the work to be properly done in the beginning.

No matter how reliable or responsi-ble the architect or builder may be, the fact does not insure the owner from the many tricks practiced by some workers in the several trades, or the mistakes made, then covered up, and left to be discovered some-times long after the building has been completed.

If it were possible to guard against these faults at a cost of probably less than one bill for repairs, would it not be policy to go to a little trouble with-out expense, and learn how it can be done.

An expert will call at your request and explain the subject fully. Ad-dress H, box 145, TIMES OFFICE.

MARIAN ACRES

5 and 10 acre tracts—deep, fertile soil—no alkali—electric line and boulevard direct to Los Angeles

$375 an acre up---Easy Terms

Think of the profits, think of the enormous increases close-in acreage will bear during the great years of 1913-14 and 15.

The opening of the Big Canal, the Harbor, the Aqueduct and the two great fairs, one to the north and one to the south of us, mean undreamed-of prosperity to Southern California and ESPECIALLY Los Angeles and vicinity.

Buy land NOW—a five or ten-acre tract. Tens of thousands are coming. One expert predicts an influx of 75,000 immigrants annually via the Los Angeles Harbor. Big profits should accrue to the man who TODAY invests in close-in acreage.

Lands adjoining Marian Acres are NOW priced as high as $700 and $800 an acre. Do not overlook this opportunity—the rich Marian Acres for the business man, the homeseeker and the fruit grower.

Finest Soil—Million Dollar Improvements—Electric Cars

Do not put off any longer. Rock-bottom prices are fast disappearing before the great tide of residential, industrial and agricultural development sweeping out from the city. Marian Acres are close in—ideal country home and orchard sites—under the value-increasing influence of the mammoth improvements. Buy now—in 1915 single acres should bring $1000 up. Do not delay—come out and see for yourself—our machines are at your service.

"Between the City and the Sea"

Beverly Hills

A Touch of Real Nature at Beverly Hills

The resident of Beverly Hills enjoys the use of telephones, water, electric lights and gas at city rates. All public utilities, such as unsightly poles, are in the alleys. The electric railway furnishes a quick, frequent service to both Los Angeles, Hollywood and the Beaches. There are few subdivisions in the world possessing as many attractions as Beverly Hills.

The lots at Beverly Hills are large—80 to 100 feet wide by 160 to 200 feet in depth. The present prices are very low, considering the location, improvements and size of lots. You can buy now at $25.00 to $60.00 a front foot. Liberal terms are made.

Beverly Hills is located between Los Angeles and the grand old Pacific. It skirts the foothills west of Hollywood and might very properly be called an extension of the Wilshire District. The Los Angeles Country Club adjoins Beverly Hills on the west. This property is high, sheltered and commands a most magnificent view of mountains, valley and ocean.

This property was laid out by a famous landscape gardener, and the Company has already expended more than a million dollars in improvements. Broad, winding palm-lined avenues, cement gutters, curbs and sidewalks; beautiful parks, fountains and water lilies. A complete modern sewerage system, with connections at each lot, are some of the advantages offered.

The Pacific Electric car on Hill street will take you direct to Beverly Hills, or you can go by automobile, by way of Wilshire Boulevard or Hollywood via the new Foothill-Scenic Boulevard. If you prefer, you can telephone our office and we will arrange to take you in our motor car. Our agent at the Beverly Hills Station will be glad to show you the property at any time.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS TERRACE

—The place of so many magnificent homes.

—The place that's growing so fast now and will grow until completely built up.

—THERE ARE REASONS WHY it's so popular.

It's Restricted. Has commanding mountain view.
Unequaled car service now and subway project to look forward to.
Conveniences of city gas, electricity, phones and water.
Street improvements completed and paid for.

Values advance steadily where improvements are made, continued and assured for the future.

Located between Pico street and Washington Boulevard, the two great Boulevards to Venice and but a short distance west of Crenshaw Boulevard.

16th St., Venice and Redondo Short Line cars on the north side of tract, and Washington street-"Rimpau Ave." cars furnish 5-minute service direct to our tract office.

INDUCEMENTS FOR BUILDING

An unusual investment opportunity that will surely double and treble in value much faster than higher priced lots costing two to ten times our prices, don't you think? 'Stands to reason that where there's hundreds of people who can buy a lot under $1000, where there's ten can buy the higher priced property, you have just that much better opportunity in reselling at a profit the lower-priced lot.

A small investment made right now in this tract will return big profits to you. Acreage in the vicinity has recently sold at a much higher price than our lot prices figure in acreage, not to mention our completed street work and over 100 houses now building or completed on this tract. Present prices will soon be a lost opportunity for you unless you get busy.

Take "Rimpau Ave." Washington st. car direct to end of line, our Tract Agent's Office is right there; or we'll be glad to have you call and see us in our new office (on the third floor of the I. N. Van Nuys Building, entrance on 7th street,) and we will go with you and show you the property. IT'S THE ONE BEST LOT BUY TODAY. LET US SHOW YOU.

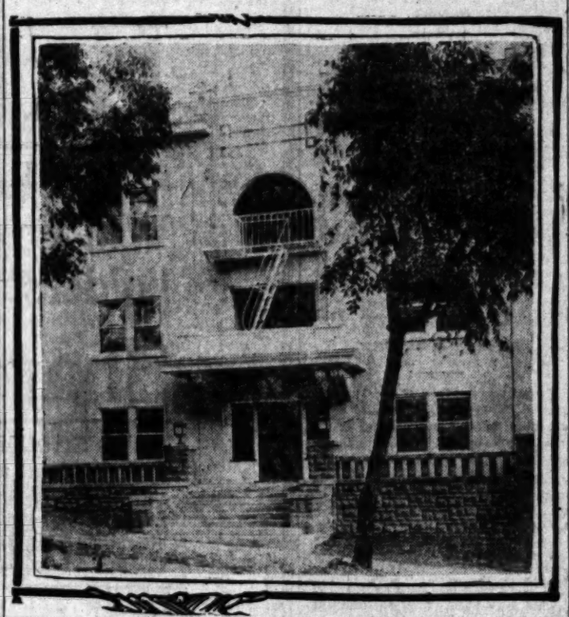
New West Side Improvement.



Apartments at No. 626 South Bonnie Brae.

Property just leased for ten-year term through Wright-Callender-Andrews Company.

APARTMENTS LEASED.

Attractive New Improvement for Bonnie Brae Street Rented for Ten-Year Term—Modernly Appointed.

A new apartment-house of forty-three rooms at No. 626 South Bonnie Brae street was leased during the past week by C. E. Mooney to Mrs. Mamie A. Williams. The Wright-Callender-Andrews Company acted as agents in the transaction. The term of the contract is ten years and the total rental consideration is given at $37,800.

The building is of attractive design, the exterior being plastered with white cement. It is divided into two and three-room apartments, all modernly appointed.

A Rat Goes Frogging.

[Lynchburg Sentinel:] This morning Will Norman heard a noise down by the spring house that he thought emanated from two or more ferocious Thomas cats engaged in mortal combat. Norman hastened to the spot bent on separating the angry combatants, if possible, before they had inflicted death or great bodily harm to each other's persons. Imagine his surprise, therefore, when he beheld a goodly-sized bullfrog in the clutches of a large rat. The rat had gone into the water and caught the frog, and its squeaking had attracted the attention of Norman, who rushed to its assistance and killed the rat. Thus his frogship's life was saved.

OPPOSE EIGHT-HOUR BILL.

Women Workers of Washington Protest Against Passage of Measure Limiting Day's Labor.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Some of Washington's women workers object to having their day's labor limited to eight hours. Contending that the La-Follette bill for that purpose would impose an undue burden instead of bettering their condition, many women workers of the city went before a Senate Committee and opposed it on the ground that without overtime it would be almost impossible to make a living.

Economical.

EIGHT ZONES OF PARCELS POST.

METHOD OF DETERMINING RATE OF POSTAGE.

Inauguration of the System Will Evidently Seriously Affect the Business Done by Express Companies Unless They Come Down to the Government Charges.

[Railroad Man's Magazine:] For forty years the American people have demanded a parcel post. Forty-three foreign countries already have a parcel post, and there is no record of any foreign country ever having discontinued such a service after having started it.

The first zone is quadrangular but not square in shape, since it is bounded on east and west by meridians of longitude which, of course, converge as they go north and diverge as they go south. All other zones are roughly circular in shape. Zone two includes all units of area outside zone one which lie either wholly or in part within a circle drawn from the center of a given unit of area, the circle to have a radius of 150 miles.

The third zone includes all the territory outside of zone two, within the radius of a circle of 300 miles, and with the same proviso that all units of area through which its boundary circle passes are a part of that zone. The fourth zone has a radius of 600 miles, the fifth zone a radius of 1000 miles, the sixth zone a radius of 1400 miles, the seventh zone a radius of 1800 miles, and the eighth zone includes all units of area outside of zone seven.

The matter of units of area and of zones is somewhat complicated. But it seems much more complicated than it really is. The reasons for establishing such a system are clearly set forth by Senator Bourne, in his report on the postoffice appropriation bill. There are some 60,000 postoffices in the United States. With a map ten feet long and ten feet wide an effort to designate the postoffices on such map would be like printing the Lord's prayer on the head of a pin.

If the shipper has no rate book and map of his own, he will ask, at the postoffice, what the rate is. The postmaster or clerk will take a directory and find quickly, by means of a marginal thumb index, the State to which the package is to be sent—in this case, Virginia—find the postoffice, Alexandria, after which name will be a number indicating the quadrangle or unit of area in which Alexandria is located. The number on his chart will readily indicate in which zone Alexandria is in relation to New York.

As Alexandria is within 300 miles of New York it would come in the third zone. The rate for the third zone is 7 cents for the first pound and 5 cents for each additional pound or fraction of a pound. So a four pound, four-ounce parcel will cost 27 cents postage to be carried from New York to Alexandria, which gives the citizen will affix 27 cents in postage stamps and his parcel will be delivered within due course.

It costs now 64 cents to send four pounds of books either across the city or across the continent. Under the parcel-post law it will cost 9 cents to send the same package across the city and 48 cents to send it across the continent.

As it is at present, if a housewife in Orange, N. J., wants to order two pounds of coffee from a New York house, the express company will charge her 20 cents to deliver it, while the parcel-post service will not cost but 17 cents. If her package is eleven pounds in weight the express rate is the same as the parcel-post rate, 20 cents, but in San Francisco she would find parcel post a little cheaper than express on eleven pounds from New York—$1.32 as against $1.65.

On her five-pound box sent across the continent, however, she would gain a slight advantage over the previous price, paying 60 cents to the government as against 80 cents to the express company.

On long hauls and small weights there is no possible semblance of competition. On short hauls of heavy weights—heavy measured near the parcel-post limit of fifty pounds—there is little advantage in the parcel post over express in point of price paid. On long hauls of heavy weights there is a saving, though not an enormous one, in parcel post over express.

For parcels up to and including four ounces in weight the old rate is preserved. And when it comes to local and rural-free-delivery routes the one-pound rate of 5 cents almost shuts out all possible competition.

Both Had Same Opinion.

[Victoria Daily Times:] A colored porter on a Canadian Pacific train was assigned to cover a railway wreck a few days ago, and went to the train clerk in the superintendent's office for some facts he needed to get a correct story. He was given a frigid reception, which made him hot, and then the crusty chief clerk refused to give him the information he sought. His temperature rose still higher. Finally, when the official launched forth to a lecture on the newspaper nuisance, the cub's patience was exhausted.

Turning to the door he said with quiet emphasis, "You can go to hell."

Ere long the telephone wires were hot with a protest to the city editor of the paper, and the latter sent the cub back to the superintendent's office to straighten the matter out.

The superintendent looked the cub over.

"You're the young fellow who is my chief clerk to go to hell, I queried.

"Yes"—spoken quite sarcastically. The young chap was ready to fight his own.

The superintendent smiled.

"Well, I don't blame you," he said. "I sometimes feel like telling him that myself."

George A. Long, Vice-President of the CALIFORNIA LAND & HOG COMPANY, is the owner of the big Packing-house in the IMPERIAL VALLEY.

IMPERIAL VALLEY BOOM

Imperial Valley Lands and industries are on the boom. In no Valley in California is there such activity in Real Estate. New buyers are arriving by every train. The hotels in the Valley are crowded. One day last week, the Hotel Oregon at El Centro, turned away forty applicants for rooms.

The Imperial Valley is coming "into its own." Nowhere can you buy such wonderful soil. Take a trip into the Valley and decide for yourself.

The Imperial Valley Publicity Bureau at El Centro has done a wonderful work for the Valley. It is enlarging its organization and will be known hereafter as the Imperial Valley Chamber of Commerce, A. C. Burrell, Director, with Headquarters at El Centro. We have done our part in the past six weeks to develop this interest. We are the largest advertisers of Imperial Valley lands. We particularly recommend the fertile soil around El Centro, Holtville, and at MELOLAND. We have large Ranches for sale, from $100.00 an acre to $300.00. We have headquarters in the Valley where you can meet our representative, I. F. Baldwin, care of the Hotel Oregon, El Centro, or the Eastside Realty Company at Holtville.

This Company controls the MELOLAND COLONY AND TOWNSITE. We believe and can prove that our soil at MELOLAND is the best in the Valley. Our little town and colony is ideally located on the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway, and the Holtville Interurban Railroad. The University of California and State Experiment Station are at MELOLAND. Harold Bell Wright's, the Author of the "Winning of Barbara Worth," wonderful ranch is at MELOLAND. There are more improvements going on today at MELOLAND than in any other town of its size in the Valley. A New $4000 school house is being completed.

Our registered Hog ranch, equipped with Registered stock will be open for inspection some time this next week. We shall soon have Registered stock for sale—the MELOLAND SUPERPIG of our own breeding will be on sale within six months. We are booking orders NOW.

The raising of Hogs in the Imperial Valley is the poor man's opportunity for money-making. There is no part of the world where you can run as many hogs to the acre as you can at MELOLAND. This is not our statement alone, but comes to us from the Imperial Valley Publicity Bureau.

While everything grows luxuriantly at MELOLAND, cotton, dates, oranges, melons, etc., we recommend for the quickest profits, the raising of Hogs and Alfalfa. We recommend the purchase of our five-acre modern Hog ranches. We sell these on the basis of one-half the production. These little Hog ranches will be equipped with the necessary wiring, fences, cement troughs, pens and registered stock necessary to make the start.

Anyone can meet our terms on these five-acre tracts. Simply a small payment down and then $25.00 a month.

Hogs are prolific. One brood sow and her offspring will produce 1200 Hogs in three years.

Our hog expert makes this prediction. "When our registered Hog ranch is equipped with 250 registered sows, at the present price of pork, $4,000,000 net can be made in three years. This allows $500,000 for feeding."

These estimates are further borne out by Agricultural College Experiments.

This Company is Co-operative. We are now selling stock in our Company, to complete our equipment of our own Ranch with Registered Hogs at MELOLAND. The capitalization of our Company is $100,000—12c a share is the price of stock now. It will go to 15c, February 20th.

COME IN AND TALK HOGS WITH US, or let us mail you a copy of IMPERIAL VALLEY BIG OPPORTUNITIES, it is free for the asking.

No. 4 is an ochreous matter carrying gypsite, calcite and crystals of gypsum, and is of no value except for top dressing for grasses, etc.; if ground up and purified. No. 5 is impure gypsum with iron oxide (limonite.) No. 6 is impure gypsite with yellow ochre. No. 7 is alabaster, very impure, and of no commercial value.

Chiefly Iron.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—Q.: Have had herewith five samples ore from the mine prospect, one marked gold found. Please state nature and if of value sufficient to continue work. Ore comes from Sierra Madre foothills and about twenty-two miles east of Los Angeles. The contents are very high in gold and silver. Thanking you for past favors. E. E. T.

A: No. 1, "concentrates," and very high in gold and copper!" Where somewhere! These concentrates are lifted entire with the magnetic, and if any gold is present it must be combined with the magnetite, which is most doubtful. No. 2 is gangue rock, with traces of chalcopyrite (yellow copper ore of the mining kind). No. 3 is a mixture of titanic iron, magnetite and hematite; quartz (greenish) is present as well as ferruginous quartz. No. 4 is a mixture of biotite, magnetic iron, titanium silicate, iron oxides, quartz and feldspar. No. 5 ferruginous quartz carrying pyrite (iron disulphide) and traces of copper. Poor lot of stuff!

Granular Samples.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—Q.: Have some samples. Found in Red Canyon, Kern county, about seven miles from Cantrell.

MRS. J. L. J.

A: One of the samples is in paste-like substance and tagged "Hard." This is chiefly aluminum silicate (in fact Kaolin,) and iron is present with traces of potash. The remaining specimen bears the marking, "Soft," and is approximately the same material as the one first above described.

Calcareous Marl.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—Q.: Please tell me what is in this sample. MRS. W. J. M.

A: The sample is lime carbonate with yellow mica traces, and microscopical pyrite sparingly present. Gypsum trace only.

Copper Sulphate.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—Q.: The enclosed sample comes from the Volcano Mountain, seventeen miles west from Victorville, San Bernardino county. It was discovered in running a cross-cut to a quartz vein, and in panning it for gold it was noticed that the pan was copper-coated. It is soluble in water, the solution having a pale-greenish tinge. Please tell me what it is? R. G. C.

A.: The substance is a mixed form of copper sulphate, iron alum and sulphur present with lime traces. The copper coating on the pan is occasioned by the copper sulphate present.

Phosphate Rock and Test.

OGDEN (Utah) Jan. 18.—Q.: I am sending you a sample of rock on which I have my doubts. I have been at work in the Park City rock for two years and am familiar with it, but this rock is black, and yet I detect the round pebbles in it that may be like the Park City rock. Will you test this and at the same time if you will give me a test for phosphates I will take it as a great favor. Please publish your answer in The Times, so that I can get a number of copies for my friends. I almost forgot to tell you that the rock comes from north of Ogden. A. A. T.

A.: Glad to hear from you. The sample is rock-phosphate of very high-grade, and it is well to describe it in the words of F. B. Van Horn in "Mineral Resources, 1910:" "According to Gale and Richards's description ,the rock phosphate itself is chiefly characteristized by an oolitic texture, by which it can be recognized in the field. Rounded grains, built up in roughly concentric structure, range in size from the most minute forms visible to the naked eye or by the hand lens to pebble-like bodies half an inch in diameter, rarely larger. In unaltered specimens there is commonly no visible or distinct cementing of the oolitic grains, except where they occur scattered in a ground mass of foreign material. In the weathered condition, however, as the material is commonly found near the surface, the grains have a grayish color and are more or less distinct. The rounded ovules are also characteristically distinct on weather-polished bedding planes of the more oolitic rock. The rock phosphate varies in color from coaly black to dull gray or iron-stained. Its float is characteristically marked with a thin film of bluish-white bonelike coating, resembling chalcedony in places, with reticulated markings; this is thought to be some secondary phosphatic material but has not yet been studied. This coating is useful in tracing the concealed outcrop in the field by means of scattered float or fragments to be found in the overlying soil. The black color which is common in these deposits is thought to be due to bituminous matter."

The above description fits your large sample to a nicety. The black color is due to a mixture of hydrocarbons, and from the coating of white we find that it is chiefly aluminum phosphate.

The small sample accompanying the big, black one, and marked "special," is Wavellite in a mass of phosphate of lime and aluminum silicate with iron oxides.

The samples are of more than ordinary interest, and phosphate rock will be in big commercial demand in the near future.

As a simple test for phosphate rock we give the usual mineralogical-chemistry test, which is also fourth in the authority above quoted. The test follows: Place a small crystal of ammonium molydbate on the rock to be tested, then drop a little dilute nitric acid on the crystal. If the crystal turns yellow, it indicates the presence of phosphorus. The deeper the yellow the higher the phosphate content.

Chlorite Schist.

RED ROCK (Ariz.) Jan. 19.—Q.: This local sample I send for classification.

H. M. S.

A.: "Red Rock," in good old Navajo, would be phonetically spelled Bita O Chee, but perhaps your address is not found on the lists of the Navajo reservation.

The sample is named at the subheading. It is of dark-green and grayish-green colors, and is slightly greasy to the touch. Chlorite is present with some feldspathic matter and quartz.

oil, and the fumes drawn by hydraulic vacuum into a reservoir of water, where the sulphur settles, and the escaping gas is completely deprived of its harmful agencies. If the process is as satisfactory as all experiments indicated, the great obstacle in the way of copper smelting has been removed.

The Oro Del Norte Company announces work is to be immediately resumed at its gold and platinum claims a short distance southeast of Crescent City. The capacity of the plant has been enlarged and arrangements made for a particularly productive season. The deposit contains large quantities of black sands, and particular attention is to be devoted to the recovery of platinum, now twice the value of pure gold. Special processes have been installed to recover the precious metals, and the company has arranged to keep a large force of men employed. During the winter, while production was suspended, considerable development work has progressed.

PLYMOUTH STRIKES ORE.

Milling ore has been uncovered in the upper workings of the Plymouth Consolidated gold mine, near Plymouth, according to late advices from the property. The shaft has been cleared of water and explorations are progressing on the 1400 and upper levels. The large bodies of ore blocked out in the old workings have been extensively sampled, and it is said sufficient milling quartz is exposed to keep a large mill in commission for months.

The Plymouth Consolidated was formerly one of the heaviest producers on the Mother Lode, but was closed over fifteen years ago following a destructive fire and friction among the owners. It is reopened and operated under bond and lease by British experts.

Repairing of the South Eureka shaft is still progressing, but the cave-in is of such a serious character that it will be weeks before operations can be resumed at the South Eureka and Central Eureka mines. The shaft came together for several hundred feet with timbers completely crushed and the tracks badly twisted. About 150 feet has been cleared, but working is so difficult that progress of only five feet can be made daily. Considerable danger attaches to the work, but thus far accidents have been avoided.

The South Jackson mine has passed into the hands of eastern people for $25,000. The property lies near the town of Jackson and is comparatively virgin mine, being recently developed by George W. Brown from a mere prospect into a promising property. It is reported the new owners plan developments on a broad scale, with a largely-increased working force employed.

Operations are to be resumed at the Crown Point and Yellow Jacket claims near Drytown. The holdings have lain idle for twenty years, and recently passed under option to H. Dec. Richards, the San Francisco mining engineer. Men are engaged and other details consummated for early work. New equipment will be installed, as the old machinery is obsolete.

The M. McCormick company has acquired full ownership of the Draper mine near Soulsbyville by the purchase of the interests of Cotton Bros. & Co., for $40,500. The property comprises the Draper mine and mill, together with a water right on Curtis Creek. The mine has been developed to a depth of 600 feet and considerable ore is exposed. The McCormick people plan to conduct work along a broad line, now that they have obtained full control.

H. Well and associates have taken a bond and option on the Rose Quartz group of gold-mining claims near Quincy for a term of five years. The agreement calls for the constant employment of fifty men and the development of the property on the best scale for advancement. Not later than September, 1914, a five-stamp mill is to be installed. It is stated a fair reserve of free-milling ore is blocked out in the property, and that the outlook is distinctly promising for the development of a good mine.

EXPLOIT COPPER FIELD.

The discovery of a new copper district near Heroult, Shasta county, attracts interest. The field was first given attention a few months ago by Fred Grotofend, discoverer of the Mammoth mine, and surface indications are of such a promising character that the discoverer and his associates may decide to operate the group on their own account. Several engineers representing Boston capitalists have gone over the ground and pronounce indications particularly excellent. The district is in proximity to the smelters, and a steady market for the ore is available.

Shipments Handicapped by Slippery Roads—Hundred Tons a Day Are Sent from Three R to El Paso.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PATAGONIA (Ariz.) Feb. 7.—Over 100 tons of ore a day are shipped to El Paso from the Three R property, which is demonstrating its position as the greatest producing mine in this locality. The present output is equivalent to 6,000,000 pounds of copper a month at the smelter. During January hauling was badly handicapped by bad roads and wet weather and only 2800 tons were shipped. Superintendent J. D. Wanvig is employing 112 men at the mine.

At 411 feet of depth, in a tunnel which is run to catch the World's Fair ledge, a five-foot vein of silver-lead ore has been struck in the Chief's mine, lately bonded by William Powers to A. L. Harroud and associates of Kansas City. The ore is said to run as high as 1600 ounces in silver and 48 per cent. lead. A winze has been sunk from the tunnel twenty-eight feet and is still in the rich ore, which is probably an extension of the phenomenal ore-body of the World's Fair.

Frank Powers, owner of the World's Fair, is getting his machinery in readiness for the operation of his mine which he works whenever he feels the need of more ready cash. The ore is shipped to the Selby smelter at San Francisco.

A group of fourteen claims near the Morning Glory at Mowry Camp have been bonded by S. P. Boucher to B. R. Hatcher for $40,000.

Jack Cudahy of Kansas City was a recent visitor. He looked over the Bland property, in which he is heavily interested.

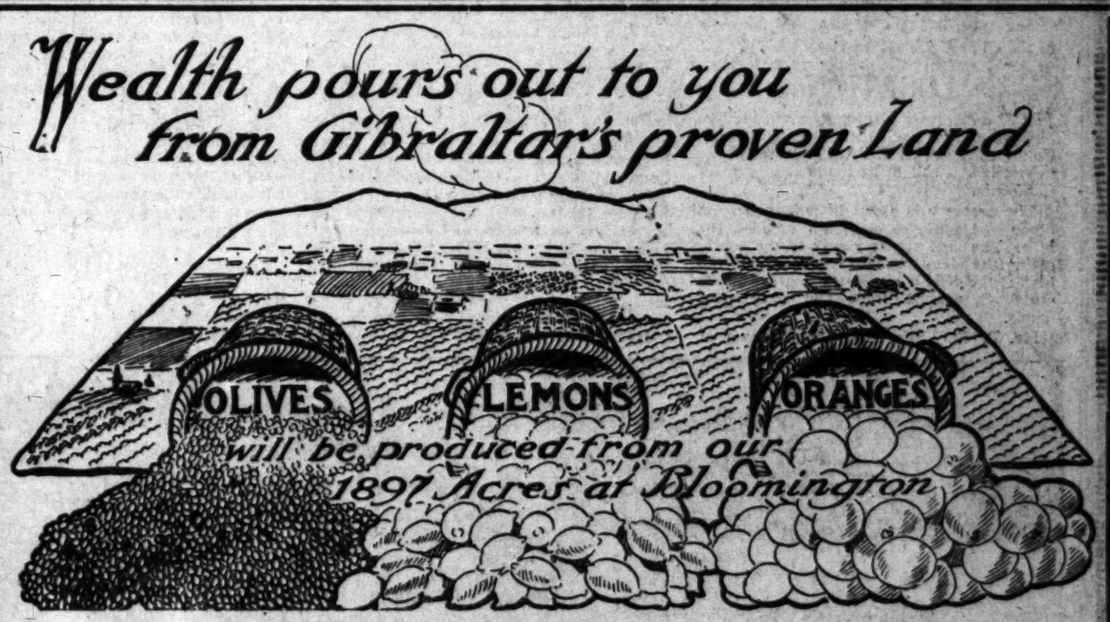
Wealth pours out to you from Gibraltar's proven Land



TWENTY YEARS OF EXPERIENCE in developing fruit land in California have enabled the president and directors of Gibraltar to choose the most fertile and productive acreage for the purpose of subdividing, planting and selling. The result is that the great acreage purchased at Bloomington is in a district which was least affected by the great frost of four weeks ago; is favored by SPLENDID CLIMATE; has ABUNDANT WATER and is IMMEDIATELY ADJACENT to all the MANY IMPROVEMENTS at Bloomington, MARKETS and RAILWAY TRANSPORTATION. Californians and eastern visitors have noted the excellence of this land and have paid down their money and secured tracts on the spot. Once you visit this land and eat Bloomington oranges, you will take a lively interest in this 1897-acre fruit tract.

1,000,000 PEOPLE Live Within a Radius of 76 Miles of Bloomington

San Bernardino (pop. 18,000) IS only 7 miles distant; Riverside (pop. 15,000) 7 miles; Colton, 4, and Los Angeles but 54 miles away.

LOCATION OF IMPROVEMENTS IN ABOVE CUT:

(1) Pumping Plants on tract; (2) Orange Packing House; (3) Citrus Packing House of Bloomington Fruit Association; (4) S. P. Station; (5) Curtis Olive Pickling Plant; (6) Terminus, Riverside Electric; (7) Crescent City Electric, which will connect Rialto and Bloomington (3 miles) and connect Santa Fe and S. P. depots. This line is now building and the P. E. cut-off joining this and Riverside line, with the proposed line to Colton and San Bernardino, will make Bloomington an important junction of many electric lines tapping every busy center in Southern California.

Gibraltar Tract Is 1100 Feet Above Sea Level

If you have Gibraltar build you a home on your tract costing $500 or more, during 1913, you will get 5% discount on your total purchase price, provided this discount does not exceed one-half the cost of the building.

ORANGES IN THE BLOOMINGTON DISTRICT WON 11 out of 18 prizes at the last National Orange Show at San Bernardino, also winning the GRAND SWEEPSTAKE PRIZE cup. You may see this great silver cup in our office. Oranges begin bearing the 4th year and FULL-BEARING GROVES at Bloomington have sold from $2000 UP PER ACRE. Added to the profits of the crop is the increase in value per acre, which is conservatively placed at $150 up to the sixth year, after which the increase is in proportion to the crop production. OLIVES BEAR THE FIFTH YEAR after planting. Curtis pays as high as $250 PER TON FOR RIPE PICKLING OLIVES, and the life of the tree is remarkable. Trees a century old at Santa Clara College are still bearing heavily. Thus, WITH THE WONDERFULLY RICH SOIL of the Gibraltar acreage, which is a DEEP, ALLUVIAL LOAM, so mixed with decomposed granite that it is friable, you can raise the greatest crops in the State with the assurance of elimination of dangerous frost.

California Lemons Best for Dividends

Extraordinary Opportunity to Obtain an Interest in One of the Finest 1080 Acre Groves in Southern California

Of all agricultural and horticultural pursuits, the Safest, Most Profitable and Most Permanent, is the Lemon Industry.

When the location, soil, climate and water are carefully selected, we find dozens of orchardists receiving as high as $1000.00 to $1200.00 per acre net per annum.

There are today very few large ranches remaining intact in Southern California, and among them is LA CHISPA, the property of the CITRUS FARMS COMPANY.

LOCATION

Just 52 miles from Los Angeles, on the line of the Southern Pacific Railway, in Ventura County, lies LA CHISPA, 1080 acres of the richest lemon soil to be found anywhere in California.

The property is about 14 miles from the ocean and snuggles close up against the hills. The land slopes gently to the south, giving the ideal southern exposure, and the high range of hills on the north gives ample protection against frost and destructive winds.

Mr. R. S. Vaile, the Commissioner of the Horticultural Commission of Ventura County, in a letter to the President of the Citrus Farms Company, after looking over this property, says in part:

"It seems to me that the land which your company controls is in an almost ideal situation for citrus orchard, lying as it does on the south exposure of the hills and being sheltered very considerably from the north and east winds. The slope is such that the drainage should be exceptionally good. The soil also should lend itself well to an irrigation proposition, as I do not question the under-drainage."

J. H. Coolman, pesident of the Covina City Water Co., says:

"This is to certify that I have personally inspected the poperty of the Citrus Farms Company, located in Pleasant Valley, County of Ventura, California, consisting of 1080 acres and 9 flowing wells of water. I consider this an ideal location and soil for the culture of lemons, and especially well located for irrigating. The soil is a sandy loam, has southern exposure, well protected from the winds, and, I am informed, frostless. I consider it one of the best propositions that has been placed before me for my consideration, and cheerfully recommend same to anyone interested in Citrus Fruit land, and, as a business proposition, worthy of careful consideration."

Mr. Charles Frederick Eaton, one of the most famous citrus experts in the world, who lived for 13 years in Sicily and Southern France studying the citrus industry, and who is a large stockholder in the company, says, in part:

"The location of the land is unsurpassed, the topography of the hills back of it being such that your orchards will be protected from the prevailing northwest winds. This, together with its elevation from the floor of the valley, insures its protection from cold currents of air, and therefore from frost. I find the soil's of that quality best suited to lemons. The valuable and abundant water rights you have secured, coupled with all the other essential factors, together with the scientific management you are planning to adopt, in my opinion insures great success to the enterprise."

SOIL

The CITRUS FARMS COMPANY have had the soils of this 1080 acres carefully analyzed by the best soil experts in the country. The opinions rendered are universally very high.

Prof. R. H. Loughbridge, of the University of California, says on this point, in part:

"From my observations and examinations, both physical and chemical, I believe the land to be admirably suited to lemon culture. The borings which I made show that the soil is a sandy loam, very uniform in texture and free from hardpan. It is composed of large proportions of quartz sand and potash minerals with an intermixture of fragments of shells and limerock. I found nothing in the soil that would interfere with the easy downward movement of air and moisture and the development of splendid root systems to the trees. The soil is warm and excellent drainage is afforded for any excess of water that may come into it; there is, therefore, no danger of stagnation of water and of its accompanying injuries to the tree roots. A chemical examination of the soils show that they are all well supplied with the elements of plant food."

Prof. E. W. Hilgard, a noted oil expert, of the University of California, fully concurs in the conclusion of Dr. Loughridge.

Mr. J. H. Norton, a well known horticulturist of Southern California, states as follows:—

"The good points I would emphasize in this soil, are. (a) it is free from rocks; (b) it is free from hardpan; (c) it has the best of physical composition and the indications that its chemical composition is good. If it has any undesirable features I failed to find them."

Mr. W. L. Watts, a well-known geologist and soil expert, makes a similar report.

CLIMATE

There are many locations in Southern California that are known as "practically frostless belts," but nearly every one of them was visited by frost during the recent cold spell (the coldest ever known in California.)

Conclusive proof was given at that time that this property is in an ABSOLUTELY FROSTLESS LOCATION, for not a single tender shoot was touched on the 85 acres of our groves already set out. We never used a smudge pot or employed any means to protect against frost, and today the groves stand out prominently as one of the very few citrus ranches in all Southern California not visited by frost.

SETTING OUT TWO-YEAR-OLD LEMON TREES ON LA CHISPA RANCH

This Grove Was Absolutely Untouched by Frost During the Recent Cold Spell

WATER

Water in Southern California is golden, especially in the citrus industry.

The company is exceptionally fortunate in controlling some 800 miner's inches of water.

Reports submitted by well-known engineers, among them Smith, Booth, Usher Co., Fairbanks, Morse Co. and the H. N. Tracy Co., all agree that our water will cost us but 1474c, or less than 15c per inch.

To fully realize what this means to the company it should be remembered that at Ontario, water is valued at $3000 a miner's inch—at $2000 a miner's inch at Whittier.

PLANTING

The work of planting the 1080 acres is going forward rapidly. Last fall about 85 acres were set out to two-year-old trees, as shown in the accompanying illustration. It is the intention of the company to rush the completion of the work on the balance of the ranch this spring. The stock used is carefully selected, is of pedigreed budwood, and is healthy, thrifty and free from insect pests.

MARKET

"The United States is annually consuming 19,000 carloads of lemons and its by-products, and it is conservatively estimated that we are using over 40% of this product at a prite ranging from $3.25 to as high as $15 per box," says the Oxnard, Cal., Courier. "Imagine the annual consumption of the U. S. if the price to consumers averaged about $3.00 per box. This price would yield a profitable return to the producers even now, and an extremely handsome one five years hence, when freight rates will be revolutionized by the Panama Canal."

In 1912 (July) New York reported afloat and in port unsold, 39,000 boxes of foreign lemons. At the same time, in 1911, there were 190,000 boxes; 1910, 120,000 boxes; 1909, 283,000 boxes; 1908, 148,000 boxes; 1907, 267,000 boxes; 1906, 102,999 boxes.

The demand is steadily increasing year after year, for, while oranges are classed as a luxury, lemons come under the head of necessities.

The uropean demand for lemons is increasing phenomenally. Exports from Italy to Denmark have increased in the past ten years about 3820%, to Germany 250%, to Switzerland 225%, to Belgium 230%, to Norway and Sweden 210% and to the United States about 75%.

"This increased demand for lemons in Europe has raised the price of the fruit," says Circular No. 3 of the Citrus Protective League of California.

Their Circular No. 4 says, in part: "The California crop of 1910-11 (lemons) is the largest in the history of the State. Nearly twice as much fruit has been shipped into the Eastern markets as in 1909-1910. On account of the increase in the California crop in 1911 and the freer shipment of the fruit to the Eastern markets, the wholesale price of 132,738 boxes of Italian lemons in New York in August, 1911, averaged about $2.60 per box. The importers have been reshipping lemons to Europe since the first of August. Mr. Sciortino, a prominent New York lemon importer, is quoted as saying that some of the exporters in Sicily would probably not permit the sale of lemons in New York below $4.00 a box wholesale on account of the higher prices in Germany and England."

PROFITS

An extremely conservative estimate by experts, who compiled the following table, shows what might reasonably be expected in profits from 1000 acres of our property planted to lemons, at the respective years shown therein:

4th year—1000 acres, 1 box to the tree—at $1.00 box, net.....$100,000.00
5th year—1000 acres, 2½ boxes to tree—at $1.00 box, net.....$250,000.00
6th year—1000 acres, 5 boxes to tree—at $1.00 box, net.....$500,000.00
7th year—1000 acres, 7 boxes to tree—at $1.00 box, net.....$700,000.00
8th year—1000 acres, 8 boxes to tree, at $1.00 box, net.....$800,000.00

Please note that the net profit is figured at but $1.00 per box any year, when as a matter of fact the market fluctuates from $1.00 to $5.00 per box net, in which event the return would be multiplied by the increase over $1.00 submitted.

That these figures are conservative is proven by the fact that dozens of archardists are receiving as high as $1000 and $1200 per acre per annum. Such groves cannot be purchased at any price, and a very ordinary lemon grove in Southern California finds a ready buyer at from $2500 to $3500 per acre.

Five acres of this beautiful ranch in lemons will some day be worth $3000 to $5000 per acre.

That well known men of large affairs fully appreciate the tremendous profit possibilities of this 1080-acre lemon grove is proven by the character of the large stockholders, residents of Ventura County.

Among the present stockholders are large walnut, bean, beet, apricot, orange and lemon growers, experts in horticultural and agricultural matters, and a number of them have already doubled their holdings in the company, as well as actively interesting their friends to do likewise.

As a basis of comparison, the Limoneira, a lemon orchard at Santa Paula, received 222,000 sold at $2.55 per box, making $566,100 on 340 acres, an average of $1665 per acre.

The Laffenwell orchard in 1907 received $160,000 for the crop from 85 acres of lemons and 25 acres of oranges, or $1455 per acre. It is generally claimed that the lemons made $1600 per acre that year.

The California Fruit Growers' Exchange, marketing as it does approximately 70% of the entire citrus crop of California, netted last year $2.31 per box for its entire season's shipments. It may readily be seen that the estimated net return of $1.00 per box in the above table is very conservative.

VALUE OF PROPERTY

To fully understand the great value of LA CHISPA RANCH, note what Mr. G. W. Faulkner says: "In handing you my subscription for a large block of stock in your corporation, I believe it to be the most remunerative and safest investment that I have ever made. I have known the eleven hundred acres for the past 20 years. I personally inquired of land owners adjoining your property, and found that their prices in all instances were two or three times what you paid for yours, and in four or five cases they were four times as high, and actually getting large returns on such valuation."

The value of the 85 acres already planted to lemons is today from $750 to $1000 an acre.

Citrus growers universally value a lemon grove of from 2 to 10 months old at $1000 per acre.

The assets of the Citrus Farms Company today are over 2½ times its capitalization of only $500,000—one of the best evidences of sincerity and worth of this investment. There is no inflated capitalization to eat up and consume the dividends.

Future of Lemon Industry

"To speak of the overproduction of lemons and by-products is absurd," says the Oxnard Courier, "in view of the restricted areas available for lemon culture in the United States. It is the view of many of the best posted on the lemon market that if the price East approximated $2 to $2.50 per box, the consumption would readily be 50 per cent greater than at present, and thus nearly 30,000 carloads would be consumed. This does not equal the present orange consumption of the U. S., and would be more than four times the present lemon production.

"California fruit is gradually taking the market and will eventually take it all," was the startling and sweeping statement made by Francis E. Hamilton, appearing in the interest of Citrus Fruit Importers at the Tariff Hearings, Nov. 18, 1908.

TRANSPORTATION

The opening of the Panama Canal will show a great saving in transportation rates to the growers. It is estimated that from $10,000,000.00 to $15,000,000.00 will be saved annually, according to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Every penny of this will go directly into the pockets of the growers.

The company's property is situated only one mile from the Southern Pacific railway, and just 14 miles from the ocean, so that ample transportation is afforded.

Supplementary Profits

For the past 12 years the entire 1080 acres has been farmed to lima beans, which will be continued by the company until the trees come into bearing.

Ventura County is a great bean growing country, and it is expected to take off from 20 to 25 sacks per acre, giving the company a profitable crop right from the start—which will materially assist in the expense of maintenance until the trees come into bearing.

AS AN INVESTMENT

The CITRUS FARMS COMPANY is a California corporation, capitalized for $500,000. It is the intention of the company to allow only a limited amount of stock to be sold—just enough, in fact, to bond the acreage—thereby securing the maximum profits to the few who will own the company.

This is an exceptional opportunity for any man or woman, even of limited means, to join the company and become part owner of what will be THE LARGEST LEMON GROVE IN THE WORLD.

This offering is backed by the most thoroughly indorsed lemon acreage in Southern California, lands and water improvements. Every dollar invested goes direct into the planting of the lemon groves and improvement of the property.

Not one cent is paid in salaries to any officer, director or stockholder in the company.

The Price of Stock Will Advance 33⅓% in Selling Price on February 15th, 1913

You are therefore strongly urged to investigate immediately. As owing to the limited offering of stock and the exceptionally favorable investment features, prompt action will be necessary.

It may be deemed advisable at some time in the future to subdivide this vast acreage. There is an ever increasing demand for five and ten-acre lemon groves, close to Los Angeles, in a PROVEN frostless area.

In the event that subdivision is decided upon at any time, those who now become part owners of this 1080 acres will be in a position to get SUBDIVIDERS' PROFITS.

Opportunities for making large money in California's Citrus Industry are not many and seldom will such an investment as this be offered you.

Wise men and women will take an early opportunity to visit the offices of the company (preferably today or tomorrow) and make a thorough investigation of this great offer.

Prompt decision will be necessary to all who desire to associate themselves with the building up of the largest lemon grove in the world and obtain a share of the annually increasing profits under such ideal circumstances.

If you are unable to visit the office during the day or before 9:30 p. m. today or tomorrow, it would be very wise to write a postcard or letter NOW asking for further details.

FOR LEASE—ONE OF THE VERY FINEST apartment houses in the city, consisting of 112 fine large rooms. This building will be finished outside with glazed brick and stone, presenting a very elaborate appearance, and inside in mahogany and white enamel. Among other attractive features will be a very large veranda across the front, a large lobby and amusement room, each being over 40 feet long, roof garden, passenger elevator, etc. I have built many fine apartment houses, but this one is the best yet and the best part of this proposition is the location, which is up on the hill near Fourth and Hope, only five minutes from this office, where you can keep all your apartments rented all the year at top prices. I can convince any sane person in ten minutes that this is the best location in Los Angeles today. I will lease this building for ten years to a responsible tenant for $1000 per month. See plans at my office.

CIGAR STORE. CIGAR STORE.

CLEARING $6000 ANNUALLY.

LEASE 4 YEARS.

Cigar store near Los Angeles; has cleared $6000 annually the past three years and continually increasing; rent $165; fixtures about $4000; stock about $7000; stock can be cut to $3000 or $4000. This place carries a ten days or two weeks' trial; one of the biggest propositions ever offered in a cigar store in Southern California; if you are a cigar man and have the money you should be interested in this. It is seldom that a proposition like this is on the market.

Unless you have the money and mean business do not answer this ad.

JACK E. CLOYD, with O'BRIEN-ROLLINS CO. 512 S. Hill.

HAVE A GOOD PAYING AGENCY THAT I will sell to the right party for $6000 CASH. Have business well established and going, recognized by architects and builders. About $3000 stock on hand, good orders to be filled and several well established agents in several of the Southern California towns. The field is unlimited for this commodity, as it is an absolute necessity to every class of home or building.

This ad will appear but once and I will not entertain professional ad answerers or brokers. If the right party does not appear who has business ability look this up. The business is profitable and will bear close inspection. Will show my bank receipts for past year to prove statements made.

Goods carried in car lots, office and warehouse combined with low rent on prominent street. Minute details will be gone into personally. References required. Address W. box 867, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

OWNER MUST LEAVE CITY. THIS IS A FINE OPPORTUNITY FOR SOMEONE WHO WANTS A NICE CLEAN BUSINESS. FURTHER PARTICULARS CALL ON REED & HAMMOND, 749 SOUTH SPRING.

BUSINESS CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY, 8 per cent. are against you with honest representation. Where do you get off at by misrepresentation? Before you buy any business call and find out our method of guaranteeing representation. Last week we investigated eight business chances for sale, and the result is to-wit: Three honest representations, one sacrifice, two "cooked-up" up to sell and get away quick, one mortgaged, selling as clear as one they refused investigation on, so you will confidently tell you anything you want or ought to know about any business in this city and guarantee the representation if we recommend the purchase. Our fee is small for the good we do. Talk to COLE SALLING, 223 Union Oil Bldg.

We make a specialty of loans where the borrower is not drawing a salary, by taking chattel security, and in no case are any papers recorded or any publicity.
We also make loans to people drawing a salary. Why? Because a person drawing a salary has a steady income and is easily able to meet our payments, and not because that is our security.
The salary is not bought, neither does the EMPLOYER or any one else know of the loan.
A PERSONAL INTERVIEW IS SOLICITED.
Which will in no way obligate you, should you not want to borrow.

Tropical Treasures.

Southwest Museum Acquires Rare Relics.

Angeleno's Queer Collection from Philippines.

Plans Long Arctic Trip in Canvas Canoe.

Two years of exploration and hardship in the Philippines have only whetted the appetite of Forrest Clark of this city for further adventure and he is preparing to leave for Alaska, where he will try to cover 3500 miles of streams up into the Arctic Ocean during the summer months of this year in a twenty-five-foot canvas canoe with one companion, A. D. Simpson, of San Diego. The rigors of this trip he expects will equal, if not surpass, those of his sojourn in the tropics among the cannibals and other savages.

On his recent return home he brought an interesting collection of weapons, pictures, clothing, which is abbreviated, ornaments and other strange things, all of which are housed in the Southwest Museum, under the jealous eye of Dr. Alliot, the curator.

During his stay in the islands, Clark was much among the wild men of Luson, who are divided in seven tribes, the Ilongots, Ifugaos, Bontoc-Igorrotes, Lepanto Igorrotes, Kalingas, Tingians and Negritos, and with the savages of other islands.

"These people have not felt the influence of civilization and are so far removed from the coast that not even the American soldiery has penetrated to their fastnesses in the mountains," said Clark. "They retain their ancient customs, their lack of dress and their strange manner of living.

WITHOUT VENEER.

"The Tingians are perhaps the most uncouth tribe of the savages. They are fond of dancing and produce their music by beating with their hands on the 'gansas,' or tom-toms. They are exceedingly fond of ornamentation and their head women have their arms and portions of their bodies covered almost completely with strings of beads, wound so as to form strange and striking designs. They are expert silversmiths, and out of coins they make curious rings of which the rich men have from five to ten in their possession."

Some of these rings and the beads worn by the women are on display at the museum. One of the strangest and most unusual articles of the collection is a head dress of the Ilongot, consisting of the beak of a hornbill bird, topped with plumes, the like of which not even the Smithsonian Institution possesses. The Kalingas have furnished much of the collection, among other things a wonderful example of the head ax, one side of which consists of a sharp pick, while the other has a curved blade which is used in decapitation by the head hunters of the tribe.

"The Kalingas are not as wild as the Ilongots, but are very primitive and even cannibalistic in their sacred rites," said Clark. "They are fond of jewelry and wear earrings of gold, silver and brass. One man wore an ornate necklace made of an old blue porcelain plate, which had in some strange manner found its way into the tribe. In addition he had on armlets of wild boar tusks, bracelets of coiled brass wire, plumes of chicken feathers, and a strange little straw hat worn on the back of the head.

"The Igorrotes are the most commonly known of the wild tribes, and are fond of dog meat, which they use principally at religious ceremonies. After the dog has been eaten the teeth are used in making necklaces and are highly prized. The women do most of the hard work. Their dress is next to nothing, mostly beads, brass ornaments, a loin cloth or gee-string. The men are physically well developed and powerful, but the women would not compare well with civilized ideals of the feminine form."

THROUGH FROZEN NORTH.

According to Clark, his proposed trip through Alaska, will be begun at Seattle, taking the inside passage to Skagway, then making a portage to White Horse, where the canoe will be launched in the upper Yukon to take them as far as Ft. Yukon, then up the Porcupine River to the nearest tributary of the Mackenzie, and up that mighty stream to the Arctic. A three-horse-power engine, sails and paddles, will be used for propulsion and the two adventurers will gather pictures, sketches, curious weapons and other things of interest.

Clark inherits the call of the wild. When only 17 he went to sea in a "square rigger" and visited many ports of Europe. With his brother he made a four months' canoe trip of the Everglades and reef-lined shores of Florida. Then he traveled through the West Indies, and Central America, going in 1910 to the Philippines. He is now 30 years of age.

BIDS FOR NEW STATION.

Southern Pacific Preparing to Begin Construction of Passenger Facilities About First of May.

Bids for the construction of the Southern Pacific new passenger station will be asked on or about March 15. The bidders will be given thirty days in which to submit bids, so it is probable actual construction work will be begun about May 1.

District Engineer Titcomb, who made these announcements yesterday, stated that in case bids are too high, the Southern Pacific itself may build the station. He further stated that persons occupying Southern Pacific ground on Central avenue had been asked to vacate and that the Southern Pacific will begin clearing the ground within a month.

The new station building, with its track accessories, will cost around $750,000. It will face Central avenue, where the Southern Pacific has 800 feet frontage on either side of Fifth street. Arrangements are being made with the city whereby Fifth street from Central avenue to the entrance to the present station will be turned over to the railroad company.

HE'S MERCHANT-LABORER.

Chinese with Hoe Cannot Be Deported, Because Lawfully Admitted to Country—Prior Case.

The decision of Judge Wellborn of the United States District Court, following that of the District Court of Appeal, delivered in 1909, that a Chinese when once legally in the country cannot be deported, may have the effect of clearing the calendar of pending cases, but in a way not entirely satisfactory to the government. The case of Lou Lim was dismissed yesterday by the immigration authorities.

Lim had a certificate showing he was a merchant in China, secured from Consul-General Wilder at Hongkong. He landed in San Francisco about three years ago, and was arrested while working in a garden near Pomona in 1911. He was unable to give any testimony to prove himself a merchant.

Under the ruling of the court in the Wong Qui case, that having been legally admitted to the United States he could not be deported, it was considered useless to carry the case farther. Lim is a partner in a Chinese garden at Pomona, and has been engaged as a common laborer since he left San Francisco two years ago.

AGED MAN'S FUNERAL.

Funeral services over the remains of Lester Bradner Kenney, who died of pneumonia at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Blanche K. Corby, No. 1129 West Sixth street, Friday night, will be privately conducted today. Mr. Kenney, who was 81 years old and a native of New York, leaves two daughters, Mrs. Corby and Mrs. Fred M. Wells and a son, Grant W. Kenney, all of this city.

ANNUAL GERMAN BALL.

Plans for the annual charity ball of the German Ladies' Benevolent Society to commemorate its thirty-second anniversary are being prepared by the members. The date selected is March 26, and the affair will be held in Turn Verein Hall.

HOME BUILDERS' BANQUET.

Fifteen Directors Honored By Selling Force—Guests From Southern California Points.

With an elaborate banquet at the Hotel Westminster last night, fifteen members of the board of directors of the Home Builders were entertained by the selling force. Covers were laid for forty and the repast was followed by addresses and toasts, Edward C. Fowles, superintendent of agents, being toastmaster.

General Agent H. C. Gallioupe was the principal speaker and others on the programme included J. N. Dew, Santa Maria; J. W. Eldridge, San Diego; G. H. Harris, Long Beach; T. A. Magee, Santa Ana. Several of the director guests were also called upon for brief toasts.

The director guests of honor were James S. Green, J. A. Winans, Stephen Ogden, W. R. Myers, W. B. Judson, W. M. Dixon, G. L. Thompson, George W. Beck, C. W. Roberts, L. R. Garrett, P. F. Schumacher, L. C. McKeeby, E. C. Kulil, Edward Bouton and James McLachlan.

PLANS PUBLIC CELEBRATION.

Upland Is so Proud of Its Street Lights That the Public Will Make Merry About It.

UPLAND, Feb. 8.—The city of Upland is planning a public celebration of the installation of the handsome new electroller lighting system on Second avenue. A concert by the municipal band, addresses by some of the heads of local organizations and possibly a street parade, are being considered. Mayor Lambrigger will be accorded the distinction of turning the switch which will light the street for the first time. It is thought, also, that the new lights for other parts of the city may be in place by the date fixed for the above celebration, Saturday, February 15.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Chief Engineer Pillsbury of the Pacific Electric system was before the Upland City Trustees at this week's session, asking a franchise to operate its cars across certain streets of the city. According to the plans of the company, as given out by Mr. Pillsbury, the cars of the electric line will probably be in operation between Upland and San Bernardino within fifteen months.

The bell used on a former schoolhouse in Upland has been secured and is now mounted in the bell tower of the city, corner of Tenth street and Third avenue. This bell is to be used as a curfew warning, in accordance with an ordinance recently adopted by the city.

H. C. Kennedy, for several years connected with the local school board has resigned, owing to the fact that he will probably be absent from the city a greater part of the time in future. Mrs. F. H. Manker succeeds Kennedy as clerk of the board, while A. H. Maxwell is chosen as the new board member.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Hadden have removed to Long Beach, where it is hoped the lower altitude may be of benefit to her health. For some ten years past, Mr. Hadden has been an employee of the O. K. Fruit Exchange in this city.

A number of the young men of Upland have plans under way for the presentation of the big annual minstrel show.

The Upland skating rink, under the management of G. R. Whiting, opened again for business this evening at the old Magnolia rink, on Second avenue.

The rainfall for the late storm, as reported from the powerhouse of the Ontario Power Company, in San Antonio Canyon, was 2.5 inches, up to 7 o'clock this morning. This brings the total of the season to this time, at that point, to 7.59 inches, or a considerable advance over the volume to this date last year. Who shall say Upland is a "dry town," now?. . . . .

LOS ANGELES TO EUROPE.

Fabre Line Takes First Step Toward New Service on Completion of Panama Canal.

Several trans-Atlantic steamship companies are planning to extend their service to the Pacific Coast on completion of the Panama Canal, and announcement is made of the first step in that direction by the Fabre Line. David F. Robertson of this city received the appointment yesterday of local agent of this French company.

The Fabre Line was inaugurated in 1881, the service being from New York to chief Mediterranean ports and the Far East. A weekly service of splendid new 14,000-ton steamers is maintained between New York, Algiers, Nice, Naples and Marseilles.

With the opening of the canal a rate from Los Angeles to Mediterranean ports about $40 in advance of the New York rate is promised.

TENTH AND BROADWAY.

The sale of the northeast corner of Broadway and Tenth street for Mrs. Florence Crampton Cutts to Meyer Lissner is reported by J. W. Wilkinson and F. S. Rowley, agents in the transaction. The property has a frontage of fifty feet on Broadway and of ninety feet on Tenth and is improved with a two-story brick building. The consideration is given at $175,000. Lissner owns the northwest corner of Main and Tenth and by his purchase secures the entire frontage on the north side of Tenth street from Broadway to Main.

FOR SOUTH LOS ANGELES.

Architectural plans are being prepared by the Richards-Neustadt Construction Company for a five-story reinforced concrete store and loft block projected by J. J. Fry for a site on the west side of South Los Angeles street, between Seventh and Eighth streets. Four elevators will be installed in the building, which will be modernly equipped throughout.

ANXIOUS ABOUT SON.

The mother of Bruce Carruthers, an 18-year-old boy of Vancouver, Wash., is anxious about her son and the local police have been asked to find him. She thinks he is here.

HER MAIDEN TRIP.

With a full passenger list, the new West Coast steamship, Paraiso, will arrive here Wednesday on her maiden trip from Portland. This vessel was built at the Craig yards at Long Beach and sent North light on a test trip.

Date Growing Industry

A telegram from Washington, D. C., January 18th, 1913, states:

"A date growing industry worth sixty million dollars ($60,000,000,) it is said will be established in the southwestern part of the United States as a result of the experimental work by the Agricultural Department, according to the statement to the House Committee on expenditures in the Agricultural Department by Dr. B. T. Galloway, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry. Dr. Galloway states that dates will be a valuable addition to our crop output." (See issue of Los Angeles Times and Los Angeles Tribune, Sunday, Jan. 19th.)

Immense Profits From Date Groves

Men Who Know Say That Date Groves Pay Big Dividends at a Valuation of $10,000 Per Acre. We Can Produce Them at $500 Per Acre. This Means $20 for Each $1 invested, and Big Dividends.

The first to grow dates on a commercial scale in the UNITED STATES was your "UNCLE SAM." In this he was backed by your money to the tune of $10,000 per year. This money was used in experimenting in different localities of the Southwest, and testing out different varieties of DATE PALMS and it has proven that the Coachella Valley is the ideal place and has proven that several varieties do better here than in their native soil. Among these is the famous DEGLET NOOR (Date of the light.) It has been proven beyond a doubt that DATES can be made to pay more per acre and more per dollar invested than any other fruit that is now grown on a large scale. While you have backed "UNCLE SAM" in this project, you have not as yet received your proportion of the profits from the investment. We now invite you to enter into your reward. Co-operate with us to the extent of $50, $100, $500 or $1000 (on easy payments if you desire) and receive the returns you are now entitled to. Let us mail you data or call at our office and talk dates with us. Send to the Government Experimental Date Grove at Mecca, Cal., for Government Report on DATE GROWING.

WE ARE A CO-OPERATIVE COMPANY, MANAGED BY A BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF KNOWN AND PROVEN INTEGRITY.

WE HAVE SELECTED AND PURCHASED 890 ACRES SURROUNDING THE GOVERNMENT DATE GROVE AT MECCA, CAL.

OUR LAND IS A-1 FOR DATE GROWING, WITH FLOWING WELLS OF PURE WATER.

WE HAVE 1600 FOUR-YEAR-OLD DATE PALMS (GROWN FROM GOVERNMENT SEED.) THE 1500 PALMS SHOULD PRODUCE OVER 12,000 OFF-SHOOTS DURING THE NEXT FIVE YEARS.

THESE OFF-SHOOTS HAVE A VALUE OF FROM $7 TO $10 EACH.

In addition to profits from DATE growing, we will make large profits from subdividing. We have one-half of the townsite of Mecca—the town that will be the banner Town of the Coachella Valley—the town of pure water surrounded by A-1 land—also a large block of land subdivided into 10-acre plots which we will commence to market at once. We have an authorized capital of only $200,000. You can readily see that our stock is bound to advance to many times its par value, as we do not intend to increase our Capitalization. We are now offering a limited amount at par, 10 cents. This allotment will undoubtedly be over-subscribed in a few days. All subscriptions will be filled as received. Over-subscriptions will be returned at once. Theassets back of this stock give it an actual value of over 15 cents per share at this issue.

Our office will be open until 9 o'clock every evening next week for your accommodation.

Eyeglasses and Spectacles

Only Two Cents Each

YET YOU WOULDN'T PAY EVEN A CENT IF YOU HAVE NO NEED OF THEM

Would You Like to Be Freed From Slavery to Glasses? If So, Read the Interesting Book Now Obtainable Free

It is predicted that within a few years eyeglasses and spectacles will be so scarce that there will be no demand for them except as curiosities, and we may see the signs offering them at two cents a pair. This is consistent with the progress of science in this age of wonders, of flying machines, wireless telegraphy, telephones, phonographs, etc., but especially in the marvelous advancement of knowledge in saving lives and health—including that of the all-important organs of sight!

Eyeglasses Are Merely Eye Crutches.

A book has been written by Dr. Corish, an eminent New York physician, on eyestrain and other eye disorders which cause so much trouble to those afflicted, including the need of wearing eyeglasses or spectacles.

This treatise explains a simple, safe, self, home-treatment method whereby one who wears eyeglasses, or fears the need of soon doing so, may gradually strengthen the nerves, muscles and membranes of the eyes until they are in so much better condition that "opticians' windows" are unnecessary. Anyone who reads the book soon realizes that Dr. Corish has given the world what is has long desired—a system of eye saving that is absolutely devoid of belladonna, opium, atropine or other harmful drugs, commonly used in eye remedies, and which depend chiefly upon the finer principles of nature.

Dr. Corish has written enthusiastically, yet carefully. He comes forward with the edict that eyeglasses must go. His slogan is

"Throw Away Your Glasses."

The Doctor says the ancients never disfigured their facial beauty with goggles, but they employed certain natural methods, which have lately been brought to light, which Dr. Corish has improved upon and added to, with the aid of modern science. His book is not written in technical language, even a child can understand it. This brochure is aptly entitled

"How to Save the Eyes."

An edition has been printed which will be given away—one copy absolutely free to every person who asks for it. There will not be a cent to pay. It is only necessary to write (a postcard will do,) to Okola Laboratory, Dept. 2267, Rochester, N. Y., and the book will come to you promptly, in plain wrapper gratis, postpaid.

Health Damaged by Ailing Eyes.

Weak or ailing eyes do not hold their disorders within themselves, but are often allied with other serious troubles, such as headaches, nervousness, neurasthenia, sleeplessness, morbid cravings, fear of approaching calamity, inability to concentrate thoughts, irritability, despondency and a long train of other afflictions which could be eliminated if the eyes were brought to a normal condition, so that glasses need not be used. The book tells about these disorders and how to overcome them.

How to Possess Beautiful Eyes.

Get rid of your glasses, adopt the simple method explained in the book, and you may soon become the possessor of beautiful, expressive, soulful, magnetic eyes, such as are the admiration of all. Millions are today wearing glasses who could soon discard them if they adopted the method brought forth by Dr. Corish. A person with natural, perfect eyesight, free from disfiguring spectacles, has the best winning chance in life.

Valuable Book Is Free to You.

"Worth its weight in gold," is one of the expressions often used in praising Dr. Corish's book. It is interesting for men and women of all ages. This treatise and the method described, as well as parts of our advertisement, are being imitated—as are all good things—but brass could never replace true gold, neither could anything else take the place of Dr. Corish's book and method, so do not delay, but write now. You will be surprised and delighted with what you receive.

TETZLAFF AFTER WORLD RECORD AT ASCOT PARK.

May Snatch the Honors from Barney Oldfield and His Showing This Afternoon May Result in Another Match With Speed King on the Dirt Course — George Hill, Felix Magone and Frank Verbeck to Shine.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

With the mile track in almost perfect condition the automobile race at Ascot Park this afternoon promises to be the best ever held there. Teddy Tetzlaff is in addition to break a world record. He will mind the Fiat "Cyclone" out over the marks held by Barney Oldfield and he may finish the afternoon with a new world record to his credit. The first race is to be started at 2:30 o'clock.

Though Tetzlaff is not the only attraction the champion is the big drawing card. He has driven himself to the world honors for the past two years and now is anxious to annex the title of speed king of dirt track racing. The Fiat is fast enough and Tetzlaff has the nerve. Now that the track in such fine condition the marks kept up today may make Barney Oldfield hustle.

The test is a crucial one. Oldfield is known as Ascot Park. Tetzlaff is going after the marks held by the champion and is asking no odds. He is anxious to get a match with Oldfield and this meet may mean that he will be forced into another match with the Fiat driver on the dirt track at Ascot Park. It is agreed by auto racing fans that Oldfield is the champion when it comes to circular mile and dirt track racing. Tetzlaff defeated Oldfield on the Motordrome. Now he would like to match the honors from the speed king on a dirt course. The fans will have a chance to judge of the showing made by Tetzlaff this afternoon.

Felix Magone, who will be sent away in the 120-horse-power speedster, is a clever driver who has attained a measure of honor by winning a big road race and has shown up well in a number of meets held on dirt tracks. He will be out today to add to his list of first honors.

Frank Verbeck, who will drive the Stutz Blazer, is the holder of the world's twenty-four-hour record. He won the honors in the twenty-four hour race at the Motordrome in the Fall, and is in training for the meet this year. The Napier is a powerful car that has been driven by world honors on the Brookland's track in England. It is particularly well adapted to the mile course and Verbeck is confident he will be able to win.

Ralph Mulford will drive a Zust. The car is one of the old world cars, but he is slated to drive the Zust. With this German car the Italian driver may be sent into a front rank as he will meet some of the best drivers known to the industry. Magone is anxious to appear before a crowd in Los Angeles and he has trained faithfully in the rain in order to make what he terms the right kind of showing.

The twenty-five-mile race today will call out a number of cars. This event is to be pulled off toward the end of the afternoon and the cars will be sent away with a bid for a world record in the 230 cubic inches and under class. This race is to be followed by the pursuit event which will close the afternoon's programme.

The thrills will come in the time trials. The drivers on the big cars will be sent away in these events and some fast time is promised. Tetzlaff, of course, will be the star in this part of the programme though there are those who believe that George Hill may give Teddy a run for the money.

RACQUET CHAMPION MAY QUIT GAME.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch.] Charles Williams of London, the world's racquet champion, probably never will play another game of professional racquets again, owing to his nerve-racking experience during the sinking of the Titanic, on which he was a passenger.

Williams has refused to accept the challenge of Jack Soutar, professional of the Racquet Club of Philadelphia, to play a match of three sets for $1500 a side, a match in which the club members had agreed to back Soutar to the extent of $25,000 in a side bet.

In his letter refusing the challenge, Williams says his nerves have not recovered from the shock of the Titanic disaster, and that he never expects to be able again to play the game that brought the title to him.

PAPKE AND KRAUS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Special Dispatch by Federal (Wireless) line.] In a letter received from Al Lippe, manager of Billy Papke, between Papke and Frank Kraus is creating more interest than the go between Papke and Carpentier. "I expect the bout will draw at least $30,000, and I am so sure that Billy is going to win that I intend to bet every cent I've got on him."

M'CARTY WILLING TO MEET JOHNSON.

[By Wireless Line to The Times.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch.] Luther McCarty, claimant of the white heavyweight championship, in Philadelphia declared he would meet Jack Johnson for the world's title if the public showed any desire for the match and his manager, Billy McCarney requested it. "I will meet Jack Johnson," said McCarty, "If my manager, Billy McCarney, orders me to do so. I mean just what I say, 'orders me.' I am working under the instructions of McCarney and although I am opposed to meeting negroes I will jump into the ring to meet Jack Johnson if Billy says the word."

"KNOCKOUT" BROWN IS BUILT ON RUGGED LINES.

Boy Who Is to Meet Joe Rivers Is Tow-Headed and Shapes Up Decidedly Teutonic in Facial Architecture. New Yorker Six Hours Behind Schedule—Will Visit Kid Williams Today.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

VALENTINE BRAUN, the same being the original and imported name of "Knockout" Brown, disappointed quite a few of his friends who had assembled at the "daypo" to witness his arrival into the land of fistic plenty, by running about six hours behind schedule.

This will all be forgiven, however, as it was not the fault of Mr. Brown "K. O." was due to arrive here at 4:30 p.m. But as he does not fight until February 22, what is a mere matter of six hours?

Just a hurried look at the young man who is to box Joe Rivers on Washington's Birthday, for Brown, although entitled to a place in the record books for some time now, is a total stranger in Los Angeles.

Brown was born in America, but that doesn't prevent him from being distinctly Dutch from the soles of his feet to the tip of his tow head. Yes, that's right. Those of you who may have imagined that he was dark and forbidding, have a couple of thinks coming. "K. O." is of the tow-headed type of beauty. Place him behind the counter in a delicatessen, and you would expect him to say: "Vot gan I do vor you today?"

He doesn't talk that way, but he looks like he might.

Brown is built along rugged, stocky lines—lines denoting the strength of a Wolgast.

Although he has not yet attained the championship, he has been an industrious boxer, and has accumulated much coin of the realm through the fisticuff medium. When fame and fortune began coming his way, Brown did not shake the "old folks."

Instead he set them up in a residence that cost him a rental of $1500 a year. They are now residing at Rockaway Park in a home which Brown purchased for them at an expense of $25,000.

Brown is expected to train at Venice. He will visit that camp today, and witness the activities of Kid Williams.

Nearing the Finish.

With their battle but three days away, Eddie Campi and Kid Williams will do some elaborate training today. While it will not be the finish of their work for Wednesday's bout, it will be the climax, as they will ease down after today's whirlwind of activity.

Each man will box about twelve rounds. For Williams, it will be the least of the glove work. He is not a boxer of the fancy type, and Sammy Harris is aiming particularly at strength and ruggedness. Harris is banking on superior stamina to win for his man.

Out at Doyle's, Campi will use Babe Picato, Sam Morris, Joe Walker and Manuel Vierra. He will also box a few exhibition rounds with Joe Rivers. This is a classy array of talent, and should give the fans a fine line on Campi's real ability.

Vierra is a recent addition to Campi's staff. He is a Frisco lad, and one of the toughest 125-pounders in the West. He claims the Coast title at that weight. Babe Picato is to meet Solly Burns in the ten-round semi-windup of the Williams-Campi

FACULTY AX SHATTERS POMONA TRACK TEAM.

Star Men Fail to Pass Exams, Then Leave College. Season's Cinder Prospects Ruined—Baseball Team Is Still in Running, U.S.C. Dropped from the Schedules, Throop Poly Replacing Trojans.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

THERE is woe in Claremont. Also there will be woe in the ranks of the Southern California intercollegiate athletes when it is learned that the Pomona College track and field squad has been wrecked for the season of 1913 by the faculty ax and the recent freeze in the citrus belt.

The first semester examinations are just over and when the awful toll was taken and heads counted, only a shattered shell of the once promising track team was left to the mourning students and Coach Stanton.

Clifton Barnes, the crack pole vaulter and hammer thrower, was plucked in one of his courses and failed to pass in twelve hours of college work. He is not eligible and cannot make up the work, as his professor has left for Egypt, so Cliff has pulled up stakes and left college.

"Speed" Brooks, hurdler and crack broad jumper, Jesson and Sanderson, two more fast barrier men, have not been allowed to register for the second semester, so are also out of the running for track. Durkee, who has been putting the shot 41ft. 6 in., has had to leave college on account of the freeze, as it nearly ruined the family fortune.

Gossard and Butler, two promising middle distance freshmen, have left for the same reason that forced Durkee out, while Johnson, a new weight man, failed to pass his exams. Coach Stanton is sore and wants to know if he is expected to turn the clumps of sage brush into track and field point winners.

HOPE FOR BASEBALL.

Baseball prospects are still bright, as all the diamond stars weathered the faculty storm, Barnes being the only man to get his wings clipped. As this is about Pomona's only chance to break into the winner's column, all attention will probably be turned to the baseball team and Capt. Harry Kingman says that there will be a game every week from this time on.

though later in the season there is from the Pomona schedule this season in both baseball and track, owing to the fact that Managers Jones and Bovard could not agree on dates. Throop Polytechnic Institute, of Pasadena, has been put in the place of the Trojans on the baseball schedule, though later in the season there is still some chance of the baseball squads coming together.

TRACK SEASON RUINED.

The track season is ruined and with this terrible slaughter of point winners by the strict Pomona faculty, it is now very doubtful about Pomona entering the great A.A.U. meet February 22. At the present time "Larry" Gillette, captain of the track team, is about the only sure point winner on the shattered team. However, the A.A.U. meet has been left on the schedule and nothing definite will be done in regard to it until Stanton has had time to pick up the pieces.

The newly arranged Pomona schedules are as follows:

Track and field meets:

February 15—Relay carnival at Occidental.

February 22—A.A.U. meet, Bovard Field.

March 1—Los Angeles High School at Claremont.

March 8 or 15—Occidental at Caremont.

Baseball dates:

March 1—Throop Poly at Claremont.

March 8—Sherman Indians at Riverside.

March 22—Throop Poly at Pasadena.

April 12—University of Redlands at Redlands.

April 19—Occidental, at Claremont.

April 26—Whittier at Whittier.

May 3—Occidental at Baer Park.

May 10—Whittier at Claremont.

NEW YORK GIRLS ARE GOOD ATHLETES.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch.] There are 17,602 girls taking part in athletics in 212 schools, according to Mrs. Alfred Seton Post's report at a meeting of the girl's branch of the Public Schools Athletic League in the home of Mrs. James Speyer.

Mrs. Post told of the great increase in the number of girls qualifying in all around athletics—which means a full season's practice and development in high school athletics.

Gen. George W. Wingate urged that walking clubs be started in the schools to revive what he called a lost art.

"New Yorkers take a cab or a street car to go twenty doors. Why should we be helpless dependents on vehicles?

"The Public School Athletic League ought to have any number of walking clubs.

"Walking is one of the good things good for both boys and girls."

Gen. Wingate founded the league in 1903, but its greatest development, he said, had been within the last four or five years.

BEAVERS HAVE NEW BALL PARK.

McCREDIE HAS BEEN FIXING THINGS UP.

Has Installed Drainage System to Prevent the Diamond Becoming a Bunch of Mush—Sod to Be Placed Around the Bases and on Pathway to Pitcher's Box.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When the Angels come to Portland this spring they won't know the Beavers' new ball park. Profiting by the experiences of last year, when the grounds were new, the owners have decided to do away with infield bare spots. Likewise the holes in the outfield will be filled in and the garden artists from down south will have a floor to play on as level as a billiard table.

The pathway from the pitcher's box to the plate will be filled in with sod and the base lines will be raised and the bare spots around the sacks filled in with a grassy blanket.

There are two reasons for this. Moisture, the baseball magnate's enemy, is the foe of the McCredies. It was this that caused them to install such a comprehensive draining system when the grounds were built. But mud around the bases made the going soft and slow at times last season. Therefore grass has been ordered to grow in these places, much to the everlasting satisfaction of players and the base runners.

The grass on the line between the pitcher's box and the catcher will make it easier for the catcher. It will remove a certain element of chance in catching out a fleet runner from second or third when a single gives the runner a chance. The ball usually is fielded by the outfielder in the plays referred to by the McCredies, and if the player is onto his business there is but one chance to take—that is to throw straight for home, if possible. To do this, presuming he has caught out the batter, means to throw so that the ball will roll at least across the infield.

What has been the result of the first year of the new park? The ball has started rolling on the infield, first hit a grass plot and then bounded in the base lines or the line from pitcher to catcher, and hitting the outer edge of these lines, where the turf begins again, bounded high into the air, setting the catcher into 500 instantaneous spasms of uncertainty. He is not only forced to give the runner undivided attention, but he is forced to exert all his guessing powers to ascertain about where the ball is going to hit and bound or whether it is going to follow its intended course undiverted. If the ball bounds on the turf ridge, it is pretty certain the runner is going to score—by chance, whereas if the ball comes on undiverted, it is a pretty sure chance he is going to stop at third or get home by sheer skill and speed.

The McCredies declare they are going to exert every effort to make the games on the Portland grounds come up to scientific ball playing at every angle, and eliminate every possible chance for chance playing.

NOBBY NATIONAL PAIR OF BLUES.

MOTORS LARGE AND POWERFUL, WITH COMFORTABLE BODIES.

Chrome Nickel Steel Enters Largely Into Construction of Parts and Nineteen-Thirteen Cars Embody All the Latest Kinks Known to the Motor Trade.

Two attractive roadsters were received by the National Motor Car Company last week. One of these cars was finished in a light blue while the other was in the National blue. Both were racy-looking, the seats being low in the frame so that all that is needed to transform them into a racer is to remove the fenders. They carry an extra large fuel tank. The seats are deep and tilted backwards just far enough to make them most comfortable. The springs are long and flexible, and as these roadsters are popular among a good number the cars are sure to soon be one of the favorites.

The new cars are not unlike the other models in construction and design. The motors are large and powerful, having a speed davelopment of seventy-five miles, and some to spare. The Nationals are made of the best steel obtainable, which is scientifically heat treated. All driving parts, subject to any torsional strain, are made of chrome nickel. Parts subject to vibration are made of vanadium steel. The gears are of chrome nickel, and studs and bolts are of specially treated chrome nickel steel.

KICK A POLICEMAN, RIDE IN PEERLESS.

The city of San Francisco is to give everyone a chance to take a joy ride in a beautiful new blue Peerless. These cars, two of which arrived last week, will be put into public service and no charge whatever will be made for rides. There will be no taximeter attached and at the end of the trip the driver will not hop out and present his staggering bill.

Rides will be given in the order of application. To enjoy the purring of these high-grade motors requires compliance with a few simple rules, any of the following of which will secure the ride:

Steal a loaf of bread.
Hit your neighbor with a brick.
Kick a policeman.
Swear at the traffic officer.
Steal a baby.

Perform any of the above mentioned things and the Peerless with its new blue paint and blue-coated driver will be at your service.

A great many cities have automobile police patrols, in fact, the city that does not is very much of a back number, but San Francisco is one of the few that has selected one of the highest grade cars.

This was done on the theory that the purchase of a high-grade motor patrol in the first place would mean a saving in the long run. These cars are good for ten years of service and the upkeep expenses will be small.

About two-thirds of the electric trucks in use at the present time are of the two to three-ton size.

Good Roads.

BEACH LINE BOULEVARD UNITES THREE COUNTIES

Boon to Farmer and Orange Grower—Freight Bills Chopped Down—Resorts Connected by Hard Roads, and Tourists Will Have Opportunity to Drive Over Highways that Are Smooth.

MOTOR CAR owners are interested in the plan for a beach line boulevard that will connect all the larger cities of Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside counties. The Automobile Club of Southern California has taken a firm hold of the plan and it will be rushed with all speed. It is proposed to complete the road from Los Angeles to San Pedro by way of Wilmington and to connect Redondo and Long Beach.

This is the route already chosen. From San Pedro to Redondo, thence back to Wilmington and north of Gardena, to Compton and through Compton to Clearwater, follow Artesia street until the road strikes the line of Orange county, thence through Buena Park to the Anaheim road as far as Olive. The road then will follow the Santa Ana Canyon to Corona and along Magnolia boulevard to Riverside.

This makes, according to the present arrangement, fifteen miles of road to be built by Los Angeles county, a mile and a half by Orange county and about three miles by Riverside county. It is the purpose to follow, as far as possible, the points of least resistance. The good roads will be included in the system wherever possible.

Taking this route it will be easy to drive to Long Beach over the present excellent boulevard. This can also be sent along the beach front to Anaheim, where the good road will be struck again. The tour can be continued through Anaheim to Santa Ana and thence through the canyon to Corona and Riverside.

Three counties are included in the system. The larger towns on this side, Orange and Los Angeles, will be reached. The new road system will be large enough to link each county seat. The farmer or motor man of each county already have signified a desire to see for this great project and when the road is completed trade will be diverted along the routes connected.

There are possibilities in the boulevard system which are great. Farm products can be marketed, the orange crop can be moved over the roads to the harbor at San Pedro. This possibility appeals to the business man and this phase of the project makes the road-building project one of never-ending interest.

At the present time many of the largest orchards are cut off from good roads. The boulevard will connect each of these districts and the cost of hauling into town will be reduced one-third and the farmer will benefit. It will mean business for motor trucks. In addition to this it will save the farmer, the producer, many of his home bills.

High Water Mark.

SELF-STARTING KNOX WAGON FOR GLENDALE

TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS worth of business in one day was the record hung up by the Vance-Canavan Company on Friday. The high-water mark was reached when a contract to furnish Glendale with a complete Knox combination hose and chemical fire wagon was signed by James J. Canavan. The apparatus will be equipped with electric and oil lights and with the latest electric starting device.

After a careful investigation of the needs of the city, Trustees Coker, Tower and Thompson and Mayor Tom Watson, decided on the Knox. The specifications call for a motor fire-fighting truck that will have the right kind of a speed, the full equipment of hose and chemical parts and the latest in every accessory known to the industry.

With the fire wagon contract tucked nicely away the next contract was a Knox tractor and this was [illegible] by two Case sales in rapid succession. Case "40" cars are to be delivered on Monday to the promoters of the city, and the business of the firm is complete with a record that will be hard for the concern to beat even in the busy season a month hence.

The fifteen-ton Mack truck recently sold to the firm of Irvo & Hall and a ten-ton tractor were sold [illegible] before to Montgomery & Member Company. The Knox agency controls the sale rights for the manufacture of the Knox boats, which is made in models ranging in price as twenty-five apiece. The purpose of the Vance-Canavan company to push the sale of the Knox cars and Knox tractors while they are making a strong bid to secure commercial channels as Canavan says is a large market in the city and a field for the Knox line that includes the fire apparatus.

A motor stage line has been established between Pueblo and Beuhlah, a distance of thirty miles, in Colorado.

KEETON CONCERN [illegible]

Forest M. Keeton, president of the Keeton Motor Company, [illegible] makes the announcement of the appointment of F. L. Lozier as salesman of the selling department, John Andre as buyer of the purchasing department of the Keeton company. Both names [illegible] factory, where they held [illegible] tions. W. B. Dean has been [illegible] Keeton Motor Company of [illegible] land, to distribute the product of the Keeton factory in that territory. Dean was manager of the [illegible] of the Olds Motor Works from 1904 to 1911.

Dean has already closed agencies in Bridgeport, Hartford, Worcester and other cities.

...excellent boulevard. Then a car can be sent along the beach front to Anaheim, where the good road will be struck again. The tour can be continued through Anaheim to Santa Ana and thence through the canyon to Corona and Riverside.

Three counties are included in the system. The larger towns of Riverside, Orange and Los Angeles county will be reached. The new road system will be large enough to include each county seat. The farmers and motor men of each community are ready to have signified a desire to work for this great project and when the road is completed traffic will be diverted along the routes already outlined.

There are possibilities in this boulevard system which are surprising. Farm products can be marketed. An orange crop can be moved over good roads to the harbor at San Pedro. This possibility appeals to the citrus man and this phase of the proposition makes the road-building project one of never-ending interest.

At the present time some of the largest orchards are cut off by the poor roads. The beach line roads will connect each of these districts and the cost of hauling his farm produce will be reduced one-third and the farmer will benefit. It will mean larger business for motor trucks. In addition to this it will save the farmer, the fruit producer, many of his larger fruit bills.

KEETON CONCERN ACTIVE.

Forest E. Keeton, president of the Keeton Motor Company, Denver, makes the announcement of the appointment of F. L. Lovelace as salesman of the painting department of the John Andre as foreman of the trimming department of the Keeton company. Both come from the Fox factory, where they held like positions. W. B. Dean has formed the Keeton Motor Company of Portland, to distribute the product of the Keeton factory in that territory. Dean was manager of the Detroit branch of the Olds Motor works from 1909 to 1911.

Dean has already placed agencies in Bridgeport, Hartford, Fresno, Worcester and other cities.

TRAGIC DEATH CALLS FOR DRASTIC RULING.

Beware of holding to a motor truck or touring car while riding a bicycle.

This warning is given to small boys who are in the habit of risking their lives on the slippery pavement by stealing a ride while a truck or touring car is moving. Boys are in the habit of doing this frequently. The police have been asked to arrest all offenders.

The sad accident in which a 12-year-old lad lost his life on West Pico street last week has aroused parents. The little boy was riding a bicycle while holding to the side of a heavy five-ton truck. He slipped from his wheel, fell beneath the rear wheel of the truck and his young life was crushed out of his body.

Fathers and mothers are anxious to stop this dangerous practice. The police drag-net is out for these daring youngsters and the accidents that have happened recently will not occur again if the "folks at home" have their way.

Motor car drivers, on both trucks and touring cars, are asked to see to it that boys are not allowed to "hang on." It is too dangerous and chauffeurs will confer a favor if they will force the boys to "let go" when they catch them stealing a ride.

BERT WEST HIGH GUN AMONG DEALERS.

Best West is high gun among the accessory dealers. He has proved to be one of our best sharpshooters when it comes to bagging ducks. The fogs of the past week have served to cut down his average, but even at that the president of the Western Rubber and Supply Company, has a long lead on Wallace Chanslor, and Ed Featherstone.

Now when it comes to sharpshooting Ed Featherstone is some sport. He shoots from the hip, if his story can be believed, about half the time. The ducks have been so wild lately that Ed has not had time to bring his gun to his shoulder. Because of this he has been unable to overcome the long lead that Bert West obtained early in the season.

Speaking about real gunmen, however, Phil Lyon is a "shark." He decides on the number of ducks he will bag before he leaves. Phil always makes that number small enough so that he will have no trouble carrying the birds home. He also advises his friends that he will only have three pairs to distribute. The advice is significant.

Speaking about hunters, Guy West is the original nimrod. He is so disgusted with his luck that he has decided to remain at home for the rest of the season. He started with a wild dash, shot two limits, and then failed to hit a mudhen at twenty yards. That settled it for Guy, and since then he has been home attending to the office.

That Howdy Special.

IMPERIAL VALLEY ROAD RACE TO HAVE MANY CARS.

IMPERIAL, Feb. 6.—The automobile enthusiasts of Imperial Valley are rapidly completing the arrangements for the annual Imperial road race, which will be held February 22. In spite of the opposition which has arisen at San Diego on account of the fact that the race is to be held under the auspices of the W.A.A. instead of the A.A.A., and despite the slight friction between the north and south ends of the valley, occasioned by the old national highway disagreement, the auto fiends have come together on this occasion and the race will probably witness a reunion of all valley auto owners and admirers.

The Racing Committee, representing the five important cities of the valley and composed of responsible business men, has guaranteed a purse amounting to $5000 and entries have been received from masters and past masters of the auto game. The course is over 206 miles of valley roads and passes through Imperial, El Centro, Calexico, Holtville and Brawley. The starting and finishing point will be decided by the amount of money subscribed by the various cities and the racers will probably undergo some of the hardest trials ever experienced by auto drivers.

The Board of Supervisors of Imperial county has taken a keen interest in the race and every Supervisor has started a force of men to work in his district to put the roads in the best possible condition. The Race Committee, consisting of Roy F. Benton of Imperial, Peter Hoveley of Brawley, I. A. McCoy of Calexico, D. H. Williams of Holtville, J. V. Wachtel, Jr., and Bert Irwin of El Centro, accompanied by several members of the Board of Supervisors, will go over the entire route on Saturday and will thoroughly inspect the route to be traversed. Imperial Valley will be represented in the race by two—possibly three—machines.

Ed Lyons, the winner of second money in the San Diego-to-Phoenix road race, accompanied by Swede Swanson, who drove with Fred Fuller and won third money in the Los Angeles-to-Phoenix race, will drive the same National which won the Santa Monica road races, now owned by Fred V. Waters of Imperial. Ed Lyons won the Fourth of July road race in Imperial Valley and as this race is to be over the same course he is considered a hot favorite for first place.

Fred Fuller's National will be entered, but unfortunately Fuller will not be able to drive, as he has not yet recovered from the serious accident which befell him some six weeks ago. It is possible that Steve Lyons will drive this car.

Barney Oldfield has entered a Benz. Teddy Tetzlaff, holder of speed and road race titles, a Fiat, and George Hill, winner of the San Diego New Year's Day race, a Fiat. Any number of drivers of lesser importance have made applications for entry blanks.

Two Studebakers will be entered by Bill LaCasse, and Frank Goode will drive one of them. One high-class entry is assured from Hollywood and another from San Francisco, while Charles Guest, a local driver, will enter a Case "30."

Hupmobile Man's Record.

COME TO SOUTHLAND SAYS NASON TO SCHOOLMATE.

M. C. NASON has been setting a record the past week that will be hard to beat. He disposed of twenty Hupmobiles in six days. When business was started on Monday morning the show-room was full of late model "Hups." Wednesday a hurry order was wired to the factory for more cars and on Saturday night the entire floor was cleared.

That smile on Nason's face was one of the kind that does not come off. Satisfied with the work of the six days he prepared to take the right kind of a rest. This promises to be the biggest year in the history of the local Hupmobile agency and Agent Nason is prepared all ready to enjoy a vacation in Virginia, the home of his boyhood.

This decision came when William C. Graves, a banker of Orange, Va., and his cousin, L. W. Graves, visited the Hupmobile salesroom the early part of the week. William Graves was a schoolmate of Nason's and the two boys grew up together near Charlottsville, Va. Both visitors are bankers and large land owners and were more than surprised to find the lad they had known in earlier years had graduated into one of the prominent motor car dealers of the western metropolis.

The visitors had come from the South prepared to study conditions in Southern California. They had not been here two days until each decided to purchase an orange grove. They are to be out this week with Nason in a Hupmobile spying out the land. They will locate here.

"If you want to enjoy life live in the Southland," was the advice given to Graves by his schoolmate. "Buy a ranch and settle in Southern California and you will live longer, enjoy better health and make more money."

As far as making money was concerned neither of the Virginians was interested. They had made about enough. They are after comfort and are in a fair way to get enough of that. It does not take a great stretch of imagination to see these two driving Hupmobiles into the city from their big ranches and with their happy families touring over the fine roads near Los Angeles.

According to Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, Chief of Staff of the Army, more money was spent in the United States last year for automobile tires than was appropriated for the navy, while the salaries of the chauffeurs amounted to more than was spent on the army.

Declaration of Policy

OF THE MAXWELL MOTOR CO.

(INCORPORATED)

To the Automobile-Buying Public:

THE MAXWELL MOTOR COMPANY has acquired by purchase and free from debt the assets of the late United States Motor Company, consisting of the following plants equipped for the manufacture of automobiles and automobile parts and accessories.

THE MAXWELL-BRISCOE PLANTS at Auburn; Maxwell-Briscoe plants at Tarrytown, N. Y.; Maxwell-Briscoe plants at Newcastle; Brush Manufacturing Company's plants at Detroit; Alden-Sampson Company, Detroit;

STODDARD-DAYTON COMPANY'S PLANT at Dayton, Ohio; the Briscoe Manufacturing Company, Detroit;

THE COLUMBIA MOTOR COMPANY at Hartford, Conn., and twenty-four branch houses established in various cities throughout the country.

ALSO THE ORGANIZATION AND BUSINESS of the Flanders Motor Company of Detroit.

THIS AMALGAMATION IS AS IMPORTANT as any yet consummated in the automobile industry. The Maxwell Motor Company, as now constituted, starts with clean slate, a cash working capital of three million dollars, no bonded debts, no mortgages, plants free and clear, and with assets, facilities and personnel equal to any other similar organization. The Maxwell Motor Company is now prepared for business.

WE STAND ON THE THRESHOLD OF TOMORROW and have no interest in the past save to give service to owners of cars manufactured by the plants we have acquired. That responsibility is established and assumed for all time. Our business now is the manufacture, the distribution and the development of popular types of motor cars requisite to supply the universal demand.

CIVILIZATION REQUIRES an efficient, durable, low-priced vehicle for its transportation and its pleasure. It will be the policy of the Maxwell Motor Company to meet these requirements even to the minutest detail. We have the experience, the ingenuity, the capital and the equipment to achieve these results, and we pledge ourselves to their accomplishment.

SO MUCH IN BRIEF to the public, all of which has for its direct object the establishment of an absolutely flawless organization throughout the United States.

To the Dealers Selling Maxwell and Flanders:

THIS CLAUSE IN OUR DECLARATION is as vital as State rights and must have equity for its basis.

SEVERAL HUNDRED MAXWELL DEALERS have applied to handle the complete line of motor cars manufactured by the Maxwell Motor Company, the sixes and fours. To these dealers we say in the open territory it is our intention to have the full line of cars handled by one dealer.

PRESENT MAXWELL AND FLANDERS DEALERS will be given consideration and an opportunity to handle the new line of cars manufactured by the newly organized Maxwell Motor Company, providing that a readjustment of territory and other conditions can be brought about. Here are three illustrations:

FIRST—IN TOLEDO the dealer who is selling Flanders cars and the dealer who is selling Maxwell cars combined their interests and thus acquired the sale of the complete line. In other instances the same arrangement between Maxwell and Flanders dealers in the same town has been effected with gratifying results and mutual benefit.

SECOND—IN DETROIT, where the Maxwell Motor Company had acquired a branch house, we turned over to the Flanders dealer all the good will and the business being done by the branch house. Thus this dealer acquired the right to sell the complete line of cars and a profitable and extensive repair parts business.

THIRD—WE ARE READY to make similar arrangements with either Maxwell or Flanders dealers so that they may acquire these rights and privileges in connection with the complete line in many other important cities throughout the United States, wherever the United Motor Co. formerly operated Branch Houses.

TO FURTHER OBVIATE CONFUSION and insure a proper readjustment of the territory of Maxwell and Flanders dealers so that each may enjoy the full benefits through the sale of our complete line of motor cars, each individual dealer should address himself to the manager in charge of sales of the Maxwell Motor Co. in his individual district. These sales managers are located in the following cities:

RALPH COBURN, BOSTON DISTRICT; P. J. Pollock, Chicago District; C. G. Jackson, St. Louis District; O. W. Klose, Minneapolis District; C. S. Wright, Kansas City District; J. W. Shelor, Dallas, Texas, District; J. M. Opper, Omaha, Neb., District; Branch House, Atlanta, Ga., District; C. F. Redden, New York District; E. G. Oliver, Philadelphia District; A. Burwell, Jr., Charlotte, N. C., District; E. M. Green, Pittsburgh District; F. B. Willis, Indianapolis, Ind., District; Chas. Booth, Memphis, Tenn., District; D. S. Eddins, Denver, Col., District; C. R. Newby, San Francisco District; J. S. Conwell, Southern California District; L. H. Rose, Portland, Oregon, District; C. F. Stewart, Des Moines, Iowa, District.

THESE DISTRICT SALES MANAGERS have been selected from the former Maxwell-Briscoe Motor organization and from the Flanders Motor organization.

To the Present Owners of Maxwell, Stoddard, Everitt and Brush Cars:

WE NOW ADDRESS OURSELVES to the more than one hundred thousand owners of Stoddard-Daytons, Brushes, Everitts, Columbias, Sampsons and Maxwells now in use. While not legally obligated, the Maxwell Motor Company does recognize the moral obligation to every owner of a car made by the above-mentioned concerns, all of whose plants we have acquired.

A COMPLETE FACTORY representing an investment of more than one million dollars in buildings, machinery, jigs, tools and fixtures, located in Newcastle, Indiana, the center of population of the United States and the center of ownership of these hundred thousand cars, has been set aside for the purpose of manufacturing and supplying the repair parts necessary to cater to owners.

IN ADDITION TO THIS central manufacturing repair parts factory, service depots, all of which will carry a complete line of repair parts, have been established in the following cities: Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas, Omaha, Atlanta, New York, Philadelphia, Charlotte, N. C., Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, Memphis, Denver, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Oregon. These service depots will be operated under the supervision of the district sales managers of the foregoing cities.

REGULARLY APPOINTED DEALERS of the new Maxwell Motor Company will have the preference on the repair parts business of the earlier model Maxwell motor cars. The system will be comprehensive, the deliveries immediate, and any order can be filled. All dealers throughout the United States, therefore, can secure repair parts from these service stations or from Newcastle, Indiana, direct.

To the Prospective Buyers of Our New Models:

WITH A CAPACITY OF FIFTY THOUSAND CARS per annum, we are in a position to supply the buying public with the four types of motor cars now in general use:

MAXWELL SIX—Model 50 (Seven Passenger Touring Car, $2,350), (heretofore Flanders Model).

MAXWELL SIX—Model 40 (Five Passenger Touring Car, $1,550), (heretofore Flanders Model).

MAXWELL—Model 35 (Four Cylinder Five Passenger Touring Car, $1,085).

MAXWELL—Model 25 (Four Cylinder Five Passenger Touring Car. Price to be announced).

THIS QUARTET WILL ENABLE THE BUYER to select from a range of from five to seven passengers, and from four to six cylinders, and from 25 to 50 horsepower, completely equipped in each case with top, wind-shield, speedometers, lamps and horn. The sixes are electrically self-started and lighted.

IN RESPONSE TO PRESENT DEMANDS for the season of 1913 we are manufacturing the regular Maxwell Model 22 (a three-passenger roadster), the regular Maxwell Model 40 (a five-passenger touring car) and the popular Stoddard-Dayton Models 30, 38 and 48.

THE MODEL 48 STODDARD will be equipped with electric self-starter and electric lights, Gray and Davis System, for $200.00 extra.

DELIVERIES on all of these Maxwell and Stoddard Models, can be made at once.

The Question of Immediate Delivery:

IN THE PAST, CUSTOMERS HAVE SUFFERED from misrepresentation on the part of manufacturers as to delivery dates, and dealers have been put to endless inconvenience and financial embarrassment because of conditions beyond the control of manufacturers.

THEREFORE, WE STATE to the customer and dealer alike that deliveries cannot be made on the Models 35 (four cylinder) and Models 40 (six cylinder) until March, 1913; on Models 25 (four cylinder), June, 1913.

THIS IS DUE TO THE FACT that the big Dayton plant will not begin shipment on the first lot of five thousand cars until March 25th, and the plants at Detroit on the shipment of the first lot of five thousand Model 25, May 15th. Deliveries on Maxwell Model 50 (six cylinder) can be made as soon as the Flanders plant at Detroit is operating on full time.

Crankless Car.

MOTOR CAR OWNERS NOW RIDE IN LAP OF LUXURY.

Cartercar Agent Describes Latest Kinks in Limousines and Landaulets and Gives Ideas of Harry R. Radford, Vice-President of Factory, Who Describes Some of the Latest Novelties Seen at Chicago Colisseum.

BY WARREN VANCE
Of Vance-Cartercar Company.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch.] "Will the motor car become developed to such a state of perfection that an owner will cease to derive the great benefit of health he has in the past?"

Harry R. Radford, vice-president and general manager of the Cartercar Company, raised the question at the auto show this week. Radford was referring to the new electric starter and lighting system of the Cartercar at the time.

"It is conceded," Radford went on, "that the health of the average business man today is far better than it was five years ago, owing to the fact that he spends considerably time in driving a motor car. But the point is this: In the past a driver has been compelled to do so much strenuous work and no small portion of this was the cranking of the motor. Now watch me." He took a place behind the wheel of a car, turned a small knob at his left hand which lighted the various electric lights, then pressed down a trifle on the same knob and the motor was started.

Lulled in the Lap of Luxury.

The dream of Harry R. Radford, vice-president of the Cartercar Company and Beau Brummel of Detroit, the Auto City.

"That's all there is to it now," he said. "Practically all you have to do is to sit behind the wheel and steer. True, you get the fresh air, but really all the work has been taken out of motoring by the perfecting of this electric starter.

"I understand that like the farmer's mowing machine that 'oughter mow hay but it wouldn't' some starters that ought to start stick. I have had one of our new electric starters on my personal car daily and have never yet pressed the knob when the starter failed to work. Absolutely 100 per cent. efficiency has been our experience in all kinds of weather.

"And, say, I'll take my chance on health every time by letting the electric starter crank my car instead of getting out and doing it myself when I have accidentally stalled my motor on a very bad piece of muddy road. There has never been but one thing that has caused me any fear in driving an automobile—that is the danger of a broken wrist from a motor kicking. Of course, they are not common and when a bone is broken it is always an accident. The owner may have driven the car for several years without the least sign of a kick from a motor, then some day for some reason unknown at the time the kicks and the arm is broken. In our new starter the crank is entirely eliminated and entering and starting a car is one complete motion of pressure."

Radford holds that agents are responsible for the rise or fall of motor cars.

"The agent either makes the car successful or unsuccessful," he said. "Because he is the man who receives the orders that keeps the factory going. When the agent is not a square shooter he is not much help to the production manager to do. I have seen many fairly good cars go down to utter failure simply because the agent was not well represented in the field.

"Go into any section of the country and you will see that in nearly every instance there are more of one particular car than any other. This is not because of the much greater superiority of the favored car, but because that car has a real live salesman back of it. Cartercar agents believe heart and soul in the Cartercar and give the car the very best they have, and, of course, the result is splendid sales. With a reputation for car an agent can demonstrate to the entire satisfaction of any prospective buyer and this has given him the most confidence in the car.

"Monday evening was the last of a series of entertainments tendered in the interest of the agents while Wednesday night was the dealers' night. When the dealers were charged because it was society night there was a big crowd present.

A feature of the daily meetings is the out-of-town visitors. Many of the out-of-town visitors in attendance were buyers and therefore were highly boosted.

A notable feature of the show is the few demonstrating cars that are kept in front of the Coliseum. It is the policy of the manufacturers not to sell a car unless the prospective buyer first was treated to a short ride. As a result it was necessary to maintain a large fleet of cars and to establish a bureau in order that everyone who wished could ride. The manufacturers say the industry has not reached that stage where it is necessary to give demonstrations at the shows. The custom is in vogue in New York also. One factory official said the people by riding in the cars know that a standard car is not liable that it is not necessary to turn out for a short ride over the grounds before buying.

Worth Seeing.

OPEN HOUSE AT PACKARD HOME; BIG SALES RECORD

THERE will be open house at the Packard headquarters this week. It will be possible to inspect every part of the handsome home of the high-grade cars. The shops will be spotless and the salesroom—well, to see it is enough to satisfy the most enthusiastic motorist. You can wear a dress suit, silks or satins and still enjoy the visit.

The largest day's business for the mid-winter season in the history of the Packard Motor Car Company was recorded on the last day of 1912, when sales orders were received aggregating a quarter of a million dollars.

For two months this company's business was greater in volume than ever before, November and December showing increases in sales contained herein. The dealers in the fifteen leading cities averaged a 15 per cent increase in business over any previous month for the same period.

Sales of Packard twin-six for December totaled 213 cars, representing in value to $564,950. This is an increase of 34 per cent over the previous total for a month's business, and said to be a world's record for actual sales to users of motor cars.

Proud Record.

SCORES OF CADILLACS IN SOUTHLAND CITIES

THE LEE Motor Car Company has delivered in California an even two hundred Cadillacs during the month of January. The list for February is fast creeping up and probably the record for this month will be greater. While there were some six-passenger models, roadsters and limousines the most of the deliveries consisted of the five-passenger touring cars. The two hundred Cadillacs represent $425,000 worth of business.

Four carloads per day is the average shipments for the Cadillac company during the past month. For the first time this season the company is able to deliver cars and most of the other models of Cadillac is certain to be in demand leadership for February.

Don Lee has just returned from a tour of the State, where he visited the Cadillac agencies. He reports that the territorities in the best of condition and states that the crops of last year had little effect upon the present business, and that prosperity is the part of the State during the present season of prosperity.

LOZIER ADOPTS NEW MODEL CUSTOM.

A new custom of announcing the arrival of a new model of motor car has been adopted by the Strong-Crittenden Company, Lozier representatives in Rochester, N. Y., and is now becoming a popular custom of the trade. Specially engraved cards tied with blue ribbon were sent out by the Lozier agents to announce the arrival of the new Light Six Lozier. These were sent to a selected list of prospects in Rochester and brought forth favorable comment from those received.

At first glance one of these announcement cards, one finds a blank space in the upper corner, the reason for that it might be filled in with the proud parent's name after the arrival. Upon closer examination it is found that it is a new custom which has come to stay and here's hoping proud to announce the arrival of a new model is the first of the many to follow in succession. The announcement has a very personal touch to the salesmen who have sent to many dealers in Rochester and other cities that have adopted the custom.

TOUR ABROAD IN WINTON SIX.

PLAN TO VISIT TOWNS OF SUNNY SOUTHLAND ON TRIP.

Many Tourists Coming to Visit Us and Winter Crops of Motor Cars Is Larger Than Ever Before. Good Roads Open for Many Miles and More Are Being Built.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Broat, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Buchanan and children, all of Idaho Falls, Idaho, arrived in Los Angeles last week in a Winton Six. They drove the entire distance and report a delightful trip. At this time of the year the roads are often in bad condition, but Broat says the run from San Francisco south was much better than he expected. The party stayed one night in Del Monte and the second night was spent in Santa Barbara. They expect to spend several months in Southern California, when they will return home, taking the northern route.

Another Winton arrival in Los Angeles last week was T. A. Snidow, vice-president of the Farmers' and Traders' Bank at Billings, Mont. Upon his arrival here he immediately found the Winton headquarters where he purchased a 1913 touring car from W. D. Howard. This is the third Winton Snidow has, as he already owned a 1911 touring car and an 1912 roadster.

EMIGRANT GAP GRADE TOPPED.

Burnham Drives Stearns-Knight Into Sierras.

First Experience Is Most Thrilling to Scout.

Donner Lake Visited in Winter by Intrepid Driver.

Maj. F. B. Burnham, the famous South African scout, has just returned after completing one of the hardest automobile trips ever attempted. In his new Stearns-Knight he drove to all the mining camps of Nevada, over the California mountains and back to Los Angeles, via the valley route. The trip made by the fighting major would have been a hard one in the summer, but at this season of the year he found many more obstacles with which to contend.

Another interesting feature is found in the fact that the major had just learned to operate his car before starting on this strenuous ten weeks' trip. Needless to say he is a much more experienced operator after such an experience.

From Los Angeles the route led into the Owens River country and almost from the start the car was bucking snowstorms. Over the White Mountains the snow was eight inches deep, but the car battled its way through and went into Tonopah in good shape. Out of there the car was started on its round up of the Nevada mining camps. At this season of the year it is not necessary to tell of the obstacles encountered. There were storms which made the roads a sea of mud. In the hills there was snow to contend with. Some of the places visited were Treasure Hill, Hamilton, Austin, and then over the Sierras to Donner Lake. This road is practically closed during the winter and the Stearns was the first car that went through in over five weeks.

A beautiful road was found between Donner Lake and Emigrant Gap. In the high places there was snow and ice, but the Stearns never faltered, no matter how hard the fight.

The major said he had the scare of his life coming down the Emigrant Gap road. The road was covered with ice and with chains on both wheels and then rope wrapped around the chains it was almost impossible to keep the car from sliding. According to Maj. Burnham it was more dangerous and required more nerve than leading an English army, a feat by the way, for which the major received the Victoria Cross, an honor no other American has ever received.

MANY TRUCKS TO CARRY U.S. MAIL.

Postmaster-General Hitchcock has decided to take in bids for the United States Mail Department on 100 trucks suitable to take care of the rapidly-increasing parcel post work in cities. All these trucks will be painted red, which color is to be adopted as standard for postal vehicles. Reports from forty-eight representative postoffices show that for the first week of the parcel post, from January 1 to 7, a total of 1,959,687 pieces of matter were handled by these offices.

No estimate of the receipts in money have yet been made, but officials in Washington state that the new system has already exceeded all expectations. During the first week 76,500 incoming packages were received at the New York office, while 371,800 outgoing parcels were handled, bringing the total to 448,300. Naturally, this was the greatest amount of business done by any city. Chicago comes next with 438,000 pieces handled; Philadelphia reports 146,595, while Jersey City totaled 60,000. With such a large amount of business when the system is yet in its infancy, there can be no doubt of the benefit which makers of light and medium commercial vehicles will derive from the project when it actually gets under way.

The Youngstown (O.) Automobile Show Company has been incorporated in Youngstown with a capital stock of $1000, to hold automobile shows, especially the 1913 show at the Auditorium in February.

are urged to do so immediately. United States Tires are standard. And these we offer are fresh, live rubber.

Owners of Flanders, Hupp, Studebaker and Ford cars know that the regular price for tire alone is $18.10. You are able to buy these few now (at $12.75 for tire and tube together) only because a prominent manufacturer is changing his specifications and had a small amount on hand. These we purchased and give you the benefit.

Wet Weather Insists on Weed Chains

Skidding and slipping are dangerous to life. Dangerous to those both in and out of the machine.

Weed Chains eliminate all danger and they do not injure tires. Their freedom to creep from one position to another makes it impossible for them to cut into the rubber.

SEVERE TEST FOR CASE CAR OVER ROUGH ROADS.

With the road-racing championship of America awarded, and with Louis Disbrow crowned dirt-track king, the question of touring honors is now being widely discussed by the automobile experts throughout the country.

Barring those who give all their time to pathfinding and map-making the success of F. K. Bull, the president of the J. I. Case T. M. Company, in his transcontinental trip, which took in the most-northern course known to American automobilists, stands out as one of the biggest achievements accredited to any American tourist. Mr. Bull and a number of friends early in September started for Canada, and decided after reaching Winnipeg to travel westward through the Canadian Rockies to the Pacific Coast. At this season of the year this was a particularly perilous undertaking.

The fall rains, which are so prevalent in the northwestern part of Canada at this time of the year, had set in and were transforming the prairies east of the Rockies into a sea of mud. But this did not thwart the determination of Mr. Bull, who had a twofold purpose in mind in selecting the most northerly passage to the Pacific.

Bull wanted to severely test out the new 1913 models of the Case automobiles to discover if any details in construction had been overlooked or could be improved in any way.

Two cars were used in the long trip, a Case "30" and a Case "40." The two machines were the first 1913 models built by the Case company, and Mr. Bull, in accomplishing the journey, gave them as severe a test as a new automobile was ever scheduled to endure.

The Vance-Canavan Motor Company, California distributors of Case cars, has been unable to make deliveries of 1913 models up to the present time. However, there are now several carload shipments en route, and from now on they will be able to fill their orders promptly.

James J. Canavan says the new Case 30 is bound to create a sensation in the automobile field, as it is equipped with a 4¼x5¼ Continental motor, with enclosed valves, and there are many well-known automobile manufacturers using this same style of motor who call it a forty horse power, and the fact that the Case company is coming out with a new model thirty using this same motor will naturally create a large demand for the new models.

Dreams Realized.

LIFE-LONG HOBBY IS STEARNS-KNIGHT MOTOR.

Back of the Stearns-Knight car lies an interesting story of the realization of a manufacturer's life-long hobby for excellence in automobile engines. Frank B. Stearns, president and founder of the F. B. Stearns Company of Cleveland, has spent seventeen years building motor cars. During all this time his hobby has been the building of a perfect power plant.

Early in life Stearns was recognized as a mechanical genius. He introduced many improvements which have materially changed the construction of automobile motors and worked out many innovations which were patented and incorporated in the famous Stearns motor. This Stearns motor attained a world-wide reputation, and acknowledged no superior in this country or abroad.

It was through his mechanical ability largely that Stearns won his present high position in the automobile business. His contention from the outset was that the engine is the heart of the car and the old original Stearns motor represents the net results of years of his life.

During the last few years the Knight sleeve-valve motor had displaced the best engine in Europe. The Knight motor was designed by Charles Y. Knight, an American, and adopted by the best makes of cars in England and on the continent before it was recognized in this country. Mr. Stearns saw the Knight motor, examined it and watched it under actual performance. Then he learned for the first time that there was a motor which excelled his masterpiece.

Stearns is a big, broad-gauged man. He acts with deliberation, but once a decision is made, its execution is pushed to completion with lightning rapidity. Stearns resolved to introduce in America the Knight engine, to be built by Americans and to grace an American car. A year later the famous Stearns-Knight car was brought out, built by the Stearns company, with a Knight-type motor. Hence Mr. Stearns's hobby for the best in automobile motors led him to discard his own best work for something which he knew to be better. The record success of the Stearns-Knight car since the adoption of the Knight motor has more than justified his action.

Milwaukee has placed in service two new motor police patrol and ambulance cars. The cars cost $3500 each and supplant three horse-drawn patrols.

Owners of Pleasure Electrics—
THE PERFECT TIRE HAS COME

Now that the Motz Cushion Tire has proven itself easy-riding and absolutely trouble-proof—after 4 years' service on every type of electric car—we believe it is entitled to first claim to perfection.

Such is the record of the Motz Cushion Tire—a tire that entirely does away with punctures and blowouts, yet has the comfortable riding qualities of the pneumatic, even under excessive speed.

Most owners of electric cars will concede this claim to perfection, because most of them are now using Motz Cushion Tires.

Among leading makers of electric cars, the verdict is unanimous. For all these leading makers have adopted the the Motz Cushion Tire even though it costs them more. They want their cars to be trouble-proof, and at the same time they want the delicate mechanical parts well protected from bumps, jolts and shocks.

How Pneumatic Resiliency Is Obtained

By an ingenious mechanical principle, the Motz Cushion Tire is made lively and resilient like pneumatic tires. The double, notched treads (A in picture) prevent skidding and distribute the weight to the sides. The sides are undercut (seeB), which allows free action of slantwise bridges (see C). These bridges are elastic. They give and yield like the air in a pneumatic tire. Note D in the picture, showing shock-absorbing qualities when tire runs over a stone.

MOTZ Cushion Tires

Big Money-Savers

Owners of Motz Cushion Tires are saving money, for the days of tire-repair bills are gone forever.

And emergency tires are no longer carried or needed.

And again—instead of getting 2000 to 3000 miles service, they get 10,000 or more. For every set of Motz Cushion Tires, on pleasure electrics, is specifically GUARANTEED 10,000 miles—2 years.

Those who seek tire economy need go no farther.

These tires can be easily applied to any standard clincher, universal quick-detachable or demountable rim.

4500 Miles Guaranteed

The decision of the Miller Tire Company to guarantee their tires for 4500 miles is a move in the right direction.

To make adjustments on a basis of 3500 miles is an injustice to the consumer, and the Miller Tire and Rubber Company means to remedy this injustice as far as they are concerned.

For an unknown tire company to make such a move would be considered nothing more or less than an effort to secure a foothold, but as the Miller is known the world over as the tire that holds the world's road race record, it is a move that cannot but attract national attention.

Every Miller Tire from this date is Guaranteed for 4500 Miles.

PARCEL POST MOTOR SERVICE.

Kissel Kars Chosen for Berth at Washington.

Fine Exhibit Made at Chicago Auto Coliseum.

Latest Type of Car Makes Big Hit With Throng.

Uncle Sam has just shown his personal preference in motor trucks by purchasing for his own city of Washington, D. C., five Kissel Kar 1500-pound delivery wagons for the use of the parcel post. The contract was entered into following an inspection by government engineers of the various commercial cars exhibited at the recent national automobile show in New York.

The motorizing of the parcel post in most parts of the country is a certainty, and there is accordingly a keen rivalry among truck builders for this business. The postoffice department in a number of selections have already bought motor wagons and more are nearly ready to do so.

Many cities will probably follow Washington's lead in making a selection in the event that the new Kissel Kars, which are to be delivered at once, give the satisfaction expected of them.

The type of Kissel Kars selected by the government for Washington carries a thirty-horse-power motor with a bore of 4¼ inches and a stroke of 4¼ inches. It is fitted with a Stromberg carburetor and a Mea magneto. It has a gasoline capacity of twenty gallons and a water capacity of five gallons. Timken bearings, full floating axles and a 120-inch wheelbase are noted, also a clutch of the cone, leather-faced type.

The transmission has three speeds, the speed limit on direct being placed at twenty-five miles an hour. The tires are 4½-inch pneumatic, and the frame is of cold-pressed steel. The platform from the ground is thirty-two inches, and turning radius twenty-two feet, while the total chassis weight is 3500 pounds. It is a compact and sturdy little wagon and makes a fine appearance.

Taking a chunk three feet long out of a perfectly-good telegraph pole, forty-two inches in diameter, was accomplished the other day by a chassis in a test at the Hartford plant of the Kissel Motor Car Company. The chassis, a fifty-horse-power, was being driven at a forty-mile clip when it struck a snow-covered rut, and for a brief moment was out of the driver's control.

The latter, quickly noting that he could not entirely escape a collision with the telegraph pole, decided that his best chance was in hitting it squarely. This he did, and, to his utter astonishment, was still in his seat after the crash. The pole had struck the axle exactly in the center, making a scarcely-noticeable indenture, while the shock left all the other parts intact and in no need of repairs.

At the national automobile show in Chicago last week five Kissel Kars were shown. The bodies exhibited were of the thirty, forty and sixty-horse-power touring models and a fifty-horse-power limousine. Besides these a stripped chassis of sixty horse power was seen and proved a great attraction. The Kissel Kar was a firm favorite with visitors at the show.

AVIATRESS DECIDES IN FAVOR OF BUICK RACER.

AVIATION is a fascinating sport, according to Miss Eleanor Blevins, local society belle and incidentally a graduate of Cumnock school; but it is not in the same class with automobiling, although it is much more dangerous.

Miss Blevins should know whereof she speaks. She has made flights in an aeroplane and has ridden in fast automobiles; but her one ambition is to drive a fast racing car around the Motordrome with everything open. The pretty young woman likes speed. Not just ordinary speed, but the big league brand such is put on by the road racers and champions of the speedway.

If this young woman had been a man, which fortunately she is not, for it would have spoiled several romantic affairs, she claims she would have been a racing driver. Under existing conditions, she is compelled to content herself with an occasional fast ride with some man in the car and an aeroplane flight once in a while.

To ride in the mechanic's seat of a fast car, furnishes enough thrills for the average woman even in these swift days and a ride in an aeroplane is something that many of the members of the fairer sex pass up; but pretty Eleanor wants to fly her own biplane and drive a fast car with no man around to even offer advice.

This young woman made her first flight as a student of aviation with Earl S. Daugherty in a Gage Tractor biplane at Domingues Field last Sunday. Her only complaint upon returning to earth was that the flight was too abbreviated. She wanted to go as high as Bonney did when he won the altitude event and stay up in the air as long as any aviator entered in the meet.

She is recognized as a clever driver of fast touring cars, having driven cars of practically every make. There is but one thing left for her to do. That is, to pilot some fast racing machine to victory in a real race.

"Save for the novelty," says Miss Blevins, "aviation as a sport is tame beside automobiling. The actual flight through the air is devoid of any unusual sensations; and to me, the only thing in aviation really worth while, is volplaning from a great altitude.

"The sickening drop to the earth is best described as the losing of consciousness under an anesthetic. I broke my arm once while playing basketball and when it was set, I had to take an anesthetic, so I know both sensations well. Still, there is a peculiar fascination about volplaning in a biplane and I will never be content until I am able to fly my own machine.

"My ideal of real sport is to drive a racing car. There is a lot of difference between riding as a passenger and driving yourself. There is a certain joy to be found in driving at high speed that is not to be found in any other line of sport. When you realize that your own safety depends on your steady nerve and keen judgment of distances, there is nothing to beat motor racing.

Miss Blevins was the first woman to handle the wheel of the Buick golden chariot, Frank Howard's private car. This car was driven only over the city streets and no speed was permitted, but she has been begging for a chance to drive Louis Nikrent's little Buick racer on the Motordrome boards against time or against another speed queen.

The enthusiastic autoist told Frank Howard that she would challenge any woman driver in Southern California to a race on the Motordrome, under auspices of the Western Automobile Association, if he would let her drive the little Buick racer.

HARRISON IN EAST; SOON COMING HOME.

H. O. Harrison, the head of the H. O. Harrison Company, who has been attending the Chicago automobile show, wired last week that the biggest hit of the show was the new Waverly electric staggard seated limousine. This is an enclosed electric with the seats so arranged that the view of the driver is at no time obstructed, and everyone is comfortably seated.

As soon as Harrison saw this beautiful new car he doubled his order for the Coast and so informed his branch managers. There has been a big demand for this type of electric and already numerous advance orders have been booked from exhibiting pictures only.

Harrison went to Cleveland Friday to spend some time at the Peerless factory, and will return to the Coast during the coming week.

The well-known Coast dealer has put over some big deals on this trip which will startle the motor world when announced.

CORONA AUTO ROAD RACE HAS BIG PURSE OF GOLD.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND dollars as a prize in the big road race to be pulled off in Corona September 9 is the pledge made by E. I. Alderman. According to the enthusiastic booster the money is already in the bank. This assures a large entry list and the race should be one of the biggest ever pulled off in Southern California.

The Corona Automobile Club will handle the meet. The course is over a three-mile stretch of road, which is already in good shape for the contest. The meet will be held under a sanction from the Western Automobile Association. Already there is a large amount of interest in the contest.

According to Alderman the men of the valley town are a unit in favor of the contest. It will be known as the Corona automobile road race, and the date has been definitely decided. There is no other contest to conflict with the Corona meet and President Frank A. Garbutt of the W.A.A., will see to it that this contest has exclusive rights.

Barney Oldfield is entered in the meet. He will probably drive a Fiat. Teddy Tetzlaff will start with a big Fiat. There will be at least three Fiat cars in this contest, and with other high-powered entries the list will be long enough to satisfy the most exacting enthusiast.

This is to be the greatest year in the history of automobile racing. Already plans have been made for three big contests and racing cars are to be shipped to the Pacific Coast especially for this carnival of sport. The W.A.A. will be in charge of these meets and the contests will be held under the rules and with the sanction of the new organization.

COURT ORDER STARTS ACTION.

MOTOR MEN HOPE FOR GAIN DURING COMING YEAR.

Flanders May Head New Concern and It Is Generally Understood That He Will Not Desert the Reorganizers of the U. S. Motor Company After All.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 11.—[Special Dispatch.] Following the order of the court the reorganizers of the United States Motor Company are already in principal possession of the corporation, and steps will be taken immediately to operat on a scale which, it is expected, will result in some profit for the current 1913 season.

W. F. McGuire, second to Walter E. Flanders, expresses the belief that the first year of the new concern will be fairly successful, while the second season will see the business upon an entirely satisfactory basis. McGuire was formerly with the Ford company.

It is probable that the Standard Motor Company, incorporated recently with a capitalization of $21,000,000 to take over the old United States company, will shortly change its name, as it cannot be registered in certain States where it conflicts with the titles of existing corporations.

Flanders, it is understood here, has no intention of deserting the reorganizers. According to present plans he will be president of the new concern and, within a short time his Flanders Motor Car Company will be taken over on a stock exchange basis.

Life at Low Temperatures.

[Sunday Magazine:] Most recent experiments show that the idea that bacteria in general are not harmed by freezing is untenable. On the other hand, the effect of very low temperatures has been greatly overestimated.

It has been observed that as destructive effects are produced upon bacterial life from the temperature of salt and pounded ice as from that of liquid air. The critical point appears to be somewhere about the freezing point of water. An organism that can pass this point in safety may be proof against even absolute zero. A few individual bacteria in every culture tried were able to endure unharmed the temperature of liquid air. This is believed to have been due to the absence of water in the cells.

The present Indiana road building and road maintenance system was condemned and a radically new system proposed at the meeting of the Indiana Better Roads Convention, held at the German House in Indianapolis, Ind., recently.

Real Dope.

OGAN SAYS REAL TOUGH PLAYS FALL ON CATCHER.

Must Decide in an Instant the Proper Play to Make With Men on Bases—Decision Must Depend on Which Bases Are Occupied—Receiver Must Be Good Judge of Distance.

The toughest plays in baseball fall on the catcher. No doubt about it. More than that, the catcher is made the "goat" for a lot of things for which he is not responsible. When a base is stolen, it goes down against the backstop in the minds of the fans, if not in the records.

And yet the catcher has never lived who could thwart the base runner when the pitcher permits to take too liberal a lead. Figure it out for yourself. The throwing out of runners is purely physical. The difference between a runner's speed and a catcher's arm is measured, not in seconds, but fractions of seconds.

Many a runner gains the sanctuary by a hair's breadth, and others lose by the same infinitesimal margin. A good throwing arm is a wonderful asset, but it cannot offset the handicap of a pitcher who allows a runner to get far from the base.

Under the most favorable conditions the catcher's position is a most trying one. Not only is he closer to the grand stand critics than any other player, but the opposing club makes it an object to corral his goat. There is nothing haphazard about this. If they can get the backstop up in the air, the game is theirs. This is axiomatic in baseball.

Handle the catcher and the rest of it is easy.

REAL HARD PLAY.

Undoubtedly the hardest play which the catcher is required to make—and the hardest one in baseball for that matter—arises with runners on first and third and two out. This is a delicate situation. The winning run may be on third base. On it may depend not only the game, but the winning of a pennant. Knowing this, the runner is ready to take a dying chance.

With runners thus situated, there are eight possible plays. But one, however, should be attempted from a defensive standpoint. As I said before, with two out, the man on third is ready to stake everything on a dash for home.

What should the catcher do under the circumstances? There is but one play, and that is to make a move as though to throw to second, but shoot the ball to the pitcher. The pitcher returns the ball to the catcher, and Mr. Runner, who was on third, finds himself a dead bird and the necessary run still lacking.

This is a defensive play which may fail, but if it does it will be because either the pitcher or the catcher is guilty of a juggle or bad throw. These things are possible, as no man is immune when it comes to a mere matter of physical prowess. But if the arm, the eye and the hands prove true, the runner ought to be nailed, for, measured by inches, feet and yards, the man on third is engaged in a death dash.

RASH BASEBALL.

Some catchers shoot the ball through with a runner on first and third and two down. They may do this blindly, or in the expectation that the shortstop or second baseman will intercept the throw and nail the man at third, but that is rash baseball and usually accompanied by failure. In fact, it is the poorest kind of baseball.

There is another play that can be made under these circumstances, and that is to shoot the ball to third base. The runner may be caught off his base and hopelessly trapped. It is up to the catcher to decide which of the plays he will make, and he must reach this decision in the space of time required by the average man to bat an eye. It amounts almost to instinct.

Of course, you should consider the score at all times. Should your team have a seven lead, you will be excused for exercising your arm in throwing the runner on first out at second, and letting the man on third float in. The run does not really count for anything.

There are in reality eight different plays with runners on first and third. Up to this time we have been taking it for granted that there are two down. With one out, we are confronted with a different situation. The man on third will not consider it necessary to take a dying chance. He is likely to break for home, and allow the man on first to be sacrificed at second base. This is one in which the catcher is justified in shooting it through, and, if possible, nailing the man at second.

PLAY CHANGED.

There is a simple double steal, the second baseman will dash in behind second with the shortstop covering second. He will be watching the runner on third, and if the latter shows symptoms of starting for the plate, the second baseman will make a bluff as though to intercept the throw. The catcher will usually send the man on third scurrying back to his base. If the catcher sees that the runner on third has decided not to try for the plate on the play, he ducks under the ball. It shoots on to the shortstop, who is covering second, that runner is nailed and the other one is still on first or third. The team on the offense has made no progress. Instead of scoring, while the defensive club has materially reduced the opposition's chance of scoring. Many a game has been decided under these conditions, and there are times when a game means a pennant.

Then there is the play with a man on first and third and the hit-and-run sign given, which is changed, for neither the shortstop nor the second baseman has the legitimate fielding zone to cover second or intercept the throw. It is up to the catcher as to the proper play to make under the circumstances. It makes it necessary for him to work out not only his own salvation, but that of the club.

MUST KNOW DISTANCE.

A knowledge of distance is an all-important asset in a catcher's success. There is hardly every play that arises with two men on bases, regardless of the number of men out. Judgment of distance, in fact, is the finesse of baseball. Take a play with runners on first and second, and a double steal attempted, and the catcher has as a rule is to try and shoot the man out at second and let the runner advance to third.

This looks like bad baseball at first thought, but it isn't. The runner on first seems to take a big lead. The runner on first, taking it for granted that the play will be made on the man advancing from second to third, takes a conservative lead and loaf on the way down. These are the chances that make him an easy victim. The catcher, as a rule, has a look for him, as the other fellow generally manages to take a precautionary step.

In situations of this kind that judgment of distance, amounting almost to instinct, plays a deciding part in many a game.

MILLER TIRES TO HAVE LONG LIFE.

Announcement has just been made to the effect that in future all Miller tires would be guaranteed 4500 miles instead of 3500 miles, that has heretofore been the standard regulation. The W. D. Newerf Rubber Company believes this to be an important step in the tire regulation, as it will mean the saving of thousands of dollars to users of tires.

An investigation was started four months ago by the Miller company, when Newerf began a rigid campaign to secure the average number of miles obtained from the Millers, by every user possible. Of course, it was not possible to secure every user's record, but they were enabled to find about two-thirds of the number. After a careful consideration of these facts by the factory officials, it was found that the average obtained by users of Miller tires in California was 4000 miles, the standard guarantee of 3500 miles was raised to 4500 miles. This is supposed to be a fair adjustment and it is believed it will have a far-reaching effect upon the industry.

BREAKING INTO BASEBALL.

Charley Chech of the Angels Played Major League Ball While Attending College—Has Pitched for Thirteen Years and Is Getting Better All the Time.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

CHARLES WILLIAM CHECH is after Cy Young's record for baseball longevity.

Charles has been playing professional ball for thirteen years and is getting better all the time. His good right whip is gathering increasing prowess with accumulating years. He expects to get his second wind about 1918. At the present time his original supply of oxygen is ample for all his needs.

When it was announced late in 1911 that Henry Berry had bought Chech from St. Paul, the fans expected to see a spavined veteran who made a practice of reporting on crutches in the spring with his pitching arm dangling in a sling.

What they did see was a finished baseball athlete, whose youth had not been singed by long service on the diamond. Chech got in shape a lot sooner than some of the youngsters and pitched good ball all season.

He was born in the highbrow city of Madison, Wis. He attended High School there and graduated with high baseball honors. Subsequently he matriculated at the University of Wisconsin, and for four years absorbed large hunks of higher education.

DECLARED A "PRO."

Chech had a burning desire to aid and abet his fellow-students in upholding Wisconsin's fame on the diamond, but was prevented by circumstances over which he had no control. One unhappy July day Charles was apprehended in the act of indulging in a game of "summer baseball." Heinous crime! He was shorn of his amateur standing. Just punishment. Hit him again!

Consequently Chech decided that he might as well derive some financial benefit from his enforced professionalism, and he made his debut with Milwaukee under Connie Mack in 1899 playing simply during the vacation period.

He went from the town that made Wisconsin famous to Cleveland in 1900, getting in at the birth of the American League. He returned to college and finished his course, emerging in 1901 a full-fledged pharmacist.

REAL DRUGGIST.

Charley has never forgotten the things that he learned in college. He can walk into a pill emporium, look over a row of bottles embellished with Latin lingo and tell you the exact brand of dope contained in each one.

Chech signed with St. Paul while the chalk was still in his eyebrows, and proceeded to play there up to and including 1904. The last two seasons the Saints grabbed the glad rag of supremacy and Chech was no small factor in these triumphs.

In fact, he was so acute a factor that Cincinnati sat up and took notice. He joined the Reds in 1905, toiling throughout that season and part of the next. Hermann at that time owned the Toledo Club. With Cincinnati hopelessly out of the race in 1906, and Toledo making quite a bid for the American Association pennant, Hermann rushed Chech to the aid of the latter club in the hope of making the thing binding.

Chech played with Toledo in 1907 until fall, when he was sold back to Cleveland, the place of his major league beginning, and he played there the following season and part of the next. The following year he figured in the famous deal that brought Cy Young back to Cleveland, where he too began his career. Chech and Jack Ryan were given to Boston in exchange for Young.

At that time Chech and Ryan little dreamed that they would ever be mates on a Coast league club. But here they are. Ryan only recently signed an Angel contract, and they will work elbow-to-elbow again this season after a lapse of several years.

Chech and Ryan both gave a good account of themselves with Boston, but that club needed more strength on the southpaw side of its staff, and these birds had been brought up to pitch with their right hands.

ANOTHER TRADE.

Therefore a double trade was arranged with St. Paul, Chech and Ryan being swapped for Charley Hall and Eddie Karger in the latter part of 1909. Chech continued with St. Paul until coming to the Coast last season.

Berry closed the deal for him late in 1911, but Chech had business interests back there that required his attention and did not report until 1912. In the meantime he had invested in Coast property, and it was at his request that Mike Kelly made the deal with Los Angeles.

Chech gave a good account of himself right from the jump. He finished the race with twenty-five victories and fourteen defeats, and set a high mark for the season with eleven straight wins.

Chech is a "cold weather" pitcher. In the East he would go like a tenement-house afire in the spring and fall, only to wilt like a Mariposa lily in the good old summer time.

"Our equable climate," as the Board of Trade pamphlets say, is just to Chech's liking.

Consequently he expects to wave in these parts for considerable time to come.

Intimations have been made that Bart J. Ruddle, who is known to fame as the manager of the last Milwaukee race meet for the Vanderbilt and grand prize trophies, is to make a pilgrimage to New York City to explain why the Milwaukee race bills have not been paid and also to apply for a sanction to have the big races at Milwaukee again in 1913.

Charles Williams Chech.

He pitched great ball for the Angels in 1912, and promises to repeat.

Old Timers There.

GREAT PLAYERS WERE SWEENEY AND BIG ED.

"SIR TIMOTHY" KEEFE was asked the other day to name the greatest pitcher, and he answered, without a moment's hesitation, "Charley Sweeney."

Of course, the younger generation had no opportunity to see Sweeney, and "Tim's" choice naturally will afford them no means of comparison. But Sweeney was a wonderful pitcher in his prime. It was his speed which helped to carry him through. Sometimes when pitchers are discussed, the speed of Rusie is referred to as greater than that of any other pitcher who ever lived. If Rusie and Charley Sweeney could be rivals some day, pitching as they did at their best, the spectators of that game would see one of the greatest contests ever fought between two men.

Perhaps, Sweeney would not take quickly to the pitching distance as it is now, but even when he was in the last of his famous career on the diamond he occasionally showed flashes of that wonderful skill which enabled him to make strike-out records.

It is also Keefe's opinion that "Ed" Williamson was the greatest ball player who ever lived. As great as some of our ball players of these days have proved to be, there will be more than one old-timer who will be frank to indorse that opinion of Williamson's ability.

He could play third base, shortstop, second base, first base and catch. Few knew that Anson wanted him to pitch, but Anson did, and Williamson was a marvelously good pitcher. There was another attribute about him which is greatly to his credit, and that is the fact that he never tried to injure a fellow-player. In fact, he would go out of his way not to injure one.

For a big man, he was a fine runner, and as active as if he weighed 120 pounds instead of nearer 200.

KISSEL KAR TRUCKS REPLACE MANY HORSES.

H. K. Butterfield, local Kissel Kar agent, has received some astonishing records of the service of Kissel Kar trucks in various cities. An interesting case is the city of St. Paul, on account of its hilly nature and the severity of the winters. In St. Paul there are thirty Kissel Kar trucks in service, ranging in capacity from 1500 pounds to three tons, no four or five-ton Kissels having been sold in that city.

These thirty trucks sent 145 delivery horses to the discard. They travel an aggregate daily mileage of 1566, making 3527 deliveries. The most significant feature of the case and the most gratifying from the standpoint of the truck man is the comparative average of initial investment.

The trucks, including several specially designed bodies, represent a total cost of $65,600. The horses replaced, including wagons, harness, blankets, etc., represented a layout of $62,150. This slight difference in first cost, taken in connection with the ability of the trucks to more than double their present mileage if worked a sufficient number of hours, is food for thought.

JACKSON ONE REAL WONDER.

Colored Boy Does Century in Ten Flat.

Surprises U.S.C. Team Mates by His Sprinting.

Will Be Used in the Relay and Quarter Mile.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

Stonewall Jackson, the wonderful little colored runner at U.S.C., has arrived this season after three weeks of hard work to get into condition. Last Friday he ran a handicap hundred yards against time and one watch snapped him over the line at ten flat and another at a fast ten-one. We are always hearing of the great work of some sprinter or other, but Stonewall pulled the stunt with impartial parties officiating.

The 100 is not his race, however, but he was sent over the distance as the finish of a week of hard work. He is to be used in the 440 and the relay, as in the quarter-mile he can develop more proportionate speed than in any of the other races.

During the first part of the season he had trouble with his "form" and could not seem to get his arms free, but in this spectacular race last week, when he was clocked at ten flat, he appeared to have all the old pep and form that made him famous last year, while competing for the Citrus Union High School, when that institution won the Southern California championship, the State title and then the championship of the United States.

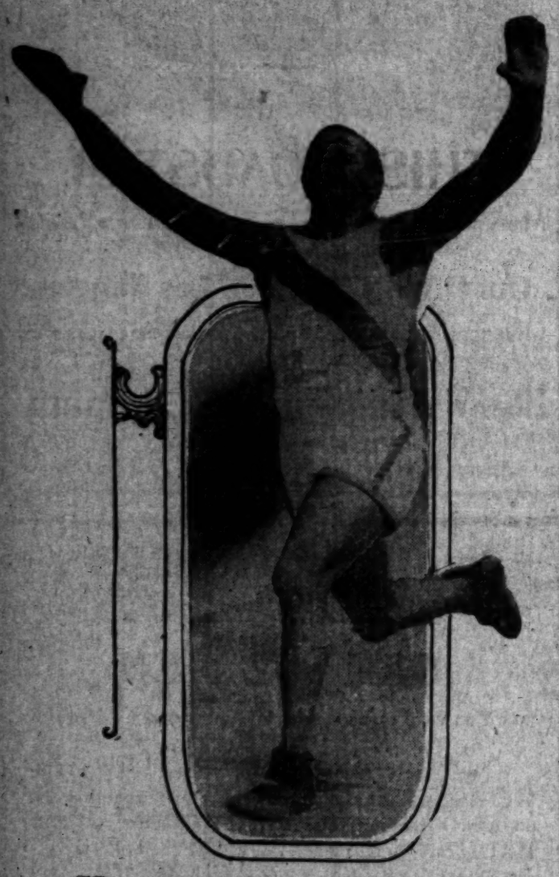
In all these championships Jackson was run in the 100, 220 and 440, taking points in each race and always winning the 440. He is one of the few athletes who cannot work out at low speed. His form goes bad when he loafs, but just as soon as he puts on the speed, he shapes up like a world's champion.

In placing Jackson in the 440 and in the last lap of the relay, the Trojans have strengthened the track team at least ten points. In the 440 Jackson will have Hodge and Berger as running mates and as both are good for fifty-one easily, it can be seen what it will mean to a fast man like Jackson, to have two speedy partners. The men should be able to run headdy races and nobody will have to wait for the slow man, for there will not be any.

Then, in the relay, Jackson's great speed makes it possible for the U.S.C. runners to start him off even or a little behind and still be sure that he will come in ahead, making another five points.

It would not surprise me to see Jackson clip an even second from the fifty mark this season and he can do it if he will only punish himself and, as he has only two races this season in each meet, instead of three or four, he will probably set up a new mark.

Many wonder why if he is so fast in the 100 yards, he is not used in that race. Well, Throop, Courtney and Carrigan are all better than ten-one and Throop looks as though he was going to have another of his "nine-four" years. The little fellow is running like a streak this season. The Trojans surely have a wonderful bunch of sprinters lined up for the 100, 220 and the 440 and should win the lion's share of the points in these races in every meet this spring.



Stonewall Jackson, of U.S.C.,

Who ran a 100 in ten flat last Friday, and is now considered one of the fastest sprinters in the South. He is to be used in the 440 this year and many expect him to break the Coast record of 50 flat.

Dean of the Row.

CONWELL READY FOR WORK SEASON'S OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

J. S. CONWELL is pleased with the new Maxwell line which is announced this week for the first time. He has received information direct from Walter Flanders that the Maxwell is to be built in three different models with lines even more classy than in 1912, and he is assured early deliveries. This assurance, according to the Maxwell man, is all he needs to make this season a record breaker.

Hampered by a lack of cars, Conwell has fought his way through the early months of this season with a handicap that would have discouraged a man with less "pep and ginger" than the "dean of Auto Row." Instead of being discouraged, J. S. Conwell has just buckled down to business and as a result of his activity, the cars are now on the way and a big business is promised.

The reorganization of the United Motors Company means much to the local house. The new concern is to be known as the Maxwell Motors Company and special stress is to be given to the Maxwell line. One big plant in this new concern will be devoted to the manufacture of parts alone. This will mean that the owners of Stoddard-Daytons, Maxwells, Columbia-Knights, Brush and Sampson cars, as well as the Everitt, and the new Flanders, can always find parts enough to satisfy them.

The branch house of the Maxwell Company is equipped to handle a number of cars. The show room at the corner of Twelfth and Olive streets, is ornate and large enough to allow a fine display of cars. The basement has a large storage space and the workshops are ample to care for the many Maxwell cars already out. Manager Conwell is expecting a shipment this coming week, and he will be ready for them, as he is entirely sold out.

Murphy's Idea.

START BALL GAMES EARLY AND PLEASE THE COOK.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 6.—[Special Dispatch.] In pronouncing himself the originator of the early start for baseball games which, he says, will spread over the United States, President Charles W. Murphy of the Cubs says his 2 p.m. standard is better because he believes the majority of the fans prefer that hour.

"In Saskatoon, Canada, baseball games begin daily at 6 p.m.," Murphy writes. "They start play at Waco, Tex., at 5 p.m., and in the villages of New York they are still groping in the dark by calling play at 4 p.m. To those who are in a position to know such a starting time is a joke.

"It may help Harry Stevens to sell more peanuts by keeping the people in the park longer, but baseball has grown beyond the peanut stage. I don't claim to know more about this subject than any other club owner, but I do say that I have investigated it and I am not for the early start to please the afternoon papers nor to displease the morning papers.

"I favor early starting because the public wants it, in my judgment. A woman who does her own housework does not want to stand over a kitchen fire and work hard to prepare a nice dinner, while her liege lord is yelling his head off at a fifteen-inning baseball game which prevents him from getting home before dark. I predict that all club owners will come to the early starting of ball games."

Oxy "Freshies" Showing.

Petit and McIntosh, two Occidental freshmen, have come to the front this season as two-milers. In the class meet they both defeated the veteran runner, Bill Henry, by a good margin, and in turning this trick showed remarkable stamina and form.

Pipal thinks that they will do in another year, but will not make any predictions as to performances this season: but the boys are both game and may develop sooner than the crafty Tiger coach expects.

Johnson Still Good.

Clemmer Johnson, the L. A. High School sprinter, looks better than ever this season. In the class meet last week he romped home an easy winner in the 100 and the 220. Clemmer is now an interscholastic veteran and should easily defeat all the southern speedsters this season in the prep school meets of the south.

Relay Carnival Interests.

The coming Occidental relay carnival is fast becoming the favorite subject for long-winded arguments. The fact that Oxy, U.S.C. and Pomona are all entering teams in the mile event is causing all kinds of conjecture. It looks like U.S.C., with Hodge, Berger, Jackson and Courtney running the four laps, but there are some goers at Oxy.

Cook, Bradbeer, Craig and Wilsie are all fast and also very dangerous. At Pomona, Gillette is about the only man with any record, but with Larry running the last lap Pomona is always dangerous.

The half-mile college event is to be a battle between Pomona and Occidental, as the Trojans are not taking any chances with their half-milers or milers before the A.A.U. meet, which is only one week after the relay carnival. This meet will furnish the first actual competition of the season, and as all the events are to be relays, admittedly the most thrilling track events, we are getting away to a fine start.

Uncle Lewis Wins Home.

Uncle Lewis, the new trainer at the Trojan camp, is fast becoming a regular institution at U.S.C. He croons over the tired athletes as they stretch out on his rubbing tables and tells them that they are the greatest in the world. He is heart and soul with the team and would willingly go to any end to bring victory home to "his boys."

Besides being the "major domo" of the quarters he is also high "mogul" of the varsity training table and house. Here he can make an old shoe taste like a chicken fry, according to the stories told by the men who rattle the crockery at the table.

Every night he looks each man over before sending him to bed, tests his muscles for the "Charley horse" and then if one should accidentally sneeze, he at once starts a radical but effective treatment for a cold.

Peace Restored.

Now that Stanford has agreed to meet U.S.C. the followers of track and field activities in the South can prepare for one of the best and probably the most thrilling meets of the decade, when the Cards and the Trojans lock horns here March 15. After the unfortunate relations of the past three weeks between Stanford and the South, it is to be hoped that there will be no more of this scoffing and hard feeling.

Stanford has undoubtedly the best track prospects in years and the team should be able to make a wonderful showing this season. If the Cardinal team which is brought south is made up of thirteen men, these will probably all be stars. But, on the other hand, it is more than likely that about twenty-five athletes will represent Stanford in the meet March 15, thus making the affair of more than usual interest, as it will show the actual strength of the northern squad.

After Kelly's Goat.

When the Trojans and the Cards meet there are several races that should be the feature events of the day. The first is the Whitted-Kelly controversy in the high hurdles. Kelly should have a little in odds, as he is now the world's high hurdle champ, but of course the woods are full of "doubting Thomases," and there is a solid delegation of Stanford supporters who think that Kelly is overrated and that Herb Whitted will show him up in both high and low events. I would like to say that any man in the country will have to go some to beat a hurdler who can run a flat 100-yard dash in ten-one and then the next day repeat in ten-two, and that is what Whitted will have to do. Kelly has improved in speed and his form has always been almost perfect. However, Mr. Whitted is probably improving, so when the two meet a new record may be the result, but the Stanford man will have to cut an even fifteen seconds flat to win from the Trojan, if the latter's present form can be taken as any criterion.

Thrills in the Quarter.

Another great race should be the quarter-mile. Here Hodge and Jackson of U.S.C. will met Mickey McClure of Stanford. I think that Jackson and McClure are probably the fastest 440 men on the Coast at the present time, though Hodge and Gillette of Pomona are both within a fraction of a second of the former pair. Last year McClure was unable to compete for Stanford, owing to the faculty ax, but this year he has turned out a student as well as an athlete and will bear watching.

* * *

After Swiggett Also.

Swiggett, the little Trojan two-miler, will again face Dodge, the Stanford veteran. Last year Swiggett trimmed the Cardinal crack to the surprise of all the supporters of the Red, and now the northerner has vowed vengeance.

Swigget is running in as good form as last year, but seems to have improved his sprinting ability about 10 per cent. Last year he ran the distance in ten minutes and twelve seconds and, with more speed, he should better this mark in the coming meet.

No-Rim-Cut Tires 10% Oversize

Don't Pay Too Much

There is a way to cut tire upkeep 48 per cent.

To end rim-cutting completely. To add an average of one-fourth to your tire mileage through oversize in tires.

Hundreds of thousands have proved this. When will you find it out?

Spent 14 Years to Do It

We have spent 14 years to accomplish these things. To give you tires like Goodyears.

Since men made their comparisons, the demand for these tires has grown like an avalanche.

Last year's sales by far exceeded our previous 12 years put together.

And the evidence is that this year's demand will call for two million tires.

Mileage Records Did It

This has all happened since men, with odometers, began to keep track of tire mileage.

Since they stopped buying tires on names and claims, and compared the cost of upkeep.

It will happen with you. Tires that can't rim-cut—oversize tires—are bound to appeal to you some time.

And when you once learn what they mean on your tire bills you will wish you had started sooner.

Write for the Goodyear Tire Book—14th-year edition. It tells all known ways to economize on tires.

New comfort and liberal design

Call and inspect the new KisselKar models—see how liberality of design gives the KisselKar new comfort and new distinction. Liberal design means smoother, steadier riding, roomier tonneaus, deeper seats, greater safety margin and lower upkeep. Every KisselKar model exceeds the corresponding models in any other line, in length of wheelbase, roominess of tonneau, and the liberal design of every part. The KisselKar is one of the few automobiles different enough from ordinary values to deserve your special attention.

We will give you every opportunity to prove that the KisselKar offers comfort and distinction equalled by no other car.

KISSELKAR

If you will investigate the KisselKar and make careful comparisons with other cars you will find —that the KisselKar has exceptionally liberal wheelbase —that the tonneaus are exceedingly roomy —that the seats are exceptionally deep —that the upholstery is most generous and refined —that there is more room in the driver's compartment —that there is perfect spring action —that there is no road vibration, no need to brace yourself against sideway and locking, no tremor from the engine.

—that the wide range of throttle control and the ability to climb hills and drive slow on high gear takes the labor out of driving.
—that no other car is quicker to pick up speed
—none other as eagerly responsive to the steering wheel, or so light-footed in picking the road.

KisselKar Service Guarantee

To definitely establish the intent of KisselKar Service, and to make its meaning clear, we make the following specific guarantee:

The KisselKar Branch agrees to furnish and replace all parts, free of charge, that may prove defective in workmanship or material for a period of one year from date of delivery.

Service such as this not only insures uninterrupted use of your car or truck, but materially lowers upkeep and retards depreciation.

To know the value of the Kisselkar Service is to favor the ownership of a KisselKar.

30 H. P. KisselKar $1825 40 H. P. KisselKar $2125
50 H. P. KisselKar $2650 60 H. P. KisselKar $3300

All models electric started and lighted, and fully equipped.

Ask for a copy of the 1913 KisselKar catalog. It gives a full understanding of the liberal design and advanced standards of the KisselKar, and a new standard of car comparison.

TRUCKS KisselKar Trucks are saving money in every line of industry. The line includes 1500 lb., 1 ton, 2500 lb. 2, 3, 4 and 5 ton Trucks, Delivery Cars, Fire department Apparatus, Ambulances, Hearses, etc. We will make a careful study of your haulage and delivery problem and recommend the right truck outfit to cut costs. Large truck book illustrates many models.

WINTON SIX

AMERICA'S FOREMOST CAR

THE American gasoline automobile industry is less than 15 years old. It was established by Alexander Winton in 1896. In the first nine years of the industry, four types came along in rapid succession—single, two, three and four cylinder cars.

In the tenth year of the industry (June, 1907), when Mr. Winton became the world's first maker of six cylinder automobiles, he produced a record-breaking, history-making car—the Winton Six.

BARR STARTS OVER MUD ROADS IN CUTTING TOURER.

[illegible] manager for the local branch of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, with his friend Tom Lamb, left this city last week for San Diego in a Cutting tourer. Cheered by his friends to give the lucky Barr only smiled and declared he would be in San Diego in time to enjoy an 11 o'clock meal. The car was equipped with the tires that never will skid, no matter how greasy the road, and the wheel was taken by Lamb, who is a expert driver, especially when it comes to rough turnpikes. They took the Coast route and the Cutting got her head on the run out of Fourth street. The Whittier road was good and the two men decided to take the seashore drive. They left Los Angeles at 5 o'clock, and the sun was just beaming out in all its splendor after the heavy rain.

The secret must be told. Barr was married only three months, and is of an adventurous disposition and she was ready the moment the trip was proposed. It was the same with Mrs. Lamb and the two girls were soon in the Cutting, with the car shooting out over the mushy roads for the southern city.

It was necessary for Barr to make the trip. He is planning an extensive tour among his sub-agents. He is determined to make this year the biggest in the history of his branch and following the record of last season. "Judge" Barr has a mark to surpass. He is proving one of the most versatile of the Firestone agents. He is one of the most accomplished after-dinner speakers in Southern California and at the coming banquet which the "rubber men" propose to give, Barr is to be the chief speaker. He has agreed to "cut out" all mention of business and devote himself to the growth of the industry in this section.

The Firestone man will spend three days in San Diego and then will return by way of the inland route, spending some time at Riverside and Redlands and Pomona. He will be back on the job by Wednesday of this week.

CALIFORNIA DEFEATED.

[illegible] Wallops Varsity Nine in Loose Game by Score of 19 to 3—Short Shows Up Well.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Feb. 8.—California's varsity nine met defeat on the fifth game of the season today, when the fast Zamboni team was unable to hold the Bears down after the ninth, that the Bears were able to score more than one run. The game was loosely played, although relieved by flashes of speed. Short relieved the veteran Cowell well.

The batting was the line-up for the visitors: Richardson, 3b.; [illegible] Goodwin, 2b.; Rubke, ss.; [illegible] Barnes, 1b.; Buckley, rf.; [illegible] Douglas, c.; Conklin, p.;

In Indiana, it is said, there are actually 25,197 cars, although 64,000 are registered. Nebraska is said to have 16,500 cars, although registry numbers run as high there as 33,277. It is estimated that throughout the country now there are nearly a million automobiles in use, or roughly one car to every 100 persons.

NEW FEATHERWEIGHT.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch by Federal (Wireless) Line.] Teddy Huba, the young Pittsburgh featherweight who defeated George Kirkwood of St. Louis in a ten-round bout, has been secured for two more bouts. His first go will be with Al Delmont for fifteen rounds at the Marieville R.I.A.C. on next Tuesday, while his second opponent will be "Special Delivery" Hirsch of Chicago, whom he will take on for ten rounds on February 18.

PAPKE AFTER GIBBONS.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch.] It was given out here today that after Billy Papke lays out Frank Kraus in Paris, March 5, and George Carpentier on April 5, he has strong hopes that one of the fight promoters of San Francisco will sign him for a battle with either Eddie McGoorty or Mike Gibbons for twenty rounds on July 4. Before leaving for Paris Papke said that he would fight in San Francisco on that date if his terms were met.

SCHOOL KIDDIES RIDE IN BUSSES.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 28.—Auto busses which will bring High School students from all corners of the High School union, including thirty-eight of the grammar schools of Southern Tulare county, are being planned out by the school boosters and a practical plan to cover the entire territory with three machines is now proposed. From the union school in this city to the south limit of the district is a distance of approximately twenty miles. To the White River district the distance is twenty-five miles and to the Saucelito section is about twenty miles. Three autos, with a carrying capacity of twenty passengers each, can cover the country to these three sections easily twice each day and there is practically no season of the year when daily trips are impossible. The Porterville Northeastern Railroad will serve pupils of Worth, Globe, Springville and Adobe, a promise of proper train service for High School students having been made by the railroad officials.

It is the plan of the school workers to so regulate the routes of the various autos that none of the students will be obliged to travel excessive distances in reaching the machines. As far as known Porterville school is the first to take up the matter of auto service for the children. Busses from three directions are now in use to bring grammar students to the Porterville schools.

BOXING IN CHICAGO.

Politicians, After Consultation With Gov. Dunne, Believe That a Boxing Bill Will Pass.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Politicians returning today from a conference with Gov. Dunne said the outlook was favorable for passing a boxing bill at the present session of the Legislature. Chicago followers of boxing are confident they will have boxing in a short time. They have been quiet in their efforts to have the lid lifted and in the framing of a bill to be introduced at Springfield were careful to learn the attitude of local authorities on the subject. Mayor Harrison favors a boxing law if the public interest is safeguarded and the sport is honestly conducted.

KILBANE AND KIRKWOOD.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 8.—[Special Dispatch to The Times by Federal (Wireless) Line.] By offering Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, a guarantee of $1250 to fight George Kirkwood, the St. Louis featherweight, the McMahon Bros. today completed all details for the boxing show which they will bring off at the Empire Athletic Club in Manhattan Casino next Friday night. As soon as Jimmy Dunn, manager of Kilbane, received word from the McMahons that they would pay the little champion the above-mentioned sum to box, he wired back the match was on. This will be the third and main bout of the three ten-round contests that will be staged. In the other two bouts Joe Young Shugrue of Jersey City will meet Johnny Lore and Phil Cross will swap punches with Harry Donohue, the crack western lightweight.

BEARS START TRACK.

Capt. Wood Calls Big Rally and Large Squad Turns Out for Preliminary Work.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Feb. 8.—Track season was formally inaugurated here today when Capt. Wood of Whittier sent out his first call for candidates. Col. G. C. Edwards, who used to do the mile, spoke to the men. "Charley" Volz, who is to have charge of the conditioning of the track men, cautioned them against overdoing their work at the start of the season.

Coach Christie reviewed briefly the memorable 1912 season, and in cautioning the fellows about over-confidence, he said: "If you think we will have an easy time beating Stanford, then forget it. Last year's team was a wonderful one, the greatest, I think, that ever represented an American university, but men have been lost to us from that team who were sure point winners. Our greatest loss is that of Rice—a sure five points in the shot." Graduate-Manager Donald and Fred Allen and Eddie Beeson of the 1912 team spoke. L. A. Saxon, who in 1910 won the intercollegiate mile in the then record time of 4.32, brought the rally to a close.

NO CHANGE IN RULES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Football rules are almost sure to get the "rest cure" this year, according to authoritative sources. Although the Intercollegiate Rules Committee has arranged for its annual meeting here on February 14, it is expected that the fourteen members will have little to do. The revised code adopted last winter was generally approved in reports at the recent meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, and in all probability the changes in the rules, if any at all, will be along clarifying lines, with nothing new or radical.

Melting Point of Metals.

[Washington Post:] The melting points of various heat-resisting materials have been thus determined by the United States Bureau of Standards: Fire clay brick, 2551 to 3127 degrees Fahrenheit; bauxite brick, 2741 to 3245 degrees; chromite brick, 3722 degrees; magnesia brick, 3929 degrees; bauxite, 3308 degrees; chromite, 3956 degrees; pure alumina, 3650 degrees; pure silica, 3182 degrees; silicon carbide, beginning to decompose at 4028 degrees, does not melt below 4892 degrees.

Regal

Advantages of the Underslung

The Seven Regal Reasons

FIRST—An Underslung is the safest car. Its construction—the frame below the axle—brings the weight of the car nearer the road, yet allows full and even clearance. "Turning turtle" becomes an impossibility—skidding a rarity.

SECOND—Each Underslung has a "different" appearance. All the Regal Underslungs are attractive cars to look upon. Their design embodies graceful lines, a low rakish appearance that is pleasing to the eye and the utmost in correct proportion. Every owner is proud of the car he drives. Dealers are frequently led to a sale through the appearance of the car.

THIRD—Their spring construction makes Regal Underslungs easy riding cars. The separate "halves" of each spring vibrate at different rates—overcoming the violet bounce. The flatness of each spring adds to its lateral strength and relieves the side sway.

FOURTH—Regal Underslungs are economical on tires and in gasoline consumption. The rebound of all springs is upward, thus relieving the strain on tire casings. Low suspension means a straight line drive, and power developed in the motor is not wasted in the universal joints. Regal cars average between fifteen and twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline.

FIFTH—The Underslung principle is a tried-out principle. It has been used for years on rapid moving conveyances and is now far beyond the experimental stage in the manufacture of automobiles. Eight successful firms are now engaged in the building of Underslung cars.

SIXTH—We know how to design, build and finish Underslungs. In the field of the moderate priced car of this type we were pioneers and are today the largest manufacturers of this kind of car.

SEVENTH—Regal Underslungs are unusually good cars. Their dependable construction and conservative price makes them worthy your careful consideration. If intending the purchase of a car we ask you to learn more about the Underslung construction and Regal cars. See these cars on display in Los Angeles.

At the service of those who care to use them are special salesmen in our local organization who will be pleased to answer further questions about the Underslung construction. These Regal Reasons are only seven of many which we will be pleased to give you. Our organization awaits your call by phone or in person.

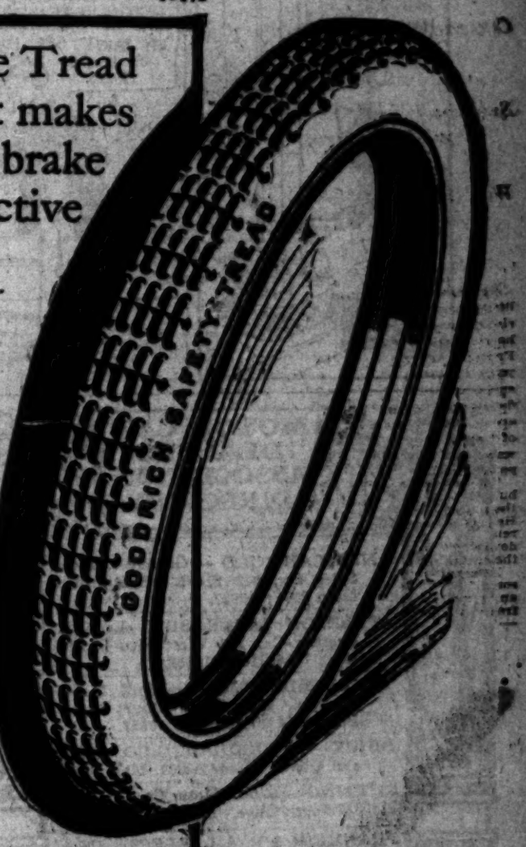
The Tread that makes the brake effective



Goodrich Safety Tread Tires

Best in the Short Stop

The five fingers of the Goodrich Safety Tread act as your own five fingers would—they get a human hand-grip on the roadway, pressing the mud, ooze, slush and water away and making a safe path for the wheel.

It takes more than a brake to stop a car. It takes more than a steering wheel to keep you going the way you must go, to make the turn you must make.

Unless the treads of your tires take hold and help, you don't go—where you must go; you don't stop—where you must stop.

Therefore your real emergency brake is in the tread of your tires—not on the axle.

"All the brakes are with you" if your car is equipped with Goodrich Safety Tread Tires.

The five fingers almost humanize your tires.

They stop the slide which starts the skid.

There is no chance for slippery ooze to get back between projections or under the tire.

The way is barred in all directions by the thick rubber fingers. Note also that these fingers do not offer sharp angles to wear off rapidly.

This tire is not built on theory—it is the scientific and practical application of the right principle, first proven by every possible test.

Goodrich Safety Tread Tires are made just as all Goodrich Tires are made—unit molded.

Body and tread are literally molded into a unit by the Goodrich single vulcanization—the tread does not peel or strip, and you are free of the danger from weak spots or dead places because of over-vulcanization which cooks the life out of rubber.

There is nothing in Goodrich Advertising that isn't in Goodrich Tires

How About This?

VAN COURT SAYS KILBANE AND M'CARTY ARE BEST.

Expert Declares These Two Champions Are Very Likely to Hold Their Honors Greater Length of Time Than Other Pugs Are — Ritchie and Coulon Have Many Tough Opponents.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

IF YOU hold a championship, look out, for it is in danger. Johnny Coulon, the bantamweight; Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight; Willie Ritchie, the lightweight, and Luther McCarty, the heavyweight boxers, are in danger of losing their titles.

The welterweight and middleweight are still safe as there is no recognized champions in these classes.

Kilbane, Ritchie and McCarty are the three youngest champions we have ever had, and McCarty is the youngest champion in any class.

Coulon, who has held his title for several years, is in the most dangerous position of the lot on account of his ill-health. He has been a sick man for more than a year and the chances are that he never will be himself again.

Kid Williams, Frankie Burns and Eddie Campi are hot after his title. Both Williams and Burns claim a victory over him. But if Campi wins from Williams, with any kind of class, he will be the most dangerous of the lot for Johnny, and within a year will be a dangerous man in the featherweight class.

The bantams from England, France and Australia, while always dangerous, are hardly to be figured with when a championship is involved.

England has turned out many fine bantams, but as yet none have classed with our American boxers.

THREE CONTENDERS.

Williams, Burns and Coulon are about the same build and height. Campi is much taller than the rest and never in all the fights has taken off a pound to make weight. This is greatly in his favor. He is just 19 years old and will grow for some time, and has even the height for a lightweight.

Eddie's natural weight and build give him a decided advantage over the rest, and I look for him to win the title within the next year, if he passes Williams.

Johnny Kilbane, the champion feather, has not taken on very fast with the boxing fans. This is owing to his lack of a punch, for he prefers to win on points.

Kilbane should be given credit, however, for winning his title. He easily outpointed that great little featherweight, Abe Attell.

Up to the time Kilbane met Abe, the fighting Jew easily did as he pleased with all the other featherweights and many lightweights.

The present crop of feathers are few, and of little class. Johnny has outpointed some of the best in the East and the only boy who made any kind of showing with him was shortly after he won the title, when he met Jimmy Walsh in Boston, and the chances are that Kilbane held Jimmy too cheaply.

DUNDEE DANGEROUS.

Johnny Dundee is about the most dangerous man for Kilbane at the present time, but judging from the showing Dundee made here some months ago with Frankie Conley, he will have a small chance of winning over Kilbane when they meet here in April.

There is hardly a man in England who would give him any kind of a hard go. Driscoll and Moran are the two best in the country, but Moran is about all in and Driscoll is getting too old to make a good stand with him. Then again, the weight of 122 pounds, would handicap both Moran and Driscoll.

Willie Ritchie, the lightweight, is in somewhat the same position as Coulon. He has more dangerous ones to meet, and as the crop of lightweights is always the largest, he will be compelled to do the most fighting to hold his title.

There is Joe Rivers, who many think defeated Wolgast when they met. Joe Mandot, who is always a dangerous boy.

Leach Cross is another dangerous man, and Jack Britton is another, if he can make the weight and be strong, but this seems doubtful.

Again, on the Coast we have Bud Anderson, who is being highly touted by many good judges of fighters to be the coming man in his class.

Ritchie is young, and growing, and will sooner or later have a hard time making the weight. It is also said by many who witnessed the Ritchie-Wolgast fight, that while Willie won fairly, he was a badly-beaten man, up to the time the foul blow was struck.

If the fighting Dutchman, Ad Wolgast, can ever come back to his old-time form, he will easily defeat all in that class, and as Ad has shown in each fight that he has had since his operation, that he is regaining his stamina, he may be back in his old-time form again within the next year.

Rivers and Wolgast in good form will make Ritchie hustle his best to hold his title.

WELSH IS THERE.

Then again there is another boy who has been coming back fast during the past year and he is Freddie Welsh. Welsh had no trouble with Ritchie when they met and should not again if in any kind of his old-time form.

The welterweight class is still undecided, and the winner of the Jack Britton-Packy McFarland bout will undoubtedly be declared the welterweight champion. Judging from the rest in that class. Either of these two boys easily outclass all.

The middleweight class has been a bloomer for some time. Ever since the death of Stanley Ketchel there has been no recognized champion.

Before Stanley died it was a question if he ever could make the middleweight limit again, as he was fast getting heavy.

Billy Papke after defeating him at Vernon very foolishly took him on within a few months and lost. Papke was a sick man when they met the second time and should not have fought. Then again, if he had waited for a year or so he might have found it impossible for Ketchel to make the weight and be strong.

Since then Papke has been an in and outer, as the saying is, winning in good form and losing like a dub.

On his Australian trip he had the jaundice the first time he met Smith, the Australian champion, and lost. Later when he recovered he knocked Smith out, which gave him the Australian title.

Coming back to America he made several bad fights and finally knocked out Harrison, the English champion.

On his recent trip to France he won over George Carpentier, the middleweight champion of that country, by a clean knockout.

Jimmy Clabby and Eddy McGoorty are hot after the title in that class and so is Mike Gibbons. They have yet to come to the Coast and settle their troubles in a twenty-round go, before either will be recognized as a champion.

The winner, with all due credit to Billy Papke, will have to meet him before he can claim the world's title.

Papke has few followers in this country and when he left the Coast was a much-discouraged boy.

In a conversation before he left the Coast he said to me: "I don't understand why I am not making good in the fighting game as I should. I am only 28 years old and should be at my best in three or four years from now."

No matter what may be said of Billy, in my opinion he should beat all the middleweights in this country if properly trained. Papke is one of the many fighters who does not know how to train himself, and never knows when he is at his best. There is no good reason in my mind why he should not, but I look for him to be ready when he starts again.

MCARTHY GOOD.

Luther McCarthy, who is the most talked of heavyweight in the world today, I believe, will hold his title for a long time, provided he takes good care of himself.

The most dangerous ones are the young fellows now in his class. I don't look for any unknown to come along and defeat him. Luther has too good a start over the rest of coming white hopes.

Judging from the showing Jack Johnson made with Jim Flynn at Juarez I will not be surprised to see either Al Palzer or Bombadier Wells defeat him, and look for Wells to turn the trick easier that Palzer.

Johnson never will, in my opinion, get back into his old form. Too much dissipation.

WELLS PROMISING.

Wells is just as clever and much faster at the present time and a good hitter. He is coming right along and Jack is going.

McCarthy's experience and age are all in his favor. He is made of the right stuff for a champion. He has a good head and is improving right along in his cleverness. The rest he is taking on the stage will help him when he goes into harness again. It is giving him time to mature and the boxing he is doing will keep his eye good and give him time to study and practice things he is trying to learn.

Luther will no doubt get much heavier than when he last fought and as he has the height to carry it all, it will be to his advantage.

Jess Willard and Jack Daly are two most dangerous men in this country for him. But as Willard is said to have a weak heart when in action, it is hardly probable that he will ever defeat Luther.

Daly is a big strong fellow and coming along at a fair pace, but will have to show more than he has to be classed with Luther as yet.

McCarthy and Kilbane look the best to me at the present time to hold their titles.

JAP BILLIARDIST TO SHOW AGAINST GEORGE SLOSSON

AMBIDEXTERITY will play an important part in the big billiard match which will be staged in the gymnasium of the Los Angeles Athletic Club February 19 and 20, when George Slosson, one of the greatest billiardists this country has ever known, will meet Koji Yamada, the sensational Japanese player who was the only man to defeat the wonderful Willie Hoppe in the international tournament in New York.

The match will be 800 points, 18-2 balkline billiards, 400 points to be played on each night.

Yamada is perhaps the only billiard player in the world who can use his left and right hands equally well.

"In Japan," said Yamada, in explaining his ambidexterity, "we are encouraged or compelled to use our left hands as well as our rights."

Yamada is considered a big drawing card in billiard circles, as he beat Hoppe and is considered the greatest billiard player in the world has ever seen.

Before that, in years gone by, he had played billiards, but did not play at least like our own. The game as it is used and played here is more than those used in the Hawaiians and Calgary Ponies Fiercest Rivals.

Games to Begin at Pasadena February 15.

Players Are Trying to Buy Good Horses.

With the millionaire All-Hawaiian polo team as the center of attraction, one of the most promising polo tournaments in the history of Southern California will begin on the fields of the Pasadena Polo Club, February 15, and will continue for one week.

All told, there will be five, and possibly seven teams, entered, representing the very best polo exponents to be found west of the world-famous fields of the Atlantic Coast.

Entries have been received from the Hawaiian team, the Boise (Idaho) team, the Santa Barbara team and one from the Pasadena club itself. Canada and the Canadian teams have not been heard from, but it is confidently expected that they will be in the tournament, as they will scarce-

CAMPUS BRIEFS.

Two rivals are to meet Saturday, February 8, on the Occidental track, when Occidental College and Los Angeles High School hook up in a dual meet. These two institutions have been meeting on the track for quite some time, but the notable fact is that for the last four years the High School boys have hosed out the collegians.

Last year's memorable contest, when the High School boys won by two points, has been ranking in the Tigers' bosom for a year and the Occidental team to a man is out to annex as near grabbing three places to every event that is possible.

The white hopes of the Blue and White are little Clemmer Johnston, French and Dail, in the sprints; Solberg and Doyle in the distances; Drury Wieman's kid brother, Tom, will be opposed to him in the weights. There should be all kinds of excitement, as this is the first local meet of any importance.

On Wednesday afternoon the Los Angeles High School track men are to hold their annual interclass meet on the Occidental track. This will be in the nature of a try-out for the meet with the Tigers on the following Saturday and will also help to get a line on the new material, which is said to be plentiful in the ranks of the Blue and White. Coach Fisher is determined to make a winner out of what seems at present to be more or poor material for a winning track team.

As the days go by the interest in the coming triangular meet between Cliff Barnes of Pomona, Bergstrom of U.S.C. and Bo Wilson of Occidental, in the pole vault, is rising to fever heat. These three young men will have two chances in succession to make each other's acquaintance. Wilson will be the most busy of the three.

All three are to meet at the Occidental relay carnival February 15 on the Tiger campus and again on the following Saturday in the A.A.U. meet at Bovard field. Then, on March 2, Wilson and Bergstrom may get together in the dual meet between their respective institutions, while Wilson is to meet Barnes for the third time on March 8 at Pomona.

These young men are said to be doing very close to twelve feet now in practice and there is no telling how high they will go in the competition. Bergstrom has one advantage in the fact that he will probably confine his attention solely to the pole this year, while Barnes will also throw the hammer and will broad jump and run the low hurdles, in addition to his pole-vaulting.

John Durkee, the young man who won first place in the shot-put and discus throw in the Pomona indoor meet, is an individual who would be hard to be taken for a weight man. He is of very medium size, but he has shown form in both events and can put the shot around the forty-foot mark, while being able to heave the discus about 110 feet. In the latter event he has purchased four new records, is a superb game. He has a very fine change of weight, president of the Southern California Edison Company, has manifested an excellent interest which will follow consistently and without faltering and should be able to place in the shot.

Yamada is considered the greatest drawing card in billiards next to Heat Hoppe and finished third in the greatest billiard tournament the world has ever seen.

Before that, in Japan, for nine years he had played Japanese billiards, but this game is not in the least like our own. A cue is not used and four balls must be used in this country instead of three.

New Nickel Piece Refused.

[Washington Star:] The design for the new nickel, the creation of James Fraser, an artist of New York, has been accepted by Secretary [illegible] of the Treasury Department to replace the five-cent piece that has been in circulation for many years. Within a week George E. Roberts, director of the mint, will order [illegible] it probably will be in circulation shortly after February 1.

On one side of the new coin is a reproduction of the head of an Indian. At the top in the word "Liberty," at the bottom is the word "Five Cents." On the reverse side appear the figures of a buffalo—closely resembling in appearance those of the red man—and the inscription of the coin, "Five cents." The design is severely classic and is regarded by Treasury officials as one of the most artistic pieces of work that money ever turned out.

Bangor, Me., is to have an automobile show February 21 to 26 inclusive. The dates selected are the week after the Portland show, so many exhibitors there can go to Bangor afterward.

From present appearances the four-wheeled motor vehicle is to attain considerable prominence in the field of motor business during the next few years.

The Cowboys.

RODEO WILL OPEN TODAY.

Postponed Yesterday on Account of the Rain.

Delay Costs Management Lot of Money.

Thrilling Programme for the Opening.

The cowboy contests which were to have begun at the Stadium yesterday were postponed on account of the rain. The Rodeo will open today at 1 o'clock, and continue for nine days.

The parade which was to have inaugurated the contests, will take place on Monday, starting at Ninth and Main streets at 11 o'clock, instead of 10 o'clock, as previously advertised.

There was great disappointment among the managers of the Rodeo, both for the Associated Charities and the Oregon men who arranged the contests. The experience of the latter was very similar to that of last year, when it began raining on the eve of the show held at Santa Anita race track and rained for nine days continually.

A repetition of last year's experience has caused the Oregon men to be referred to as "the rainmakers," and Dick Ferris suggested that they be engaged to bring the Rodeo down every winter for the purpose of breaking the dry spell.

If there was disappointment at headquarters, there was discomfort and gloom among the several hundred contestants, most of whom are quartered at the Stadium. Riders from all over the Southwest have arrived during the past few days, all eager to show their skill as bronco busters, ropers, relay racers and fancy trick riders.

The infield of the Stadium arena soaked up the downpour of water in good shape, but the track, banked and rolled, became a pond, on which a rowboat might be floated. This will be drained off before Sunday's performance and there will be no mud unless rain continues right up to the hour set for the opening.

"We expect a great crowd Sunday, if the skies clear up before noon," said President Frank of the Associated Charities. "The seats will be clean and dry and there will be no mud as the entrances have all been sawdusted. There's going to be a great big show and we hope our friends will come out and see it.

"Greatest number of the great riders, and best horses ever got together," is Col. Raley's description of the Rodeo. "We postponed Saturday's show because we didn't want to get started under bad weather conditions. We are going to give the public its money's worth every day, and the first day's contests will prove that. The postponement cost us over $3500 for the day, to say nothing of the gate receipts. We will be on hand Sunday, however, and do our very best."

Notwithstanding the rain a number of people, several hundred, in fact, went out to the Stadium expecting to see a show. In order to prevent others following suit, a bugler and an announcer were sent through the streets in an automobile notifying the crowds that there would be no performance until Sunday.

The programme for Sunday is as follows:

TODAY'S PROGRAMME.

Grand entry of all the contestants on horseback and parade around the arena.

Bucking horse contest for international championship; elimination trials. Seventy-five entrants.

Cowboy relay race for international championship; first heats. Fifty entrants.

Silverwood special cowboy hat.

Wilson Saddlery Company, $150 special saddle, cowboy bucking contest for international championship.

All space for the fourth annual Des Moines Automobile show, to be held at the Coliseum March 3 to 14, has been sold and firms are still seeking admission. This in spite of the fact that the show has been lengthened to a two weeks' affair, with pleasure cars only shown the first week. Arrangements are now being made for an overflow show.

MILWAUKEE WOULD JOIN W.A.A. AND INVADE EAST.

Hands Across the Continent Reach Us Here and Proposition Sounds Good—New Racing Body Has More to Do Than A.A.A. and Plans for This Year Loom Large—Outlook Is Bright.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Feb. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Los Angeles and Milwaukee will be allied together in the movement to invade the East with the new and rapidly-growing Western Automobile Association, and in the fight against the American Automobile Association, which is vainly trying to be supreme in automobile racing. When Milwaukee lost its fight to retain in 1912 the Vanderbilt and Grand Prix races, held here in 1912, this city became an active ally in the Pacific Coast revolt, and is willing to be a leader in the fight against the older but more autocratic association.

So encouraging is the outlook that an itinerary has already been discussed to include some of the country's big race centers. In fact the outlook is so roseate that the new association is threatening to carry the war into the far East, and there is talk of events at Philadelphia and at Brighton Beach, New York as possible itinerary stops. One thing is certain, and that is that the West will see more spirited automobile road races than has ever been staged before.

A tentative itinerary includes the following cities: Los Angeles, Cal.; Tacoma, Wash.; Denver, Colo.; Galveston, Tex.; Seattle, Wash.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Milwaukee, Wis., and several other cities.

That this line-up is a formidable one must be admitted by all racing enthusiasts, since it includes the San Diego, Santa Monica, Tacoma, Bakersfield, Los Angeles-Phoenix, Pabst, Wisconsin challenge and a half dozen other racing classics.

Milwaukee's support to the new association is as good as assured, since the A.A.A. and the Motor Cups Holding Company have seen fit to select Savannah as Milwaukee's successor for the 1913 Vanderbilt and Grand Prix events.

After suffering a loss of $40,000 it was expected that the Milwaukee association would again be granted the two big motor classics of America, in order to get back part of the immense sum spent to perfect one of the best racing roads in the country. Having lost out, however, Milwaukee is prepared to stage race events just the same and has for a basis the beautiful Pabst trophy, for medium car road race competition and the Wisconsin Motor challenge trophy for light cars, 161 to 220 cubic inches displacement. The Pabst trophy carries an additional award of $1000 in cash to the winner; to the second $500 in cash; to the third $250 in cash; to the fourth, $125 in cash. The same cash conditions go with the Wisconsin trophy.

Santa Monica, Tacoma, Bakersfield, Los Angeles-Phoenix and San Diego-Phoenix are other events of equal reputation to tohes of Milwaukee and should attract the greatest drivers in the country, since the prize allurements will be such as to win the most skillful pilots from the A.A.A. The races at Galveston are also big events and the Texans were among the first to give assurance to the new association of their support. Incidentally, the A.A.A. method of conducting road races has been criticised repeatedly since the supervision has always rested in the hands of a certain coterie of men, who by their dictatorial methods have not helped to make road racing more popular.

Another fact not to be lost sight of, is that of the position which the Pacific Coast occupies in the racing world, where all must admit that racing flourishes more successfully than in any other section of the country. New York and New England have no road races of any consequences, while the Pacific Coast can boast of the Santa Monica, Tacoma, Los Angeles-Phoenix, San Diego-Phoenix, Bakersfield and other events. It is only reasonable for the West to demand more from the A.A.A. than the easterners are willing to concede. If anything, western racing men should be on the contest boards of the A.A.A. instead of New Yorkers, who have watched the passing of the sport in their own vicinity. Drivers are taking the same view of the situation. They will go with the association having the greatest number of events, and in this respect the western association will discount the East 3 to 1.

On the basis of 1913 road racing statistics, the comparison between the new Western Automobile Association and the American Automobile Association, with the Mississippi River and Chicago as a dividing line, would be as follows:

Statistics 1913	1913 W.A.A.	1913 A.A.A.
Number road races 26	13	7
Number miles 4045	2434	1211
Average distance each race 221	269	203

Incidentally for the last three years the West has held the road racing mark, starting in 1910 at Santa Monica, when Teddy Tetzlaff averaged 73.22 miles per hour. In 1911 Herrick put the figures to 74.63 and in 1912 Tetzlaff again assumed the top speed position, averaging 78.7 miles per hour, the standing world's road racing mark today.

Limousine Show Week

For one week, commencing Monday, February 10th, we will have a display of LOZIER and ABBOTT-DETROIT LIMOUSINES in our showroom, an exhibit finer than anything ever displayed before in Southern California. Everyone is invited to inspect these beautiful cars. The "Metropolitan" and "Coronado" bodies are new and individual and are the first of their kind to be seen here.

If you are interested in a closed car of any kind, don't fail to see this exhibit. See the new Stream Line bodies that were the talk of the London and New York shows.

Something new in closed cars direct from the New York Auto Show.

To the Automobile-Buying Public

Judge the Future by the Past

The writer stated the following facts to parties wishing to buy an automobile: "There is a large number of companies who buy motors from one concern, frames, bodies, axles, bearings, gears, differentials, housings, brakes, etc., from as many other separate manufacturers, and place on the market what is known as an assembled car."

"As a rule these concerns have very little capital, occupy small quarters, their reputation is founded upon advertising, they exist while there is a maximum demand for cars; when the demand decreases, they go out of business, leaving the buyer of these cars without any organization to stand back of them, unable to get renewal of broken or worn parts; then the car has lost its prestige, having absolutely no market for selling, and the buyer's investment is almost a complete loss. The increasing number of failures of such concerns prove our statement."

"On a recent visit of the writer to Indianapolis, Ind., to Nordyke & Marmon Co., Flour Mill Engineers, Founders and Machinists, Manufacturers of Marmon Motor Cars, he was shown through the Factory by Mr. E. Rice, the General Manager. This firm is the largest of its kind in the world, having been established in 1851, and brought to the building of the Marmon Car the prestige of over 62 years of successful manufacturing. In the Pattern Dept., which filled one entire building, he was shown at least $500,000 worth of patterns, covering every piece of machinery designed and built by them in the past 60 years, which could be duplicated on order. From there we went into the "stock" room of the Automobile Department, where every part that had ever been made for a Marmon car from the earliest models was kept. The Nordyke & Marmon Co. has brought to the building of their famous "Marmon" not only their far reaching experience, strong financial organization and great engineering ability, but also a reputation that is world-wide, and will be in the market backing their product for generations to come."

"It is a well-known fact that no Marmon owner in Los Angeles has ever traded his Marmon for any other make. Once having used a Marmon he would not be satisfied with any other kind."

"It is also a well-known fact that there is a ready market for a used Marmon car."

"Look over the Los Angeles daily papers and see if you can find a second hand Marmon advertised for sale. If you find one it is in the hands of the Marmon Agent, who has taken it as part cash on a new Marmon car."

"The reputation of the Marmon is unique among the cars of admitted excellence and international prestige. Marmon design, materials and construction are admired by authorities the world over. There is a well warranted pride in the ownership of a Marmon and a profound satisfaction in its operation. The delight which a Marmon demonstration gives to those well versed in all that distinguishes excellence from mediocrity continues through years of exacting ownership."

1—On trumpet flowers and violins, in breezes gently swaying,
The Children and Twee Deedle find the little bug folks playing.

2—And very happy do they seem, indulging in their song,
For, just as Mr. Twee explains, they've never done a wrong.

3—And nature's folks, who do their best, know not what sin or care is,
And when they've lived their normal lives are always changed to fairies.

4—And so the little bug folk sing, and chatter long and loud,
While breaking off a glowing piece of fleecy summer cloud.

5—But soon the cloud begins the strangest actions ever seen,
And twists and turns till it becomes a lovely Fairy Queen.

6—And very pleased are all the bugs, and Dick and Dolly, too,
To look upon the smiling Queen brought suddenly to view.

And soon the little bugs are turned to sprites and fairies, too.

The Pink Velvet Gown

WHEN the lights of evening are turned on women are able to be lovelier than ever in the creations of master minds, for evening gowns in their variety, their colorings and lines are wonderful. All types of figures and faces have been studied and all questions concerning stylish beauty have been answered.

In the group before you the important features of the season's evening gowns have been exploited. Look and learn from these exquisite models.

In ecru lace and contrasting satins is a gown that has a coat effect. A high pointed girdle of black satin holds side points of pink over a draped bodice of ecru lace. A peplum of pink is slashed and edged with beads. On the skirt is a black satin portion, pointed in front and draped at the side.

Gunmetal beads form a tunic and corsage over the dark-gray charmeuse gown. Draped bands are the sleeves, and a heading of deep amber beads gives a touch of color that it were well to copy. A folded satin girdle defines the waist line. The train is long and gathered into a braided motif which gives a fan effect at the end.

A lovely draped gown of white chiffon over satin has the folds caught up in front under a cluster of rosebuds. A one-sided tunic of beaded net is draped over one hip, ending in a point at the back. The bodice has kimono sleeves and a plain chemisette of tulle. Beaded fringe edges the chiffon gown. A rose at the front catches the folded girdle in place.

All-white is a great favorite this year. In the dress shown a chantilly lace shawl is used to form the drapery on the bodice, the short sleeves and the long pointed train. Chiffon forms an overbodice and graceful panniers at the sides. The foundation is of white satin, and a large white cabbage rose, tinted with pink, is caught at one side. Any becoming color can be used for this model if you keep it a one-tone gown.

The pannier velvet gown is at its most attractive in the pink model that has a tied pannier and a double fish-tail. A lace bodice has a trimming of heavy metallic lace—one of the notes of the day—and a pink silk rose is caught at the waist line. Pink satin forms the underdress. Notice the one-sided effect in the general plan of the gown. It is here in a modish exploitation and can be easily copied.

In the last model a white lace gown has an overdrapery of net, on which is a wistaria bead design. There is a bretelle effect over the shoulders and a long panel of lace hangs below the satin girdle, while a side train of net hangs in a point at the left.

Each one of these gowns is an echo of the latest notes in Paris. All are conservative enough to be suitable for American women. They will be fitting ornamentation for the dinner, the dance, the opera, the reception—for any formal function after 6 o'clock. They will speak for the good taste and style of the wearers and will reflect credit on designer and chooser.

COMMON SENSE in the HOME
EDITED by MARION HARLAND

KEEP UP STANDARD OF YOUR PERSONAL APPEARANCE.

WHAT are you doing in the way of keeping yourself up?

This is a question which covers a good deal. For it implies physical development as well as mental and spiritual growth, and one of these is about as important as the other. I know you well enough to be pretty sure that an appeal to you to do anything for your own sake would carry less weight than the suggestion that you should do it for the good of John and the children. Do you ever think how necessary it is for their sakes that you should keep yourself up to a high mark?

Think for a moment of some of the good wives and mothers you have known who have not seemed to understand the business of keeping themselves up. We have all met them. They are devoted wives and mothers, excellent housekeepers and economists, who look well to the ways of the home and devote their whole lives to making their husbands and children happy and comfortable. The only real fault you can find with them is that they don't seem to consider their personal appearance, their self-training in any way as a matter requiring the least attention.

A Few Illustrations.

Is there just a chance that you belong even in a small degre to this class? Ponder over it a little and let me help your reflections by giving you a few illustrations to show you just what I mean.

There is Mrs. A. She is a rather notable housekeeper, whose home is always well kept, her table plentiful and good, her welcome cordial to her husband's and children's friends. You have to dwell upon all this to keep yourself from criticism of her appearance. To speak in plain and unflattering language, she is a frump! She has gained flesh with advancing years, her figure has lost whatever trimness it once possessed, she is badly corseted, she is clean in dress, but her clothes are old fashioned and unattractive, her morning costume is a kimono or a loose wrapper, and her whole getup is described by one of her son's friends as "sloppy."

Mrs. B. is almost as bad, but different. She is skinny where Mrs. A. is stout. Her dresses emphasize this instead of disguising it. She twists her hair into a tight knot at the back of her head and draws it away from her face in a fashion which makes her look dragged and worn. As a home maker there is no fault to be found with her, but she is singularly unattractive to the view and apparently cares nothing about her own looks.

Mrs. C. and Mrs. D. pay a little more heed to their dress and aspect, but they are housekeepers and nothing else. Mrs. C. will tell you she never reads the paper—she has so much else on hand in the way of work about the house. Mrs. D. hasn't taken any interest in church work for years—she won't even take time to go to church on Sunday, although she was prominent in philanthropic and church organizations before her marriage and for a while afterwards. But she has "settled down" and has sunk every power she possesses in wifehood and motherhood and housekeeping.

Housekeeper Not Belittled.

You all know me well enough to be sure that I have no intention of belittling the position of wife and mother and housekeeper. It is the work God has put into your hands and he means you to make the best of it. But you fail to do this when you let one side of your being atrophy. You are developing one department of your nature and your work at the expense of the others and making ready to present to him a misshapen, distorted product instead of the beautiful, symmetrical result he has the right to expect from you.

Perhaps you don't see how this applies in the case of Mrs. A. What has her neglect of her figure and dress to do with her discharge of her God given duties?

It has more than you suppose. For the figure and dress are both due to her having left undone the things she should have done. Perhaps I have quoted to you before the saying: "You have not fulfilled every duty in life unless you have fulfilled that of being pleasant." Let me paraphrase that and say, "You have failed in part of your duty if you have not made yourself look attractive."

This is not a counsel of vanity. It is advice to confer happiness on your husband and children by a care of your appearance that will make them proud of you and glad to go about with you and to have their friends meet you.

* *

Should Check Faults in Time.

How are you to keep yourself up in these lines? How should Mrs. A. have set about it?

In the first place she should have begun in time. She should have been on the lookout for the stoop between her shoulders, the thickening below the waist line that would have showed her she was not taking care of herself. The attention to the proper sort of exercise for preserving the shape of the figure does more than assist in keeping up a good appearance—it aids in retaining health, vigor, alertness, and ease of motion and promotes efficiency. Doctors and physical culturists lay stress upon this and in books and magazines may be found directions for the simple calisthenics which may not require more than ten minutes a day but will do the work of making muscles supple and obedient.

If Mrs. A. had appreciated the fact that it is easier to check an unfortunate development in the early stages than to correct it after it has reached a later period of growth she would have saved herself trouble. Start in season, you who have the same tendency she has. Don't say you haven't time for such things! You have, if you plan for it. Five minutes while dressing in the morning or undressing at night, deep breathing at the open window while you are waiting for the kettle to boil or the bread to brown—the interval you devote to these will never be missed and you will feel and show the benefit of the experience to an extent that will convince you that the effort has paid.

Make the Best of Your Powers.

Mrs. B. may follow the same course, adding to her exercise a judicious dietwhich may also be studied by Mrs. A.—to correct her propensity to meagerness, which is as unfortunate as Mr. A's bent towards fleshiness. Both women—or you who resemble either one of them—should bestow thought upon dress.

We take it for granted that a young girl should think of what becomes her in color and style. Too few of us appreciate that this is of less importance than that the elderly woman should give careful consideration to her attire. The girl who has the beauty of youth needs far less help from costume and cut than the middle aged or elderly woman whose skin is faded, whose hair is thin, whose figure is too redundant or too scant. You who are approaching these conditions should make a conscience of studying what will offset the disadvantages you cannot correct and should strive to render yourself as pleasing to the eye as circumstances will permit.

Do you think that I am laying too much weight upon the physical side of keeping yourself up? This is closely related to the mental and spiritual culture, and if you take time and thought to making yourself presentable, that your family may have pride in you, may love to have you share in their pursuits and enjoyments and meet their friends, the business of developing your mind to understand the things that interest them will be a natural outcome of the first attitude. You will perceive the importance of knowing the details of their studies and sports to an extent which will enable you to talk intelligently with them of the objects that absorb them most, and when you have done this you have secured a hold upon your husband, your sons and daughters, an influence over them which will be your most potent aid in keeping them close to you, in helping them to develop as they should.

I wish I could make every woman who reads this see the necessity of putting her very best of her power. Too long a time what I think of the men and who feel that marriage terminates the cate attentions, the devotion, the ation that were such essential courtship. The conviction I which I have preached in season afraid, sometimes out of season, marriage only begins the care wife should have for the comfort, the pleasure of each other mere animal toil of providing clothing, warmth, is the less, it is in one way, compared with love, tenderness, incentive to better things. These you ought not to leave the others undone.

Same Rule Applies with Children.

The same rule applies with children. have to admit there are women and nourish and clothe their children see that their bodies are well kept even that the minds are looked as far as sending the boys and girls when they attain school age, but have no real perception of what may mean in the way of and direction to better things. do you personally know of the heart of your half grown son or Does either one come to you joy or sorrow, every new how foolish or mistaken, every no matter how unpromising, understanding and appreciating that whatever is wrong neither it right; whatever is right, comprehend and approve?

If not, you have failed in the keeping yourself up as a mother less you can feel that your husband to you in the same way I have your children about, you have done one of the chief duties of your hood.

Take time to think this matter over fully, if you cannot declare in satisfaction that you have kept up to the ideal of wifehood and motherhood to an extent that exceeds one I have instanced as examples. Don't feel that you can fail in your children's standards in appearance, in knowledge of social then expect them to respect your when it comes to spiritual things. thread of sympathy and understanding esteem of your opinions and judgments must run through the whole life have to work for your living in time preciation, just as you have to make the best of yourself in order to tain the honor and regard of your husband. His love there may be at your losing, but if it is to be a live uplifts and helps you must never let yourself fall below his estimate of you, keep yourself up in every mode of word.

"As a home maker there is no fault to be found with her, but she is singularly unattractive to the view."

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

BECAUSE of the enormous number of letters sent to the department I must ask contributors to limit their communications to 100 words, except in cases of formulas or recipes which require greater space. I want all my correspondents to have a shouting in the Corner, and if my request in this respect is complied with it will be possible to print many more letters.

Attention is called to the fact that Marion Harland cannot receive money for patterns, as she has no connection with any department that sells them. Marion Harland.

DO you recollect the story of the woman who remarked it was queer Lent should come just when the fish markets were most plentiful? It never seemed to occur to her that the marketmen laid in large supplies of fish because Lent made a demand for sea food.

I have often wished that the same kind of call and supply prevailed about fruit in the season when we eat most meat, are sometimes prevented from taking exercise by inclement weather, and need the fruit juices to regulate our systems. Dried tropical fruits—dates, figs, raisins, citron, currants, and the like—are with us, but they are not what we require. Acids, such as that of the orange, the grapefruit, the apple, either fresh or dried, or canned native fruits, such as have been put up in hot weather for winter use, are more service to us just now.

Make a study of offering these in desserts of sundry kinds. Our families are not always content with fresh fruit, pure and simple. They demand pies, and puddings, and tarts, and probably would be satisfied with suet puddings and mince pies and French pancakes and other heavy sweets that make a demand upon digestions which are already overworked by the quantity of meats and starches we have bestowed upon them. If you are to wheedle your family into partaking of the fruit juices they really need you must use judgment in preparing these in sufficient variety to appeal to the appetite.

The following recipes may help you and may serve as a suggestion for other combinations. If any of unusual excellence occur to you, will you not send them to me, that I may give them a place here where they may be of benefit to many other home caterers?

It is worth while to add that where fresh fruit is called for the evaporated may be used if it is first soaked adequately. As I said above, the canned fruit may also be employed in the place of that which is out of season or too expensive for daily use.

Apple Snow. No. 1.

Beat the whites of three eggs to a meringue with three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, and just before dinner whip into them two cupfuls of smooth apple sauce. Serve heaped in small glasses—custard cups—or in a single dish. If you wish you may give a variation to this by lining the bottom of the dish with strips of sponge cake moistened with cider. Put the "snow" on this by the spoonful. Be sure that the apple sauce is well sweetened, adding the sugar after it is cooked.

Apple Snow. No. 2.

Make a custard of two cups of hot milk, half a cup of sugar, and the yolks of three eggs. Stir over the fire in a double boiler until the custard thickens, turn it into another vessel and let it become cold. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff with a half cup of powdered sugar, and just before the dish is to be served grate four large, firm apples into the meringue and mix together lightly. Have the cold custard in the bottom of a glass dish and heap the apple "snow" on top of it. As the apple darkens by exposure to the air, this dish should stand as short a time as possible between making and serving.

Apple Shortcake.

Make a good short biscuit batter and roll it into a sheet about half an inch thick. Cover with half of it the bottom of a biscuit tin, spread with a thick layer of apples which have been peeled, cored, and sliced, sprinkle with sugar and a little powdered cinnamon. Lay the rest of the sheet of paste over this and bake in a steady oven for half an hour. Serve cut into squares, with a hard sauce.

This dish may be made with evaporated peaches or apricots or with the same fruits canned.

Fruit Roly-Poly.

Make a good biscuit dough, roll it out into a sheet about half an inch thick and spread it with fresh or canned fruit, or evaporated fruit which has been soaked into plumpness and flavor. Use your discretion about the amount of sugar you sprinkle over the fruit—the ripe, tart varieties, such as oranges or apples, will require more than that which is canned. Dredge with flour and roll the dough up with the fruit inside. When you have made it into a loose roll pinch the edges together, wrap in a piece of cheesecloth, and lay in a steamer. Cook one hour and serve with hard or soft sauce.

Peach Batter Pudding.

Butter the inside of a deep bake dish and lay in it as many canned or evaporated and soaked peaches as it will hold comfortably. Sprinkle sugar over these, unless they have been well sweetened in canning. Make a batter of a quart of milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, melted, four eggs, beaten light, and three cups of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Add a saltspoonful of salt. Pour this batter over the fruit, cover, bake in a steady oven for thirty minutes, uncover and brown. This may be eaten with either hard or liquid sauce.

This pudding is very good made with fresh or canned apples. If the former, they must be peeled and cored and a few whole cloves distributed among them.

Orange Puffs, Steamed.

Make a batter as you would biscuit dough, putting with it enough milk to make it so soft that it will drop from the spoon—about the stiffness of a pound cake batter. Grease small muffin tins, put a tablespoonful of the batter in each, lay in a couple of lobes of orange, seeded and cut in half, fill up the pan with batter. Set the cups in a steamer and cook half an hour. Turn out on a hot dish and serve with a well flavored liquid sauce. These are very good made with raspberry or strawberry jam or canned peaches or plums or pears or almost any fresh or preserved fruit.

An Old Squab Pie Recipe.

"Please send me the address of F. M., a shut-in, whose letter appeared a short time ago. I am sending you three recipes. The first two are my own composition; the squab pie is a Devonshire [England] dish, and I know is nearly a hundred years old—I don't know how much more:

"BRAN BISCUIT—One and a quarter cups of bran, three-quarters of a cup of graham flour, one cup of white flour, quarter of a cup of shortening [I use drippings] two cups of sour milk, three tablespoonfuls of molasses, one teaspoonful of soda. Bake in a sheet like gingerbread or in gem tins. Mix soda in sour milk.

"CORNMEAL PUDDING—One and a half cups of milk, one and a half tablespoonfuls [rounded] of cornmeal, one and a half tablespoonfuls of dried bread crumbs, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of brown sugar, quarter of a cup of molasses, butter half the size of an egg, one egg, a handful of raisins. When the milk boils stir in the cornmeal, bread crumbs, salt, and cinnamon, which have been mixed together, boil a few minutes, cool, and add the other ingredients, beating them in well. Bake from an hour to an hour and a half in a moderate oven.

"DEVONSHIRE SQUAB PIE—Either mutton or pork is good in this, so long as it is fresh and not too fat. First of all at the bottom of the dish put a layer of the meat cut in small pieces, next onions sliced, season with pepper and salt to taste, then a layer of sliced potatoes, next a layer of sliced apples; repeat until the dish is full; cover with a crust made either with drippings or suet.

"This is just as the recipe came down to me. I always add some boiling water and let the pie cook in a moderate oven for an hour or two before I put the crust on, covering the meat, etc., with a tin. Our ovens are quicker than those of our English cousins, so I find it better to cook the meat first.

A. L. T."

The address for which you ask was sent to you by mail, at once, and I don't doubt that before this the shut-in has benefited by your knowledge of it. Thank you for the recipes. Those of your own composition tempt me to early experiment with them on my own account, and the squab pie sounds good. Evidently the word "squab" is not limited to the young of the pigeon in Devonshire. The dictionary places among its definitions of the word something well stuffed, and the term "squab pie" may apply to a well filled dish. In any case it suggests a novelty in the line of meat dishes, and I am sure on this account will be as welcome to other housekeepers as to me.

Fruit Surprise or Canned Fruit.

For this use a can of peaches or of pears or of plums, chopping or crushing them with the liquor, so that you have a quart of the pulp. Put with this a cupful of sugar if the fruit is sweet, two cupfuls if it is tart, one cup of cold water, and the whites of four eggs. Do not beat the eggs. Turn into a freezer and freeze until firm, pack, and let it stand for an hour or so before serving.

This dish is excellent made of fresh oranges—and for this the small tart oranges of which I have already spoken will answer—or with any kind of sealed fruit canned fruit, berries or the larger Bananas are also good in it if cut oranges, and chopped dates may be added to apple sauce and used in the dation. The "surprise" is neither nor so expensive as ice cream, and may not always take the place of is a very pleasing family dessert.

Queen of Pudding.

Cream a cupful of sugar with a spoonful of butter, beat the yolks of eggs light, and mix with butter and To these put two cups of soft crumb have soaked fifteen minutes in one of milk; season to taste with vanilla put into a buttered baking dish, covered, half an hour; draw to the of the oven and spread over the top layer of fruit. Fresh or canned berries or raspberries may be used, or grapefruit marmalade, sliced canned peaches, or orange marmalade has been well soaked. If the fruit is strew sugar over it. Cover the meringue made of the whites of the beaten stiff with two tablespoonfuls powdered sugar, brown lightly in the and set aside to become very cold. Serve cream. It is at its best perhaps when with fresh strawberries or pineapple, is good with any fruit.

Crutches for Child.

"I have two pairs of crutches for a child 10 or 12 years old. I am glad to give them to some one who them.

I don't doubt that some needy child happy to get them for a home. me there is always something inexpressibly pitiful in the sight of a little boy or girl bobbling along on crutches, but those afflicted children do not let it weigh their spirits as we grownups would be inevitable. I have seen boys and girls and hide and seek and indulging in games and sports on crutches, and themselves mercifully along as though nothing were the matter. If the gift of the crutches can transform a cripple into a boy who can run and such a means of locomotion, the giver feel that she has brought sunshine into very shady spot.

When finished

WHEN I suggest that this apron has a pocket ample enough to take the place of a workbag with beauty as a decided feature in its construction, I am stating a pleasure fact which I know will be welcomed by my readers.

The front pocket is now the thing. The heart-shaped apron suggests a charming gift or an appropriate present for the spring bride, and if these hints be not sufficient, the general usefulness of a fancy apron is too great to ignore. It is equally acceptable to the embroiderer, the fairy of the chafing dish and to the woman who wishes to protect her dress under an attractive cover.

Lawns, batiste, dimity and barred muslins are the favorites for these little aprons. It pays to buy a good quality if you like to keep an article in use more than a few months.

Two-quarters of a yard of material should be sufficient, for this apron will be at its best when tied by the strings. The pocket requires a one-quarter. If you wish to have strings to match the apron, they can be cut the length of the goods. If the material be not wide enough to allow for the apron and strings, one-half a yard more will be needed.

In making the pattern according to directions on this page, trace the half given, and swing the other half to it, so that it is on the straight of the goods. This is really all the guide necessary.

The pocket should be cut and worked separately. It is applied to the apron by stitching around the edge of the sides and bottom, leaving the upper edge free, of course. Pad the leaves lengthwise and also the oval petals of the flower. Work across these forms in simple over-and-over stitch, outlining between them on the slender stem.

The circular medallions should be outlined and then whipped again, so that a heavy cording will result. This is done by overcasting a second time, catching together the overlapped stitches. The needle is not passed through the goods on the second treatment.

Punched work, known by all, I think, fills in the circular spaces after the outlining is done. An insert of net is equally effective, though not so strong. The three motifs will work very quickly and satisfactorily.

Pad the scallops and buttonhole in the regular way. Cut out and you are ready for placing on the apron.

The under piece is scalloped on the edges in a heart shape. The pocket should be placed with its central line on that of the apron. Ribbons with little bows or rosettes are attached at each end, as shown in the sketch of the finished work.

Colors are very effective on white. Pale pink, blue, lavender, green, yellow or a combination in pastel effects are lovely. The punched work is particularly effective when done in colors. The owner's favorite shade should be chosen, for this fancy for an individual color is growing to be more than a fad. So if your friend be a blue lady, or a violet girl, observe this fact in working her apron.

I hope that you have as much success with it as the embroiderer who has shown me a "first proof." It's a beauty. Indeed, I am going to number it among my favorites in solving the dainty gift questions that assail us every day of the year.

For Ribbons

AN ATTRACTIVE case for holding ribbon is made of an odd-length of silk or satin or a strip of ribbon. A piece of material, flowered silk or ribbon, twelve inches long by six inches wide; a skein of white silk, a yard of white ribbon one-quarter inch wide, and twelve yards of narrow ribbon suitable for drawing through underclothing are required.

Baste a narrow hem around the material and fold over the lower edge to within 1½ inches of the top. Feather-stitch the hem and divide the turned-up portion into four equal sections with the white silk.

From plain white cardboard cut four pieces to fit the sections of the ribbon case. Over these wind the ribbon and slip each into its particular section.

Fold over the case and tie together with the white ribbon.

To make the case more useful, attach a bodkin and small pair of scissors to the upper corner with more white ribbon.

If you prefer to decorate the outside, embroider the word "Ribbons" in white silk diagonally across the front.

How to Transfer

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. The latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

The last way is also easy. On wax paper or ordinary tissue paper trace the pattern before you. When the design is completed, turn over the paper and outline the pattern with a heavy lead pencil. Then place the design down on the fabric and redraw the outline, pressing hard with the pencil. The pattern will be transferred without difficulty.

Surely the way is easy.

ARTICLES OF RIBBON

THERE are many occasions when a useful gift is most appreciated, and those fashioned of dainty ribbon always find a ready appeal in the heart of every woman. Little odds and ends of ribbon left over from a sash or hat trimmings can be utilized to advantage, when used to make pretty pincushions, trinket boxes and sachets.

An attractive folding pincushion may be made in the following manner:

Take a piece of flowered ribbon 18 inches long and 6½ or 7 inches in width, 12 inches of pale pink ribbon, 10½ inches of white flannel, 1 yard of pink ribbon 3 inches wide, and a narrow strip of silk or satin for the sides of the mattress pincushion. Cut three inches from the strip of flowered ribbon, and a piece of white or pink silk the same size for the lining. Whipstitch these neatly to a narrow strip of silk two inches in width and stuff with lamb's wool, using heavy silk thread. Tuft this cushion and stick it full of pins, all sizes and colors.

Take the remaining strip of ribbon and to the top stitch the piece of flannel, which is filled with safety pins of different sizes. Using the three-inch pink ribbon, make two pockets, each three inches long, after hemming at the top and turning in at the bottom, and line with flannel and stitch them to the lower end. Fill these with hairpins.

Attach the mattress cushion through the center and fold over the ends.

To the right side fasten the two-inch pink ribbon and tie the cushion together with a full bow. A doll pincushion is always admired. From a half yard of three-inch ribbon make a dress for the doll by folding it in half. Featherstitch the selvages together to within four inches of the bottom. Fringe the ends to a depth of two inches and cut a slit at the top large enough to fit the doll's head. From fine white flannel cut three or four leaves and notch the edges to prevent fraying. Attach these beneath the silk dress and stick full of pins.

Another doll pincushion is made from sixteen inches of ribbon five inches wide. Join the ends neatly and run a drawstring through the top and bottom. From a cardboard cut a circular piece 2½ inches in diameter and cover with white or colored silk to match the ribbon. To this base sew the gathered ribbon and fill the circular bag with lamb's wool. In the top place a doll's head and draw the ribbon tightly about the neck. To the doll's hair tie a bow of ribbon, and stick the cushion full of pins.

The trinket cases are made of sliding boxes such as druggists use. Take four or six boxes and arrange in two tiers and glue them together. Draw each box from its cover and draw a band of ribbon the width of the depth of the box smoothly around it. Glue this together at the back and punch two holes in the front, through which baby ribbon is drawn and tied in a bow. Slide each box in its cover and with a piece of ribbon wide and long enough to cover both top, bottom and sides, completely hide the boxes. A large bow of ribbon is then fastened to the top.

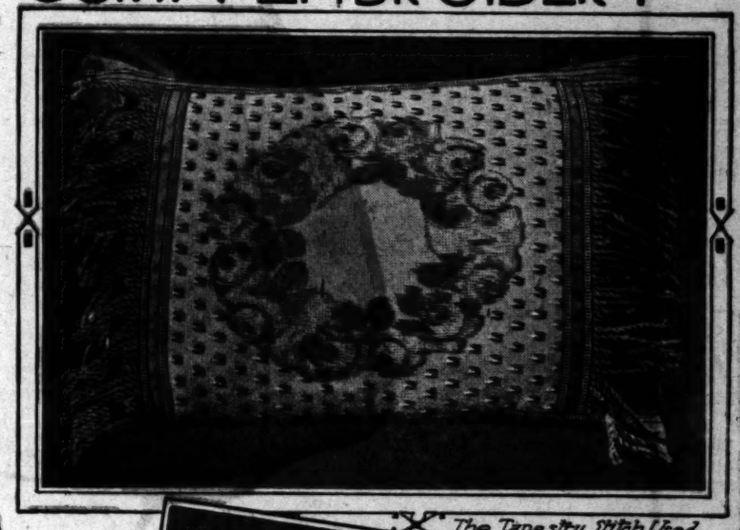
If you are talented artistically, decorate the bow and boxes with water-colors in a neat design of small flowers. Letter the boxes with pins, safety pins, ribbon, trinkets, etc.

For a pretty safety-pin holder, two circular pieces of cardboard 3¼ inches in diameter are required. Cover the disks with figured ribbon and place a circular piece of cotton wadding between. Whipstitch the halves together and stick pins around the rim. Five ivory rings are hung from the bottom, with loops of narrow ribbon matching the prevailing color in the flowered ribbon. The longest loop is 3½ inches, those at each side 2½ inches and the shortest 1¼ inches. At the top is attached another ring, with which the holder is hung.

These lovely articles make appropriate gifts for birthday anniversaries or to the woman going on a trip.

They require little time and less money to fashion, and will prove fascinating work. If you have embroidered a great deal, to sew on ribbon will be an interesting diversion, and the finished work will amply repay you for the small amount of time expended.

SCRIM EMBROIDERY



The Tapestry Stitch Used

Empire Wreaths in Silk

THERE is something new in the realm of embroidery which will prove interesting to the needlewoman who likes to keep apace with the times.

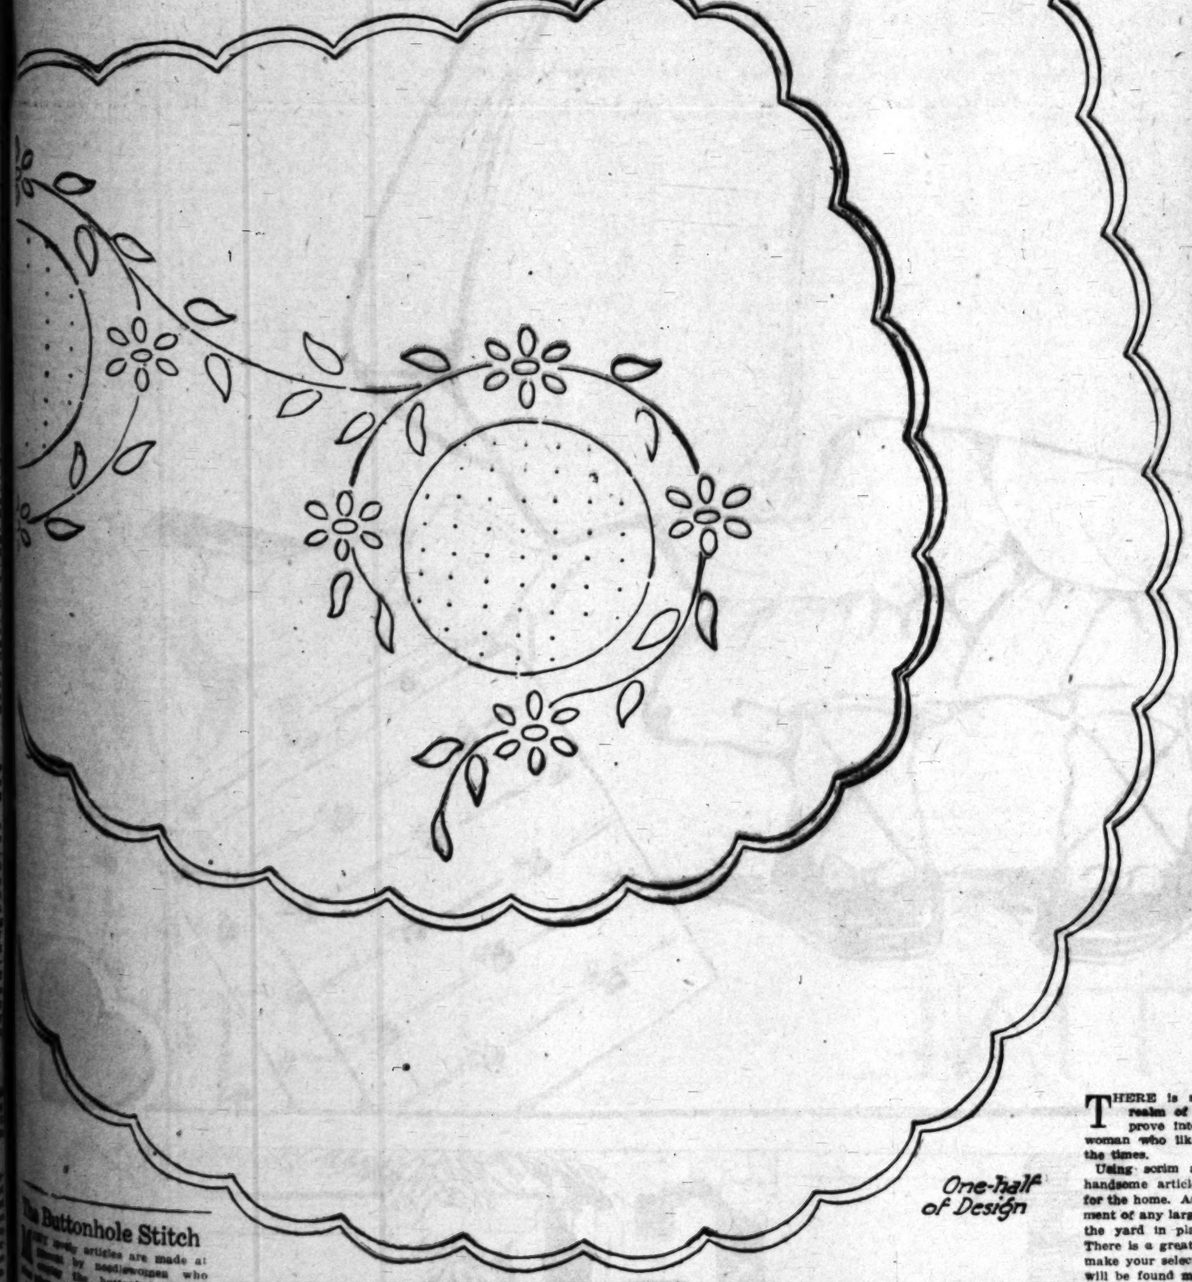
Using scrim as a foundation many handsome articles can be embroidered for the home. At the upholstery department of any large store scrim is sold by the yard in plain or figured designs. There is a great variety from which to make your selection, and the ecru tints will be found more effective than dead white. The square cushion pictured here shows a wreath design worked in china blue. Using the woven design as a foundation, cover each flower and wreath with the coarse blue silk, using the plain over-and-over stitch. The wreath of dots in the center is formed in the same manner. After the top is embroidered make the cushion cover in the usual manner and slip the down-filled pillow in place, close the end and sew a narrow edging of cluny lace around the pillow. This is also purchasable at the upholstery department. A narrow strip of embroidered scrim containing two of the wreath motifs would cover a pincushion effectively. Long strips could be used to border window draperies and bedspreads. Bureau scarfs of scrim with embroidered ends are charming for the guestroom.

The oblong cushion has a foundation of heavy linen scrim and is embroidered to represent the lovely old tapestries. Using tones of rose, green and blue, embroider the wreath in tapestry stitch, and the effect depends entirely upon the successful blending of the colors. With strands of black and white embroider the irregular dashes which dot the background. This produces a most artistic effect. Fit the cover to the pillow, and using an inch wide braid of green linen trim the edges. Across both ends stitch heavy ecru linen fringe four or five inches in width.

Tapestry embroidery is especially artistic, and table runners of heavy linen scrim, with ends embroidered in this manner, are a delightful addition to any library. Draperies bordered with bands of tapestry embroidery for doorways or windows are extremely effective.

Scrim embroidery is rapidly done and is inexpensive, and if you enjoy working out artistic color combinations you will be fascinated by the results.

Purchase scrim and embroidery silk to make some of these pretty articles for your home.



One-half of Design

The Buttonhole Stitch

Many pretty articles are made at home by needlewomen who know the buttonhole stitch and like embroidering the flowers.

A pretty handkerchief case is fashioned of two oblong pieces of corn-colored linen batiste. In the center of the top piece is stamped a conventional design, and the petals and leaves are outlined in the buttonhole stitch, while the stems are outlined with heavy green silk. Tones of pale pink and lavender are used for the flowers.

Pink pongee embroidered with pale greens or blue with tans, are the effective combinations. Fill the flower centers with French knots, and when the embroidery is finished baste an interlining of cotton wadding to the silk. Sprinkle a mild sachet powder over this, and cover with a lining of pale pink silk slipstitched to the pongee. Fold the halves together and whip together on the wrong side, leaving the top open. Turn the case and feather-stitch a border around the case.

From a square of ecru linen a lovely table cover can be made if embroidered in pale tints of pink, violet, green and yellow. A design of geraniums and foliage arranged in a conventional manner is extremely artistic. Use the buttonhole stitch to embroider the petals and foliage, using a heavy outlining stitch for the petals.

Bureau scarfs are pretty when made of linen and decorated in this manner. Follow out the predominating color used in the bedroom when embroidering these. A pincushion to match and, if you enjoy needlework, a bedspread of linen decorated in the same manner make the set complete, and even if you can work only during odd moments, it is soon completed.
